QUIET DAY WITH FAMILY

Old Battler Truman Turns 85

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL

WASHINGTON (AP) — His clothes hang loose now on a pitifully thin frame; his knuckles go white as his hands clutch a cane; his visits with cherished old friends are few—he tires easily.

This is Harry S Truman, 85 years old today.

Once he presided over the world's mightiest nation. Now his world is usually bounded by the short walks an arthritic old man can take from the century-old white frame home in Independence, Mo., where he has lived since he left Washington 16 years ago.

Once his every action made waves. Now, on the back stoop of history, he is watched mostly by Bess, the grade school sweetheart he married 50 years ago next month.

Once his words were flashed around the world. Now he gives no interviews, makes no speeches. What there is to be learned about him has to come from intimate friends.

In the quiet of that big house at Truman Road and Delaware, separated from the world by his feebleness and a big iron fence, he is busy with the avocation of a lifetime, the pursuit of knowledge. He reads or is read to from four books at a time, skipping restlessly like a hungry diner from one tidbit to the next.

Five years ago, Truman's 80th birthday was celebrated with a round of parties in Kansas City, Washington and New York. He returned home exhausted and Mrs. Truman put her foot down. He began to appear less and less at public functions.

In 1967 he asked Henry Talge, an industrialist who had thrown huge birthday luncheons for him since 1953 to cut them out "because I need to conserve my energy."

Talge said "you can't do too much for this man" and continued to stage the luncheons with guests raising their glasses in salute to an empty chair. Ministers of six faiths were on the program for today's luncheon.

Age has altered many of the Truman hallmarks. Famed as an early-morning riser, Truman sleeps now until after 7 a.m.—

Conservationist-Backed Bay Plan Gets Assembly Support

First Major Break In Logjam Of Bills

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SACRAMENTO — The first major break in the logjam of bills to save San Francisco Bay came last night in a strong vote by an Assembly committee for one favored by conservation groups.

Cheered by more than 500 citizens from the Bay Area who made the long trek to the night hearing in the Capitol, the Assembly Local Government Committee voted 8-1 to send a bill by its chairman, John T. Knox, D-Richmond, to the ways and means committee with a "do pass" recommendation.

A rival bill by Assemblyman Don Mulford, R-Oakland, which would have extended the life of the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission but said nothing about the BCDC's proposed master plan for the bay, was shelved in a voice vote.

Knox's bill, a counterpart of one introduced in the Senate by Sen. Nicholas C. Petris, D-Oakland, extends the life of the BCDC until a regional government is formed, adopts the BCDC plan and extends the jurisdiction of the BCDC to salt ponds and a band of shoreline around the bay up to 1,000 feet inland.

The BCDC will go out of existence late this year under current law unless the Legislature acts to extend its life.

The committee's vote came at the end of almost four hours of hearings before the highly partisan crowd, which freely hissed at testimony by bay fill interests and applauded conservationists.

The crowd overflowed the Legislature's largest hearing room, which seats 350, and after all standing room was filled, too, more than 100 had to be content to listen in an adjacent room to which the hearing was piped. About 50 persons came from Marin.

Veteran Sacramento observers could recall similar crowds in past years only for such issues as capital punishment and abortion — but never before for a conservation issue.

The fight to save BCDC and the bay, of course, still faces its biggest hurdle, the Senate, where all bills have been bottled up in governmental efficiency committee. The chairman of the Senate committee, Sen. Richard

Nixon, Aide Confer On Cong Plan

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (UPI) —President Richard M. Nixon conferred with his top security adviser today on the National Liberation Front's peace plan, including the proposal for a provisional coalition government to be set up in Vietnam after free elections.

At the Florida White House, press secretary Ronald Ziegler said Nixon discussed the NLF proposals with Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, his National Security Affairs adviser. He planned to meet again with Kissinger this afternoon.

Ziegler declined, however, to comment on the President's reaction to the 10-point plan while it is being studied.

The press spokesman also had no comment on reports from diplomatic sources that the U. S. and South Vietnam have begun private discussions on a limited withdrawal of U. S. troops from the war zone.

The President flew to his Florida haven following an appearance at the Republican $1,000-a-plate fund-raising dinner in Washington Wednesday night. He plunged into foreign policy talks this morning and also worked on domestic matters.

In a series of announcements, Nixon named Southeast Asian career diplomat George McMurtrie Godley to be ambassador to the Kingdom of Laos. Godley, 51, presently deputy

PARIS PEACE TALKS

Cong Propose New Plan; U.S. Reacts Cautiously

PARIS (AP) — The Viet Cong today presented a 10-point peace plan, based mainly on previously rejected proposals but containing some new elements.

The United States reacted cautiously, but South Vietnam said the other side was persisting in demanding "the unilateral withdrawal of allied forces and the overthrow of the legal and constitutional government of South Vietnam."

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge told reporters that the new proposals, since they dealt with political matters, should be dealt with by the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front and the Saigon government.

Asked whether he saw any movement toward progress toward peace, he replied: "It's very hard to characterize these meetings."

The new plan was submitted to the Vietnam peace talks at their 16th session by Than Buu Kiem, front representative, and quickly backed by North Vietnam's Xuan Thuy.

After the session both said the United States and South Vietnam had reacted unfavorably during the rebuttal period. The meeting lasted five hours and 10 minutes. The next session will be on Friday next week because Thursday is a French holiday, Ascension Day.

The central point of the NLF plan was establishment of a provisional coalition government to arrange a general election and to rule South Vietnam between the time peace is attained and a constituent assembly is elected.

This had been rejected repeatedly by the Saigon government and the United States. The United States also had rejected previous demands for unilateral withdrawal of U.S. troops. It did not appear likely that the new elements would make the plan any more attractive than previous ones.

It might help, however, in tipping the propaganda scales back again toward the Viet Cong and North Vietnam, which had been hurt considerably by the conciliatory moves in Washington and Saigon.

The plan did not specifically mention North Vietnamese military forces, but it was clear that their withdrawal would be in a different category from those of the United States and would be left up to the Vietnamese people themselves. The United States and South Vietnam have called for mutual withdrawal of North Vietnamese and allied forces.

Kiem called the proposals a plan to allow the Vietnamese people "to settle their own affairs without foreign interference."

It was quickly supported by North Vietnam's Xuan Thuy.

Kiem made his proposal after the United States told the North Vietnamese and the front that "we must be ready for the unwelcome contengency that your side does not want to negotiate a peaceful settlement."

U.S., Saigon Set Cease-Fire May 30 On Buddha's Birthday

SAIGON (AP) —The United States and South Vietnam will observe a 24-hour cease-fire to mark the birthday of Buddha on May 30.

The announcements today of the unilateral cease-fire came against a background of new Viet Cong terrorist attacks in Saigon.

A spokesman for President Nguyen Van Thieu said the cease-fire would run from 6 a.m. Saigon time May 30 to 6 a.m. May 31. Saigon time is nine hours ahead of Pacific Daylight Time.

May 30 also is an American holiday—Memorial Day.

There was no cease-fire declared a year ago to mark the anniversary of Buddha's birth around 563 B.C. because of the Communist command's spring offensive launched May 5, 1968.

But in 1967, on the occasion of Buddha's birthday, the allies announced a similar 24-hour cease-fire. The Viet Cong declared a unilateral 48-hour stand-down.

There has been no announcement so far on a truce for Buddha's birthday this year either by North Vietnam's Radio Hanoi or by the clandestine Viet Cong radio.

Buddhism is one of three great religions which have contributed to the molding of Vietnamese culture and character over the centuries. Buddha was a contemporary of Confucius, and the religion he founded entered Vietnam from both India, Buddha's home, and China. Today it is perhaps the most visible of Vietnamese religious beliefs.

Meanwhile, the U.S. Command reported 205 Americans killed in combat last week in war, a 25 per cent increase over the previous week but near the average fort he past month of relatively light ground action.

The weekly casualty report also listed 1,288 Americans wounded, 672 of whom were hospitalized.

A total of 143 Americans had been reported killed in action the previous week, the lowest weekly toll since Jan. 11.

The enemy death toll last week was 3,414, the U.S. Command said, compared with 3,713 the previous week. South Vietnamese forces reported 168 government troops killed in action and 678 wounded, the first time in seven weeks the total of South Vietnamese deaths have fallen below the American toll.

The previous week the South Vietnamese reported 237 killed.

The report raised the total number of Americans killed in action in Vietnam since Jan. 1, 1961, to 34,611 and the total number of enemy dead in that period to 419,696.

In fighting itself five terror attacks were reported between 6 p.m. yesterday and noon today. Five Vietnamese were killed and 43 Vietnamese and six Americans were wounded in the capital's worst rash of terrorism this year.

In the most sensational attack, two plastic bombs exploded simultaneously in the crowded main room of Saigon's central post office just after 8 a.m. The blasts killed a South Viet-

Tax Extension Bill To Floor

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Senate Finance Committee today endorsed and sent to the floor a bill extending the time for 300,000 tardy homeowners to file for a property tax refund. (See earlier story, page 34.)

The committee action means a final vote on the measure will probably come Monday in the upper house after which the bill, if approved, will be dispatched to Gov. Ronald Reagan for his signature.

Sen. John G. Schmitz, R-Tustin, was the sole dissenter on committee. He said property taxpayers were given enough time to file for their rebate.

HIT-RUN ATTACK

New York College Reopens With Guard

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ten young Negroes, including four girls, staged a hit-and-run attack on a campus building today at City College in New York, as the 20,000-student college reopened today amid lingering tenisons.

About 75 uniformed and plainclothed city policemen were stationed around and near the upper Manhattan campus to prevent a repeat of the bloody clash yesterday between white and Negro students.

"The only way to have safety is to have police," said CCNY President Buell G. Gallagher, who summoned the police yesterday and kept them on campus.

As Gallagher spoke to newsmen today outside his home on the South Campus, about 50 white students, wearing red armbands, marched through the campus, shouting: "Shut it down!"

About 100 demonstrators and 100 counterdemonstrators faced each other across Convent Avenue—separated by contingents of police.

The Negroes ran through Shepard Hall, smashing at least three classroom windows, ripping two fire extinguishers from a wall and opening the water valve of a firehose hanging from a wall. They shouted at students in mathematics and science classes: "Everybody out! Close it down!"

The group fled as police entered the building.

At Cornell University, about 130 members of the Students for a Democratic Society voted 2-1 at a 5:30 a.m. meeting against occupying the school administration building, then ran about the campus, shouting protests against ROTC.

A similar protest last December led to disciplinary action

Vandals Strike At Bolinas Ridge

Workmen arriving Monday morning for logging operations on the Righetti ranch on Bolinas Ridge discovered that about 10 pounds of sugar had been poured into diesel tanks of two trucks, sheriff's deputies said today.

Damage to the trucks was estimated at about $150.

Loggers told deputies they suspected conservationists, who have been opposing their operation, were responsible for the vandalism. They showed officers an article in the Berkeley Barb in which a Bolinas man said that "hit and run tactics" against the loggers would be stepped up.

Food Cost Hike Estimate Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department said today food prices this year are expected to increase more than it had estimated earlier. But experts said the gain still would be less than the 3.5 per cent boost in 1968.

Officials said in a summary report on the national food situation that grocery food prices might average about 2.5 per cent higher than in 1968, and 3 to 5 per cent higher at restaurants.

The gain last year was 3 per cent at grocery stores and 5 per cent at restaurants.

ALAN B. SHEPARD
Ear ailment cured

Shepard Back To His Job As Astronaut

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Alan B. Shepard Jr., the first American rocketed into space, has returned to the ranks of the active astronauts six years after an ear ailment clipped his wings and landed him behind a desk.

Shepard, 45, was declared healthy and ready to fly yesterday by flight surgeons at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Manned Spacecraft Center.

His return to flight status came eight years and two days after the lean Navy captain led America into the manned space flight era with a 15-minute trip aloft on May 5, 1961.

In the Mercury capsule "Freedom 7" he soared to more than 100 miles in a suborbital flight. Shepard later referred to it as America's "first baby step" in manned space flight.

He was named to fly the Mercury Atlas 10 flight in 1963, but the mission was scrubbed when NASA officials decided to start the two-man Gemini program instead.

He took over a desk job as chief of the astronaut office, guiding the astronaut training program.

No. 7 For Lana Turner

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Lana Turner, a movie glamour queen of the 1940s, early today married night club hypnotist Dr. Ronald Dante.

Lana

The marriage was the seventh for Miss Turner, 49, and Dante's second.

Miss Turner's previous husbands were bandleader Artie Shaw, restaurant owner Stephen Crane, sportsman Fred May and businessman Robert Eaton.

Hollywood's original sweater girl had been dating Dante, 49, for about three months, a spokesman said.

Dante — who is the proverbial tall, dark and handsome — has worked for 22 years in night clubs as a hypnotist after receiving his Ph D in psychology from the University of Singapore. A spokesman said Dante also is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin.

Eyes Peking

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — The Canadian Embassy in Stockholm confirmed today Canada will meet Peking representatives here to negotiate on diplomatic recognition "in the middle of May."

"We have no knowledge of Foreign Secretary Mitchell W. Sharp coming here for the negotiations," said a spokesman for the embassy. "If he were to come, we ought to know about it."

Blair Seaborn, head of the Far East division of the Canadian External Affairs Department, is expected to come to Stockholm.

General Charged

MOSCOW (AP) — A former Soviet army general who openly challenged the secret police for arresting anti-government protesters has been charged with anti-Soviet slander, sources report.

Friends of former Maj. Gen. Pyotr Grigoryenko said the 63-year-old dissident intellectual was arrested in Tashkent where he had gone to protest the trial of a group of Crimean Tatars trying to regain rights they lost in World War II.

The outspoken champion of free speech was stripped of his rank and expelled from the army by Nikita Khrushchev for criticizing government policies.

Red General Dies

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Defense Ministry reported the death of another general today, the ninth in 16 days. Although the cause of death has not been announced for any of them, in accordance with Soviet custom, there has been nothing in any of the obituaries to suggest any connection.

The Defense Ministry newspaper Red Star today announced the death of Lt. Gen. Yevgeni I. Smirnov, 51, after a brief illness. He was deputy chief of the ministry's engineering and technical department.

San Francisco had only 1,000 inhabitants in 1848.

Mrs. King's Book

NEW YORK (AP) — Coretta King's book "My Life with Martin Luther King Jr.," will be published Sept. 25 and has been made a Book of the Month Club selection.

Announcing this yesterday, Mrs. King's publishers said excerpts would appear in the Sept. 19 and Sept 26 issues of Life magazine, and that the Readers Digest Book Club would publish a condensed version in October.

The publishers did not disclose the financial arrangements with Mrs. King.

Sweetener Hit

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — A University of Pittsburgh scientist has bad news for weight watchers.

Dr. Jack Schubert reported Wednesday there is widespread evidence that cyclamates, a sweetener frequently used in sugar substitutes, makes people fat rather than thin.

And, he said, it may cause birth defects or cancer.

"If we had as much information 20 years ago as we have now," Schubert said, "cyclamate never would have been allowed on the market."

Schubert said experiments indicate that cyclamates stimulates a person's appetite. He said about 150 million Americans consume 17 million pounds of the sweetner a year.

In Birch Column

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Radioman Lze R. Hayes, a member of the Pueblo crew, has decided to quit the Navy to work with an organization endorsed by the John Birch Society.

Hayes said yesterday he had accepted a post with the American Opinion Speakers Burean of Belmont, Mass., a conservative group dedicated to fighting Communism.

He said he would be discharged from the Navy Aug. 14 at San Diego, and would begin a speaking tour. He will work for a committee seeking to stop U.S. trade with Communist nations.

RFK's Debts Are Being Cleared Up

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Debts from the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's California campaign for the presidency are being settled at 33 cents on the dollar, a spokesman said yesterday.

Stanley R. Caidin, an attorney and trustee of Kennedy's campaign committee, said about 250 creditors are owed a total of about $500,000. He said debts smaller than $100 are being paid in full.

The debts belong to the campaign committee and not the Kennedy family, Caidin said.

Kennedy's mother Rose and brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., made trips to California to help in fund-raising efforts.

The New York senator was assassinated last June in Los Angeles after winning California's Democratic presidential primary.

At that time, Caidin said, two choices faced the campaign committee, a corporation with limited liability.

"We could just forget the debts, but people felt we had a moral commitment to do the best we can," he said.

Secret Phones

LONDON (AP) — The government has discolsed that secret telephone exchanges were built in the 1950s in Manchester, London, Birmingham and Glasgow. The exchanges, kept secret for defense purposes, are located underground and have living accommodations for staff members, with emergency food supplies.

Israeli Premier Says Villages Along Lebanon To Be 'Protected'

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Premier Golda Meir says Israeli villages along the "danger border" with Lebanon will be strengthened in case Arab guerrillas win their struggle to use Lebanon as a staging area for attacks on Israel.

"I do not know what will happen in Lebanon, whose hand will be on top—the terrorists or the army," she told labor leaders in Tel Aviv yesterday. "But the Lebanese border is the new danger border for us.

"We have villages there and we must look after them and see they are properly defended."

The political and military crisis in Lebonon deteriorated further yesterday when about 2,000 Arab guerrillas besieged the Lebanese village of Hasbaya near the Israeli frontier. The Beirut government charged that the assauslt was directed by Al Saika— Thunderbolt—an Arab commando organization affiliated with Syria's ruling Baath party. Al Saika denied the charge and called the Lebanese army to join it in an investigation.

The largest of the Palestinian guerrilla organizations, Al Fatah, added to the tension in Lebanon with a charge that Lebanese troops shot five Al Fatah commandos who were en route to Israel on a sabotage mission. Lebanese military officials denied the charge.

Thousands of Palestinians living in refugee camps in Lebanon pay allegiance to Al Fatah, and there was speculation that the guerrilla organization would order them into the streets.

Demonstrations by refugees in support of the guerrillas two weeks ago touched off clashes with Lebanese troops which resulted in the death of 18 persons and the resignation of Premier Rashid Karami.

The guerrillas want to use Lebanon as a staging area because it is nearer the Israeli industrial complex at the port of Haifa, but the government has resisted them because it fears Israeli reprisals.

The Montreal Gazette reported that Israel has built five 20-kiloton atomic bombs at its atomic reactor plant near Dimona, in the Negev Desert, and a sixth is near completion. The newspaper's correspondent in Germany said this was discovered by a team from the West German newsmagazine Der Spiegel, and Spiegel would publish the team's report later this week.

The Corte Madera Sanitary Commission recommended to the Town of Corte Madera Sanitary Board Tuesday that Seaside Unit 1 sanitary sewer installation be accepted. The installation comprises four lots on Paradise Drive near Tamalpais Drive.

Sit-In Protest At Santa Clara

SANTA CLARA (UPI) — A group of 60 University of Santa Clara students held a sit-in at the dean's office yesterday to protest the dismissal of two dormitory supervisors who had a coed in their room after the midnight deadline.

The demonstrators left the office late last night when the university's board of appeal voted to reinstate the supervisors, but to censure them.

The supervisors, who receive free room and board, were David Bajada, 21, San Mateo, and Peter Dileo, 21, Denver. They said they were counseling the coed, who had just informed her parents she was leaving school.

Nixon Sees Progress Now On Major Issues

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon, presiding over $2.7 million worth of Republican rejoicing, has declared his administration is at "the end of the beginning" in dealing with war, crime and inflation.

"I think the American people will begin to see the results of that progress," he told a $1,000-a-plate GOP fund raising dinner last night.

Nixon said "naturally and understandably" some people have been critical of the pace of his administration during its first 100 days.

The President said he deliberately sought "not to make the kind of record that looks very good in the headlines tomorrow" but is found wanting in the history books.

"We want a record of solid achievement," he said.

He said it would have been easy to promise withdrawal of American forces from Vietnam or an end to inflation but that kind of pledge could not immediately have been fulfilled.

"We're never going to promise something we can't produce," he said.

Paraphrasing Winston Churchill, Nixon said that even after three months in office he cannot say the new administration is at the beginning of the end in dealing with national problems.

"But I can say that we have reached the point that it's the end of the beginning," he said.

He said he spent the first 100 days developing plans and programs to reach that point. And he told the Republicans who paid $1,000 to dine on filet mignon that a year from now "this administration will have made the progress that you wanted."

The dinner was billed as a salute to the President, and Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, the House Republican leader, said it was the biggest and most successful in history.

"Believe me, if you don't think there's inflation, think of that price," Nixon said of the dinner bill.

Republican officials said the dinner in a hotel ballroom was expected to produce between $2.5 and $2.6 million after expenses. The proceeds will be divided evenly among the Republican House campaign committee, Senate campaign committee and national committee after unpaid expenses of the Nixon transition period are covered.

Bail Denied For Huey Newton

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Black Panther founder Huey Newton's request to be freed on bail while appealing his conviction for killing a policeman was rejected yesterday by a federal judge.

Newton's attorney immediately announced he would appeal the decision by U.S. Dist. Judge Alfonso J. Zirpoli, who turned down a petition which claimed the Black Panther was denied bond on arbitrary and racially discriminatory grounds.

Newton, sentenced to 2 to 15 years in prison for voluntary manslaughter in the slaying of Oakland Policeman John Frey, began serving his sentence at Los Padres State Prison last fall.

Judge Zirpoli said, in a six-page opinion, he found nothing of substance in the record of Newton's trial before Alameda County Judge Monroe Friedman to support the contention Newton was denied due process.

Taft Forecasts Action On Fortas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Robert Taft, R-Ohio, has forecast an impeachment move in the House against Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas unless Fortas explains a $20,000 fee offered him by the Louis E. Wolfson family foundation.

"It all depends on what happens in the next few days," Taft said, adding that he doesn't now plan to file such proceedings himself but might later depending on developments.

Taft said he and other House members think Fortas should be given an opportunity to make further explanation of the fee.

Pole Escape Idea For Jumbo Jets

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — How can 500 people get out of a burning airplane on the runway in 90 seconds?

By sliding down poles like firemen, perhaps.

The pole escape technique for those who ride the jumbo jets now under construction was demonstrated by Federal Aviation Administration officials yesterday for the annual meeting of the Aerospace Medical Association.

Over closed circuit television from a gymnasium across town, scientists and doctors saw a telescoping steel pipe swing out from a simulated airplane hatch and extend to the ground.

Ten soldiers wrapped their arms around the pole and slid down in the manner of firemen.

Dr. Stanley R. Mohler of FAA's office of aviation medicine said the experimental device, called "telescape," is far faster than the inflatable chutes carried on today's airliners for quick evacuation of planes on the ground.

Plans call for one of the telescoping poles at each of the 10 doors on tomorrow's giant airliners, or one for every 50 passengers.

Other safety devices demonstrated included:

Survival gear for infants in case of an emergency ditching at sea. The rig consists of a waterproof body stocking suspended from a hooded circular life buoy in which the infant is placed prior to ditching. The stocking is black—a color FAA experts said repels sharks—and is insulated against the cold of northern waters.

A transparent plastic bag for passengers to slip over their heads if smoke gets into the cabin area. A small cannister of oxygen inside the bag will last several minutes, hopefully until the smoke can be vented through the air conditioning system.

Cotati Trustees Revise Policies

The Cotati School board has adopted 15 revised district policies including policies on educational philosophy, teacher evaluation, and bus dropoffs. The board will continue to update other policies from time to time, board secretary Miriam Horne reported.

Trustees on Tuesday also approved an application asking the state's department of Local Assistance to approve a seven classroom addition to Waldo Rohnert School in Rohnert Park.

They hired Carole Otani as second grade teacher at Cotati School at $560 a month to replace Michele Farley who is on maternity leave.

Pilot Plans To Aid Youth In Jet Case

MIAMI (AP) — Pilot Harry Davis says he'll go wherever necessary to "help make a good citizen" out of a youth who held a knife to his back and ordered his jetliner to Cuba seven months ago.

"I think he'll be all right now and I think he can be channeled toward becoming a good citizen," said the 47-year-old National Airlines captain.

The youth, Michael A. Pepparo, 21, of Cold Spring, N.Y. and his 18-year-old girl friend, Tasmine Fitzgerald of Poughkeepsie, N.Y., were found guilty of interfering with the crew of an airliner in flight and were sentenced yesterday to indeterminate confinement in federal prison. Court officials said they could serve from three months to six years in prison.

Charges of air piracy against the two were dropped.

"I will go to this boy wherever he is confined and continue to try to help him," Davis told U.S. Dist. Court Judge C. Clyde Atkins.

Davis, father of four children, told a newsman he decided he'd help the then long-haired Peparo minutes after the youth barged into his cockpit Sept. 4 with a paring knife in one hand and an insect spray can in the other.

Conservation-Backed Bay Plan Advances

C. Dolwig, R-San Mateo, is expected to hear his own bill on Tuesday when the committee meets at 9:30 a.m. in the Capitol. His bill, as introduced, was tailored to meet plans by the Leslie Salt Co., owner of 50,000 acres of salt ponds, according to major conservation groups.

Last night's vote was a bipartisan rejection of the Mulford bill, which was strongly backed by the Reagan administration as a necessary compromise with bay fill interests. Terming his bill "an insurance policy if all else fails," Mulford unsuccessfully urged the committee to approve both bills.

The committee agreed with Mulford, however, that differences between the final BCDC bills by each house will have to be resolved in a closed conference committee.

Knox, arguing for his bill's provision that the Legislature adopt the BCDC master plan for the bay, said the attorney general and legislative counsel had advised him that this provision "would be of substantial assistance in defending against a legal attack on the regulatory power of the agency."

He did not mention, however, that the opinion concluded that "in the case of San Francisco Bay there can be little doubt of the reasonable basis for control over filling and dredging" without legislative adoption of the plan.

Last night's hearing flushed out spokesmen for the three major owners of bay lands. Previously their opposition to all but the weakest bay bills had been kept backstage. Each praised the need for keeping the BCDC alive, but pleaded that its jurisdiction hsould not affect their own plans for extensive development on bay fill.

Harry A. Jackson Jr., secretary and counsel of Leslie Salt Co., said that the BCDC plan's inclusion of the salt ponds was "a newly contrived definition of the bay system." Disputing the BCDC's finding that the water surface in the salt ponds helps inhibit air pollution and moderate the weather, Jackson insisted they "have no measurable effect on weather."

He also attacked the plan as "an absurdly frivolous application of conservation" that failed to set aside enough bay land for industrial and residential development. The plan was "a 'no vacancy' sign to the rest of the nation," Archer declared, adding "we doubt that such narcissism could succeed."

Richard J. Archer, one of the six lobbyists for Westbay Community Associates, owner of 10,000 acres along the bay in San Mateo County, claimed the plan would cost at least $623 million in initial capital costs plus $42 million a year in operating costs to buy land designated for public use.

"We must look for a balance, not a blind subservience to nature," Archer said, adding that the Knox bill "would permanently foreclose our development."

When Knox asked him if he had read the bill, Archer said "I think I have — but I've read so many that I am not sure." Instead of the plan, Archer said, the BCDC should be guided by a policy of allowing private development "in an economic way consistent with economic factors."

"In other words," said Knox, "you want a bill in which the Legislature makes it clear that Westbay can go ahead with its plan."

To the laughter of the audience, Archer responded that "it is my understanding that BCDC would not approve our plan, but we could get it through the county government."

The last of the big three was the Santa Fe Railway Co., represented by its general attorney, John Balluff. Santa Fe owns 2,500 acres on the bay between Oakland and Richmond.

He attacked the plan as an "unforgiveable expropriation of private land completely foreign to our legal system and our culture that would be new in the annals of this state." Extension of BCDC's jurisdiction to the shoreline band, he argued, "would create conflict between the cities and the commission."

The plan "does not provide for the flexibility of permissible uses which is required to ensure appropriate shoreline development," Balluff said.

But BCDC chairman Melvin B. Lane, said that without control over shoreline development the commission "would make a much poorer use of the bay."

The only other opponent of the Knox bill was Walter Abernathy, assistant executive director of the Port of Oakland, which has plans for extensive bay fill to expand its facilities. The plan would set up "a gigantic administrative monstrosity," he said.

Former Marin supervisor Peter H. Behr, speaking for the Citizens Alliance to Save San Francisco Bay, figured that Leslie Salt's plan to house 60,000 people on 4,200 acres at Redwood City would work out to 644,000 people if the same plan was extended to all of its property on the bay. The plan was "not only reasonable, but a balanced compromise not to the liking of many conservationists," Behr said.

Dwight Steele, chairman of the Sierra Club's save the bay campaign, also criticized the plan. It should not have provided for shops and hotels on bay fill, or for electric transmission lines, bridges and a supertanker facility, he said. Also, it did not bar drilling for oil and gas, Steele said.

William Evers, a member of the BCDC, but speaking for the Planning and Conservation League, warned that the Senate may "play with" the bill by changing the makeup of the BCDC to ensure domination by fill interests, but Knox said "we're not getting into that."

Ronald Clement, vice president of the National Audubon Society, declared that the importance of the Knox bill showed that "conservation is no longer for the birds."

Spokesmen for 11 other groups also spoke in favor of the Knox bill.

assistant Secretary of State for East Asian and Pacific affairs, will replace Ambassador William H. Sullivan who has resigned.

The President also tapped St. Louis banker Carl O. Kamp, Jr., to be a member of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board for the remainder of the term expiring June 30, 1970. Kamp, 44, president and director of the Conservative Federal Savings and Loan Association of St. Louis, succeeds John E. Horne who resigned.

White House aides said there was a possibility Nixon would send to Congress Friday another in his series of messages outlining his domestic policies.

It was expected to deal with unemployment and increased benefits for low-income workers under the unemployment insurance program.

It was in the past two weeks that Nixon has asked Congress for legislation on income tax reform, crime prevention, obscenity, and food for the hungry. And he is expected to round out his domestic program with several other messages within the next few weeks. Nixon arrived at his vacation compound just south of Miami Beach at 1:30 a. m. after attending a GOP fund-raising gala in his honor in Washington Wednesday night.

late for him. Part of this, friends say, is because of the medications he takes for the arthritis in his right hip, for the intestinal ailments that sometimes plague him, for the dizziness he often suffers.

He used to say his brisk morning walks kept him fit and he hoped it would prevent arthritis from crippling him as it did his sister. But a few years ago, because of the dizzy spells, he had to abandon the walks.

He was never a big eater, and the lack of exercise shrunk his appetite further. His weight, friends say, is about 125 pounds —50 pounds under his presidential weight.

During the winter he began walking again—first around the block, then several blocks—with his long-time bodyguard Mike Westwood. A close friend said he has not seen Truman look better in years than he does right now—after three weeks in the Florida sun. The walks are almost routine again, but not as far, as brisk or as early.

Three mornings a week he dictates letters to Rose Conway, his secretary from White House days. Except for the recent visit by President Richard M. Nixon — when Truman was given his old White House piano — the former president has not gone to the Truman Library in two and one-half years. The library, with a wing added recently, had been Truman's biggest source of pride as well as his office and receiving place for important visitors, since it was built in 1957.

Nowadays, after getting an okay from Mrs. Truman, VIP's come to the Truman home. They rarely stay more than a half hour. Mrs. Truman sees to that.

Mrs. Truman, only nine months younger than the former president, has a noon-to-seven maid during the week but cooks Truman's breakfast and lunch and does all the marketing.

Long car rides tire the former president now, so he has abandoned the Sunday trips over the roads he laid out in the 1920s as county judge. But he goes to market—with Mrs. Truman at the wheel—and waits in the car while she shops.

They celebrate their 50th anniversary on June 28.

Even at 85, Truman continues to be concerned with the peace of the world. He gets briefings from the White House liaison office set up originally by President Lyndon B. Johnson and continued by Nixon.

He also takes a lively interest in the Harry S Truman Center for the Advancement of Peace at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem. The center, which will have Chief Justice Earl Warren as chairman and former U.N. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg as chairman of the board of trustees, will be dedicated in July.

And history, Truman's first love, continues to absorb his interest.

Truman's fourth book—a study of presidents from George Washington through Franklin Delano Roosevelt—is nearing completion. In it, friends say, he makes a personal assessment of each man. Truman's first book was a personal account of his own presidency, the second and third were memoirs.

The former president once said he "can't see any difference between the 80s and the 60s —a man is as young as he feels and a woman is as young as she looks."

He was asked how long he wanted to live.

"As long," he said, "as my think-tank works and my legs stand up. When they're finished, then I'll depart."

Hub Resident Hurt In Wreck

A San Anselmo girl was reported in good condition today at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Francisco with injuries suffered yesterday when a motorcycle skidded into a guard rail on the Highway 101-Sir Francis Drake Boulevard connector in Greenbrae, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Kathleen Burch, 18, of 72 Mariposa Avenue, was admitted with a broken right thumb and right wrist and cuts on the right knee and hip.

She was a passenger on a motorcycle driven by William G. Relihan, 22, of 126 Suffield Avenue, San Anselmo, when it hit the rail at 2:35 p.m., the patrol said. Relihan was treated at Marin General Hospital for cuts on the right arm and leg.

against five Negro students. In turn, protest over that action led to the occupation of Willard Straight Hall April 19-20 by Negro students who emerged carrying guns.

At Howard University in Washington, D.C., the faculty has voted to close the school indefinitely as several dozen students continued to occupy six campus buildings demanding more control over faculty hiring.

There was a brief occupation of the registrar's office at the University of California at San Diego; counterdemonstrators threw eggs and tomatoes at Duke University students protesting ROTC; and the 400-member faculty of Pratt Institute in New York struck over the school's antiprotest policies.

At Dartmouth, where 55 students were arrested by police to end a sit-in early yesterday, a pajama-clad dean convinced a group of chanting demonstrators to leave his door last night.

About 200 students demonstrated first outside the home of President John Sloan Dickey with signs calling for abolition of ROTC and amnesty for those arrested.

At New Orleans, about 280 National Guards were stationed today near the small branch campus of Southern University where students planned a rally in support of a suspended political science professor.

At East Orange, N.J., a group of white students left the Upsala College business office this morning, 18 hours after they seized it in a demand for more student involvement in college affairs.

About 50 Negro students who police said were armed with clubs took over Raubinger Hall on the Paterson State College campus in Wayne, Ind. today. The occupation followed a two-day sit-in at the president's office to back demands for more black studies and increased black enrollment.

In Connecticut, about 100 students at the University of Bridgeport seized a university office builidng late last night to protest construction of a new dormitory on campus. They said it would mean an end to the present system of off-campus living.

At the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Cambridge, classes were to be suspended again today to allow students and faculty to discuss issues involving the campus and society.

Student questioning of MIT's link with Defense Department research programs led to faculty approval for suspension of classes Wednesday and today.

Other officers recently elected are James Wiemeyer, vice president; Jean Walkup, secretary-treasurer; and Jeanne McLean rohde, Robert G. Harder, Marjorie Golden, Billy D. Osborn, Douglas Stone, Ernest M. Souza Jr. and Lawrence Rogers, directors.

Cotati Denies Use Permit For Auto Yard

The Cotati Planning Commission last night denied a use permit for an auto dismantling yard after protests were heard from many citizens and organizations.

The commission voted unanimously to deny the request of Gary Sterner and Edgar Lancaster to operate the yard on east Cotati Avenue at the edge of the city.

Protests were received from groups with a major complaint filed by Sonoma State College charging the auto wrecking yard would detract from the appearance of the entrance to the school. Citizens, recalling an unsightly auto yard at the site previously, voiced strong protests.

The Cotati Planning Commission also:

CAR LOT — Approved the use permit application of Robert L. Elliott to operate a used car lot at 7981 Redwood Highway.

SWORE IN — Gave oath of office to Donald Leivas, a new council appointee to the commission. Leivas's term will run until 1971.

Temporary Help Will Be Kept

A full-time maintenance man is not needed at present in the Bolinas Community Public Utility District, the district board decided last night.

The board also discussed the latest draft of a proposed joint powers agreement with Stinson Beach County Water District to operate a sewage system, but took no action.

'LONG LIVE THE STRIKE'

An unidentified protester yells "viva la huegla" (long live the strike) as he is carried from the Colorado Senate chamber by a Denver policeman. Record Value On Utilities Properties

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The state Board of Equalization yesterday placed a record $13.17 billion market value on the operating properties of California's 10 major privately owned public utilities.

The board also dropped by 2 per cent to 33 per cent its assessed ratio on state-regulated utilities for 1969-70 assessment rolls as it moved toward meeting a state requirement that all property be assessed at 25 per cent of market value by 1971.

The record valuation for the 10 utilities was up $650 million from a year ago. But due to the lower assessment ratio the aggregate assessed value for the companies will be $37 million lower than a year ago.

The companies and their valuations, with last year's valuations in parentheses, are:

Pacific Gas & Electric Co., $3.52 billion ($3.46 billion); Pacific Lighting Corp., $795 million ($771 million); San Diego Gas & Electric Co., $403 million ($371 million); Southern California Edison, $2.75 billion ($2.309 billion); General Telephone Co. of California, $1.125 billion ($1 billion);

Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., $4,135 billion, ($3.923 billion); Atchison Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Co., $150 million, ($143 million); Southern Pacific Co., $457 million, ($434 million); Union Pacific Railroad Co., $56 million, ($53 million); and Western Pacific Railroad Co., $55 million, ($54 million).

Bolinas Ridge Cases Moved To San Rafael

The cases of four men arrested May 1 in connection with demonstrations at the Bolinas Ridge logging site were transferred to courts in San Rafael yesterday by Judge David R. Baty of the Northwest Marin Justice Court at Point Reyes Station.

In making the transfer, Judge Baty warned Bennett D. King, 18, of 28 Glen Court, Sausalito, and David L. Horowitz, 18, of 200 Ethel Avenue, Mill Valley, not to attend a picnic planned by demonstrators at the Righetti ranch, site of the logging, on Sunday.

King and Horowitz were given permission yesterday to transfer their case to Marin County Juvenile Court.

Also transferred, though the men didn't appear, were the cases of Leslie A. Ferris, 18, of Overlook Road and Elm Drive, Bolinas, to Juvenile Court and Keith R. Lampe, 37, of Berkeley, to Marin Municipal Court.

All four were booked May 1 in Marin County Jail on investigation of refusing to disperse and all, except Ferris, were also booked for investigation of blocking a roadway.

Lampe is to appear at 9:15 a.m., May 19, to enter plea in Municipal Court, clerk Stella Phillipscheck reported. No dates have been set for the others to appear in Juvenile Court.

Death For Victim Of Drug Fight

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A 17-year-old high school dropout shot in what witnesses described as a fight over narcotics died yesterday.

Robert Hartzer, 17, was wounded in the head Monday in a park across from Lincoln High School.

Police announced McKinley Hall, 19, would be charged with murder in the shooting. Eight high school students identified him as the gunman who shot Hartzer in a quarrel over "reds"—Nembutal capsules.

Speakers Stolen

Airlines Ask East-Pacific Route Links

WASHINGTON KUPI)—United Airlines and Amercan Airlines filed bids today with the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) for routes to link the East Coast and the Midwest with the South Pacific.

American asked the board to approve routes to connect Boston, Buffalo, Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit, New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Washington with Hawaii, American Samoa, Fiji, and Australia.

American's brief was submitted in response to President Nixon's request in the transpacific case that the CAB "recommend a carrier to serve the East Coast, the Midwest and the South Pacific" using a route that would bypass California.

In its filing, United asked approval for routes to link Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Washington, Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Buffalo, Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, and Kansas City with Hawaii, the Society Island, American Samoa, Fiji, New Zealand, and Points in Australia.

At the same time, United urged the board to hold more hearings on the transpacific route case.

United said the hearings were needed to resolve conflicts between the mainland-Hawaii awards made by the CAB in the domestic phase of the transpacific case, and the across-the-Pacific awards made by Nixon.

United said changes made by Nixon in the original across-the-Pacific awards approved by former President Lyndon B. Johnson now conflict with the CAB's mainland-Hawaii route awards.

Woman Reports Highway Threats

A woman hitchhiker who accepted a ride from San Francisco to Marin from a man Tuesday told sheriff's officers that he threatened her if she resisted his advances, made while driving on Highway 101, officers said today.

He also hit her with his fist, she said, when she resisted him, but when she attempted to attract attention near the Tiburon turnoff, he let her out of the car.

Deputies said they are looking for the owner of the car. The woman was able to note the license number.

Two Key Public Works Aides To Private Business

Two key men in the Marin County Department of Public Works will resign to enter private employment within a month.

Michael F. King, deputy director of public works under Donald R. Frost, will quit his job May 16. He has been with the department for four and a half years.

King will join the Bigge Crane and Rigging Co. of San Leandro, and his first job will take him to a project in Hawaii beginning May 25. King, his wife and their four children will move to Hawaii.

"It just looked like a good opportunity," said King. "I just wanted to take a look at some other line of work."

William L. Hess of Novato, assistant director of public works, who has been with the county for two years, will quit June 13 to become a partner of civil engineer Philip B. Lygren, who has his office in Northgate Industrial Park.

"It was an opportunity to become a principal in our own firm," said Hess.

Their resignations came at nearly the same time by coincidence, the two men explained. Hess and King said they were happy with county work but wanted to get into private engineering work.

Frost has asked the county personnel department to begin recruiting candidates to replace the two men.

Group Maps Attacks On Pollution Evils

Ernest Maris is a 26-year-old Kentfiled resident who believes man is slowly destroying his environment. Ever sine he was a boy, Maris said, thoughts of the loss of wildlife and landscape "emotionally bothered me."

Finally, Maris decided to act. He has formed a group of about 10 persons which seeks not only to educate the public about the quality of their environment but to correct some of the damage that has been done to nature.

This Saturday and Sunday, at 8:30 a.m., Maris and his group will lead other volunteers to Strawberry Point on Richardson Bay for a beach cleanup. Maris hopes it will be the first of a series of cleanups that will take the group all the way around San Francisco Bay.

"We hope to have work going on every weekend until the bay's clean," said Maris, bearded and sandy-haired. "If it doesn't get off the first time, I hope we'll really be rolling by the second or third time."

Maris calls his group Terra Nova, or New Earth. He said it is a nonprofit association dedicated to "experiments in social, ecological and technical change" and to "developing an awareness of the responsibility of people for the quality of their environment."

Because of short-sighted planning, Maris complained, California has lost one-fifth of its agricultural land since 1946. "Concrete has been poured into the soil and it's been rendered unfit by chemicals," he said.

"There is work for people on every beach, marsh, mudflat and shelf that comprise the 267 miles of shoreline in San Francisco Bay," he said. "There is work for people in every park in every city in the Bay Area. There is work for people in every national park and forest in California cleaning up campsites and roadsides. Our land is what we make it."

Maris asked volunteers to assemble at the College Avenue parking lot at the College of Marin at 8:30 a.m. Saturday and Sunday, when a car pool will leave for Strawberry Point. Volunteers should bring work gloves, shovels, rakes and sacks or cartons.

Beyond the bay cleanup, Maris would like to produce a floating street fair and theater aboard a rented craft to focus on environmental problems and to drive a bus around the Bay Area to dispense information on the evils of such threats as water and air pollution.

Health Officers' Report On Diseases

Seventy-four cases of streptococcus, 32 of them in Novato, were reported to the Marin County Public Health Department last week, Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, health officer, has reported.

There were also 17 cases of gonorrhea; two of infectious hepatitis; and one each of mumps, tuberculosis, serum hepatitis and German measles.

Raceway, Film Firm Talking Of Merger

Sears Point International Raceway, the motor sports complex opened last March in southern Sonoma County, may be merged into a prominent television and motion picture firm, if negotiations now under way are completed.

Robert D. Marshall Jr., president of Sears Point International which has its offices in San Rafael, said an agreement in principle has been reached between the directors of his company and Filmways, Inc. for the acquisition of the race track by Filmways.

He said discussions are still under way and when exact terms have been agreed upon the merger will be submitted to Sears Point stockholders for approval. Marshall declined to state the amount of money under consideration, but said an exchange of stock will probably be involved, with Sears Point becoming a wholly owned subsidiary of Filmways.

Filmways, a Delaware corporation with its principal offices in New York and Los Angeles, is known for the production of such television series as Beverly Hillbillies, Petticoat Junction, Green Acres and the Steve Allen Show. It is also the owner of three recently acquired television stations and at one time became interested in the Ontario Motor Speedway in Southern California but withdrew before construction started. Its stock is listed on the American Stock Exchange.

The Sears Point complex takes in 640 acres near the junction of Highways 121 and 37. It has acquired national championship racing dates from the National Hot Rod Association, Sports Car Club of America, the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing and the American Motorcycle Association.

Part of the property is planned to be devoted to public skeet and trap shooting, a large restaurant and banquet facility, motels and other services. Its stock is traded over the counter.

A bronze statue of Sgt. Alvin York, famous hero of World War I, has been erected on the state capitol grounds at Nashville, Tenn.

Pair Caught With Bag Of Silverware

Two rather lackadaisical San Rafael men were booked into Marin County Jail yesterday after they were found in San Anselmo with a pillowcase full of apparently stolen silverware and jewelry, police said today.

Paul Danny Cassidy, 22, of 1135 Fourth Street, and George Edward Myers, 22, of 35 Martins Boulevard, were jailed on suspicion of possession of stolen goods and for outstanding traffic warrants. They remained in jail today in lieu of $6,250 bail each.

They acted as if they wanted to be arrested, said police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani.

Officer David Oliva asked the men for identification at 5:45 p.m. after seeing them at 34 Greenfield Avenue with a bulging white pillowcase on the ground between them.

Questioned, Myers produced two credit cards in the name of Robert C. Caughell of 10 Marina Court, San Rafael, police said.

Officers checked with the San Rafael Police Department and learned that Caughell's home had been broken into.

Included in the loot found on Myers and in the pillowcase were items that had the name, Caughell, taped to them.

The items included two gold rings, cuff links, a gold pocket watch, 31 forks, 31 spoons, 17 knives and several pieces of large silverware, police said. Value of the items was not immedicately determined.

Myers told officers he got the jewelry and silver "from a person named Joe."

Arts Center At Bayside School Wins

A use variance was granted the Sausalito Arts Association last night by the Sausalito Planning Commission to allow use of old Bayside School as an arts center.

The arts association plans to hold its Fall Arts Festival there, and to have studios, seminars, art classes and exhibits in the former school, which it has leased from the Sausalito School District.

On Loyal Davis's request, the commission postponed to June 4 his application for a conditional use permit for construction of a 19-unit apartment in Marina Vista subdivision.

The Sausalito Planning Commission also:

PROFESSIONAL CENTER — Granted a variance allowing 85 per cent lot coverage for the Caledonia Professional Center building to be built at Johnson and Caledonia streets.

DESIGNER—Approved establishment by Mrs. William McDermott of an apparel design office at 42 Caledonia Street.

STUDIO—Granted a variance to allow building a studio room at a residence at 292 Glen Drive.

LOT SPLIT—Approved an application by John Barron to split a 29,850 square foot lot at Cazneau Avenue and Glen Drive into three parcels.

PARKING--Recommended the City Council amend the parking ordinance to allow the commission to set higher off-street parking requirements if a particular use requires it.

Ethnics Check Started In Sonoma State Voting

Sonoma State College students yesterday elected student body officers, but members of the student directors and elections committee huddled to determine the validity of voting in the runoff and ethics of campaign techniques.

In unofficial vote results, Jon Owen of San Rafael was elected as student body president with 475 votes, defeating Robert Fortune of Petaluma, 393 votes.

In the runoff for chairman of the board, Jon Callaway with 484 votes defeated Stefan Bosworth with 363. For academic vice president, Richard E. Saarinen defeated Frances Hus 488 to 370. For treasurer, Tom Rollins won by 532 to 318 over Fred Vajda.

In the runoff for senate representatives from the English Department, the winners were Pat Cunningham witth 33 votes and Sandy Zimmerman with 28. Candidates Joe Jeromy received 25 and Patrick McCuster, 23.

The student board of directors Tuesday fired elections commissioner James S. Dierke after he refused to enforce new, relaxed voting regulations. The directors revised the rules so that students could vote without presenting official identification cards.

Dierke had charged the relaxed voting regulations were engineered by candidates Fortune and Vajda, both members of the board.

The directors today said they would review the voting procedure and also investigate charges against Owen concerning illegalites in his campaign literature.

Negligence Is Worst Cause Of Blazes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—The primary cause of house fires in Ohio can be attributed to negligence, Roger A. Miller, agricultural engineer at Ohio State University said in a recent report.

A survey of more than 8,000 reports of residence fires shows 26 per cent were caused by "human failure," Miller said.

"People living in the house did not eliminate existing fire hazards," he explained.

Curfew Assists Traffic Control

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI)—The teen-age curfew established during riots in April, 1968, is still in use in this capital city—to ease traffic congestion.

The curfew prohibits anyone under 18 from being on the streets after 10 p.m. Sunday through Thursday and after 11 p.m. Friday through Saturday.

Police say they are "strictly" enforcing it to ease traffic tieups caused by young motorists cruising downtown streets.

High-Level Teachers No. 1 Survey Item

Preliminary results of a survey taken by the Reed School District Parents Club, have been presented to the school district board.

Margaret Jones, representing the parents club, said final tabulations would be available next week.

Of 2,000 questionaires distributed to parents, some 855 or 44 per cent, have been tabulated, Mrs. Jones said Monday night. Parents received one questionnaire for each child in the district, resulting in some families having a greater weight in the survey, she said.

However, she noted, parents often had differing attitudes about programs for their kindergarten students than for an eighth grade student, for example.

Teacher aides and school bus transportation are the most expendable programs in the district, according to responding parents.

Items which the survey indicated should be retained, in order of preference, were well-trained teachers paid on a competitive basis, small class sizes of at least a 25-1 ratio, large variety of educational materials, a library with a paid professional staff and trained personnel to deal with special problems.

Parents supported individualized instruction and generally indicated support of all specialized programs except Spanish where they were evenly divided among supporters, detractors and those who had no opinion.

As for the controversy over parent conferences replacing report cards, most parents asked for some sort of parent conference program, either combined with a written report, a conference only or an evening conference in which fathers could participate.

Few parents are concerned about long hair or dress styles but they are worried about noise in the classroom, distractions to studying students, courtesy to other children and to adults.

Only 257 parents said they opposed running in the halls while 334 said such a practice was all right.

Most parents said homework, handwriting, neatness in written work, learning how to write paragraphs and written work in general are very important for their children to be exposed to in school while less important were a high ratio of men teachers, the emphasis on children helping other children in the classroom, parent volunteers, field trips and team teachers.

More than 600 parents said parents should pay fees for special foreign language, art and music classes which are offered outside of school hours.

The Reed School District board also:

ENROLLMENT — Heard that the district had a net increase of four students during April.

When Rail Tycoons Drove Golden Spike

(Henry G. Hayes of Kentfield, a semi-retired attorney, is attending the Golden Spike Centennial celebration at Promontory, Utah, with more nostalgia than most. Both of his grandfathers were present, as newspaper reporters, for the "wedding of the rails" there 100 years ago.)

By HENRY G. HAYES

May 10, 1969, Promontory Summit, Utah, marks the time and place of the Golden Spike ceremony celebrating the centennial of completion of the first railroad across the continent. It is also an important dateline in the personal history of my family.

Both my grandfathers were present as newspaper reporters at the ceremony 100 years ago, brought there from diverse backgrounds by the dramatic significance of the event. One of my grandfathers, the one for whom I am named, had come to New York from Ireland as a young boy after the disastrous Irish potato famines of 1846-47, had gone into newspaper work, and for much of his life was with the Associated Press. The other grandfather was from a family that had settled in Massachusetts in 1631. A graduate of Yale, he had at various times been lawyer, Civil War colonel, reporter, editor, writer, educator, and European traveller.

Both grandfathers were sophisticated city men, as out of place in the stark deserts of northern Utah as a Paiute Indian of that time would have been in Manhattan. They had been drawn to so unlikely a place as Promontory Summit by the overwhelming importance of the ceremony they witnessed there, which opened a new era of rail travel and trade of seemingly limitless horizons and potentials.

Ground was broken in Sacramento for the Central Pacific on Jan. 8, 1863, when the Civil War was at its height in the East, and within the first 125 miles the railroad was confronted with its greatest challenge in the crossing of the 7,000-foot Sierras. After that obstacle was surmounted by masterful engineering and laborious and painfully slow construction work, the road came down from Donner Summit along the Truckee River.

Crossing Nevada was then comparatively easy, following the Humboldt River and skirting the ends of the desert ranges. From all contemporary accounts the line reached Promontory Summit, 690 miles east of Sacramento, without last-minute catastrophes or major problems.

By contrast the Union Pacific, starting west from Omaha on Dec. 2, 1863, almost a year after the Central Pacific broke ground in Sacramento, had its most serious troubles as it approached the end of its 1,086-mile line.

From an engineering standpoint, going up the wide but gradual rise of the Great Plains, and across the Rockies through the gentle gap of South Pass, posed no special problem, but getting through the Wasatch Mountains in a time of heavy rains and spring floods was something else again. Bridges were swept away, embankments were washed out, temporary trestles were put up that soon crumbled.

A reporter writing from Ogden was highly critical of the makeshift roadbed, and noted that "after I passed over the road on Tuesday two other bridges gave way, making four in all — in 23 miles."

To climax this series of difficulties, vice president T. C. Durant of the Union Pacific, coming west to represent his company at the Golden Spike ceremony, was kidnaped by an angry crowd of construction workers and held for two days until he paid over to them $243,000 in back wages. It is not clear from the news reports how Durant managed to produce this sum on short notice at a remote siding in the Wasatch, but arrangements were apparently satisfactory as he was released to appear later in stovepipe hat and frock coat at the ceremony. The papers briefly noted that although the rails actually met on May 4, the formal ceremony was postponed "because of bad weather conditions in the mountains."

The scene witnessed by my grandfathers at Promontory Summit on May 10, 1869 is preserved in an old wet-glass photograph called "The Wedding of the Rails". This shows locomotive No. 119 from the east and the locomotive "Jupiter" from the west cautiously touching cow-catchers, while crew members lean across to exchange bottles of champagne.

The agenda for the ceremonies included: (1) prayer asking the favor of Heaven on the enterprise, (2) symbolic laying of two rails in opposite directions, (3) presentation of spikes — gold by California, silver by Nevada, copper by Arizona, (4) response by Gov. Leland Stanford for the Central Pacific, (5) response by Gen. Granville Dodge for the Union Pacific (was he pinch-hitting for Durant?), (6) driving of the last spikes by the two companies, "telegraph to be attached to the spike of the Central Pacific Co. and the last blow to announce to the world by telegraph the completion of the Pacific Railroad." (7) telegram to the President of the United States, and (8) telegram to the Associated Press (did my grandfather draft it?).

Tradition has it that Gov. Leland Stanford of California overcome by the excitement of the occasion, missed his final swing at the spike, but that an alert telegraph operator pressed the key anyway to start bells ringing, whistles blowing, cannon booming, and oratory and champagne flowing all over the country.

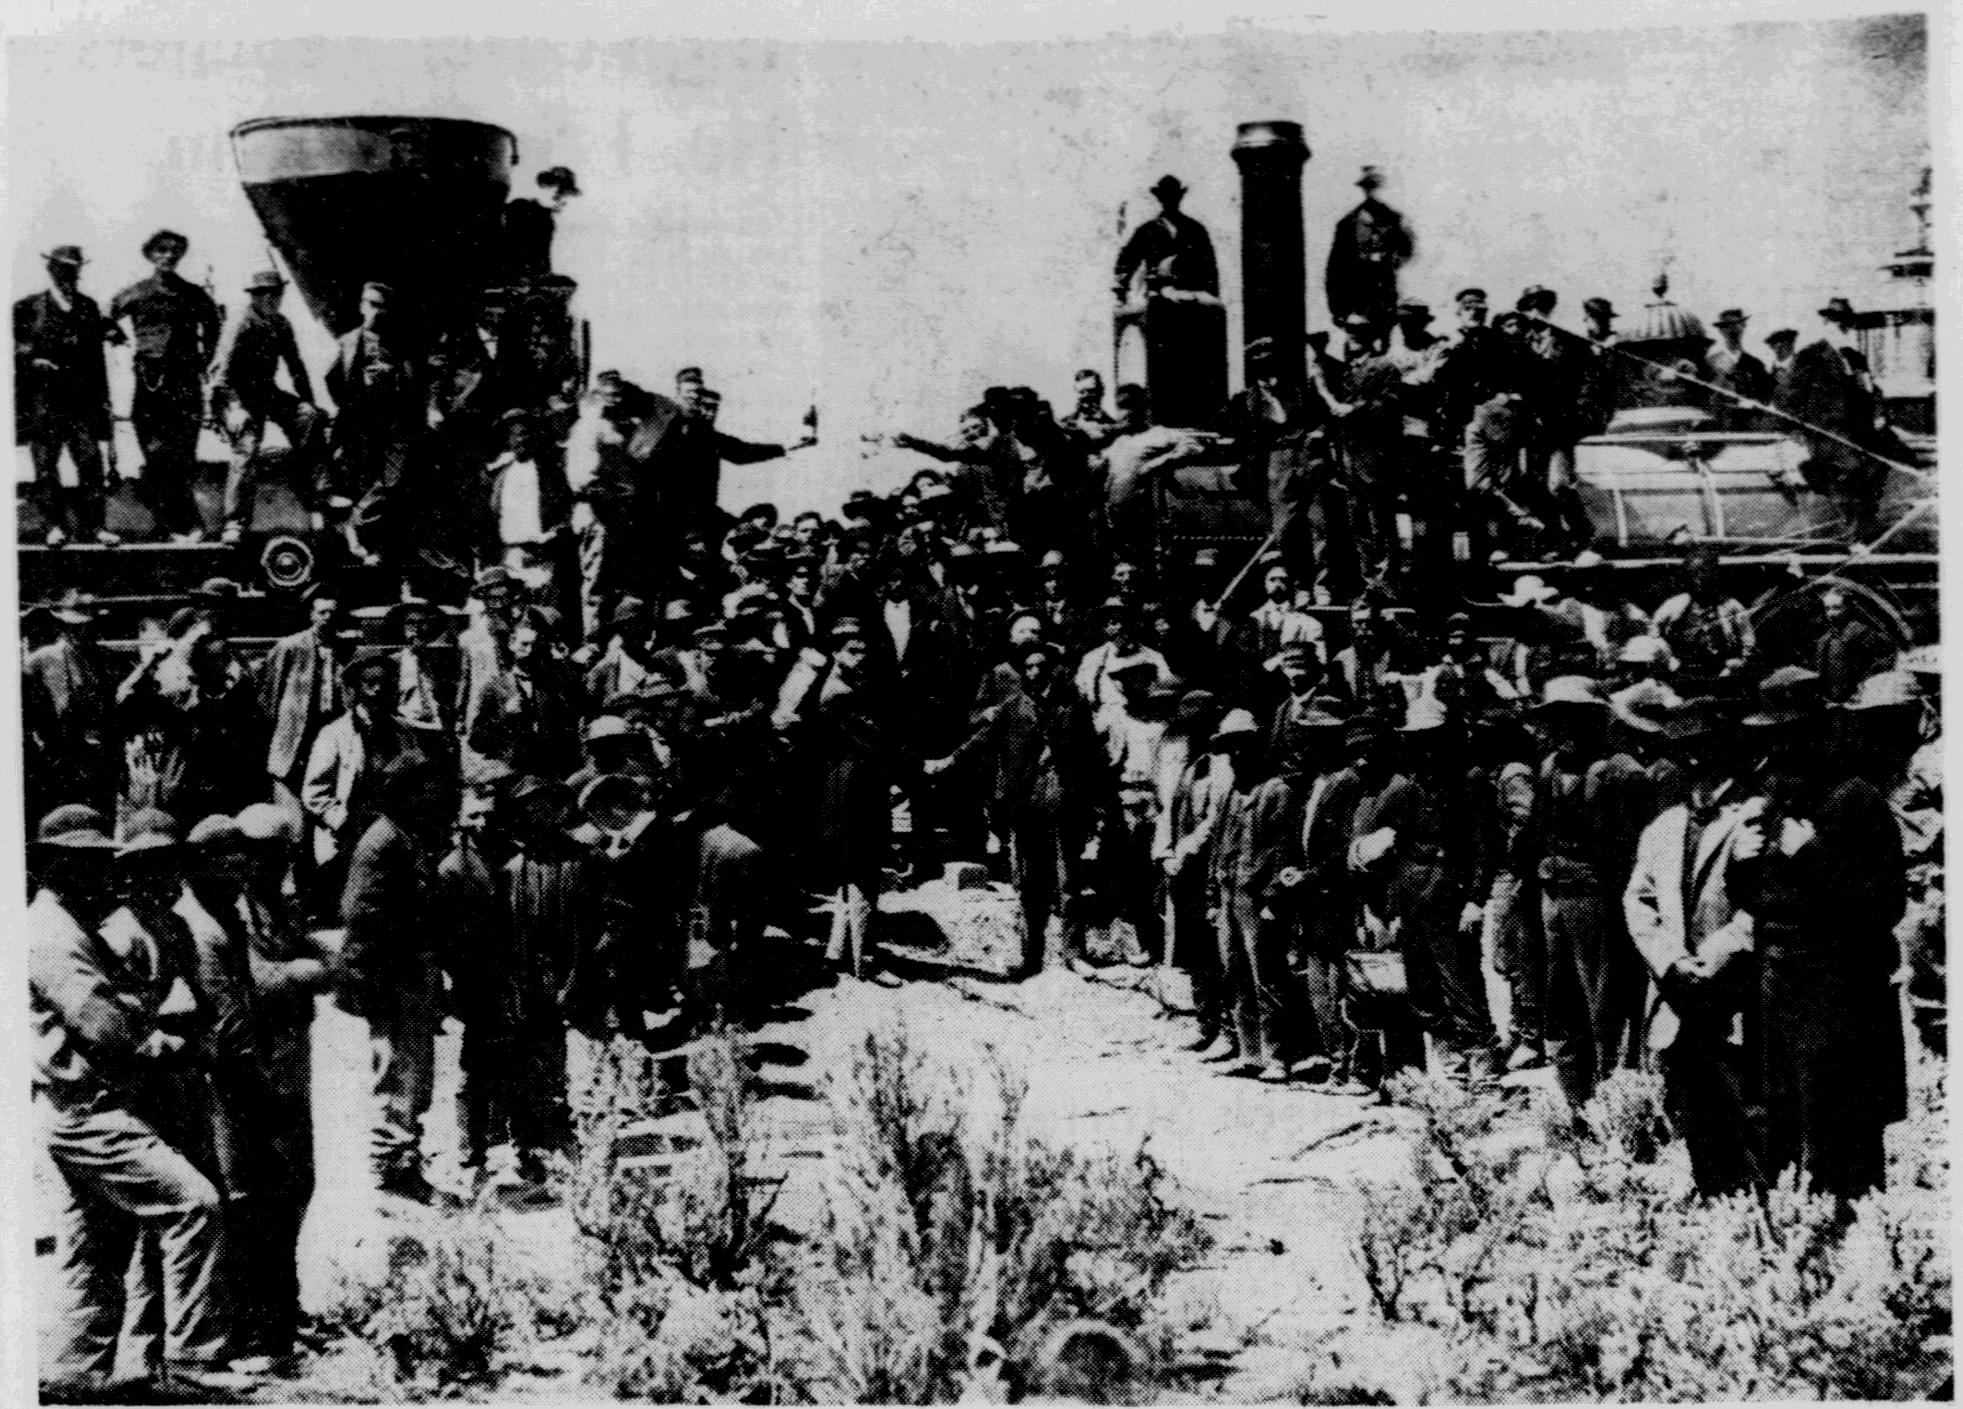
There was a "magnificent" service of thanksgiving in Trinity Church in New York, and special celebrations in Omaha, Chicago, Philadelphia, Washington, Buffalo, and Scranton. Sacramento let loose the whistles of 30 massed locomotives. San Francisco rang every bell in the city, and fired cannon from Fort Point. Also, as reported in the San Francisco Evening Bulletin: "One of the great features of the recent railroad celebration in this city was the magnificent illumination in the evening. Bonfires blazed on the various hilltops and at various points along the most frequented streets. Rockets coursed the heavens until a late hour, and bombs, crackers and torpedoes kept up an incessant rattle. Many private houses were brilliantly illuminated, and in some instances the occupants of dilapitated old shanties testified their appreciation of the great event by placing a single candle in the weather-beaten casement, thus adding their mite to the universal rejoicing".

The New York Times editorialized, with starry-eyed enthusiasm: "The pesent week witnesses the completion of the greatest enterprise ever yet undertaken, whether considered in reference to its extent, its cost, or the beneficent results that are to flow from it — a line of railroad across the continent and uniting ocean with ocean".

And Charles Crocker of the Central Pacific, addressing his fellow citizens in Sacramento on the great day, promised: "And now I wish to say to you and to all our friends that we will put the rates down so as to fill this country full of people. Just as fast as we can get the cars built we will bring them here and fill your valleys and mountains full of people."

Whether or not the rates went down, the Pacific Railroad contributed substantially to the population explosion of the times. Yet despite Crocker's blandishments, neither of my grandfathers returned west after their meeting at Promontory Summit. Both shortly moved with their families from New York to Washington, one to be the congressional reporter for the Associated Press, the other to help establish and guide the Bureau of Education. However, my mother and father, after their marriage in Washington, lived for many years in Hawaii, where my father was a doctor on the Big Island. They traveled every year or so between Hawaii and Washington.

My parents always took the route of the Pacific Railroad between San Francisco and Chicago, and as a child the name "Overland Limited" had an Arabian Nights magic for me.



THE WEDDING OF THE RAILS—This famous photo shows the scene on May 10, 1869, as the Central Pacific's Jupiter (left) and the Union Pacific's No. 119 nosed together where the rails met to complete spanning of the continent by the "iron horse." The men shaking hands in center are chief engineers Grenville Dodge of the UP and Sam Montague of the CP. For many years it was assumed this photo was taken by Charles R. Savage, but the original glass-plate negative was discovered recently among the "lost collection" of photos by Andrew J. Russell, official photographer for the UP.

My grandfathers' and my father's generations are now gone, my own generation is passing, and with these generations have passed the color and the glory and the greatness of the transcontinental rail service inaugurated at Promontory Summit.

I last crossed the continent by train in 1955, and that was primarily to give my own children the fun and experience of a long train trip while one was still readily available. Apart from saving time, I would even now prefer to travel by train, but the railroads are little concerned with holding my interest. Faced with the competitive pressure of the airlines, the railroads have apparently decided as a matter of economics to surrender rather than to fight back. The infinite vistas opened to rail travel in 1869 are now sadly limited, and the airplane is destroying the passenger train as surely as the passenger train destroyed the stage-coach.

Promontory itself is no longer on a railroad (the rails were torn up for scrap in 1942), or even on a main highway. Under all these circumstances, what can the Golden Spike Centennial Celebration on May 10, 1969, at Promontory, Utah, have to offer?

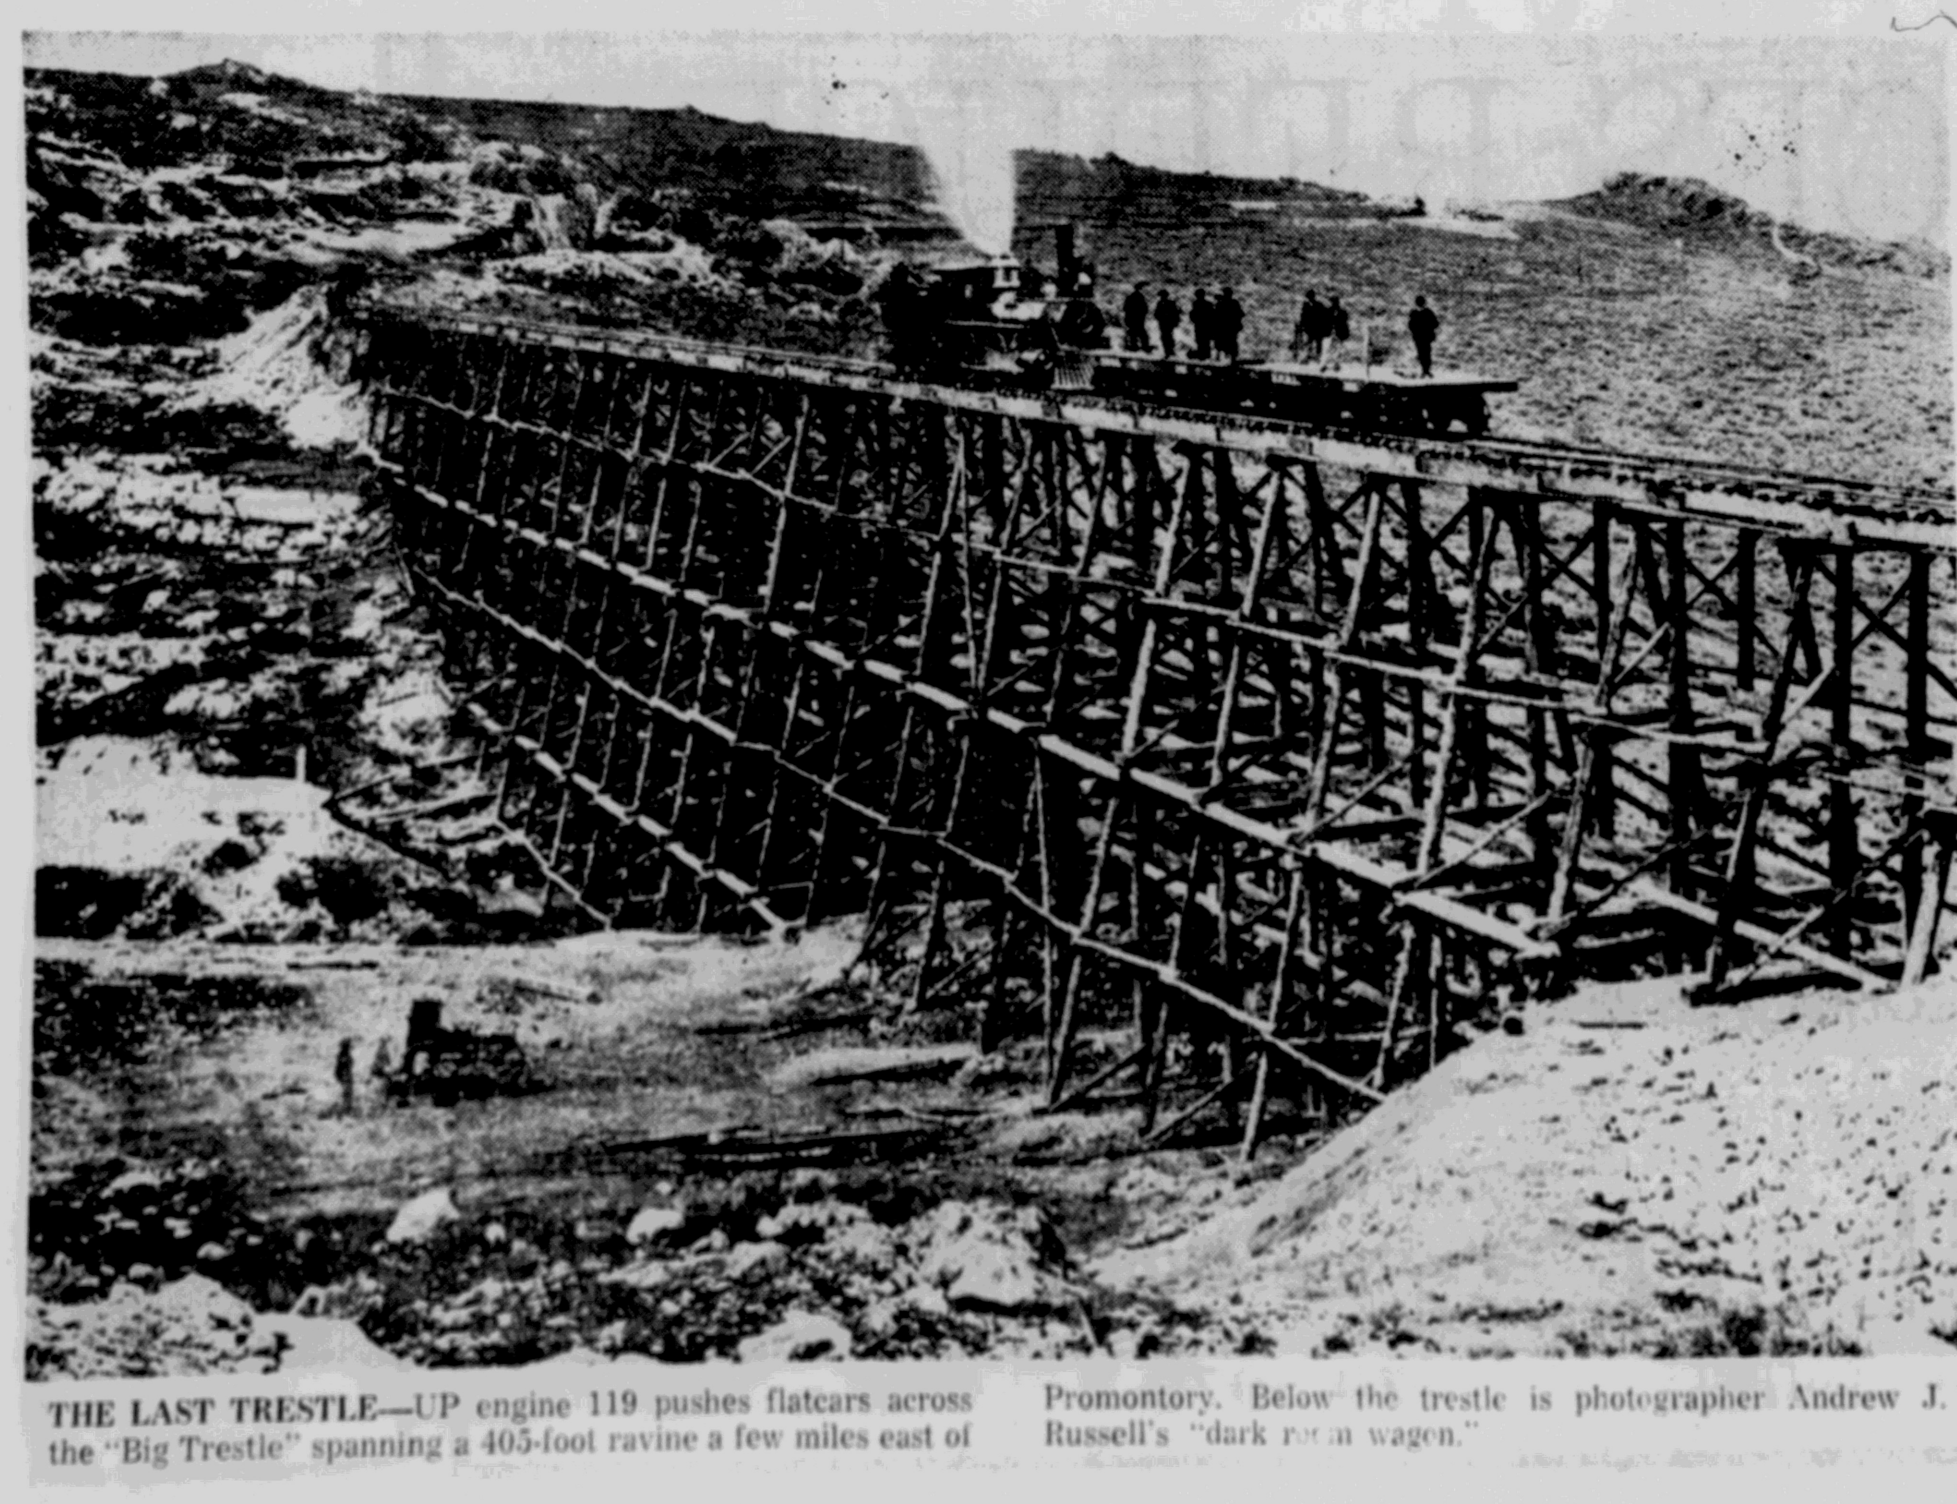
Americans, and particularly western Americans, love parades and bands and county fairs and picnics and people. Americans, and particularly western Americans, love to be reminded of their sturdy pioneer past, of the rigors of frontier life, of the drive of Manifest Destiny, of the American Heritage, or even of just "the good old days". And Chambers of Commerce and service clubs gladly promote occasions when Americans, and particularly western Americans, can enjoy these things that they love.

I am glad that I am here at Promontory, Utah, as a third generation Hayes, to stand where my grandfathers stood a 100 years ago. The setting of sagebrush desert against a backdrop of bare or sparsely wooded mountains is probably relatively unchanged. The place of the Wedding of the Rails is now the Golden Spike National Historic Site, with a visitors' center where national park rangers "provide interpretive services for tourists making pilgrimages to Promontory."

I don't know what is happening on the centennial in San Francisco, but I am sure that in the evening of the 100th anniversary there will be no bonfires in the hills, no candles in casement windows.

And I hope that the ghosts of the Pacific Railroad come out of the darkness to haunt the railroad men who have failed to keep bright the promise of the Golden Spike. Of course times change, and planes are everywhere; but within the past two years I have ridden the clean, efficient trains of Switzerland, on which even an aged invalid can open a car window without difficulty. I have ridden the Bullet Train in Japan, rocketing at 130 miles per hour over an incredibly smooth roadbed. I have ridden the crowded Blue Train from Cape Town to Johannesburg through South African desert country much like our West. I have read of recent trail runs of turbotrains between Boston and Washington. To paraphrase an old song: Whatever they can do, you can do better.—Or can you?

THE BOSS MAN—The man in the middle is Jack Casement, wearing Cossack fur cap, fur-trimmed coat, and carrying the bullwhip that was his ever-present symbol of authority. Casement, a Union general in the Civil War, and his brother were major contractors for building the Union Pacific Railroad, and it was big Jack who drove a motley crew made up of hard-drinking former Civil War soldiers and immigrant Irishmen augmented by "Word of Wisdom" Mormons in the great track-laying race. The UP laid 1,028 miles of track to the Central Pacific's 691 miles—and every mile laid meant more largesse from the federal government.



THE LAST TRESTLE—UP engine 119 pushes flatcars across the "Big Trestle" spanning a 405-foot ravine a few miles east of Promontory. Below the trestle is photographer Andrew J. Russell's "dark room wagen."

THE VIEW FROM THE WEST — The big "coal scuttle" smoke-stack of the Central Pacific's Jupiter dominates the foreground in this photo as it nears the Union Pacific's No. 119 for the historic meeting. The camera-mugging soldiers lined up beside the track are from three companies of the 21st Infantry that participated in the ceremony, with the regimental band providing music. Transit Board Awaits Commute Bus Report

The Marin Transit District's final report on a commuter bus proposal wasn't ready last night as hoped, and Gen. Mgr. Seymour Kashin could give no clear indication when it would be completed.

"As you know, there are always unforseen circumstances," Kashin told an impatient district board last night, "but I think I can have the conclusions wrapped up during this month."

Kashin, who began studying a bus plan last fall, submitted a preliminary report at the last board meeting. He said the final one wasn't available last night because Greyhound had given its employees new wage pacts.

Such figures, Kashin said, "form the heart of forecasts of what our expenses will be."

Kashin was pressed mildly by district directors William A. Gnoss and Dean N. Meyer to have his concluding report ready for the next regular board meeting, June 4.

Kashin said he would try, but added, "It's been a long road. I can't see rushing hastily into something we may regret."

Kashin's first report contained detailed bus routings, but did not offer schedules or the cost of the system. He said in his monthly report last night the line would have up to 140 buses and could carry up to 8,000 passengers daily.

His report indicated there would be no drop in fares if a public system were to supplant Greyhound.

"The commuter objects to the service now, not the fares," Kashin said after the meeting. "The commuter doesn't feel he's getting his money's worth."

Kashin's report also said the district staff is looking at several sites in the Greenbrae area to construct a bus storage terminal and small administration building. Kashin estimated the cost at $1.3 million.

The Marin Transit District Board Also:

SAN FRANCISCO — Said that it should invite members of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors and Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District representatives to discuss Kashin's bus plan, when it is completed. The board earlier heard from Kashin that the San Francisco supervisors had passed a resolution against congestion of city streets by commuter buses. Kashin said transit district buses would not knot San Francisco traffic.

MARIN CITY — Learned that representatives of Marin County Transit Stystems were not prepared with details on fares and a financial statement, sought by the board at the April 2 meeting. The group, run by blacks and based in Marin City, would operate a shuttle bus system in Marin.

ABANDONMENT — Voted, 4-0, to oppose abandonment of the Sausalito branch of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad. An Interstate Commerce Commission examiner has upheld a bid by the line to abandon service, pending an appeal by the California Public Utilities Commission to the full Interstate Commerce Commission.

Three Autos Are Burglarized

Three automobiles were broken into Tuesday night in the Bon Air apartment area and $696 worth of items taken, Larkspur police reported today.

Bonnie Dillard told officers that someone forced a window in her car in her 100 Lower Via Casita car port and took an auto stereo, 10 stereo tapes and a tacometer, worth $255.

Fred W. Meyer of Apt. 38, 500 South Eliseo Drive reported that someone pried open the top of his Porsche and stole a stereo tape unit and 12 tapes, a chair and a pillow valued at $241. Damage to his car top was $220, he told police.

Joyce Hammond of Apt. 36, at the same address, reported someone breaking into the car of her friend and stealing a $200 radio and camera equipment.

Session Canceled

A meeting of the Marin Junior College District trustees scheduled for tonight to award a contract for portable office facilities has been canceled because it was necessary to extend bid time for one week. The board will consider the bids at its next regular meeting May 15.

Burglary Ring Suspects' Trial

A jury trial in Marin Superior Court for three young men accused of being part of a burglary ring responsible for as many as 98 burglaries has been set for July 28.

Two cases will be tried at that time.

The first involves Gordon K. Jennings, 21, of Novato; Andrew M. Gillespie III, 19, of San Rafael, and Edward Guillory, 20, of San Francisco, who are charged with a Feb. 21 burglary in San Rafael.

The other case is against Jennings and Gillespie.

Lack Of Workers For Petaluma Fete

Petaluma's Old Adobe Days celebration may not be held this year, according to Chamber of Commerce reports, unless a committee of interested citizens comes forth soon.

The annual celebration and barbecue at General Vallejo's headquarters scheduled for Aug. 16 and 17 may be canceled because no committee has been set up to begin preparations. Members of the 1968 committee have been unable to continue in their posts, president Rollan Rea said.

James Brainerd Heads Firemen

James Brainerd last night was elected president of the Alto-Richardson Bay Volunteer Firemen's Association, replacing Gerald St. Jovite, Fire Chief Carl O. Heynen Jr. reported.

Other officers elected include Golen Menzies IIIP secretary; Harold Roberts, treasurer; Stephen Bolster, property clerk, and Harvey M. Chapman and Heynen, directors.

The new officers will be installed at a dinner to be held sometime in June, Heynen said.

Sewage Trunk Line Federal Funds Asked

The Ross Valley Sanitary District board last night agreed to apply for a $325,000 grant from the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development towards installation of a sewage trunk line to handle winter storm flood waters.

The line would be built five feet from the proposed concrete channel to be installed in Corte Madera Creek by the Army Corps of Engineers in its phase three of the flood control project. It would be on the engineers' right-of-way.

A contract has already been let, district manager Ralph C. Noah said, for a similar trunk line between Stadium Way and College Avenue.

The proposed new line will be a continuation of that line.

The manager said, that the new line is not a replacement but an added facility since present line capacity is not large enough.

The board, Noah said, did not discuss opposition voiced Tuesday night at a meeting of some Ross residents to plans for concreting the creek through Ross.

Directors adjourned to 8 p.m., May 21, to discuss the preliminary 1969-70 budget.

Runaway And Truant Nabbed In Novato

A 15-year-old from Juvenile Hall who fled April 30 was picked up by Novato police yesterday with another 15-year-old boy who was arrested for truancy.

They were arrested while hitchhiking on Novato Boulevard. The runaway was returned to juvenile hall and the other youth reprimanded and released.

The Youth's Name Was Bill Jackson

Despite what his name tag said at Tuesday's Youth in Government Day at San Rafael City Hall, Bill Jackson is really Bill Jackson.

The Independent-Journal mis-identified him in yesterday's paper as Bill Johnson, the identification being taken from his name tag.

Human Rights Aide To Join Another Agency

Wallace K. Shepherd, field representative for the Marin Human Rights Commission, is resigning to take a higher paying job as assistant director of the Marin County Housing Authority.

Shepherd's letter of resignation will go to the rights commission at tonight's regular meeting, set for 8 o'clock in the planning commission chambers at Civic Center.

Shepherd joined the human rights staff nine months ago and attended a course at the urban training center in Chicago under a Ford Foundation Fellowship in February and March.

Austin J. Thompson, executive director of the rights commission, said he hates to lose Shepherd, "But we won't lose him completely, because he is joining another county agency."

Commissioners will also elect new officers at the meeting.

Theodore Berry, representing the Marin City Economics Inc., will discuss the corporation's proposal for an intra-county bus system.

Plan Open House

Tiburon volunteer firemen will host an open house from 1 to 4 p.m. Saturday at both fire stations in honor of Fire Service Recognition Day. Rides for children on the fire trucks and refreshments will be provided at the main station in downtown Tiburon.

Ragle Is Confirmed To Education Board

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Senate voted 27-0 today to confirm Gov. Ronald Reagan's appointment of Eugene N. Ragle of Auburn to the state Board of Education, although some Democrats abstained in opposition.

But Sen. Albert S. Rodda, D-Sacramento, the man who asked earlier that the confirmation be delayed, cast the final, deciding vote.

"This will serve as an object lesson," Rodda said. He added that he doesn't like the requirement that many governor's appointees be confirmed by a two-thirds vote in the Senate, and will introduce a constitutional amendment next year to provide for confirmation by a simple majority.

Ragle, a Republican, is general manager of a Roseville radio station.

"I had received some communication from the community in which this man lives on the grounds he is a political conservative and that he'd been a disruptive factor in the community," Rodda said. But he added that he had checked and would not oppose the appointment.

Of Senate confirmations, Rodda said, "when we elect a governor, he should appoint those he feels qualified ... We have a right to advise the public perhaps of political philosophy," he added.

"If we elect a liberal governor, we expect he would make liberal appointments," Rodda said. "If we elect a conservative governor, we expect he would make conservative appointments."

Rodda first said he would abstain, but then cast the final vote giving the two-thirds majority in the 40-member house. "I don't think we should hold him up," Rodda told newsmen.

But at least six Democrats who were present refused to vote.

Senate President pro tem Hugh M. Burns, D-Fresno, asked for confirmation of Ragle today because the appointee is attending the State Board of Education monthly meeting in Los Angeles.

Seattle Pair Injured Near Rohnert Park

Two Seattle residents were injured yesterday at 3 p.m. in an accident on Highway 101, south of the Wilfred Avenue exit at Rohnert Park.

Eleanor McAteer, 56, the driver of a van truck, and her passenger, John Sasso, 68, were treated at the Community Hospital of Sonoma County for cuts and bruises. The California Highway Patrol said Mrs. McAteer apparently dozed while driving and the truck went off the roadway into a ditch.

Burglary Linked To Escapees

Burglary of a Marinwood home Monday has been linked to two escapees from Marin Juvenile Hall who were arrested in Marinwood Monday with a stolen car, sheriff's deputies said today.

Items taken from the home of Dolores M. Gabrielson at 15 Valleystone Drive were found in the stolen car, according to officers.

Missing from the house, where a window had been kicked in, were two transistor radios, gold cufflinks and tie clip, a small bank containing $10, a humidor and a bottle of wine.

Officers said since James Ghilotti 14, and James Kisling, 16, were already confined to the hall, no further action would be taken.

Hawaii was discovered by Capt. James Cook, of the British Navy, in 1778.

MUSIC REVIEW

A Melodic Evening By Symphony, Guest

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

SAN FRANCISCO — Accent was on melody in last night's concert at the Opera House performed by the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra under the direction of guest conductor Antonio De Almeida. But the melodic styles differed widely in the three works performed.

In the Handel Music for the Royal Fireworks it was flamboyant and martial. In the Vaughan Williams Suite for Viola and Small Orchestra it was often simple and tender or dancing in the small vignettes. And in the Franck Symphony in D Minor it was of soaring grandeur.

Of special interest to me was the Williams Suite, since I had not heard it, and Rolf Persinger, the orchestra's principal violist, who lives in Tiburon, was the soloist. One can always be sure of a significant musical experience in hearing Persinger for he is one of the conutry's most gifted violists.

The suite was not a bravura showpiece, though it had virtuoso aspects in the moto perpetuo and galop, but it did give the opportunity to hear Persinger's gorgeous tone, polished phrasing and infinitely expressive interpretation.

Very beautiful in the Carol vignette was a canon for viola and flute, thought the flute was a little too soft, and the passages in the third set of suites within the suite in combination with harp and celeste were entrancing.

Paris-born Almeida, substituting for Joseph Krips a second time, fulfilled the promise he showed as one of the more talented young conductors in his debut with the symphony last month.

He seemed fully in his element in the major work of the evening, the Franck work, which he conducted without score, bringing out with clarity and balanced proportion the cyclic structure of this only symphony by Franck. The composer's orchestration, which owed so much to his eminence as an organist, was admirably realized in the surging organ-like tones and resonance of the strings.

Strong, clear brasses, especially in some brilliant trumpet playing, as well as powerful percussive dynamics including snare drums made the Handel works a real piece of pyrotechnics. The woodwinds section, too, was outstanding.

State Approves Purchase Of Muir Beach Acreage

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The final hurdle to state purchase of 15.8 acres at Muir Beach for a park was cleared yesterday with unanimous approval by the state Public Works Board of the $247,000 purchase.

The property, held by 10 owners, shoud be in state hands within 15 days, the Independent-Journal was told by Joseph L. Mickelson, a land agent with the Department of General Services.

The state's share of the cost will be $122,000. The remaining $125,000 will come from an anonymous woman donor whose offer of the gift in 1967 led to a condemnation suit. The value was set last month by a Marin Superior Court jury.

The suit came after the state offered the owners $200,000, including the gift money. The owners came within $3,000 of their demand for $250,000.

The state's share of the cost will come from the state's 1966 park bond measure.

No improvements to the new park land can be expected for at least a year, said James E. Warren, chief of the planning and development division of the Department of Parks and Recreation. Facilities will be limited to day use, and will be similar to those at Stinson Beach State Park, "but more intimate," Warren said.

The new park property will be part of Mount Tamalpais State Park. State plans envision a continuous strip of park land stretching from the Golden Gate Bridge to Stinson Beach, but at present the new property will not connect to any other park property.

The first subway in America opened in Boston in 1897.

Ford Foundation Grant To Berkeley

BERKELEY (UPI) — The University of California at Berkeley announced yesterday it has received a $250,000 Ford Foundation grant for research into urban problems.

The grant will be used to finance faculty research for a one-year period beginning July 1. The projects to be supported by the grant include studies of interpersonal and social relations, economic opportunities, health and medical care, education, government and physical environment.

To Handle Case

The case of Thomas John Pattalochi, 20, of San Rafael, will be tried in juvenile court, it was reported yesterday in Marin Municipal Court. He is accused of possessing marijuana April 12 in Northgate.

East Petaluma Group Endorses Candidate Slate

Directors of the East Petaluma Civic Association have endorsed a slate of candidates in the June 10 municipal election and voted to support all five bond issues that will appear on the ballot.

Endorsed for mayor was Councilman Robert S. Lipman, who is challenging the incumbent, Helen Putnam. Chosen for the three city council seats were Lawrence R. Bernauer, Rodney L. Cameron and Fred Mattei.

For three seats on the board of education, the group picked incumbents Sol Fishman, Dr. William Kortum and challenger Alfred N. Brengle.

Directors said the endorsement were in keeping with the association's goals for community interest and participation in city government. Of the endorsed candidates, only Bernauer is an association director.

There's A Reason For Slow Arrivals

CAIRO (UPI)—Travelers now know why a passenger arriving at Cairo Airport needs lots of patience.

The influential newspaper Al Ahram has revealed that one reason it takes so long to go through airport red tape is that the names of many arrivals are checked against a list of "unwelcome" visitors. The list contains 70,000 names.

Miskimen Faces Big Battle On Anexation

San Rafael City Councilman John A. Miskimen faces an uphill fight in his request to have one lot in Bayside Acres annexed to the City of San Rafael.

The Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission will try to resolve the question at tonight's meeting at 8 o'clock in the supervisors' chambers at the Civic Center.

Miskimen wants to buy a home at 185 Oak Drive, which is outside the city limits. Since the city charter requires a councilman to live within the city he is trying to have his new home annexed.

Bayside Acres Property Owners Association are opposed to the annexation because it would pluck one lot from Oak Drive and put it under San Rafael jurisdiction while leaving the rest of Oak Drive in county territory.

Other annexation requests on the agenda are:

Corte Madera Sanitary District wants to annex 15 acres along Lucky Road, containing about 14 homes, on the west side of Highway 101, south of Greenbrae Bridge.

Richardson Bay Sanitary District seeks annexation of 58 acres of tidelands on the west side of Highway 101, where Sabella's restaurant and Shelter Bay apartments are located. About 112 residential units would be affected. The City of Mill Valley, which is not providing sanitary service to the area, wants it detached from the city and annexed to Richardson Bay Sanitary District, which is providing the service.

Richardson Bay Sanitary District also seeks annexation of a 2.8-acre lot owned by A. F. Willat at the corner of Sky Road and Bay Vista Drive, Bel Aire.

The City of Novato wants to annex a two-acre lot which is located off Stasia Court in Pleasant Valley Subdivision Unit 2.

Reduced Charges Bring Guilty Plea

Robert Holtz, 31, of Sausalito, has pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court to reduced charges of battery and malicious mischief. He had formerly been accused of a felony count of battery on police officers, disturbing hhe peace and damaging public property.

He was arrested March 9 after a disturbance in Sausalito and allegedly kicked and bit two police officers, screamed obscenities and kicked open a police car door after being placed inside the car.

Judge Alvin B. Goldstein yesterday set sentencing on the misdemeanor convictions for June 6.

Marin Hospital Awards Dinner

Thirty-four employees of Marin General Hospital were honored at the hospital's annual awards dinner last night in the hospital's cafeteria.

Seven employees received 15-year pins, including Catherine Augustine and Marie Johnston of San Rafael; Jane Foster and Beatrice Johnson, Marin City; Ruth Smith, Larkspur; Marvin Tilden of Fairfax and Hoza Wright of Novato.

Five received 10-year pins and 22 other employees five-year pins.

Politics Sunday

Politics West, a political study-action group, will meet at 7:30 p.m. Sunday at the Civic Center. A statement of purpose will be developed, according to acting chairman Laura N. Baker of Lagunitas.

Talk Scheduled On Dos Rios Dam

"Water Development Must Move — Including Dos Rios Dam" will be the topic of a speech by William R. Seeger, general manager of Marin Municipal Water District and president of the Eel River Association, tomorrow in Los Angeles.

Seeger will speak at a noon luncheon of the California Water Resources Association at the Biltmore Hotel and give reasons why six of the eight counties in the Eel River Association support the proposed $245 million Dos Rios dam on the middle fork of the Eel River.

Petaluma Scouts Ready For Show

Southern Sonoma Boy Scouts plan demonstrations of scouting skills for the Scout-O-Rama Saturday from 2 to 8 p.m. at the Marin-Sonoma Fairgrounds, Petaluma.

In addition to display booths and skill demonstrations, Cub Scouts will compete in the annual Pinewood Derby in miniature cars they have carved from solid wood blocks.

The race is planned from 2 to 6 p.m. with the final championship races at 7 p.m. Blue ribbons will be awarded to elimination race winners with champions receiving trophies.

Permit Granted Doctors' Offices

Offices for six psychiatrists may be built at 1044 and 1046 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Kentfield.

County Zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordill granted a use permit Tuesday for the office building to Dr. William J. Dickerson of San Anselmo. Dickerson must get a design review of his plans before construction can start.

The property is about 8,500 square feet, located on the southeast corner of Drake Boulevard and Altimira Avenue.

Employees Endorse Mill Valley Tax Hike

The Mill Valley School District Classified Employees Association has endorsed the proposed 75-cent increase in the district's maximum tax limit which will go to a vote on June 3, President Manuel Silva has announced.

If approved, the increase would raise the district's general purpose tax from $2.25 to $3 per $100 assessed valuation. The district's current tax rate, including overide taxes, is $3.13.

Trustees Seek Pay Hike For Librarians

Larkspur Library trustees have recommended to the Larkspur City Council that any cost of living increase for city employees approved in the 1969-70 budget also apply to the city's three librarians. 7½ per cent increase has been proposed in the city budget, librarian Richard A. Kilbourne reported.

Kilbourne reported that gifts totaling $300 have been received from The Friends of the Library, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sestak and Elizabeth Bray and that the April circulation this year was 28 per cent above that of a year ago.

Sentences Meted For Bad Checks

Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Superior Court has sentenced Carl Philip Umland, 21, of San Rafael, to two concurrent sentences of not more than 14 years in state prison for felony convictions of possessing fraudulent checks with intent to defraud.

Judge Haley's decision Tuesday was the same as the recommendation of the state medical facility at Vacaville, where Umland recently was sent for diagnosis. The youth has previous convictions for similar offenses as well as methedrine possession.

'SO GLAD I MADE IT'

German Teen-Ager To Swim In The James Bond Number

By JOAN LISETOR

A little international flavor has been added to this year's Marin Ballet Aquacade. Susanne Lau, a 16-year-old exchange student, will participate in the annual water show and ballet June 7 and 8 at the Peacock Gap Swim and Tennis Club.

Rehearsals began last month, and the German teen-ager is enthusiastic about her participation.

"My friend Prudence Brown told me about the Ballet Aquacade. I tried out for it, and I am so glad I made it because it is a way of helping children who need it," she said referring to the funds raised, which benefit the Marindale School for handicapped children.

Susanne participates in a James Bond number coached by Mrs. L. Jay Simon and written by Mrs. Peter Limm. She is one of 12 girls in the sequence, six from Marin Catholic High School and six from Redwood High School, where she is a student.

The pretty, dark haired girl is from Preetz, which is in the northern part of Germany. Her brother, Knud, attended Redwood High School three years ago as an exchange student. He returned home with Marin teen-ager, Greg Leininger, the son of Dr. and Mrs. C. Ray Leininger of Greenbrae.

Greg lived with the Lau family as an exchange student and attended school in Preetz.

"Greg and Knud told me so much about Marin and Redwood that when there were two openings in my school for exchange students to go to Redwood I applied.

"There were only two of us who applied so I was chosen," she explained in her modest way.

Susanne is staying with the Leininger family, who are not strangers to her, since they made a trip to Germany when Greg was there.

In Germany the exchange student did very little swimming instead participating in gymnastic events. She competed in three meets at Redwood High School prior to the end of the season.

"I enjoy it more here," she explained. "In Germany men teach gymnastics, and they concentrate on building muscles instead of grace and rhythm. It's more fun here."

A natural athlete, Susanne has developed a skill for skiing since arriving here.

"I skiied once in Germany, and since I've been with the Leiningers I have skiied in almost every Tahoe area and in Alta, Utah, during Easter vacation week," Susanne said.

"At first it was hard for me, but I love it; it's the best sport; I came to the right family in Marin," she added.

Dating and school are the only real differences seen between Marin and Preetz by the exchange student, who speaks English with no trace of an accent.

"In Germany my school has 450 students, so it is quite different going to a school with 2500 students. We go to school from 8 to 1 and take 15 subjects. At the end of the year we take exams, and if we fail two subjects we have to repeat the entire year," she said.

"Art is my favorite subject, and it's better here because there is more money for supplies. I don't like Latin, but I have to take it here because it is required in Germany," she added.

Susanne has dated a little here but says she has no special boyfriend. When asked how dating differed she explained that in Germany both the boy and girl pay.

"Also it doesn't have to end with a kiss (in Germany). Here it's like a payment for a date. A boy expects a kiss," she said.

The exchange student says she enjoys the people here because they are very warm. There is little doubt that Marin County will have its own ambassador of good will when Susanne returns to Germany next August.

Jelly, Peanut Butter Worse Than Pop

By IRA RIFKIN

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A University of California dental expert says the next time Junior asks for a soft drink, don't try to substitute something more solid but just as sweet in an effort to cut down on cavities.

Let him have the soft drink if you really want to make a dent in those dentist bills, says Dr. Merle Morris, chairman of children's dentistry at the U.C. Medical Center.

Soda pop has been made a "whipping boy," but it's actually a lot less harmful than a peanut butter and jelly sandwich, for example, he said.

Morris, who has seven children, said it is not the amount of sugar, but "how long it stays in the mouth and in what form" that needs considering.

Soft drinks are consumed rapidly by youngsters "who have other things to do and don't sit and nurse a drink," he said.

Saliva also mixes with soda pop to further decrease the amount of sugar in a child's mouth while he drinks. And because the sugar is in a liquid state, it washes away easily.

But solid items, such as cookies, jams, ice cream and hard candies, although they may contain less sugar, "adhere to the teeth and remain for longer periods of time."

"If you sip soda constantly and keep it swishing around in your mouth, sure it would ruin your teeth," says Morris. "But sugar when it is in a sticky or gummy form just sits on teeth and stays there to do its dirty work."

Dietetic soft drinks, says the 48-year-old native of Kanab, Utah, "could have even more disasterous results" than regular soda pop.

"Dietetic drinks don't provide a kid with the calories he needs, compared to a soft drink. So they aren't very effective and the kid still will want to eat something to obtain the energy, and that could be disasterous," he said.

Morris based his theories on studies in the past few years at the University of California, as well as in Europe and elsewhere.

Morris suggested that parents regulate snacks and try to substitute corn chips, potato chips, fruits, vegetables and even crackers for sweets.

Up-Front Shoes

Donald Brooks now is designing shoes for Palizzio. The line, includes 12 models, most emphasizing what he calls the "up front" effect of decoration, usually muted in contrast or in self material, placed on the instep. The shoes all have the raffine shaping so characteristic of this designer, the arch elongated and the toe shaped to a top-rounded "zeppelin" point.

Dancers And Guild Members To Have Party In Sausalito

By MOLLY MARIN

A gala party marking the birth of the Xoregos Guild and the 88th birthday of Sausalito psychologist Cavendish Moxon will be given from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday at the Sausalito home of Altheya Youngman.

The chairman of the new guild, Mrs. William D. Pedraza of Stinson Beach, says the guild is being formed to assist the dancers and other artists of the Xoregos Company, headed by dancer Shela Xoregos, which provides a creative focus for all the arts. Heading the list of artist sponsors is Duke Ellington.

Miss Xoregos came to prominence as director of the Dance Spectrum with Ruth St. Dennis, held on Mt. Tamalpais in 1965.

Dancers of the company have been invited to attend the party during a break in the rugged rehearsal schedule preceding the opening of the company's season on May 15 at the Presentation Theater in San Francisco. Members of the company living in Marin are Ellen Estrin and Peggy Hill of Sausalito.

Among Marin members of the new guild are C. Russell Compton, president of the Mill Valley Center of the Performing Arts, Mrs. Youngman and Mmes. Constant M. Van Vlierden, Arnold Seymour of Sausalito, Dunya Chernenko of Tiburon and Richard Swendeman of Mill Valley.

Among guests invited to the party are Dr. and Mrs. S. I. Hayakawa of Mill Valley, Charles Von Boecup of Sleepy Hollow, Mr. and Mrs. Wynn Westover, and J. Mingo Turner and Lawrence Miles of Sausalito.

Following luncheon guests will go next door for swimming in the pool at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Cohn.

A PARTY will be given Saturday at her home in Ross by Mrs. Russell G. Smith to honor San Francisco Ball debutante Beth Mulkern. A senior at the Katherine Delmar Burke School in San Francisco, Beth is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Mulkern of San Francisco.

THE JACK R. LEHMKUHLS returned Monday to Sausalito from a trip to Japan they began on March 17. Called a Bali Hi cruise, the entire tour, which included Guam and Bali, was made on the S.S. President Cleveland.

Ports they visited were Singapore, Hong Kong, Nagasaki, Kobe and Yokohama. Highlight of the trip for the Lehmkuhls was going to the island of Bali in small boats.

The return trip was via Honolulu. Mr. and Mrs. Lou Aquilino of Fairfax were also members of the tour.

MMES. Thomas E. Welsh and Jack Murdock hosted a baby shower and luncheon at the Welsh home in Kentfield Tuesday. Mrs. Thomas Toldrinian of Corte Madera was the honoree. Tewnty-five were present for the poolside patio party.

A DANCING party at the Lagunitas Club in Ross will be given tomorrow evening by Merry Lee Ness for her eighth grade graduating class at Ross School. She is the daughter of Mrs. Jefferson J. Graves Jr. of Ross and Gordon L. Ness of Atherton.

Outdoor, Youth Activities Keep Neil Cummins P-TA Leader Busy

Lois Riboli has previously served as recording secretary, program and membership chairman in P-TA, and is also active in San Clemente School P-TA, Camp Fire Girls and Boy Scouts. She is a graduate of St. Mary's College of Nursing in San Francisco. She and her husband, an engineer, have lived in Marin 12 years and are the parents of four children, Joseph, 15; Jerry, 13; Jennifer, 9 and Julie, 5.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

'Demure' Wants To Know Reason She Can't 'Walk Up To A Guy'

DEAR HELEN:

It's dumb!

A girl is always the "maid in waiting." I wish it was like in the movies when you can walk up to a guy and say something terribly clever so he'll notice you and then he suddenly discovers you're the only girl.

But no. In real life, you have to wait and hope, and usually the guy you know you'd be absolutely right for walks right past you to some other girl.

"Why can't it ever be ladies choice? Why can't we come right out and say, "Hey, we ought to know each other," like boys do to girls? I'm tired of seeing all the good ones get away just because I have to be "demure." — ABOUT TO CHANGE

DEAR ABOUT:

So go ahead and change. I think the boys might welcome the straightforward approach. Sometimes a boy passes up the girl he might like best because she is being so "demure" he figures he doesn't have a chance. — H.

P.S. Let's hear it from the boys: How would you react to a girl who walks up and says, "Hey, don't you think we ought to know each other?" (Providing, of course, she's a girl you'd like to know.)

And while you're writing, tell us too:

1. What attracts you most about a girl?
2. What turns you off fastest, once you get to know her?
3. What is the surest way for a girl to make a boy notice her?
4. And what keeps him coming back?

Thanks in advance for your letters. I'll publish the best of them in a couple of summer columns.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I'm in a predicament. I've been getting mushy letters signed by a guy I like but don't know. But I'm sure they aren't from him, as he doesn't seem the type.

Now I hear that he is receiving silly letters supposedly signed by me.

Please say something in your column about stupid people's lives.—S.S.L.

DEAR S:

Practical jokers are the lowest form of humans. They should all crawl back in their holes.

Maybe you can turn this into an advantage. Those silly notes might start a conversation — and who knows where things will go from there? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

What do you think about a father who:

Hotfoots it to the phone and then tells any boy who calls that I'm in bed—when it's only 8 p.m.; if another boy calls, he shouts, "I want you to quit bothering Doris, as she isn't talking to anyone," and slams down the receiver?; says he will allow me to talk 15 minutes a night on the phone, but doesn't keep his promise?; says if any boy comes around he'll meet him with a shotgun?; and thinks a 15-year-old girl should not even speak to a boy at school? — WONDERING

DEAR WON:

I think your father needs your mother to guide him. Either he has forgotten how it is to be young — or remembers what a stinker he was and judges all boys by himself. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Women's League Names Mrs. Kaulum To Post

"Sharing the variety of talents, interests and points of view brought to the League of Women Voters by individual members is an outstanding advantage of being a league member."

This statement reflects the thinking of Mrs. Keith Kaulum of Mill Valley, new president of the League of Women Voters of Southern Marin.

"Informed citizen participation in government is relevant to the changing times in which we live," she says. "Participation in the league is fine preparation for individual work in government, such as serving on boards, advisory committees and private political action groups."

Marlene Kaulum has lived in Marin 11 years and has been a member of the League of Women Voters for eight years. She has served as second vice president in charge of program, legislative chairman and resource study committee chairman.

The membership of the Southern Marin unit of the league has adopted two local study items for the coming year, study and evaluation of juvenile justice in Marin with emphasis on the Probation Department in its function as an agent in the rehabilitation of juveniles; and study of goals and quality of elementary and secondary education in Southern Marin.

The new president, who attended Creighton Universiy in Omaha, Neb., and her husband, a research engineer, have three daughters, Lorin, 13; Leslie, 11; and Kristin, 9.

Marlene says her favorite leisure time interests are gardening and reading. She is active in the Parent-Teacher Association and the Marin Mental Health Association.

Elected to serve with her are Mmes. Roy D. Knapp, first vice president; Russell Wallace, second vice president; Herbet Edger, secretary; and G. D. Ricketts, treasurer.

Some 800 girls and leaders are expected to gather Saturday at 3 p.m. for the annual Camp Fire Girls Grand Council Fire at the Mountain Theater on Mt. Tamalpais.

Blue Birds through high school level Horizon Club members will participate from Sausalito, Mill Valley, Tiburon, Corte Madera, Greenbrae, Larkspur, Kentfield, Ross, San Anselmo and San Rafael.

An honor chorus of sixth and seventh grade girls will lead the singing. The program will begin at 3 p.m.

Drug Scare Tactic Said Ineffective

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI)—The "scare 'em to death" approach in drug abuse education just isn't working with students, reports an article in the Pennsylvania School Journal of the Pennsylvania State Education Association.

Rozanne Weisman, author of the article "Drugs and Schools: Monkey on the Backs of Education," warns educators and the public that an about-face will have to be taken if schools are to be successful in combatting the use of drugs.

She quoted Martin Levy, director of a drug abuse education project, who said that "students growing up in today's atmosphere take risk for granted and say the astronauts wouldn't take off if they were afraid of taking a chance."

"Neither will the 'it's illegal' or the 'give 'em the facts' approach do the trick," Levy said. "All these methods have been used in health education classes without lessening VD, smoking, or alcoholism. New methods will have to be found."

"Instead of being critical about student drug abuse, educators will have to demonstrate that there are better ways to experience the richness of living and make life more exciting—ways more meaningful and less dangerous than mind expansion by ingesting chemicals," he warned.

Schools must recognize that after all is said and done, the decision on drug use rests with the student alone and the teacher is not a detective, psychiatrist, nurse or policeman, he said.

She's An Angel

If all the cakes a mother makes in a lifetime — or in a year — were counted it would be a goodly number. Cakes made for the birthdays; parties and picnics; special or just everyday; a wedding, perhaps, or for showers; surprises at camp or in sleepy-away school. And who makes the cakes for those fund-raising affairs: church suppers, the scouts, the P-TA? Mother, no doubt. Of such numbers, sizes, and kinds, there ought to be one perfect cake to make for mothers. And one is. Structured with sugar and sweet as love, it's known as angel food.

Elizabeth Sandlin Directs Marin County 4-H Club Work

Marin County's Home Advisor, Miss Elizabeth Sandlin, comes to San Rafael from a New York birthplace but refers to Maryland as her home state. Seeking a job in Southern California and finding nothing to her liking, she accepted the position with the Marin County Extension office, with headquarters at the Marin Civic Center.

Miss Sandlin has no brothers or sisters and her parents are deceased, so with friends on the west coast, she decided on a change. She expresses a preference for urban areas and finds the Marin surroundings to her liking.

"It's a good area here for 4-H Club work," she says, emphasizing the creative atmosphere of the county. "And people are community-minded, a necessity in carrying out 4-H program," she added.

Being a 4-H Club member as a child provided Elizabeth with a background for her current activities as administrator of the 4-H program here. It is her duty to instruct 4-H leaders and to coordinate activities of the 900 members plus 320 leaders in Marin 4-H Club work.

With B.A. and master's degrees from the University of Maryland at College Park, the new Californian carried out 4-H Club work in Baltimore while a college student. She later held a job in retailing in a Washington, D.C., department store.

"The 4-H Club work program is growing in Marin County," said the advisor who reported to her new desk on Nov. 1. Ticking off activities planned for the summer Miss Sandlin named the Regional Field Day on Saturday when 32 project demonstrators from Marin will be competing and two more will be in the "Share the Fun" talent contest at activities in Davis.

The annual 4-H Camp is scheduled for July 27 through Aug. 9 and, as is the custom, will be held at facilities near Napa. Club members stay from one to two weeks, sleeping out-of-doors. Hi Club members make up the largest portion of staff personnel.

Fairs that will require attention by the home advisor include the Nicasio Fair on May 24; West Marin Fair June 20 through 22; the Fourth District Fair at Petaluma June 25 through 29; Sonoma County Fair July 14 through 26; and the California State Fair in Sacramento from Aug. 22 through 26. Marin will have representation at all functions, with Miss Sandlin assisting project leaders and members.

Aside from her work with young people and volunteer leaders, the enthusiastic Miss Sandlin also takes sailing lessons.

"We haven't had much luck yet — but they say the winds are better on the bay in May," she remarked. She professes to liking art courses and plans to continue her education, scheduling her work to permit time for studies.

With an urban area in which to live, interesting people with which to work and a dedication to organizational activities, Elizabeth has become caught up in the way of living in Marin County.

Computers in cars to help drivers travel at speeds not now possible safely.

Vacuum cleaners running around the hose on their own, cleaning without any human help.

Computers to plan grocery shopping and to plan and prepare meals.

Larkspur Will Seek Annexation Of Land Around San Quentin

Larkspur City Council last night voted to seek annexation of about 85 acres on San Quentin peninsula, up to the western boundary of state property surrounding San Quentin Prison.

Annexation would be the city's second step eastward along the southern portion of the peninsula, following annexation of 69.5 acres of Hutchinson Quarry property earlier this year.

City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst explained that the proposed annexation land would be boardered on the north by the San Rafael city line and on the south by Corte Madera Creek and would include Wood Island.

It would extend from the Hutchinson Quarry area to the state property line. Since there are fewer than 12 registered voters in the area, no election would be required, Bathurst noted.

Councilmen authorized Bathurst to apply to the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission for annexation.

They also authorized hiring Dan Coleman and Associates of Greenbrae to develop a prezoning plan for the area at a cost not to exceed $2,000.

Bathurst noted that the San Quentin Prison property, which has a housing area containing more than 12 residents, was excluded from the application.

The Larkspur City Council also:

LIBRARY BOARD—Appointed Mrs. Arthur M. Sestak to the library board to suceed Mrs. Howard W. Bray who resigned, reappointed Mrs. Wilbur Lewis for another term, and commended Mrs. Bray for her service on the board.

RESIGNATION—Accepted the resignation of Robert V. Golden from the city parks and recreation commission.

EASTMAN HALL — Granted the fire department permission to burn dilapidated Eastman Hall at 200 Williams Avenue, abandoned for recreational use, as part of its training program, Monday May 17.

FIRE TRAINING — Granted certificates of achievement to Fire Chief William C Schurtz, Asst. Fire Chief William Lellis and Fire Capt. Richard Benz for completing 30 units of fire science training at the College of Marin, after attending one night a week for five years on their own time.

SETTLEMENT — Authorized payment of $54,600 to A. C. Copeland for land along the front of Hillview Gardens needed for the Magnolia Avenue widening project.

STORM DAMAGE—Received a complaint from Gerald Hendricks that a slide along Hawthorne Avenue between Sycamore Avenue and King Street during winter storms damaged his property, and called for a report on the city's liability May 21. Public Works Director Warren Mistron estimated it would cost $8,000 to restore the slope.

STREET LIGHTING—Received a letter from the Greenbrae Property Owners Association requesting a survey of the adequacy of street lighting in the Greenbrae area of the city and noting that more lighting would help to halt an "inordinate number of burglaries"

LEASED HOUSING—Authorized 10 units of leased housing in the city for low-income tenants under the program operated by the Marin County Housing Authority, formal action following a vote taken April 2 to approve the program.

UNDERGROUNDING—Adopted an ordinance requiring underground utilities in new subdivisions.

PARK RULES — Adopted an ordinance closing Dolliver Park, where there has been a vandalism problem, 8 p.m. from May 1 to Sept. 1 and limiting the use of play equipment to persons aged 12 years and under.

POLICE SUPPORT—Postponed until May 21 hearing a presentation from R. C. Kessner, chairman of the Larkspur Support Your Local Police Committee.

ENCROACHMENT—Continued until May 21 an application by Robert LeVesque for an encroachment permit to permit garage construction in city road right-of-way at 16 Ardmore Avenue.

CABLE TELEVISION — Approved extension of cable television service by Televue Systems of San Rafael to the Greenbrae sector of the city with the firm to pay 2 per cent of its gross income. Councilman William G. Fleckles, who felt the city should get 5 per cent, abstained.

"PAPER ROADS"—Abandoned Rockridge Road and declared its intention to abandon Beta Street, both streets on paper only.

CHIPPER — Authorized the purchase of a tree and limb chipper for the public works department at a cost of $4,000 to be paid over a three-year period.

STORM DAMAGE—Passed a resolution seeking state and federal funds for storm damage last winter, estimated at $30,000.

ZONING APPEAL—Set June 4 at 8 p.m. for a hearing on an appeal by Charles McLeran of planning commission denial of his request for a zone change from residential to commerical to permit an antique shop and attorney's office in a century-old residence at Estelle Avenue and Murray Lane.

LEGISLATION — Opposed a bill which would require a 40-hour week for firemen, a bill which would lift the tax limit on school districts without a vote of the people, and a bill which would raise from $100 to $500 the limit under which contractor's could work without a license.

LIBRARY FUNDS—Agreed to request the state to restore the cuts made in the funds available for library construction grants, funds needed for Larkspur's proposal library.

WATER ACCESS — Supported Marin County's efforts to preserve public access to shoreline areas.

NEXT MEETING—Adjourned until May 21 at 8 p.m. at city hall.

A Healthful Way To Tidy Roads

NEW YORK (UPI)—A new prescription for hardening the muscles and reducing the waistline is offered by Keep America Beautiful, Inc.

Allen H. Seed Jr., executive vice president of the national antilitter organization, proposes that those in favor of a more beautiful America get their execise by taking walks to pick up litter.

"Medical authorities agree that walking is one of the best exercises there is, and every calisthenics routine includes some form of bending down from the waist," Seed said. America's highways and byways would be a lot cleaner if "litter walking" became half the fad that jogging is today, he said.

Serious Scientists

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—These air pollution research scientists practice what they teach. Albert Hulstrunk of the State University of Albany's Atmospheric Sciences Center says only one of the 45 researchers smokes cigarettes.

Sub-Par College Students Helped

COLUMBUS, O. (UPI)—Sixty students who couldn't meet college entrance requirements are going to class at Ohio State University in a new program aimed at helping them make up academic deficiencies.

Called "New Careers," the program is conducted in cooperation with Ohio State's School of Social Work and the Columbus Metropolitan Area Community Action Organization to prepare students for responsible jobs in fields of mental health, welfare and corrections.

Larkspur Council Against Financial Disclosure Bill

Larkspur City Council was taken aback last night when it learned that a bill requiring full financial disclosure by public officials extended to them.

Councilman Alfred Malvino said if the bill passed "you wouldn't have to worry about me running for reelection."

City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst felt the bill "would have considerable effect on the quality of future councils."

It would require councilmen to file notice of full extent of their investments, ownership of stock or financial interest in any business entity, he said.

The bill covering state officials, also extends to county and city officials and public career officers, Bathurst said.

The council voted unanimously to oppose its passage.

Texas is the home of 48 oil refineries.

New Police Chief Is Selected For Rohnert Park

Robert Dennett, a sergeant with the South Lake Tahoe, Nev. Police department has been named director of public safety for Rohnert Park.

Involved in law enforcement since 1960, Dennett will take the post, heading combined police and fire departments, on June 1 at a salary of $925 per month.

Dennett, 37, served as a sergeant on the Richmond police force before moving to South Lake Tahoe. He is married and the father of three sons and a daughter.

City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan said that more than 50 applications were received for the vacancy created by the resignation of Bradley M. Koch, who is now working with the State Police Officers Standards and training Commission in Sacramento.

To Install Officers

The Marin County Cat Fanciers Association will have its installation dinner at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at Gregory's restaurant in Corte Madera.

Firemen Plan Event For Corte Maderans

Fire apparatus will be demonstrated and children given rides on a fire truck at the Corte Madera Volunteer Fire Department fire service day program to be held from 2 to 4 p.m., Saturday, at the Public Safety Building, Tamalpais Drive and Pixley Avenue.

The public will be given tours of the building and soft drinks and cookies will be served. Frank L. Nelson, police and fire chief, reported.

Tough Driveway Encroachment Policy Is Taken By Larkspur

Larkspur City Council last night took a hard line approach on driveway encroachments, ordering them removed unless there is a clear demonstration of hardship.

By votes of 4-1 with Councilman William G. Fleckles dissenting the council denied three appeals against removal of encroachments and denied another appeal by a unanimous vote.

Councilman Benton A. Sifford Jr. said collectively driveway encroachments are a problem, and a hodgepodge would develop if they aren't stopped.

There are about 600 encroachments in the city, reported Councilman Earl J. O'Grady.

The appeals came from residents of the Greenbrae sector of the city with Bruce A. Koppe of 54 Paseo Way, strongly presenting their case.

The city didn't present "one bit of evidence" to justify removal of the encroachments, Koppe said.

Mayor Neil R. Brixon reminded Koppe that the encroachments put in by residents were illegal. In some cases, encroachments will be granted, but it will be up to the applicant to prove hardship, he noted.

Koppe insisted upon knowing what standards would be applied to determine hardship, and councilmen indicated it would depend upon conditions in individual cases.

Councilman Alfred Malvino said the hardship would consist of inability to get in and out of a garage without the encroachment.

D. K. MacDonald of 57 Paseo Way contended that drainage in the area was inadequate, and Koppe said the encroachments weren't diverting any large amount of water into the roadway.

City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst noted that one appeal, that of Alexander M. Cornell of 56 Bayview Avenue, was granted with modifications meeting the approval of city staff.

Councilmen also voted against reconsidering two previous denials and will consider two other appeals at later sessions.

Princess Anne's First Royal Tour

VIENNA (London Express) — Princess Anne arrived in Vienna yesterday on her first royal tour — and just four and-a-half hours later found time to have a riding lesson.

After only an hour mounted on a famous, pure white Lipizzaner dancing horse at the Spanish Riding School in Vienna, the school's director, Johann Handler, called out to her: "This is very good, indeed. You are really a good horsewoman."

Princess Anne, rosy cheeked and smiling after a bout of flu, has just joined the Queen and Prince Philip for the last three days of a five-day state visit.

FOR CORTE MADERA

Tax Hike Of Nine Cents Is Forecast

The Town of Corte Madera's tax rate will go from 95 cents per $100 assessed valuation to $1.14 next year, Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher estimates.

The new rate includes 20 cents, currently levied by the county, which will be levied by the town under a joint powers agreement in order to finance a county branch library in Corte Madera.

Subtracting the library tax, the town expects to levy a 94 cent tax which compares with the current 95 cents. The estimated 1969-70 budget is $976,165, the current budget is $765,532.

The town will also levy for the first time this year a 60-cent sanitary district tax. A separate government tax, the town is responsible for levying this because on April 1 the town took over the Corte Madera Sanitary District.

The sanitary board budget is estimated at $160,790 for next year, a reduction of about $18,000 which Usher said can be made through economies resulting from the takeover.

Usher credits the town's sales tax revenues with keeping the property tax rate fairly stable over the years.

Revenues are second highest in the county, he said, San Rafael being the highest. Usher explained that the council budgeted for $270,000 in the current year in sales tax income, but the town is taking in $345,000. So, for next year the town is budgeting for $345,000.

The council will discuss proposed salaries at a 7:30 p.m. meeting next Thursday, take up general items in the budget at its regular meeting May 19 and talk about police and fire budgets May 20 and public works on May 26.

Salaries for 1969-70 are estimated at $439,638 and compare with $331,096 currently. Costs of the four added sanitary district employees is $36,272.

There will also be more spent in salaries for police and firemen, although figures are not yet available since the Town Council has still to indicate how many new people will be hired.

Under the "team approach" proposed by Usher and turned down by the council last Thursday, police salaries would have gone from $117,631 to $153,986 and firemen's salaries from $27,019 to $55,776.

Other comparable figures in the current budget and new budget (in parentheses) are: materials, supplies and services, $191,738 ($327,091); capital outlay, $174,015 ($241,554); debt services, $17,883 ($17,483); reserves, $50,000 ($201,811). A new category, which Usher calls reimbursements or pro-rated charges, is estimated at $251,412.

The major item proposed for capital improvements is the Tamalpais Avenue widening project from the freeway to Pixley Avenue, estimated at $125,000.

Other capital improvements include street work on lower Edison Avenue at $17,390; turfing, path work, cleaning up lagoons, building a shelter and converting the old Sanitary District office into a teen center — all in Town Park — at $19,000, and drainage system improvements, $6,560.

The 1969-70 tax rate breaks down as follows: general, 19 cents; special park, 15; retirement, 20; bond redemption, 8; land acquisition and development, 32, and library, 20.

Novato Firemen Set Open House

Novato's fire department will hold open house at all three of its stations Saturday in observance of Fire Service Recognition Day, Chief Jack Kidder has announced.

The open houses will be held from noon to 4 p.m.

Kidder also said the city's new snorkel truck will be on display at various shopping centers during the day. The schedule: 10:45-11:45, a.m., Novak Square; noon to 1 p.m., Mayfair shopping center; 1:15-2:15 p.m., Novato Fair shopping center; 2:30-3:30 p.m., Nave shopping center; 3:45-4:45 p.m., Pacheco Plaza shopping center.

Rings Taken From Sausalito Shop

Two weekend thefts in Sausalito were reported by police yesterday.

A thief took six gold rings valued at $406 between noon and 3 p.m. Saturday from McLean and Co. Goldsmiths at 687 Bridgeway, police said, and two calculating machines and an electric trypewriter, valued at $700, were stolen Sunday from the Handi Kup Co. at 480 Gate 5 Road.

Burglar Sentenced

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court Tuesday placed convicted burglar Allan Ludviksen, 23, of San Francisco on one year probation and ordered him to spend four months in the county jail.

Ludviksen was found guilty of the 1967 burglary of a Belvedere residence by a jury on March 20.

May 19 Hearing For Cotati Teen

Howard Earl Rhodd, 19, of 381 Bonnie Avenue, Cotati, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of possessing marijuana on March 19. A preliminary hearing was set for May 19.

Officers said that Rhodd had four marijuana cigarettes in his wallet at the time of his arrest on suspicion of having marijuana for sale. This charge was later dropped by the district attorney's office pending further investigation.

RESCUE AT McCLURE BEACH

A rescue team inches its way up a 300-foot cliff at McClure Beach carrying Richard Cassese who fell about 100 feet down the cliff to the rocky shore yesterday. The rescuers, the Marin County Fire Department's team at Point Reyes Station, worked about an hour to raise Cassese to the top. Cassese, 21, of 123 Willow Avenue, Corte Madera, was reported in "fair to poor" condition today at Marin General Hospital with lower back and chest pains. (Photo by Michael McLean)

Defense To Arrest By Bruce Aide

The man who was arrested April 5 on suspicion of contributing to the delinquency of a minor and gave his name as Burnist Earl Beauchamp of Marin City was not Beauchamp, Deputy Dist. Atty. Gart T. Ragghianti reported today.

The arrested man, who gave Beauchamp's name, bailed out of jail after the arrest, Ragghianti explained, and when he failed to appear in court, a bench warrant was issued for his arrest. The warrant was served on Beauchamp, who said that he had never been arrested on such a charge.

His claim proved to be true because the pictures of the man arrested did not match Beauchamp.

However, since the arrested man not only gave Beauchamp's name but was driving a car registered to Beauchamp, Ragghianti said he felt officers were justified in thinking that was whom they had arrested.

No charges were placed against Beauchamp, who declined to say who was driving his car on April 7.

The driver was accused by deputies of refusing to release a 12-year-old girl from the car while it was parked on a fire road at the end of Donahue Street in Marin City.

Peacock Gap Owners Ask Dog Controls

The Peacock Gap Homeowners Association last night voted to ask the San Rafael City Council to adopt an ordinance to control roaming dogs.

Charles W. Dechent, association treasurer, said the association membership, meeting in the Peacock Gap Country Club, wanted an ordinance similar to Novato's, which imposes stiff fines to violating dog owners.

In other business, homeowners heard talks by Lt. Raymond Bleasdale on traffic control in the community and by Inspector Richard Douglas on preventing burglaries.

Dechent said the association has dropped consideration of hiring special officers to reduce burglaries. High costs and difficulty in obtaining community-wide financial support were reasons for scuttling the idea, Dechent said.

Dechent reported the association board of directors would meet in the future at the country club, not at members' homes. The next meeting is at 8 p.m. Monday.

Carport Burglary

Joseph M. Kennison of 55 Bahia Way, San Rafael, reported to police yesterday the theft of a portable radio and tape recorder, valued at a total of $90, from his car parked in the carport at his residence.

Creek Concrete Foes Enter Innocent Pleas

Innocent pleas were entered by a battery of attorneys yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for all 38 of the Kent Woodlands residents, College of Marin students and other hangers-on who were arrested last week at Tamalpais Creek.

Judge Peter Allen Smith set two jury trials for the defendants, all of whom face misdemeanor charges of trespassing and failing to disperse when ordered.

Two of the group, Richard W. Beban, editor of the college newspaper, and Lawrence Halprin, landscape architect who lives in Kent Woodlands, also are charged with resisting arrest. Another youth, Gary Stark, is accused of battery and resisting arrest.

A trial for the 22 defendants represented by attorney Charles W. Pierce was set by Judge Smith for June 5, and one for the other 16 persons, who have various lawyers, will be held June 19.

Attorney Carl B. Shapiro cheerfully predicted in court yesterday that the trials could last a long time and require several hundred prospective jurors since there will be so many defendants.

Thirty of the adults and students were arrested early in the morning of April 28 when they halted flood control work on Tamalpais Creek.

The leader of the group, Marty Kent Jones of Kent Woodlands, and Halprin clung to an excavating machine until peeled off it. Later in the day a smaller wave of students climbed into the creek to block work, and eight more were arrested.

Deputy District Attorney Gary B. Ragghianti said in court yesterday that no additional complaint will be pressed against Beban, who was arrested for a second time Monday after sleeping in the creek area with a group of students, when he allegedly got too close to a chain saw.

EDWARD ELLIOTT TO CREEK PANEL

Architect Edward Elliott of Ross, a director of the Ross Property Owners Association, was named to a three-man committee to seek an alternative to a concrete flood control channel in Ross, not attorney Robert W. Elliott as reported to the Independent-Journal yesterday by Mrs. Lester Bricca.

Robert W. Elliott, who is attorney for the Town of Ross, is not a member of the property owners group. nor did he attend the meeting held Tuesday night to discuss alternative plans to a concrete ditch, as reported by Mrs. Bricca, an organizer of the meeting.

Expansion Plans To Design Board

The Corte Madera Board of Design will hold an adjourned meeting at 3:30 p.m. tomorrow in the offices of William B. Gilbert, board chairman, at 1620 Montgomery Street, San Francisco, to discuss an application by H. Koch and Sons for expansion.

The three-man board, which held a special meeting last night on the subject, adjourned to Gilbert's offices in order to forward a decision to the planning commission by its Monday meeting.

The board generally favored the luggage company's plans but wanted more details on lighting and landscaping for the 72,000 square feet addition at 15 Koch Road.

Closed Session

The Mill Valley City Council and Mill valley Chamber of Commerce, represented by Leonar . S. Peck, will meet in closed session at 7 p.m. today in City Hall to interview two applicants for city manager.

Marinites To Capital On Seashore

Two, and possibly three, county representatives will head for Washington, D.C., this weekend to press for more federal money to complete the acquisition of Point Reyes National Seashore land.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney left this afternoon to confer with representatives with Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, and Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District. The two congressmen have introduced a bill to appropriate an additional $38,150,000 so that the entire 53,000 acres designated for the park in 1962 can be purchased. About 29,000 of the 53,000 acres still remain in private ownership.

Supervisor Louis H. Baar said this morning he will join Maloney in Washington this weekend. Supervisor chairman John F. McInnis is vacationing in Hawaii and was reported unlikely to make the Washington trip. The seashore is within Baar's supervisorial district.

Baar said he hopes Point Reyes rancher Boyd Stewart will also go to Washington. "He'll be representing the county for the people of West Marin," said Baar.

A hearing on the appropriation bill will be held next Tuesday before the National Parks Subcommittee of the House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee.

Maloney will coordinate Marin's testimony during the Tuesday hearing.

Tiburon Theft

Burglars who kicked in a door at the home of Louis M. Dave of 4575 Paradise Drive, Tiburon, Tuesday stole a tape deck and tape deck recorder, sheriff's deputies said today.

Strawberry Rec Budget Up $5,530

A preliminary budget of $56,980 for 1969-70, an increase of $5,530 over the current fiscal year, was approved last night by the Strawberry Recreation District board.

The proposed budget will require $48,230 to be raised by property taxes with the remaining funds coming from garbage franchise and swimming pool lease fees and interest on a $80,000 time certificate deposit according to clerk Jeanne Heick.

The budget will require no increase in the present tax rate of 45.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation, Mrs. Heick said.

It allocates $10,820 for salaries; $8,375, operations and maintenance; $21,150 capital expenditures; and $16,635, reserves.

Included in the capital expenditure allocation is $17,000 for architectural fees for the new community center, $2,600 for the Richardson Bay Assessment District (Saucelito Canal), and $1,550 for small improvement projects.

A public hearing and final adoption of the budget is scheduled for 8 p.m. July 2 at Strawberry Point School.

The board also named chairman Arthur R. Senter and director James L. Andrews as a construction committee to work with district architect J. Martin Rosse on construction details for the new community center.

A special meeting was set for 8 p.m. Wednesday at Strawberry Point School to discuss the tennis program and continue discussion on the new cummunity center building.

Development Of Land Eyed

A proposed planned community development on the hills behind Loch Lomond and Villa Real was discussed by the homeowners associations of the two communities in a joint meeting last night.

Andrew James Ring III, president of the Loch Lomond group, reported the area is currently zoned for single family residences and developers have proposed changing to planned community, a higher density zoning.

Ring said the homeowner associations had very little information on the poans and officers agreed to investigate further before the next meeting.

After hearing all the information, the groups will probably take a stand on the development, Ring said.

Petite Burglars Get Clothes, Jewels

Owners of the Way Out House, a clothing shop at 943 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, told sheriff's officers Monday the shop had been broken into and men's and women's clothing, shoes and jewelry taken.

The burglars selected clothing in small sizes, deputies said.

Girl Claims Mysterious Ride To Dam

A 16-year-old Novato High School girl student reported to sheriff's officers Tuesday that while she was walking to school she was picked up by five teen-age girls and driven against her will to Nicasio Dam.

Sharon L. Toler of 1274 Parkwood Court said she was allowed to get out of the car there but was struck by one of the girls on her face, fell and hit her head and became unconscious.

When she regained consciousness, she said she walked home, arriving there about 7 p.m.

Deputies said today that Miss Toler told them she was picked up on Cambridge Street in Novato by the girls who were driving a late model white compact Buick convertible

The girls, whom she did not know, told her she had "Better come with them" and "keep her mouth shut." She did not know what they meant, she said, and loud radio music drowned out her captors' conversation on the way to the dam.

Deputies said the girl had a two-inch scratch on her face and a sore spot on her head.

Tossed Wire Cuts San Anselmo Power

Twenty-five San Anselmo homes were left without electric power for an hour and 45 minutes yesterday after a 16-year-old boy tossed a coiled clothesline wire onto power lines from the deck of his home at 448 Scenic Avenue.

The boy, son of Mario E. Watkins of 448 Scenic Avenue, later knocked the wire off the 12,000-volt line with a stick, Leonard O. Robertson, Pacific Gas and Electric Co. electric superintendent reported. Power went off at about 4:48 p.m. when the clothesline coil blew a fuse.

Judge Refuses To Halt Statue Work

A Marin Superior Court judge yesterday refused to issue an injunction ordering work stopped on the 65-foot thing, described as both a statue and a building, which is rising above a sunken barge at Gate 5.

Judge E. Warren McGuire said that the case should be decided on its merits and that the county will not suffer irreparable damage while awaiting trial since stability problems of the structure can be cured.

Artist Jean Varda yesterday likened the so-called statue to the Eiffel Tower, the Golden Gate Bridge and Watts Tower in Los Angeles, which he said serve as memorials to their cities.

The representation of mother and children will also serve as a memorial to whichever city it is located in, its builders Christopher Roberts and Andrew Loveman maintained.

Roberts said that eventually the structure may be moved to Tiburon, China Camp, Stinson Beach or stay at Sausalito.

Judge McGuire said that if the structure were floating, it certainly would be unstable, but since five feet of water in the barge keep it firmly mired in the mud it is not likely to go over.

The county is incensed at Roberts and Loveman for building the thing without a permit and contends that the statue may topple in high wind.

Asst. County Counsel Joseph A. Forest said today that the county intends to pursue both civil and criminal actions against Roberts and Lovemen. The criminal case is scheduled to be tried June 12 in Marin Municipal Court.

Youth Arrested In Suspicion Of Forgery Attempt

A San Rafael youth was arrested yesterday on suspicion of forging a money order believed one of the 3,000 to 5,000 pieces of mail said to have been stolen over a period of time by a former San Rafael postman.

The youth, Eugene Richard Rudnick, 19, of 103 Greenfield Avenue, San Rafael, cashed the $85 money order on April 17 at the Montecito Branch of the Bank of America, according to San Rafael Police Inspector Gerald R. Souza.

Souza said the money order apparently came from Warren Sielsky, 32, of 9 Taylor Street, who has been charged with stealing large quantities of mail while working at the Mill Valley Post Office. Sielsky is awaiting trial.

Rudnick, booked into Marin County Jail after surrendering at San Rafael police headquarters, was released on his own recognizance to appear for arraignment in Municipal Court Tuesday.

Brothers Booked In Disturbance

Two Larkspur brothers, one 17 and one 16, were booked into Marin Juvenile Hall Tuesday night on suspicion of disturbing the peace, resisting arrest and being drunk in a public place after they caused a disturbance at Cala Foods at 1711 Redwood Highway, police said today.

Police responded at about 9 p.m. after being advised that three youths were "acting in a strange manner" in the store and one was jumping up and down on a kiddie horse.

Asked to leave, the three refused, then ran from the store. The brothers were arrested. A 19-year-old Ross resident, for whom a warrant is being asked, escaped.

Youths Name Chairmen

Marin's Youth Commission Formation Committee named two more committee chairmen last night to help summer coordinator Christopher Harris of Tamalpais High School.

Karen Ault, a junior at San Rafael High School was named publicity chairman; and Al Kerr, a junior at Terra Linda High took over as chairman of the transportation, employment and education committee.

About 35 youths met at the Civic Center to continue discussions on various problems such as juvenile delinquency, recreation, employment and education. Coordinator Harris, Martin Lawler of Terra Linda, and Marc Litchfield of San Rafael led the discussion.

Litchfield said all forms of communications in the Bay Area must be used to disseminate information about the formation committee and the permanent youth commission that will be picked in September. He said he would contact television and radio media, while Miss Ault would contact newspapers.

Miss Ault said she hopes to complete by June Marin's report on youth problems to be presented at the governor's Youth Conference in Sacramento next November.

Next meeting of the Youth Commission Formation Committee will be at 7 p.m. next Wednesday in the supervisors' chambers at the Civic Center.

Sometimes Player Is Insulted When He Makes Bad Card Guess

When a man tries to guess which opponent has a missing queen he knows that he may guess wrong, and he doesn't gripe too much about it. But the man who works out the location of the missing queen by superior mentality takes it as a personal insult if the queen shows up in the "wrong" hand.

TOP CARDS

South won the first trick with the queen of spades and cashed the top cards in clubs and diamonds in the effort to make a 12th trick painlessly. When neither suit broke favorably South cashed the ace and king of spades to count each defender's hand.

By this time South knew that West had started with five spades, four clubs and two diamonds. This meant that West could have only two hearts and that East had started with five hearts. Since South was a mathematician he knew that the odds were 5 to 2 that East had the queen of hearts.

TAKES FINESSE

It was much better to rely on odds of 5 to 2 than to indulge in a mere guess, South told himself. He led a heart to the ace and returned a heart to try a finesse with the jack. West thereupon took the queen of hearts, a spade and a club to collect a penalty of 200 points.

South is still complaining about his bad luck. He worked out the odds, and they betrayed him. Mathematics has a grudge against him.

NO RIGHT

Actually, South had no right to complain because he could have enjoyed absolute certainty instead of mere favorable odds. After cashing the top spades South knew that East's remaining cards were the jack of diamonds and three hearts. Declarer should get to his hand with the king of hearts to lead a diamond.

East would win the diamond but would then have to lead a heart up to dummy's ace-ten. Dummy would win that finesse no matter which defender had the queen.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1 no-trump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠—J 10 9 6 2
♥—Q 3
♦—10 6
♣—J 9 8 6

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass. You have useful cards in each suit and have no reason to think that you will be better off at two spades than partner will be at 1-NT.

Latin In Comeback

AUBURN, La. (UPI)—Latin will be taught at Auburn University in the fall after an absence of 50 years from the curricula. The largely agricultural school will also offer a masters degree program in Spanish for the first time.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, May 8, the 128th day of 1969 with 237 to follow.

The moon is in its last quarter. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Mecury and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1541 Spanish explorer Hernando de Soto discovered the Mississippi River.

In 1879 papers were filed for the first American automobile patent. George Sleden of Rochester, N.Y., was granted the patent in 1895.

In 1945 it was V-E Day. President Harry S Truman announced the end of World War II in Europe.

In 1958 Vice President Richard Nixon was stoned and spat upon as he toured Lima, Peru.

A thought for the day: President Truman, shortly after the A-bomb was dropped on Japan, said, "The force from which the sun draws its power has been loosed against those who brought war to the Far East."

BACK TO GRASS WHISTLES — Shannon McCalla, 13, of San Anselmo holds a sheaf of her poetry at Red Hill Intermediate School where she is an eighth grader. She writes of "grass whistles." She even writes on backs of tests. (Independent-Journal photo)

WRITES FOR FRIENDS

Young Poet Sees Beauty In Nature

By BRUCE COLEMAN

"To love God is to love all humanity, for we are God and God is the ultimate human soul." — Shannon McCalla.

Shannon, 13, is an eighth grader at Red Hill Intermediate School in San Anselmo and works on the school paper, the Red Hill Rag.

"I'm the poetry editor but we don't ever print any because there's not enough space."

"But the poets still survive," the quiet-spoken, bespectacled girl went on to say. "It's sort of a better way — if you give poems to your friends. They will understand what you mean."

Shannon, daughter of Mrs. Betty McCalla of 22 Foss Avenue, started writing stories when she first entered school and became interested in poetry last year. "I mainly write poetry now," she said.

Her English class, headed by teacher Stephanie Biesi, is now studying poetry.

However, Shannon is a perennial poet in that, if she finishes a test and has nothing to do she turns it over and writes a poem on the back.

Some days she writes many poems; other days — none.

She wrote one called "On Hearing a Fight in the Next Room" which was just what it says — about a fight at home in the next room. Shannon has a twin sister, Kathy, who also writes poetry, and a brother, Brian, a ninth grader, who doesn't. Mrs. McCalla is a musician.

Here is the first line from Shannon's poem, "Going Back:"

"Let's go back to our freckled Utopia, back to shining hair under sun-dappled leaves, back to soft whiffs of cloud in faultless azure sky, back to grass whistles and shouting children sprawled on the lawn."

And one from "Blue Light Time:"

"When soft sun rays recede behind pale clouds, shivering with cold, the winds slowly build up pushing the sun to China."

And a passage from "Acceptance:"

"There is no reason to hate somebody just beause they're different. Narcissistic identification is a bad way to make friends. You should look for the beauty in people, because it's always there."

The "mostly Irish" Shannon was asked the role of the poet and said sometimes the poets write for themselves and you can understand them better. Sometimes they say it for a generation or an age, she said.

This kind of communication (the poet's) is important because you can understand people different from yourself, she asserted.

Speaking on nature, Shannon declared "there's beauty in everything."

Speaking on peace, she said she's not a pacifist all the time because "you can't say you don't believe in war if you fight with your friends and family."

She said, "Others write better than I do. I wish people wouldn't be so competitive. I wish everybody would stop trying to beat everybody. If somebody's better than you in something, that doesn't mean they are a better person. You shouldn't really worry about it."

Aide Loses Job In Poverty War

Reginald D. Tolbert, Economic Opportunity Council area director hired in January by the Marin City Target Area Board, has been released from the post.

The target area board voted Monday not to renew Tolbert's short-term contract, and set his termination date at April 30. Board Chairman Elihu H. Johnson would not elaborate on reasons for Tolbert's release.

The board will seek a new director. Tolbert succeeded James Coleman, who left last October.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Antismut Bills Gain New Life

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Two antipornography bills endorsed by both Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan and Democratic Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch had new life today in a previously hostile committee.

Suddenly, chances of passage appeared excellent for the two bills by Sen. Robert J. Lagomarsino, R-Ojai. This year is his third try with the measures.

In a three-hour session held yesterday after they saw a movie featuring nudes, shown by Assemblyman E. Richard Barnes, the committee made some major modifications in the Senate-passed bills.

"I think we've got it in shape," Assemblyman Frank Murphy Jr., R-Santa Cruz, said of a measure to prohibit showing "harmful matter" to youngsters under 18 after the nearly line-by-line review by the committee.

Murphy is chairman of the Criminal Procedure Committee, which has been the graveyard for the two bills during the past two sessions of the Legislature.

Lagomarsino predicted Assembly approval and said he expected the Senate to agree to the lower house changes.

Murphy, who suggested all of the changes himself, agreed. "Knowing whatever we do is going to be subject to a court test, this action will put it in the best possible shape to withstand any test," he said after the committee adjourned.

As a result of the major surgery, the committee postponed until May 14 any vote on the two measures.

The committee in most cases inserted actual language from recent court decisions on pornography in an attempt to assure constitutionality of the statutes.

For example, the committee rewrote one section to contain a definition that the matter was smut unless it had redeeming social importance for minors. In another section, the word "recklessly" was changed to "knowingly."

A statement submitted to the committee for Lynch said the sexually-oriented material trade had grown from two years ago when he said it was a $19 million industry.

And, he said, the smut peddlers have grown braver.

"I think it is now clear to all concerned that the sex-oriented industry is determined to solicit every household in the state," he said. "These solicitations are being made without any regard for privacy or propriety."

One of the bills attempts to control mail order solicitation of racy literature and movies by allowing a court to consider the purpose of advertising.

TAX REFUND

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill extending the time about 300,000 homeowners have to get a $70 check from the state today went before the Senate Finance Committee.

The Assembly-passed bill, by Assemblyman George W. Milias, R-Gilroy, won quick approval yesterday from the Senate Revenue and Taxation Committee.

The measure extends to May 23 the deadline for a homeowner to apply for a $70 property tax rebate and file for a continuing $750 reduction in the assessed value of his residence.

The bill is backed by Gov. Ronald Reagan and is not expected to have any difficulties clearing the upper house.

Milias estimated between 250,000 and 300,000 persons had failed to file for the rebate by the April 15 deadline.

PHONE PROBE

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly has asked the state attorney general and Public Utilities Commission to investigate a recorded telephone campaign in Southern California advocating genocide of Negroes and Jews.

By a virtually unanimous voice vote, the lower house adopted yesterday the resolution by black Democratic Assemblyman Leon Ralph of Los Angeles.

He said the commission has suspended the recording but he still wants the legislature to have a report on the campaign advocating mass killing.

Ralph called it "an organized campaign being directed from Arlington, Va., to the state of California" and said the attorney general's office told him members of the American Nazi party, with El Monte, and Arlington headquarters, sponsored the message.

MAGAZINES

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Ronald Reagan's proposed sales tax on magazines would jeopardize freedom of the press, Assemblyman John P. Quimby charged Wednesday.

The Rialto Democrat said that under the governor's proposed tax reform program, which includes the tax on magazines, Sunday newspaper supplements could be considered separate magazines.

Quimby said the magazine is an integral part of the newspaper and is included in its sale price, "therefore, the price of the paper could be taxed at the proposed 5 per cent rate."

DOCTORS

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Assembly yesterday unanimously voted to crack down on doctors who present false claims for payment under the state's medical care program.

It approved and sent to the Senate a bill by Assemblyman Gordon W. Duffy, R-Hanford, which makes it a crime punishable by up to five years in prison and a maximum fine of $5,000 to falsify Medi-Cal claims.

The measure is supported by the Reagan administration and the California Medical Association.

Pueblo's Executive Officer May Resign Over 'Slap'

BOSTON (AP) — "I'll probably have to resign from the service because of this," Lt. Edward R. Murphy Jr., executive officer of the USS Pueblo, was quoted today as saying.

"I was imprisoned for 11 months by the North Koreans. There were eight long weeks of the court of inquiry. And now this."

Murphy, whose comments were in a copyrighted interview in the Christian Science Monitor, was referring to the recommendations of the Naval board of inquiry with respect to the Pueblo incident.

The recommendations, released earlier this week by Navy Secretary John H. Chafee, included general courts-martial for Cmdr. Lloyd Bucher, the Pueblo's skipper, and Lt. Stephen B. Harris, the spy ship's intelligence officer.

Also recommended was a "letter of admonition" for Murphy for alleged dereliction in the performance of his duties.

The recommendations will not be followed, however. Chafee said the men of the Pueblo had "suffered enough."

But for Murphy, second in command and navigator of the vessel, this apparently was not enough.

"The stigma of this reprimand, although it is comparatively only a slap on the wrist," the Monitor quoted Murphy as saying, "could follow me throughout my Navy career.

He said Chafee's decision not to proceed with disciplinary action against the crew "may take the Navy off the hook. But it leaves me and others very much on it."

Six Youths Held In School Fight

RICHMOND (AP) — Juvenile authorities held six high school students today after a series of brawls between hundreds of Negroes and whites.

Officials said trouble started yesterday at Richmond High School's south campus after a band of Negroes refused to attend classes in protest to the suspension of one of their group.

Fights moved to the school's north campus and finally to Downer Junior High School in San Pablo.

Before it was ended, 40 Richmond policemen, 10 Contra Costa County sheriff's deputies and seven San Pablo patrolmen were involved.

Airmen Receive Chamber Awards

Two airmen at Hamilton Air Force Base collected $50 each this week from the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce.

Awards went to S/Sgt. John F. Ash Jr. of 1141 Ransome Drive, Novato, and A/1c Terry C. Hansen of 21 Merrydale Road, San Rafael, as noncommissioned officer and airman of the quarter for January-March of this year.

George T. Lawrence, chairman of the military affairs committee, presented the awards on behalf of the chamber, which is given them in appreciation of the role of Hamilton Air Force Base in San Rafael's economy.

Sergeant Ash is a watch supervisor-senior controller in the Hamilton control tower, and Airman Hansen is an air traffic controller in radar approach control. Both are members of the 1902nd Communications Squadron.

Draft Conviction For Nazi's Son

SAN FRANCISCO UPI)—The peace-dedicated son of a former Nazi storm trooper has been convicted by a federal jury of refusing to be drafted.

Hans Keller, 22, was ordered to appear for sentencing May 28 by U.S. Dist. Judge Alfonso J. Zirpoli after the jury found him guilty yesterday. He could get up to five years in prison.

Keller, who came to the U.S. at 17, failed to file for conscientious objector status because of his misunderstanding of the law. He admitted in a brief trial that he had refused twice to take the symbolic step forward at an induction center.

Ancient Indian's Bones Unearthed

LA JOLLA (UPI) — A restaurant owner digging beneath his patio unearthed the skeleton of a male Indian that scientists believe is 6,000 years old.

John Katzenstein, co-owner of the Top O' the Cove, said the Indian was buried on his left side with his head toward the east and his face toward the south.

"That would make this fellow about 6,000 years old," said James Moriarity, professor of anthropology at the University of San Diego.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Menopause Simply Creeps Up Quietly On Many; Later Now

VAN DELLEN

The menopause begins so insidiously that few women could say when it actually started. The manifestations also vary, and the end is unpredictable.

In addition, many women reach the menopause at an average of 49 to 50 years. A few decades ago it was 45.

The periods may stop suddenly or gradually become scantier and farther and farther apart. Now and then the menes cease for several months, only to return.

THREE OUT OF FOUR women have some discomfort from time to time, but it is not disabling. Fifteen per cent never are bothered.

Menopausal symptoms are physical and emotional, and it may be difficult to distinguish between the two. The trouble is timing, because the process occurs at a time of life when signs of aging take place, the blood pressure may go up, the children are married, and hubby has, or has not, made his mark.

THE COMPLAINTS of women at this transition period have been tabulated, and almost 50 per cent have been ascribed to the menopause.

Hot flashes are the most common. These produce a sensation of heat on the face and upper body. They go unnoticed except when accompanied by profuse sweating. Flushes induce temporary redening of the skin.

Depression or anxiety is par for the course. Insomnia, headache, fatigue, and dryness in the pelvic area may coexist. On the plus side, the woman now can have sex without fear of pregnancy.

FURTHERMORE, hormones relieve symptoms and are advisable whenever distress is disturbing. At best these drugs make the transition smoother and also prevent certain changes from taking place. Estrogens also lessen pelvic dryness. Many physicians believe that certain women should take small amounts of hormones indefinitely, provided regular cancer screening tests are done.

In women of menopausal age, heavier flow and more frequent menstruation or bleeding between periods is not normal and should be investigated.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

LEG FLUID IN PREGNANCY

A reader writes: What is done when a pregnant woman's milk settles in her legs?

REPLY

These are tissue juices, not milk, as your grandmother thought. This woman should be under the watchful eye of a physician. If both legs are involved, a low-salt diet and rest may be helpful. Swelling of one leg usually is caused by inflammation of the vein or of a lymphatic passageway.

ICE CUBES AND STOMACH

A. A. writes: My father has the absurd notion that ice cubes freeze the lining of the stomach. We think he is wrong and would like your opinion.

REPLY

He is wrong, although it is possible to freeze the lining via other methods. Some people consume large amounts of ice without the slighest discomfort.

CHEESE AND PRESSURE

A. G. writes: I heard that eating cheese raises the blood pressure. Please comment.

REPLY

This is not true unless certain antihypertensive agents such as pargyline have been prescribed. Cheese, in these circumstances, alters the chemical composition of the product, forming a substance that increases the blood pressure.

UTERUS IN DUPLICATE

Mrs. S. D. writes: Did you ever hear of a double uterus?

REPLY

Duplicate uteri have been recorded but a more common anomaly is a single uterus divided by a partition.

WHY FIBROID TUMORS?

A reader writes: What is the cause of a fibroid tumor in the uterus?

REPLY

Fibroids develop from muscle cells of the uterine wall. No one knows why these tumors occur. There appears to be a connection between fibroids and sex hormones but there is no proof that ovarian secretions initiate the growths.

HOW MUCH PENICILLIN

A reader writes: If a person needs penicillin and is not sensitive to it, is there any limit to the amount he can take?

REPLY

No. Tremendous doses have been given over long periods of time without adverse effects. Less than 10 per cent of our population has a sensitivity to this antibiotic.

CHICKEN POX IN ADULT

M. B. writes: Can an adult develop chicken pox?

REPLY

Yes, but it is not common and usually occurs in a person who has been reared in a rural area. Nevertheless, chicken pox has been reported in all age groups, from birth to 72 years.

On Friday the Chinese Kitchen at 252 Almonte Boulevard also had been forced open and $100 from the cash register taken as well as about $50 in pennies from a gallon can.

Psychiatrist: Sit-Down Soldier Wanted Praise

FORT ORD (UPI) — Another psychiatrist testified yesterday about the mental condition of another of the 14 Army soldiers being tried on mutiny charges for participating in a sit-down strike at the Presidio stockade.

Dr. Maurice Spottswood of San Francisco was the seventh witness from the field of psychology-psychiatry to be called by defense attorney Terence Hallinan, who intends to call seven more.

Spottswood told the court-martial board Pvt. Patrick A. Wright, 20, Santa Rosa, expected to be praised for joining 26 other stockade prisoners in the demonstration last Oct. 14.

Wright "thought that if the command knew how bad the situation was in the stockade, they would do something to remedy it," the psychiatrist said. He added, "This borders on delusion."

Battle Of Bands

A junior high school dance and battle of the bands, sponsored by the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Department, will be held from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Mill Valley Community Recreation Center, 315 Sycamore Avenue. The dance is open to all students at Edna Maguire Middle School.

Ernest Bloch Society Has Marin Office

The Ernest Bloch Society, formed in honor of the late composer, has established its national headquarters in Mill Valley, where he wrote his symphony "America" while director of the San Francisco Conservatory of Music.

Headquarters, formerly in Portland, Ore., are now at 117 Marguerite Avanue, Mill Valley, the society announced in its spring bulletin.

Sita Milcev of Mill Valley, assistant secretary of the society, reported that a Marguerite and Ernest Bloch Memorial Grove will be dedicated at 10 a.m. June 28 in Prairie Creek Redwoods State Park, six miles north of Orick, Humboldt County.

The memorial grove was purchased through the Save-the-Redwoods League in San Francisco, by the children, grandchildren and friends of Ernest Bloch.

Gottlieb Deeds His Morningstar Ranch To God

SANTA ROSA (UPI) — Lou Gottlieb, onetime folksinger with the Limelighters and part time hippie benefactor, deeded his 30-acre ranch to God yesterday — but said he would continue to pay the property taxes.

"It's preposterous to pay taxes for God," the bearded doctor of music said, "but for God's sake, I'll pay them."

Gottlieb advised "religious people all over the world to follow this example because the exclusive ownership of land is the original sin from which all bad stuff flows."

Sonoma County recorder Herbert Snyder, who at first refused to record the deed, relented after Gottlieb had it notarized.

"I didn't argue," said Snyder. "If he wanted to waste his money ($2.80), let him."

Trustee's Son Faces Pot Count

STANFORD (UPI) — Harrison M. Brown, 23, the son of a Stanford University trustee who criticized his father's law firm for prosecuting student demonstrators, has been arrested on drug charges.

Brown, a graduate student in physics, was arrested Saturday and released on $200 bail in Palo Alto for allegedly possessing marijuana, it was learned yesterday.

Police said Brown attended a concert by O. C. Smith on campus and handed the singer a marijuana cigarette. Police said Smith returned it, saying, "That's the funniest cigarette I've ever seen. That's got seeds in it."

Smith's remarks, according to police, were picked up by a nearby microphone and heard by officers at the Frost Amphitheatre concert.

Airman's Hearing Set In Marijuana Case

A preliminary hearing for an airman from Hamilton Air Force Base and a recently disvarged airman who are accused of marijuana possession has been set for May 20.

A/1c John Oral Allen, 21, and former A/1c Donald Gilliam, 24, were arrested April 13 when Novato police stopped their car because it did not have a rear license plate.

Hayakawa Admits Job Exhausting

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Dr. S. I. Hayakawa says he finds being acting president of San Francisco State College exhausting and he does not want to hold the post too long.

"It's tiring, man, tiring," Hayakawa told reporters yesterday after coming to the Capitol to tell a legislative committee of the budget needs for his strife-torn school in the coming year.

The Mill Valley semanticist who became nationally known through his handling of student and faculty strikers and demonstrations, said he's months away from deciding whether to run for public office—as some have suggested.

"It seems such a remote idea at this moment," Hayakawa said. But he added he would not eliminate the possibility.

A reporter asked what post he might seek if he did decide to run and Hayakawa joked, "Emperor of California."

Hayakawa, a Democrat, has been mentioned as a possible candidate for the U.S. Senate or the office of state school superintendent in 1970.

Outcry To Dumping Of Warfare Bombs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army plans to haul 27,000 tons of obsolete chemical warfare gas bombs overland by train and then sink them in the Atlantic Ocean are being attacked in Congress as possibly unsafe.

Within minutes of the Pentagon announcement of the plans yesterday evening, Rep. Cornelius E. Gallagher, D-N.J., called a meeting for today of his House Foreign Affairs subcommittee to investigate.

Gallagher said the plans "pose a serious problem for population centers through which the gondola cars will pass, as well as to fishing banks off the United States."

The Army insisted the shipment and disposal procedures can be executed safely. Maj. Gen. Wendell Coates, the Army's information chief, conceded judgment is involved in possible pollution factors in the seawater.

Unless tentative plans change, outmoded nerve gas bombs, mustard gas and tear gas in steel cylinders are to be loaded between May and August into a dozen trains of 50 to 70 cars each.

The troop-guarded trains with safety crews aboard would move slowly to the Naval Ammunition Depot at Earle, N.J., near Asbury Park about 60 miles south of New York City.

Special wrapping will guard against leakage in case of train collision.

At the Earle depot, the cylinders would be loaded aboard four derelict Liberty ships, towed to sea and sunk in 7,200 feet of water off the Continental shelf, the Army said.

Governors Of ABM-Slated Sites Oppose Missile Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Governors of both states chosen by the Nixon administration as initial sites for antiballistic missiles have declared themselves opposed to the controversial Safeguard program.

The two Democrats, first-term Gov. Forrest H. Anderson of Montana and fourth-term Gov. William L. Guy of North Dakota, contend the short-term economic benefits of Safeguard sites in their states wouldn't be worth the long-term problems they could cause.

And they say they don't want their states to become nuclear junkyards.

As the controversy rages in Washington, a possible referendum on the antiballistic missile —ABM—issue is building up through a special congressional election in the normally Republican Second District of eastern Montana where one proposed site is located.

That site is Malmstrom Air Force Base in Great Falls, Mont. The other proposed site is Grand Forks, N.D., Air Force Base. Both have Minuteman missiles which ABM supporters say would be protected by the Safeguard system.

Burglars' Big Haul At Terra Linda

John W. Connaway, of 781 Del Ganado Road, Terra Linda, has reported to the sheriff's office that when he returned from a trip Sunday he discovered his house had been broken into, and missing were tools, a television set, radio, binoculars, camera and a small rug.

Sheriff's deputies said yesterday that the burglars pried open a living room window and also ransacked the refrigerator for drinks and food.

Tomales Dedication

Tomales High School District trustees will receive a progress report on the district's building program and plan dedication ceremonies for the new Tomales High School at its 8 p.m. meeting today at the school.

The new school is scheduled for completion this month.

Denise Cannot Play For Warriors

UNION, Iowa (AP) — "I was shocked and surprised when they told me about it," but "I still think it's kind of cute," said Denise Long after becoming the first woman in history to be drafted by the National Basketball Association.

The San Francisco Warriors picked her in the 13th round of the NBA draft yesterday, but league President Walter Kennedy said, "Not allowed."

5-FOOT-11

Denise is a 5-foot-11 high school star from Union-Whitten High School and finished out her prep career this year with a total of 6,249 points in four seasons. She once scored 111 points in one game.

"We were serious," said Frank Mieuli, owner and president of the Warriors.

"We weren't trying to belittle the draft or the caliber of players available in the late rounds. We didn't intend to use her in NBA games. We wanted to use her in a league we have for preliminary games," he said.

"I think I could have played with them. I always practice by boys' rules. But, they're bigger than I am, and stronger, I guess," Denise said.

TROUBLE

"I'd probably have trouble keeping my eyes off the boys. And maybe they would have trouble keeping their eyes off me," she said after admitting she "might have accepted the offer."

Denise would not have been the first girl to invade the professional basketball ranks.

Female jockey Penny Ann Early was signed by the Kentucky Colonels in the rival American Basketball Association and got into an ABA game briefly last season before returning to the race track.

OTHER PICKS

In the first two draft rounds last month, the Warriors got forwards Bob Portman of Crieghton and Ed Siudut of Holy Cross. They showed more interest in a hotshot forward when they went for Tom Hagan of Vanderbilt in the third round; Lee Lafayette, Michigan State; Willie Wise, Drake; Dan Obranic, Dayton, and then a host of forwards from the state of California—Pat Foley of UOP, Steve Rippe of Santa Barbara; Craig Reed, Sacramento State; Girard Chatman, San Francisco State; Rick Holmberg, St. Mary's, and Joe Callaghan, San Francisco State.

JIM GILMARTIN

Look In The Mirror; Now, 1 . . . 2 . . . 3 . . . Gurn!

WELSCHMAN'S RARE BIT — See that handsome gent above? Hm? Oh, no, that half-column cut is me. I'm talking about the two-column picture.

It has earned many captions, including, "Sleep tight tonight; your CIA is ever on the alert," and, "Cigarette smoking may be hazardous to your health."

Actually, it's a picture of Mr. Dai Llewellyn whose claim to fame is making funny faces. Just one glance and you can see that he is successful. Mr. Llewellyn is the Welsh champion gurner and runnerup in the world championship. Hoo-hee, would I like to see the champ if he's the runnerup.

You may have read about gurning in this corner recently. It is an old Welsh sport in which individuals compete to make faces and the person who makes the best, or worst face, depending on your point of view, is the winner. A college in Montana picked up the sport and it could sweep the country. In fact, I have several candidates in mind. Just look in the mirror.

Solves Mystery For Kentfield Man

The piece in my column solved a mystery for R. J. Scoutten of Kentfield. He had seen the internationally-syndicated photo of Mr. Llewellyn and wrote to the Welshman, asking what it was all about.

Llewellyn wrote a lengthy reply, but his handwriting made the word "gurning" look like "gumming," which the picture would indicate, puzzling Scoutten.

Llewellyn's letter, in part, told Scoutten:

"I've been gurning for approximately 56 years and have won over 500 first prizes at various carnivals and fetes for charity and cancer and spastics. And I have enjoyed every minute of it. So you can see I've had a bit of good fun out of life. And at 73 years of age I still compete.

"I lost the world gurning championship through the slip of the tongue by the president of the show. He told a television announcer the night before the show that I would walk away with the title. Whether the judges thought he was trying to frame it, I don't know. Well, that's how it goes.

As A Loser He's A Winner

"And most of the competitors use the gimmick that they've been invited out to different parts of the world to compete, so I would like you to do me a favour. If you answer this letter, pretend to offer me contracts out in California. It will be good fun. As the old adage goes, 'If you can't beat 'em, join 'em'."

See, even in the sport of gurning the losers cry, "I wuz framed." Mr. Llewellyn's photo has been framed and hanged in places of honor throughout the world. Even as a loser he's a winner.

Sudden thought: Since Petaluma has the world's wristwrestling championship, why can't someone in Marin promote the world's gurning championship?

LIVE CLOSED CIRCUIT TELECAST of the Indianapolis 500 mile auto classic Memorial Day again will be shown at the Tamalpais Theater in San Anselmo. Tickets, priced at $7.50 and $6.50, are now on sale at all Marin County theater box offices.

OAKS WIN

Hannum Challenges Celtics

OAKLAND (AP) — "It's the most satisfying victory in my whole life," says Alex Hannum, the only basketball coach to win titles in both the National and American basketball associations.

Hannum's Oakland Oaks defeated the Indiana Pacers 135-131 in overtime last night to take the ABA playoffs, four games to one.

After the game, the Oaks sent a telegram to the Boston Celtics, NBA champs, asking, "How about a game between the world champions?"

'BIGGEST'

"To take a bunch of guys who were down last year and to come back and win the title has to be the biggest thing that ever happened to me," said Hannum, who won NBA titles with strong teams at Philadelphia in 1967 and St. Louis in 1958.

Oakland finished last in the ABA Western Division last season, losing 64 games for a pro basketball record. This season, former NBA scoring champ Rick Barry helped the Oaks to a fast start, but suffered a knee injury and missed nearly half of the games. Barry didn't play at all in the playoffs.

TIES GAME

Indiana, trailing by as much as 12 points in the third period, pulled even at 122-122 with four seconds left as Ron Perry sank two free throws.

Pacers' Coach Bon Leonard said he told his players to try for a three-point basket from 25 feet out to win the game rather than go for a tie. But the play didn't work.

Three Pacers—Roger Brown, Fred Lewis and Tom Thacker—fouled out in overtime.

"It's always a concern when you get men in foul trouble," Leonard said. "But I had to go with my best players because there is no tomorrow."

Doug Moe and Warren Armstrong led the Oaks in overtime with four points apiece. Armstrong scored 39 for the game and Moe 22.

OVERTIME

Lewis led Indiana with 33 and Brown scored 31.

"We haven't lost any overtimes this year," said Armstrong. "We were a better team and we were in better shape. They had players in foul trouble and we took advantage of it."

"When we entered the overtime," Hannum said, "I told my players to throw caution to the wind."

Giants Hobble Into Chicago After Victory In St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—With the heart of the lineup hobbled by injuries, the San Francisco Giants welcomed a breather today en route to Chicago.

Using a makeshift lineup, the Giants broke a five-game losing streak last night by beating the St. Louis Cardinals 5-3 behind the eight-hit pitching of Gaylord Perry. He fanned six to improve his record to 5-3.

Third baseman Jim Davenport drove in two runs with a single in a two-run third and a sacrifice fly in the seventh. The win gave the Giants a split in the two-game series with the Cards.

2½ OUTFIELDERS

However, the Giants find themselves today with only about 2 1-2 healthy outfieldes.

Bobby Bonds went in for Hart but Bonds found he was unable to grip a bat because of a persisting swollen left forearm as a result of being hit last week by a pitched ball. So Willie Mays, despite an ailing back, had to play the outfield in the final inning.

POWER GONE

Willie McCovey is nursing a painful right hip and sat this one out. With McCovey, Mays and Bonds out of the lineup, the Giants' power potential is reduced by about 90 per cent.

With an open date today, the Giants will take things easy before opening a three-game weekend series with the Chicago Cubs tomorrow afternoon. Juan Marichal (4-2) of the Giants is scheduled to hurl against righthander Bill Hands (3-2).

Campy Helps A's Trim Senators

OAKLAND (AP) — Apparently a day of rest was all that Oakland shortstop Bert Campaneris needed.

Manager Hank Bauer of the A's gave Campy a night off Tuesday but put him back in the lineup last night against the Washington Senators. Campaneris gets another rest today as Oakland waits for the Yankees to arrive.

Campaneris, who went into last night's game with a .163 batting average, singled to score the tying run in the eighth inning as the A's rallied to whip the Senators, 5-4.

He also doubled and scored the first run of the game in the first inning.

Campy's single off relief pitcher Dennis Higgins started all kinds of trouble for Washington. By the time the Senators stopped throwing the ball around, Oakland had two runs and Campaneris was on third base.

Center fielder Del Unser's throw to third trying to get Ted Kubiak went into the dugout to allow Kubiak to score the winning run.

"They were playing like the old Senators again," Oakland third baseman Sal Bando said.

Bando had troubles of his own in the ninth inning when he made two errors, allowing

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Tiant, Bahnsen Having It Rough

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The year 1968 was the Year of the Blank for major league pitchers but for Luis Tiant and Stan Bahnsen 1969 has started out in blankety-blank fashion.

The winless right-handers, among the top hurlers in the American League a year ago, were shelled again last night, leaving each with an 0-6 record and wondering where his next win is coming from.

Tiant, who won 21 games last season and led the league with a 1.60 earned run average, yielded six hits and as many runs—including two homers by Harmon Killebrew — as the Cleveland Indians were bombed by Minnesota 10-3.

TOP ROOKIE

Bahnsen, Rookie of the Year for New York and a 17-game winner, surrendered 10 hits and four runs in five innings as the Yankees lost to California 4-2.

In other games, the Chicago White Sox held off Baltimore 6-4, Boston edged Seattle 5-4, Oakland nipped Washington by the same score and Detroit whipped Kansas City 6-2.

Killebrew's two homers, his sixth and seventh of the season, paced an 11-hit Minnesota attack that saddled the Indians with their 19th loss in 23 games. Winning pitcher Jim Kaat, Tony Oliva and Ted Uhlaender each drove in two runs while Killebrew's blasts accounted for three.

8.29 ERA

Tiant has now pitched 33 2-3 innings and allowed 46 hits and 31 earned runs for a 8.29 ERA.

Jay Johnstone was Bahnsen's nemesis, driving in three runs with a double a single and scoring the fourth on Aurelio Rodriguez' single. Lou Johnson and Jim Fregosi started two-run uprisings in the third and fifth with singles, setting the stage for Johnstone.

Tom Murphy checked the Yankees on three hits until Bobby Murcer cracked a two-run homer in the eighth. Hoyt Wilhelm finished up as the Yankees suffered their eighth loss in nine games.

Washington to put the tying run on second base.

Relief pitcher Paul Lindblad got big Frank Howard on a fly ball to short left field and then struck out pinch-hitter Dick Billings to end the game.

It was a good night for Bando at the plate. He hit his eighth homer of the season, only one less than he had all last year.

Tommy Reynolds of Oakland extended his hitting streak to 11 straight games with a first inning single. Reynolds has been a pleasant surprise to Bauer.

Reynolds was picked up from Jacksonville, Fla. in the International League last year when he was not protected by the New York Mets in the draft.

Bucks May Have Two Bruins Next Season

NEW YORK (AP) — The Milwaukee Bucks of the National Basketball Association may have two-fifths of UCLA's NCAA championship team in their line-up next year.

The Bucks grabbed the Bruins' Ken Heitz, a 6-3½ forward-guard in the fifth round yesterday as the NBA completed its college player draft.

UCLA teammate Lew Alcindor, the No. 1 pick, was signed for $1.4 million after the NBA skimmed off the cream of the crop in the first two rounds of the 14-round grab bag on April 8.

BRUINS

Two other UCLA players also were chosen—Bill Sweek, a 6-2½ guard, by Phoenix, and Lynn Shackleford, a 6-5 forward, by San Diego, both in the seventh round. Another UCLA star, Lucius Allen, went to Seattle in the original draft.

Heitz, who majored in economics and completed his undergraduate studies with just below an A average, said last night he'd prefer to enroll at Harvard Law School where he has a scholarship.

TWINS TO SUNS

The Phoenix Suns said they got what they wanted in Floyd and Lloyd Kerr, a pair of flashy 6-3, 207-pound twins from Colorado State. The Suns, an expansion team leading off the third round, plucked Floyd, a forward-guard drafted by the Los Angeles Stars of the American Basketball Association and the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League. He was a member oft he All-Star team in the Mid-western NCAA finals. Lloyd, drafted by the Oakland Oaks of the ABA, was picked later in the same round through a deal with Atlanta.

Girls Badminton

Redwood defeated Tamalpais 5-0 and Novato tripped San Marin 4-1 in a pair of girls badminton matches yesterday.

Nolan Orders Special Camp

REDWOOD CITY (UPI)—Head coach Dick Nolan of the San Francisco 49ers has ordered his quarterbacks and a few linebackers to attend a special camp starting Tuesday.

John Brodie, George Mira and Steve Spurrier will spend 7 to 10 days at the team's training camp in Redwood City to go over offensive plans for the 1969 season.

Linebackers scheduled to be in camp include Ed Beard, Frank Nunley and Skip Vanderbundt.

FINALS ON SATURDAY

Trackmen Complete Trials

Marin County Athletic League track and field teams wound up qualifying heats for the league finals yesterday at Tamalpais High School in Mill Valley, and the little guys in frosh competition stole the show.

Four youngsters cracked records in the three-year-old frosh division, with no records going in either varsity or Class B.

Finals for all three classes are scheduled to start noon Saturday, also on Tam High School's new track facility.

THREE RECORDS

San Rafael High School's Scott Duncan led the frosh record-breakers with a long jump of 20 feet, 4¾ inches, his third record in as many events over the two-day trials. The day before, he ran 10.8 in the 100-yard dash and 24.9 in the 220.

Mark Farrar of San Rafael set a new standard in the high jump, 5-6; Jay Lehman of Redwood broke the shot put mark, 40-9¼, and Chad Fairfax of Terra Linda set a new discus record, 124-2½.

Brandon Tires Win In Softball

Orvill LeNoue pitched and batted Brandon Tires to a 6-3 victory over the Marinwood Merchants last night in the San Rafael Softball League's B Division at Albert Park.

LeNoue gave up six hits and aided his own cause with three hits and three runs-batted-in. Shortstop Bob Phillips contributed two hits, including a home run, and scored twice. In the evening's other game, a C-I Division tilt, San Quentin Bulls downed Pepsi-Cola, 6-1, behind John Davis' four-hitter and infielder Bill Rohrer's home run and single and two runs batted in.

Pro Grid Realignment Issue Still Clouded

NEW YORK (UPI)—The future of pro football in the United States remained clouded today as the owners resumed their meetings in an attempt to find a suitable realignment for 1970.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle huddled with the National Football League owners yesterday before today's joint meeting with the American Football League owners opened.

Rozelle apparently had little success in trying to persuade three NFL owners to move their teams over to the AFL to create two 13-team divisions.

PLAYOFFS

The owners have agreed on two 13-team leagues with three divisions in each league. The three division champions and the best runnerup in each league will participate in the playoffs with the survivors advancing to the Super Bowl.

But unless three NFL teams agree to shift to the AFL the owners may have to start all over and completely mix up the two leagues to create the 13-team setups.

If that's the case, the meetings could drag on indefinitely. The meetings opened in Palm Springs in March.

Under the 1966 merger agreement between the two leagues, no definite plan was spelled out for realigning the leagues.

Thinclads Eye All-Time Records In League Meet

By GARY TISCHLER

Whenever the Marin County Athletic League Track and Field meet rolls around, there's always a good amount of chatter about records.

Well, it will roll around Saturday at Tamalpais High School in Mill Valley and this year's crop of road-runners, jumpers, leapers, throwers and hurdlers will have a chance to get into the league record book. But there's a more comprehensive, in some ways more prestigous set of records to shoot at.

Doug Basham of Redwood High School spent a good deal of time in compiling a list of five best times or distances in Marin County stretching back to before the league's existance. And some of the records do stretch back.

Would you believe that Dr. Arnold Nutting, now team football doctor at Redwood High School, among other things, still ranks fifth on the 220-yard dash for a straight race list. Dr. Nutting ran a 21.7 back in 1933, for Tamalpais High School, tying him with Bob Olsen of San Rafael, who did it in 1963.

The oldest existing top mark is in the long jump where Bill Russell, then at San Rafael High School, had a 23-2⅛ leap in 1935.

Some of this year's crop of athletes have already made it into the top five.

Brian Hicks of Redwood jumped into second place in the pole vault with a 13-3 leap. Mike Wurtz of Redwood and Mark Jones of Terra Linda moved up to fifth in that department at 13-0.

Bob Peterson moved up to second in the 220 yard dash on a curve with a 22.0 time. Behind him in third is Luther Brown of Tamalpais at 22.5.

Three MCAL runners have moved into the 440 top five. They're Dave Bariski of San Rafael at 50.2, good for second, and Todd Norris and Tom Poppin of Redwood at 51.2.

Likely prospects for moving up in this year's meet could be Norris in the 880, Kevin Pusser of Redwood and Pat Bowen of Tamalpais in the mile, Mike Arago of Tamalpais and Ron Elijah of Novato in the two-mile, Mike Stempel of Marin Catholic and Brown in the 120 High Hurdles, the trio of Hicks, Wurtz and Jones in the pole vault, and Judd Pillar of Redwood in the discus.

The top five times:

100 — Dean Lazzarini (D) 9.6 1966; Alan Lee (T) 9.7 1967; Ellis Williams, (T) 9.8 1964; Walt Langford (D) 9.8 1952, Fred Leanasio (SR) 9.8 1934.

220 (Curve) — Alan Lee (T) 21.7 1968, Bob Peterson (SR) 22.0 1968, Luther Brown (T) 22.5 1969, Bob Piro (R) 22.5 1964, Bill Hinman (T) 22.5 1967.

220 (Straight) — Ellis Williams (T) 21.4 1963, Dean Lazzarini (D) 21.5 1966, Alan Lee (T) 21.6 1966, Bob Olsen (SR) 21.7 1963, Arnold Nutting (T) 21.7 1933.

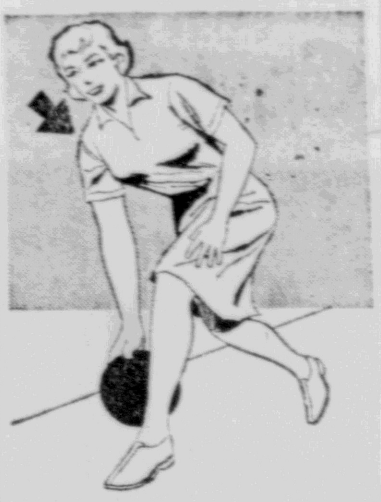
BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG



Many women bowlers are guilty of allowing the right shoulder to move too low at the release (illustrated). Such an error will usually cause the ball to miss to the left. Make it a point to keep your shoulders as level as possible at all times during the delivery and release.

Rookie southpaw Jerry Koosman of the New York Mets worked 264 innings last season and compiled a 19-12 record. The 24-year-old athlete completed 17 games.

TRACK RECORDS MAY FALL

Top Stars At West Coast Relays

FRESNO (AP) — A pair of relay quartets from San Jose State and a solid contingent of pole vaulters appear to be the best bets to challenge world records at the West Coast Relays tomorrow and Saturday at Radcliffe Stadium.

San Jose State's 440-yard relay team of Sam Davis, Ronnie Smith, Kirk Clayton and John Carlos will lead this year's assult on the record book on the track where 36 world records have been broken or tied once the meet convened 43 years ago.

39.6 BEST

The Spartan foursome has a best of 39.6, one second off the world mark. They will be pushed by quartets from UCLA (40.1), California (40.2) and the University of Texas at El Paso (40.3).

San Jose State has also indicated it will send its 880-yard relay team which has a best this year of 1:22.5. UTEP will have a crew with a year's best of 1:25.5 and California will challenge with a 1:26.1 clocking posted earlier.

Five pole vaulters who have been over 17-feet this year are entered, topped by Bob Seagren of Southern California. Seagren is co-holder of the world record of 17-feet-8½ and has a 17-9 mark pending.

BATTLE SEAGREN

Dick Railsback, who has the year's best mark of 17-5½, and Fresno State's Erkii Mustakari from Finland, with a best this year of 17-4, will battle Seagren.

The two-mile run should be one of the most interesting races to watch, with 6-foot-6 Jack Bacheler of the Florida Track Club taking on 5-foot-6 Gerry Lindgren of Washington State. Bacheler, known as "The Stork," has an 8:35.6 this season, the best in the nation. Although Lindgren has only been down to an 8:38.6 this year, he has a lifetime best of 8:31.6.

Long jumper Bob. Beaman has 26-0½ best this year. He will be challenged by five others who leaped over 25-feet.

There are more than 2,200 entrants, including 600 in the junior college division and 900 high schoolers.

Spitballs Draw Talk, Very Little Action

ST. LOUIS — Everybody in baseball talks about the spitter but, like the weather, nobody is doing anything about it. During the winter the umpires suggested a special clause be written into the anti-spitball rule.

If the umpires' recommendation had been adopted by Baseball's Rules Committee, umpires would have been empowered to call an illegal pitch when the flight of the ball made them suspect the rule had been violated.

HOWEVER, THE Rules Committee rejected the recommendation, declaring umpires already had this authority under the present rule if they wished to use it. By inference the rule does give this authority to an umpire but it doesn't specifically spell it out.

And that's the reason there hasn't been one rhubarb this year involving an umpire and the spitball. Sure, there have been statements by angry managers such as Harry Walker who accused Jim Maloney of throwing a grease ball in his no-hitter against Walker's Astros.

BUT UMPIRES have washed their hands of the messy situation. Al Barlick, senior National League umpire, made a conscientious effort last year to enforce the prohibition against spitballs. He had the cooperation of all of his associates, particularly Chris Pelekoudas and Eddie Vargo, in searching suspect pitchers for foreign substances secreted in their hair, gloves or on the inside of wrists.

On several occasions Barlick and Vargo gave Don Drysdale and Gaylord Perry searching examinations, even running fingers through their hair for greasy stuff. Pelekoudas became involved in an unpleasant situation with Phil Reagan, a bullpen veteran.

Pelekoudas accused Reagan of using grease during a relief appearance for the Cubs in Wrigley Field. Reagan told Warren Giles, National League president, he never used grease in his life. Pelekoudas said he should have said "foreign substance" instead of "grease."

IN ANY EVENT, Giles said he knew Reagan to be an honest upright man. That ended the affair insofar as any disciplinary action was concerned. And it also ended any further attempts by umpires to enforce the anti-spitball rule without a specific, no nonsense, clause being written into the rule.

When the Rules Committee refused to adopt the winter recommendation of the umpires that negative action became a green light for any pitcher in the major leagues to moisten the ball. And they are doing it.

NOBODY, LEAST of all the pitchers who throw the wet one, admit more pitchers throw the spitter today than half a century ago when it was legal.

"It's ridiculous how many pitchers are using it," said Walker. "I'd guess about a third of the pitchers in our league use it with varying degrees of frequency.

"IT'S A THREAT to the hitters because it breaks so differently and so drastically that there is no way to adapt to it or prepare for it.

"I plan to find out which of my pitchers can throw it and I'm going to tell them to use it."

Auto-Boat Show In Santa Rosa

SANTA ROSA — Nearly 100 entries have been submitted for the ninth annual Santa Rosa Auto and Boat Show May 16-17-18 at the Sonoma County Fairgrounds.

Promoter Harry Costa announced that Willard Wayne's imaginative "Elegant Farmer," a hardware store wheelbarrow now equipped with a 1960 Lancia V-4 Hemi with dual cams and other features that raised its value to $5,000 will be one of the top attractions.

Wayne's exotic wheelbarrow draws 48 hp at 5200 RPM and — if someone dares try — can reportedly go 100 m.p.h.

Show hours will be 6 until 11 p.m. on Friday and from noon until 11 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

There'll be free movies during the shows. Parking is also free anywhere on the Fairgrounds.

Top Candidate For Eagle Job

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Jerry Williams was a leading candidate for the head coaching job with the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League today after his resignation as coach of the Calgary Stampeders of the Canadian Football League.

Williams, an Eagle assistant coach for six years and a player for two, gave up a four-year contract with the Canadian team yesterday in order to discuss the Eagle job with newly appointed Philadelphia General Manager Pete Retzlaff.

The two men were expected to settle the matter quickly.

Retzlaff said he wanted to talk to Williams "as soon as possible" and that "Jerry is a top candidate for the job. I'd like to get it cleared up as soon as possible."

Punt And Illegal Procedure Penalties Cost Mr. Mauch

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

When Gene Mauch punted, it looked as if he was trying out for the National Football League team the city of Montreal hopes to have in the near future.

But the umpires didn't see it that way and penalized the Montreal Expo manager for illegal procedure.

Mauch's quick kick came during the fifth inning of the Expos' 5-3 loss to Atlanta last night.

Incensed over a balk call against his pitcher, Mike Wegener, Mauch kicked the pitcher's resin bag twice, called for a new pitcher, then picked up the ball and punted it 40 feet into the air.

PENALTY

That's when the umpire threw down the flag and raised the thumb, ejecting the manager from the game and forcing him to walk further than 15 yards to the clubhouse.

Elsewhere in the National League, Houston whipped Philadelphia 6-1, Pittsburgh topped San Diego 2-0, Cincinnati blanked New York 3-0, Los Angeles stopped Chicago 4-2 in 12 innings and San Francisco nipped St. Louis 5-3.

The Expos were leading 3-0 when rookie Wegener ran into trouble in the fifth. After the Braves rallied for two runs, Hank Aaron grounded into a double play, sending Felipe Alou to third. That's when Wegener balked, forcing in the tying run, and that's when Mauch put on his kicking shoe.

FUMING

"We've had two balks called this year, and he called them both," Mauch said afterward, refering to umpire Stan Landes. "He's always anxious to show how much he knows about the rules. You could call half a dozen balks a day if all you wanted to do was stand around and look for balks."

The Expos didn't have a chance without their kicker, giving up runs to the Braves in the sixth on Alou's single and in the seventh on Bob Aspromonte's double.

Larry Dierker struck out 14, high in the majors this season, as Houston halted Philadelphia's victory string at five.

A KICK—Montreal manager Gene Mauch puts the boot to a baeseball with the form of a good punter. The act came during last night's game with the Braves. (UPI Telephoto)

Bob Veale struck out 13 Padres but needed ninth-inning relief help from Chuck Hartenstein. Veale drove in the Pirates' first run in the second, and Willie Stargell homered in the third.

Los Angeles downed the Cubs with a three-run rally in the 12th, the last two runs coming on Willie Davis' second homer of the game. The Cubs rallied for a run in the last of the 12th, but Nate Oliver was picked off first for the last out of the game.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Angelica: Special Service Corporation

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I never read of Angelica Corp. in your column. I would appreciate your comments on this company.—A.B.

A. That we are a country of specialists is clearly evidenced in the growth of service companies. Angelica, which claims to "service the service industry," must be the epitome of specialization.

In actuality, its business consists of making, selling and renting uniforms for hospital and nursing home personnel, restaurant and other commercial workers. Upon completion of the acquisition of Environmentals, Inc., which rents and maintains all textiles used in hospitals 40 per cent of Angelica's sales will go to the health-care market. A recent acquisition agreement if consummated would put Angelica into disposable vocational apparel. The company operates a mail-order uniform business, retail outlets in 14 cities and a similar business in Canada.

Sales since 1960 have jumped 260 per cent to $45.8 million while net gained 294 per cent to 94 cents a share. Shares, which split three times since late 1965, are 54 per cent family-owned. A 15 per cent annual rate of growth this year would put earnings at $1.10. Angelica shares now trading at 22x this estimate are in line with companies providing similar services.

My 85-year-old mother and I are joint tenants of a $170,000 6.5 per cent bank account. It seemed to me a trust might be wise in view of inheritance and income taxes. Thus I sought advice from trust officers of two large banks. The two men gave me opposite advice. What is your comment?—E. L.

A. Expert planning by a tax attorney or other equally qualified professional is long overdue in your case. It should have been sought out prior to setting up the joint tenancy account. It is inconceivable to me that people who are capable of amassing a modest fortune have so little respect for their money that they deprive their dependents of substantial sums simply by lack of thoughtful planning. By all means spend money now on legal advice; you will be better off in the long run.

Pilot Program

CHICAGO (UPI) — Kroheler Manufacturing Co. has announced plans to enter the mattress business this fall with a pilot program in the midwest.

Full Operation

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (UPI) — Subsquehanna Corp. has said it plans to move into full operation at its uranium extracting mill at Edgemont, S.D., by August.

Market On Plus Side At Closing

NEW YORK (UPI)—Advances topped declines on the New York Stock Exchange today but the margin narrowed considerably in the final hour. Trading was heavy.

Reports of a new Viet Cong peace plan was a bright spot for investors. But this was partially offset by monetary uncertainties in Europe and hints that bank prime rates may face further upward adjustment.

Electronics were on the upside, with several issues adding 1 to 2 points. Burroughs and Motorola were among the most impressive in the group.

Chrysler was on the uptrack in its group. Ford also tended higher after sliding more than 1 Wednesday when it announced plans to close three plants next week.

United traded narrowly in the mixed airlines. It had record traffic in all categories last month.

Companies Combined

CONCORD (BW) — Three subsidiary companies of Systron-Donner Corp. have been combined into a new microwave division.

The new division, which will be headquartered in Van Nuys, consolidates the subsidiaries previously known as GLCA, de Mornay-Bonardi and Micro-Radionics.

Older Drivers Less Risk Than Others For Insurance

Motorists 65 years of age and older prove to be better than average drivers according to the Insurance Rating Board, a country-wide insurance rating organization.

Leonard S. Peck of the Insurance Agents Association of Marin has announced the board's intention to grant a discount for drivers 65 years of age and older.

In 1965 the board established separate classifications for senior motorists. These statistics yielded actual premiums and loss experience indicating older drivers are deserving of a rate lower than that of other adults, Peck said.

A reduction of five percent is proposed with the result that a senior motorist carrying liability, comprehensive and collision coverages would realize an annual savings of approximately $10.

Changes in rating are also proposed for certain classifications of cars according to how they are used. Drivers who use their cars for business will find their rates reduced approximately 5 per cent. Those who drive to work a distance of three to 10 miles will find their rates aproximately five percent higher.

Youthful drivers — male and female under 25 — and unmarried male operators 25 to 29 years old, who are owners or principal operators, will have rates resulting in an overall average increase of 7 per cent.

Discounts allowed to operators 17 to 20 for driver training will be revised, for some upward and others downward. On the average, the discounts for young operators will be larger, going from 10 per cent to 12 per cent.

The rating board has proposed to its member companies who write approximately 25 per cent of the auto business in California that these changes will apply to policies effective Jan. 1, 1970.

Pipeline Expansion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Power Commission has granted Texas Eastern Transmission Corp. authorization to spend $177 million in a three-year pipeline expansion program. The expansion will increase the company's natural gas sales to 33 utility customers in 10 states.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

Marin Retail Sales In 1968 Up Over '67 In All Quarters

Retail store taxable sales for 1968 in Marin County were ahead in all four quarters over the preceding year, with a total of $235,964,000 at the end of the 12 months and a 14.1 per cent gain over 1967.

By far the majority of business categories finished strong in the fourth quarter, with a volume of more than $72.6 million and the same 14.1 per cent gain. As is often the case, new motor vehicle dealers racked up the biggest dollar volume ($11.9 million) but not the biggest percentage increase. That honor fell to the used car dealers, well down the list in volume but showing a 195.7-per cent gain for the quarter.

Other volume leaders were department and dry goods stores ($10.2 million) with a modest 8.7 per cent increase; grocery stores with $7.9 million and a 8.2-per cent increase; and eating and drinking places with $7.1 million and a 7:6 per cent gain over the final quarter in 1967.

In the City of San Rafael, increases were less pronounced. Biggest percentage increase was shown by the comparative small category of office store and school supplies (143.7 per cent). Conspicuous was the fourth-quarter volume drop in most of those categories which should have done well during the Christmas shopping season: Department and dry goods stores, women's apparel, family apparel, variety stores, gifts and art goods, jewelry and speciality stores.

Comparative figures for 1967 and 1968 in other Marin communities are not available due to changed statistical procedures and the change in the tax base.

To Soon To Cheer County Vacation Rollback

The Marin County Board of Supervisors has accomplished a rollback from its too-generous vacation allowance for at least part of the county employees. But it may be a little early to shout hosannahs.

The board this week approved an agreement worked out by its negotiating council with the Marin County Employees Association and California Nurses Association which does away with the three-week vacation after one year's employment that was granted by last year's board. That three-week vacation allowance drew cries of outrage from the public and a blast from the Marin County Grand Jury.

HOWEVER, A LITTLE-KNOWN fact should be born in mind: the Marin County Employees Association and California Nurses Association did not ask for the first year three-week vacation in the first place.

The demand for that generous vacation grant came from Local 535 of the Social Workers and Probation Workers Union, with which new contract negotiations are still under way.

WHAT WENT ON behind the closed doors of the negotiating group last year was this, according to Robert D. Elliott, former county personnel director:

The Social Workers Union insisted on three weeks vacation after one year. Eventually, the county negotiators — Elliott and County Administrator Alan Bruce — agreed to the allowance for this group of workers on the basis that the union had won such vacations from various agencies including the Bay Area Social Planning Council, Family Service Agency, etc.

At that point, according to Elliott (who is no longer in county employ so may talk more freely than when he was part of the administration), County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney held that if three weeks were granted one group of employees, it must be granted to all.

"We were not eager to go for that three weeks," says Elliott.

When he and Bruce presented the proposal to the board of supervisors, however, their lack of eagerness was well disguised. Both argued so strongly for the three-week vacation after one year that the board allowed it, thereby bringing down the wrath of the grand jury and many citizens.

THIS YEAR, apparently, the county counsel has changed his interpretation, as the contracts for the various employee groups are being presented separately.

When the contract for the Social Workers Union comes before the board, the three-week vacation battle may have to be fought all over again.

HOW MANY WEEKS of vacation some county employees get may seem of little moment. However, it has considerable bearing on the efficiency of the county government's operation, as well as on the budget.

For instance, in a 100-person department this means the equivalent of six more employees year-around to cover vacations. But since all vacations are taken during four months of summer, it really means working shorthanded or hiring a minimum of 18 additional temporary employees — with consequent loss of efficiency combined with added cost. The result can be that some departments function at very low efficiency during the summer and take several months in the fall to catch up on the backlog.

It is to be hoped the board of supervisors will roll back the vacation allowance to two weeks after one year for all county employees, including the social and probation workers. It has the power to do so, if its members don't forget that they are in office to represent the whole electorate and not just certain employees.

The White Rat

The common tame white rat is descended from the tough, pugnacious Norway rat, which is really a native of Asia that has traveled throughout the world by ship and become the dominant species almost everywhere. In 1822 rat fights were a popular sport in France and England, and rats were specially bred for fighting. The occasional albino was saved and gradually the white rat of laboratory and household pet fame was developed.

The white rat is a man-made creation. It is gentle, fat, stupid and unafraid when compared with its tough, brown, wild cousin. If it escapes from man's care, it is unable to fend for itself.

Full Speed Ahead For Steam, Thanks To Federal Financing

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Now that the Assembly is assured of a grant of $450,000 from the federal government, procedures are under way to begin a massive investigation of feasibility of introducing steam power motor vehicles in California.

Probably "introducing" isn't the right word for it, as steam power is older than the teakettle, observation of which, according to legend, led to application of steam's potentialities to sea-borne and land-borne vehicles.

The oldest application recorded of the power of steam, in fact, dates back to Heron of Alexandria. Nobody knows in just what century this took place, but the best estimates are between 200 BC and 100 AD.

WITH A BACKGROUND of these many centuries, it is somewhat surprising that steam power has not been applied practically to modern day vehicles. Half a century ago first steam automobiles had a fling, but were scrapped in favor of the internal combustion car.

Of course, 50 years ago, there was no air pollution problem. This is the problem which led the Assembly, after many years of wondering how to solve it, to initiate plans for return of the steam car.

THE ASSEMBLY, under the urging of Assemblyman John Francis Foran, D-San Francisco, secured the $450,000 grant from the federal government and now has the go-ahead signal.

Foran lost no time in starting the wheels moving. He has a meeting of steam engine manufacturers scheduled in San Francisco next Monday, to discuss the conversion of four municipal buses to steam for a trial run.

Already, experiments are under way for steam-powered California Highway Patrol cars, and Foran says the patrol expects to have the cars in operation sometime this summer.

THE FEDERAL award, says Assemblyman Eugene Chappie, R-Cool, is one of the first major federal grants ever awarded to a state legislature.

"Should the project prove steam is a viable power source for modern vehicles, a giant step will have been taken in our efforts against air pollution," says Chappie.

Had steam power received as much impetus as the gas powered automobile did, it might be said the state would not have the smog problem it does now. But, as the saying goes, better late than never . . .

Why Drake Missed San Francisco Bay

The die-hard theorists, including Glen Dines of Fairfax, who continue to insist that it was Drake who first entered the Golden Gate, would do well to go out into the ocean during June, July or August, and put themselves in a position such as was Drake's when he made his landfall. They would have second thoughts on his possibility of finding San Francisco Bay. It was for this very reason that Cabrillo in 1542, and his pilot in 1543 after Cabrillo's death, both passed it by twice without sighting it.

Drake was an out-and-out pirate, plundering Spanish ships along the coast of South America. With his ship loaded with his booty, he feared returning to England by way of the southern tip of that continent, so sought a passageway to the north for his return. The prevailing winds off the coast are Northwest. This meant Drake, as did any other explorer, had to beat his way north — a difficult task for square-riggers, which are not very good at sailing into the wind. As a result he had to be far from the coast much of the time. Coming back from Washington, it was different, and he mostly had a favorable wind. Along Point Reyes and southward, during June, July and August, the wind is mostly northwest, and these are the foggiest months of the year.

Assuming Drake was sailing a southeast course — a logical one — and that he passed within a mile of Point Reyes, he would have been able to find Drake's Bay easily, especially since he was looking for a harbor to make repairs. But let's assume the fog and overcast prevented him from seeing the bay. Two hours later he would have been 10 miles south-southeast of Point Reyes, and nine miles north-northeast of the South Faralone. Point Bonita would have been 22½ miles almost due east. In overcast weather he could not possibly have seen it. Continuing on his same course, the next 20 miles would bring him no closer than 17 miles to the Gate. In the fog, never closer than 17 miles, he could not possibly have seen it, or even known it existed. . .

Would Outlaw Army Flood Work

We have noted with gratification the militant action of the citizens of Marin County to resist the stepped-up program of the Army Corps of Engineers to destroy small creeks in an up-side down flood control and water conservation method, which carrys (sic) with it the destruction of scenic beauty that we can no longer afford.

Water should be controlled where it falls as much as possible by seepage basins and reforestation of the bare and eroded landscapes all across the nation. The Army Engineer plan apparently has never considered the urgent need to replenish the ground water table!

But more is needed than just to resist this destructive program. Federal legislation should be pushed to completely separate this Corps of Engineers from any activity except military problems, thus saving millions in taxpayers' dollars and conserving natural beauty, which tourists will spend millions to enjoy if we will just save some of it long enough for them to get here to look at it.

Creek Fuss Equated With Great Issues

Your editorial in last night's I-J (April 30) was disconcerting. I was greatly distressed by your total preoccupation with "law and order" that you are unable to recognize that there may, in fact, be issues towards which our citizens may address themselves, and changes which they may seek. I presume you would rather those who disagree with our Almighty System should either hold their tongue and keep the peace, or get out of the country. I would wager you will allow as to how a few minor changes are necessary. But to your view, today's student unrest wrecking our country; the legitimate concern of our citizens for conservation, for trees, not concrete; the concern of leading citizens for more sanity and less ABMs and megatons, these and many others, have no more significance to you than the frivolous "panty raids" of years ago.

I pity your narrow, parochial and constricted view of what America is and must continue to be. Maybe if we all remember that America did not evolve out of peace and tranquility but out of wars of liberation, civil war, slavery, lynchings, etc., then we can become more involved in America rather than in a futile search for docile and meaningless tranquility in the name of "law and order." History teaches that America has never had both concurrently and while it is desirable to have both, it is likely we shall never enjoy both together until there are no longer any defacto slaves — white or black, rich or poor.

College Meetings Not Recruiting

Your statement in the April 30 editorial that residents of Kent Woodlands had recruited students to take part in the Tamalpais Creek protest is, to put it politely, untrue.

I observed that love of beauty and reverence for life, even for a tree, is not limited to the over-30 generation, and that courage to resist needless and brutal destruction is not limited to those under 30.

I talked to both residents and students as I watched the beautiful little tree shaded creek efficiently turned into an eyesore, between Goodhill Road and College Avenue. One housewife who has lived more than 20 years next to the creek said that Tamalpais Creek has never flooded. The problem has been an undersize culvert under College Avenue, that has just been rebuilt to solve the problem.

Your cynical and paranoid reaction to any kind of active protest just creates further confusion at a time when honesty, reason and truth are essential.

TRY AND STOP ME

ONE OF THE BEST of the many prize fight cartoons of our time appeared some years back. It showed a manager working frantically over his sadly battered warrior in a corner of the ring, pleading the while, "Try to hang in there just one more round, Butch. What he's doing to you is beginning to sicken him!"

Repressive Response To Riots New Danger To Universities

WASHINGTON — "They asked for it and now let 'em have it." That is the verdict on the student rebels delivered at the country club and the corner bar. It is threatened affluence and furious envy of the privileged and permissive.

The storm this angry verdict portends can do untold harm to higher education, the independence of the academic community and the right of free inquiry.

UNIVERSITY authorities are the focal point for the widespread resentment of the young over the Vietnam war, the draft, the overwhelming defense establishment and the way it reaches into higher education.

What the besieged academicians need is understanding rather than abuse. The several congressional investigations already in the offing could perform a great service if they were to develop the broad picture, rather than zero in on spectacular incidents and the Nazi-like tactics of the tiny minority of extremists.

THE HEADLINES and the television cameras concentrating on the spectacular obscure the fact that perhaps 90 per cent of some 2,100 colleges and universities have been free of all but minor incidents readily resolved. The great majority of students, however deep their private frustration and resentment over the sins of the establishment, are still pursuing an education.

Obscured, too, is the way a number of institutions have moved to handle their own rebels in an unspectacular and often effective fashion. This is shown in a survey by the American Council on Education, which tries to keep conscientious check on the to-ing and fro-ing of the campus revolution.

AT STANFORD University a faculty-student judicial council took action against 29 students following a sit-in at a trustees' meeting. The students were put on probation. The Stanford Faculty-Student Council points the way to sharing of authority and to the kind of broadly based verdict acceptable to all but the disrupters.

At the University of Chicago 165 students were summoned to appear before disciplinary committees as the result of sit-ins in administration buildings and in the home of president Edward H. Levi. Of the total, 42 were expelled and 81 suspended for periods up to six quarters. Four students were given "indefinite suspension."

At the University of Colorado two students were expelled, with charges pending against four others, for disrupting a speech by S. I. Hayakawa, the embattled acting president of San Francisco State College. At Duke University 48 students were placed on probation for violating the "pickets and protests" rule.

This is growing evidence that the universities are learning how to cope with their troubles. If state and federal authorities now rush in to impose their will on campus, all this will be lost and the troubles compounded.

THERE CAN BE no mistaking, however, the way the wind is blowing. United Press International, in a recent roundup, showed what is happening in state legislatures. West Virginia is farthest out, with six bills passed this year that virtually wipe out all constitutional guarantees of the right of assembly and privacy. Police or mayors "shall be held guiltless" if anyone is killed or wounded in the attempt to put down an uprising even if the victim is a spectator.

In other states pending measures or those already passed go nearly as far. This is the foam on the angry wave rising across the nation. The end result may be to punish the vast majority of the well-behaved, along with the disrupters, and thereby deliver a body blow to higher education.

Nasser's Self Delusion Threatens Renewed War

By PHIL NEWSOM

During the past winter a western diplomat at the United Nations came up with the gloomy prediction that the worsening Mideast crisis swiftly was approaching a point where it was either-or — a quick solution or another war in the spring.

Neither has occurred as yet.

But recent weeks have seen a sharp escalation of the fighting, particularly across the Suez canal, and it then becomes a question as to how far escalation can go before it becomes a full-scale resumption of the war, which neither side wants and for which the Arabs certainly are not prepared.

UN Secretary General Thant has declared that a virtual state of war exists along the canal and that the cease-fire has been almost totally ineffective.

UN observers along the line frequently have found themselves under fire and there have been suggestions that unless the situation changed they might be pulled out.

IF SUCH were to be the case, conditions would revert to those of 1967 just prior to the Arab-Israeli war when Thant pulled his observers out of the Sinai.

The United States has warned both Egypt and Israel against such a possibility.

Greatest single contributing factor to increased tensions along the Suez canal has been the change in the stance of United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

In a series of speeches beginning in March, Nasser underscored a new aggressiveness by Egyptian troops along the canal.

Artillery duels became an almost daily occurrence, most of them started by the Egyptians.

Egyptian commandos began striking across the canal in night raids.

Egyptian soldiers, punished in the past if they fired across the canal without permission, now were told they would be punished if they did not.

Nasser threatened to hit Israeli civilian centers.

ALL THIS despite the fact that most military observers seem agreed that the balance of power between Israel and the Arabs had not changed since the 1967 war and that in any major conflict the Israelis again would be the victors.

The Israelis and foreign diplomats in Cairo believe one reason for Nasser's action is an attempt to convince the Big Four powers that an explosion is near.

Another is to help satisfy the appetites of his restless soldiers.

To Cairo's declaration that Egypt no longer regarded the Suez cease-fire line as valid and the threats to hit Israeli civilian centers, the Israelis replied that two could play the game and demonstrated it by a token raid deep inside Egyptian territory.

Nasser's mistaken judgment and the Arab ability at selfdelusion led to the 1967 war. The same thing could happen again.

WORTH SAYING AGAIN

Nothing is more opposed to our ethical, religious, and political principles than taking bodily control of a person and forcing him to submit totally to the will of others. This might be justifiable if it were necessary for the preservation of the nation, or to assure that each person did his duty for the survival of safety of others. No such necessity has existed since 1945.—W. Allen Wallis.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By BRUCE COLEMAN

Long Hair, No Job, No Car; So Hitchhike, But No Haircut

Hitchhikers are a lively part of my beat. They are always there — night and day.

Monday I picked up stranger Bob Simmons in Larkspur and took him over the crooked mountain road to Mill Valley. Why does he hitchhike?

Because, he said, he doesn't have money for a car. He posed the next question himself? Why not get a job?

In most cases, the only possible one is gardening because people are prejudiced about long hair. "I like long hair," said the 20-year-old youth.

"I feel that masculinity is an idea. It's not something that can be measured by personal appearance," the College of Marin student said. He suggested that other people of the world — such as Eskimos — have long hair.

He knocked the idea that some people associate long hair with homosexuality by saying he used to be the star of a team in Southern California, having lettered in varsity football, wrestling and track.

What really upsets me, he said, is being cast as a "hippy" or "hippy type." "It's hard to classify anybody by the way they look. I would rather call somebody by their name than a 'nigger' or a 'hippy.' That just shows your own prejudice."

Asked if he would type this reporter, he said, "Yeah, probably a straight business type."

ON TUESDAY I visited the College of Marin Times office and started talking to Rick Beban who has been twice arrested on the creeks but has hair of ordinary length.

He had a three-inch fish in a plastic jar which he said was found in a pool between College Avenue Bridge and the new dam. "We're going to take it back up the creek," he said.

While talking, a rather sexy TV woman came up to Beban, said she would be ready in a minute, and went to make a telephone call. Then a man who looked as if he were trying to be a youthful copy of Che came up and asked Beban: "Are you Beban?"

Beban said he was and, when I interrupted because I had encountered the student first, the Che guy asked angrily, "Who are you?" In moments, Beban left with the TV woman, presumably for an interview and I said, "I'll telephone."

BETTE REESE, Times adviser, and I were left behind to discuss the absurd world. She said she has studied word meanings and that, whereas to some people "give away" programs mean just that, to other students seeking financial aid, such is not the case at all.

And, she continued, if you favor conservation, some think you're pro-flood. "No one is. Not me. Not the Army Engineers . . . But nobody hears."

On another tangent, she said, "If the board members were not able to sell themselves on the extremely exciting and progressive programs going on here, I don't know how they can possibly relate that to a plebiscite and expect them (the people) to vote intelligently.

"This is one of the top junior colleges in the country. The students are marvelous. They are alert. They study. They care. They might well be our salvation — not our downfall."

ART BUCHWALD

Oh Well, Hemingway Probably Isn't Relevant To Today's Scene

Prof. Harvey Yoicks, Wimbledon professor of English studies at Bitter U., said he could only talk to me for a few moments about the new biography of Ernest Hemingway. When I came into his office he apologized.

"I'd love to talk to you about the Hemingway book, but unfortunately I have a confrontation with the Students for an Uptight University at 3 o'clock and then another confrontation with the Afro-Polish Society at 4. Then there is a faculty meeting at 6 for the Ad Hoc Committee to Liberate the Dean, which is followed by an antiwar rally I have to attend at 9 to defend the English department's use of Tolstoy's 'War and Peace' as a textbook."

"If you're too busy today," I said, "I'll see you tomorrow."

PROFESSOR YOICKS looked at his calendar. "I'm afraid tomorrow doesn't look any better. I have a confrontation at 8 o'clock in the Student Union with the Students Against Tomorrow. And there is a possibility that I will be called upon at noon as a mediator in a dispute over the faculty parking lot which the Radicals for Smaller Cars want abolished. Now, what did you want to ask me about Hemingway?"

"Well, professor, as one of the outstanding expoerts on. . ." The phone rang, and Yoicks picked it up. I tried not to overhear, but it was impossible not to listen. "Yes, sir. You want me to attend the confrontation on Thursday with the Students for Lower Grades? I have a class at 3. Well, you see, sir, I canceled Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday's classes. I thought I might turn up Thursday and lecture, just to keep my hand in. You consider this more important? All right, I'll cancel the class. Yes, sir."

HE HUNG UP, and then pushed a buzzer. "Miss Samuels, would you make a note that I have a confrontation on Thursday at 3 o'clock with the Students for Lower Grades."

Miss Samuels' voice came over the speaker. "But, professor, you have a previous confrontation with the Moderate Radicals for a Restructured Renaissance Studies Program."

"We'll have to postpone that confrontation. The president wants me at the SLG confrontation instead."

MISS SAMUELS said, "Professor Barley of the International School wants to know if you're keeping Friday open for the confrontation with the Graduate Instructors Grievance Committee."

"Damn, I forgot about that. What have I got on Friday?"

"You have a confrontation with the Inter-Fraternity Headbusters Organization, the Che Guevara Amnesty Committee and the Ho Chi Minh Revolutionary Movement."

"Tell Barley I'll try to make part of his confrontation, but I won't be able to stay if there is a sit-in."

YOICKS TURNED to me. "Sorry about the interruption. Let me see. You wanted to know about Hemingway. I found Hemingway a very interesting character. He probably left more of a mark. . ."

A brick crashed through the window with a note on it. Yoicks went over to pick it up. He read the note and said, "The New Left Antidefamation League wants me for a confrontation on Saturday. I was hoping to get some papers marked over the weekend."

"There's always Sunday," I said.

"No good. On Sunday I promised to meet with some students who want to abolish the Fourth of July."

"FOR AN ENGLISH professor, you seem to be quite busy."

"It's all part of the teaching game," he said wearily.

Miss Samuels came in excitedly. "Professor, there is a group of students outside who want an immediate confrontation with you."

"You know I'm all booked up for confrontations. Who are they?"

"They're your students from your English literature course and they demand to know when you're coming back to class."

Professor Yoicks said, "Inform them that I'll try to be in class a week from Wednesday. In the meantime, tell them to reread "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea."

Publisher To Fight Closed Session Ruling

RED BLUFF (UPI) — A newspaper publisher yesterday said he would appeal a preliminary court ruling rejecting his suit to forbid Tehama County supervisors from holding closed meetings.

Superior Court Judge Curtiss E. Wetter Tuesday rejected the suit by George Burkhardt, editor and publisher of the Corning Daily Observer.

Burkhardt said the supervisors held a secret meeting last March 1 to order preparation of a list of doctors eligible and willing to treat welfare recipients. He contended the subject did not justify closing the meeting under terms of the Brown Act, California's open meetings law.

He also said the supervisors violated the Brown Act by refusing to release the contents of a report by the county's Comprehensive Health Association Committee. The report has since been released.

The publisher asked for court orders banning future closed meetings and requiring release of county reports.

Wetter in a preliminary opinion refused. "This is not a case," he said, "in which the judicial branch of the government should undertake to impose its own views upon the legislative branch."

Burkhardt said he would take depositions from supervisors and others involved and would ask for another hearing.

Almost two-thirds of Vermont's population lives on farms or in small villages.

New Attack On Treasury Secretary

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Banking Chairman Wright Patman, who takes credit for forcing Andrew Mellon to quit as Treasury secretary in 1932, renewed his attack today against current Treasury chief David M. Kennedy.

Patman said he would spell out on the House floor new details of Kennedy's financial arrangements with Continental Illinois National Bank in Chicago.

Kennedy quit his $200,000-a-year job as bank chairman in January and says he sees no conflict of interest in serving as Treasury secretary.

Patman has insisted the opposite.

INVITATION

He was particularly irked that Treasury Counsel Paul Eggers did not accept his invitation to testify before his Banking Committee to elaborate on details of Kennedy's affairs. Eggers had written Patman that Kennedy had sold 30,855 shares of bank stock.

Kennedy testified before Patman in February that he put the shares in trust when taking the federal job. Kennedy had estimated the shares were worth $1.2 million.

An aide said Patman, a 75-year-old Texas Democrat, would toss the ball to the administration.

The aide said Patman was not calling for Kennedy's impeachment immediately as he did for Mellon's in 1932.

HARDING MAN

Patman was 38 and a three-year veteran in Congress when he took after Mellon who had been appointed 11 years earlier by President Warren G. Harding.

He gathered information for six months about the multi-millionaire's financial connections. Then in a Jan. 6, 1932, House speech Patman called for Mellon's impeachment.

Mellon held voting stock in 300 companies doing $3 billion worth of business, Patman charged. These included banks, shipping lines and some of the largest industries of the era.

Four Drunken Driving Fines

Four men have been sentenced in Marin Municipal Court by Judge Peter Allen Smith for drunken driving. All were placed on one year probation.

Gerald Lynn Berryhill, 45, of 32 of Millard Road, Larkspur, who was arrested Monday on Highway 101, was fined $120.

John Bernard Holbrook, 57, of 320 Vista Grande, Greenbrae, who was arrested March 27 on Highway 101, was fined $273.

David Luis Walker, 37, of 669 Orange Avenue, Novato, was fined $211. He was arrested April 27 in Novato.

Mark Edward Sanford, 37, of 315 Mountain View Avenue, San Rafael, who was arrested Oct. 27 on Highway 101, was fined $182.

Boilermakers End Month's Strike

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— More than 1,000 Northern California boilermakers ended a month-long strike yesterday and returned to their jobs under a new 26-month contract with the California Metal Trades Association.

The boilermakers, members of five locals in San Francisco, Oakland, Stockton and Sacramento, will get a 73-cent hourly wage hike plus an additional 13-cent increase in fringe benefits over the life of the contract. Journeymen will now average $4.19 an hour.

Scholars assert that discoveries in mathematics over the past 100 years are greater in quantity and quality than those in all previous history.

Mass Ordination: Instant Ministers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rev. Dr. Kirby J. Hensley ordained everybody in an audience of some 300 Wednesday into his Universal Life Church.

Hensley, who lives in Modesto, is charged in San Jose with violating the State Education Code by allegedly illegally issuing a mail order honorary doctor of divinity degree.

His ordinations yesterday were on the campus of San Francisco State College and he also offered for $20 a four-week course leading to a doctor of divinity degree. There appeared to be no taker in the audience.

Juvenile Court To Handle Drug Cases

Two of the young people arrested March 21 in San Rafael at a birthday party featuring a cake allegedly flavored with marijuana will be tried in Marin Juvenile Court.

Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court yesterday referred Robert Patrick Hallat, and Michael Milton Huffman, both 18 and of San Rafael, to juvenile court.

Soviets Make A Move On Non-Proliferation

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government took a major step today toward ratification ofthe nuclear non-proliferation treaty. today toward ratification of the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain last July 1 but does not become binding until ratified.

The official Soviet news agency Tass reported today that the Soviet Council of Ministers submitted the treaty to the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet—parliament—for ratification. It said that the Presidium passed the treaty on to the foreign affairs commissions of the two houses of Parliament.

The final decision, Tass reported, will be made by the Supreme Soviet, which is expected to hold its next session in June. Parliamentary approval of government recommendations is usually a matter of course here.

The U.S. Senate ratified the non proliferation treaty after President Nixon took office.

The Kremlin was believed to be delaying its ratification until after favorable U.S. action. It also was understood to be using the threat of further delay to press West Germany to accept the treaty.

The brief Tass report offered no explanation of the Kremlin's timing of the announcement.

The non proliferation treaty is intended to prevent Nations without nuclear weapons from acquiring them. The Soviet government has repeatedly expressed fear that West Germany is trying to become a nuclear power.

Warrant Issued

A bench warrant has been issued by Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Superior Court for Philip Charles Verhaydent, 22, of Corte Madera, who failed to appear Monday for arraignment on felony credit card offenses. Bail on the bench warrant was set at $5,000.

Oakland Hires School Chief

OAKLAND (UPI) — The appointment of Dr. James I. Mason as Oakland's new school superintendent was approved unanimously yesterday by the Board of Education.

Mason, 43, has been superintendent for the past year at Las Vegas, Nev., where he currently is embroiled in a dispute with a taxpayers' group which accused him of a conflict of interest in a $1 million book purchase.

Several local groups Tuesday asked the board, which selected Mason last week, to reconsider or delay its decision. However, Board President Lorenzo N. Hoopes said yesterday board members had thoroughly investigated "suggestions of conflict of interest and concluded they are without foundation in fact."

Help Sought In Finishing Boys' Club

The Marin County Labor Council is seeking to enlist volunteer tradesmen to help complete the Boys' Club of Southern Marin building in Marin City, Peter Patrakis, secretary-treasurer reported after last night's council session.

The building has a finished exterior but the interior lacks lighting, heating and plumbing, Patrikis said. The council is seeking carpenters, electrical workers and plumbers to aid in the work.

The council also:

Agreed to participate in the Memorial Day floral tribute at ceremonies at the Marin County courthouse in San Rafael at 11 a.m. May 30.

Opposed legislation which would raise from $2,500 to $5,000 the cost of a job before bidding by public agencies would be required.

Endorsed the stand of a Bay Area labor committee supporting retention of existing regional government organizations and supported a bill that directors of such groups be elected directly by the people, rather than by appointment, and backed the principle of having multi-purpose regional agencies.

Driver Bruised As Car Hits Deer

A Mill Valley man escaped with minor injuries Tuesday when his car hit a deer on Highway 101, then hit an oncoming car, the California Highway Patrol said today.

William A. Schallock, 23, of 217 Summit Avenue, was treated at Marin General Hospital for multiple bruises.

The patrol said Schallock's car hit the deer north of Novato at 12:20 a.m., then skidded through the center strip and hit a car driven by Daniel C. Wheeler, 20, of Occidental, Sonoma County.

Volunteers Sought

An open meeting for volunteers interested in assisting with a school for disturbed preschool children, sponsored by the Behavior Therapy Institute, will be held at 7:30 p.m. today at the institute, 300 Valley Street, Sausalito. A training program will also be held.

Evidence Links Three Suspects To Slaying

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Some of the evidence against three youths charged with killing a policeman was disclosed yesterday at their arraignment, while detectives hunted for still more.

Municipal Court Judge John O'Kane made public the evidence while reading the formal complaint to the defendants, Jose Rios, 20; Gary L. Lescallet, 19, and Jose Martinez, 17.

All are charged with murdering patrolman Joseph Brodnik last Thursday and attempting to murder Brodnik's partner, Paul McGoran, who was hospitalized after a beating.

Judge O'Kane said that McGoran had identified photographs of three as among those "who participated in the shoot-int," that a Social Security card belonging to Rios was found at the slaying scene in the Mission District, that shots fired in the fight came from a car registered to Martinez father, and that Lescallet's fingerprints were found in the car.

Brodnik, unarmed, and McGoran had stopped a group of youths for a burglary investigation on a Noe Valley street when McGoran was slugged and Brodnik shot with McGoran's service pistol.

Detectives said today's search for the gun centered at a Pacific Ocean beach in southern San Mateo County. The trio and three others had hidden there following the shooting and were captured Tuesday after they robbed a sunbather of his car. The capture was at Santa Cruz.

Other sites where a gun might have been thrown away also were being investigated.

The other three youths captured faced arraignment today on the same charges. They are Rodolfo Martines, 20; Nelson Rodriguez, 19, and Jose Melendez, 18.

Rodriguez was arraigned Wednesday on a charge of assaulting a policeman—throwing a rock during disturbances at San Francisco State College.

Judge O'Kane continued the case against the first three charged until May 23 when they are to enter pleas.

Outside the courtroom, Rios told reporters that two policemen had roughed up and struck the six youths who had been stopped on Alvarado Street.

"He was calling us punks and hitting us," Rios said of McGoran. "The dead pig was beating us too, and calling us punks and the pigs should not do that."

Rios also said all six were members of the Third World Liberation Front but spokesmen for the militant, non-white organization could not be reached for comment.

"We're not criminals," Rios said. "The newspapers said we were criminals and were wanted dead or alive."

Police inspector Walter Kracke said there was no information that the police had roughed the six.

HIT-RUN ATTACK

New York College Reopens With Guard

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ten young Negroes, including four girls, staged a hit-and-run attack on a campus building today at City College in New York, as the 20,000-student college reopened today amid lingering tenisons.

About 75 uniformed and plainclothed city policemen were stationed around and near the upper Manhattan campus to prevent a repeat of the bloody clash yesterday between white and Negro students.

"The only way to have safety is to have police," said CCNY President Buell G. Gallagher, who summoned the police yesterday and kept them on campus.

As Gallagher spoke to newsmen today outside his home on the South Campus, about 50 white students, wearing red armbands, marched through the campus, shouting: "Shut it down!"

About 100 demonstrators and 100 counterdemonstrators faced each other across Convent Avenue—separated by contingents of police.

The Negroes ran through Shepard Hall, smashing at least three classroom windows, ripping two fire extinguishers from a wall and opening the water valve of a firehose hanging from a wall. They shouted at students in mathematics and science classes: "Everybody out! Close it down!"

The group fled as police entered the building.

At Cornell University, about 130 members of the Students for a Democratic Society voted 2-1 at a 5:30 a.m. meeting against occupying the school administration building, then ran about the campus, shouting protests against ROTC.

A similar protest last December led to disciplinary action

Vandals Strike At Bolinas Ridge

Workmen arriving Monday morning for logging operations on the Righetti ranch on Bolinas Ridge discovered that about 10 pounds of sugar had been poured into diesel tanks of two trucks, sheriff's deputies said today.

Damage to the trucks was estimated at about $150.

Loggers told deputies they suspected conservationists, who have been opposing their operation, were responsible for the vandalism. They showed officers an article in the Berkeley Barb in which a Bolinas man said that "hit and run tactics" against the loggers would be stepped up.

Food Cost Hike Estimate Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department said today food prices this year are expected to increase more than it had estimated earlier. But experts said the gain still would be less than the 3.5 per cent boost in 1968.

Officials said in a summary report on the national food situation that grocery food prices might average about 2.5 per cent higher than in 1968, and 3 to 5 per cent higher at restaurants.

The gain last year was 3 per cent at grocery stores and 5 per cent at restaurants.

QUIET DAY WITH FAMILY

Old Battler Truman Turns 85

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL

WASHINGTON (AP) — His clothes hang loose now on a pitifully thin frame; his knuckles go white as his hands clutch a cane; his visits with cherished old friends are few—he tires easily.

This is Harry S Truman, 85 years old today.

Once he presided over the world's mightiest nation. Now his world is usually bounded by the short walks an arthritic old man can take from the century-old white frame home in Independence, Mo., where he has lived since he left Washington 16 years ago.

Once his every action made waves. Now, on the back stoop of history, he is watched mostly by Bess, the grade school sweetheart he married 50 years ago next month.

Once his words were flashed around the world. Now he gives no interviews, makes no speeches. What there is to be learned about him has to come from intimate friends.

In the quiet of that big house at Truman Road and Delaware, separated from the world by his feebleness and a big iron fence, he is busy with the avocation of a lifetime, the pursuit of knowledge. He reads or is read to from four books at a time, skipping restlessly like a hungry diner from one tidbit to the next.

Five years ago, Truman's 80th birthday was celebrated with a round of parties in Kansas City, Washington and New York. He returned home exhausted and Mrs. Truman put her foot down. He began to appear less and less at public functions.

In 1967 he asked Henry Talge, an industrialist who had thrown huge birthday luncheons for him since 1953 to cut them out "because I need to conserve my energy."

Talge said "you can't do too much for this man" and continued to stage the luncheons with guests raising their glasses in salute to an empty chair. Ministers of six faiths were on the program for today's luncheon.

Age has altered many of the Truman hallmarks. Famed as an early-morning riser, Truman sleeps now until after 7 a.m.—

Conservationist-Backed Bay Plan Gets Assembly Support

PARIS PEACE TALKS

Cong Propose New Plan; U.S. Reacts Cautiously

PARIS (AP) — The Viet Cong today presented a 10-point peace plan, based mainly on previously rejected proposals but containing some new elements.

The United States reacted cautiously, but South Vietnam said the other side was persisting in demanding "the unilateral withdrawal of allied forces and the overthrow of the legal and constitutional government of South Vietnam."

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge told reporters that the new proposals, since they dealt with political matters, should be dealt with by the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front and the Saigon government.

Asked whether he saw any movement toward progress toward peace, he replied: "It's very hard to characterize these meetings."

The new plan was submitted to the Vietnam peace talks at their 16th session by Than Buu Kiem, front representative, and quickly backed by North Vietnam's Xuan Thuy.

After the session both said the United States and South Vietnam had reacted unfavorably during the rebuttal period. The meeting lasted five hours and 10 minutes. The next session will be on Friday next week because Thursday is a French holiday, Ascension Day.

The central point of the NLF plan was establishment of a provisional coalition government to arrange a general election and to rule South Vietnam between the time peace is attained and a constituent assembly is elected.

This had been rejected repeatedly by the Saigon government and the United States. The United States also had rejected previous demands for unilateral withdrawal of U.S. troops. It did not appear likely that the new elements would make the plan any more attractive than previous ones.

It might help, however, in tipping the propaganda scales back again toward the Viet Cong and North Vietnam, which had been hurt considerably by the conciliatory moves in Washington and Saigon.

The plan did not specifically mention North Vietnamese military forces, but it was clear that their withdrawal would be in a different category from those of the United States and would be left up to the Vietnamese people themselves. The United States and South Vietnam have called for mutual withdrawal of North Vietnamese and allied forces.

Kiem called the proposals a plan to allow the Vietnamese people "to settle their own affairs without foreign interference."

It was quickly supported by North Vietnam's Xuan Thuy.

Kiem made his proposal after the United States told the North Vietnamese and the front that "we must be ready for the unwelcome contengency that your side does not want to negotiate a peaceful settlement."

U.S., Saigon Set Cease-Fire May 30 On Buddha's Birthday

SAIGON (AP) —The United States and South Vietnam will observe a 24-hour cease-fire to mark the birthday of Buddha on May 30.

The announcements today of the unilateral cease-fire came against a background of new Viet Cong terrorist attacks in Saigon.

A spokesman for President Nguyen Van Thieu said the cease-fire would run from 6 a.m. Saigon time May 30 to 6 a.m. May 31. Saigon time is nine hours ahead of Pacific Daylight Time.

May 30 also is an American holiday—Memorial Day.

There was no cease-fire declared a year ago to mark the anniversary of Buddha's birth around 563 B.C. because of the Communist command's spring offensive launched May 5, 1968.

But in 1967, on the occasion of Buddha's birthday, the allies announced a similar 24-hour cease-fire. The Viet Cong declared a unilateral 48-hour stand-down.

There has been no announcement so far on a truce for Buddha's birthday this year either by North Vietnam's Radio Hanoi or by the clandestine Viet Cong radio.

Buddhism is one of three great religions which have contributed to the molding of Vietnamese culture and character over the centuries. Buddha was a contemporary of Confucius, and the religion he founded entered Vietnam from both India, Buddha's home, and China. Today it is perhaps the most visible of Vietnamese religious beliefs.

Meanwhile, the U.S. Command reported 205 Americans killed in combat last week in war, a 25 per cent increase over the previous week but near the average fort he past month of relatively light ground action.

The weekly casualty report also listed 1,288 Americans wounded, 672 of whom were hospitalized.

A total of 143 Americans had been reported killed in action the previous week, the lowest weekly toll since Jan. 11.

The enemy death toll last week was 3,414, the U.S. Command said, compared with 3,713 the previous week. South Vietnamese forces reported 168 government troops killed in action and 678 wounded, the first time in seven weeks the total of South Vietnamese deaths have fallen below the American toll.

The previous week the South Vietnamese reported 237 killed.

The report raised the total number of Americans killed in action in Vietnam since Jan. 1, 1961, to 34,611 and the total number of enemy dead in that period to 419,696.

In fighting itself five terror attacks were reported between 6 p.m. yesterday and noon today. Five Vietnamese were killed and 43 Vietnamese and six Americans were wounded in the capital's worst rash of terrorism this year.

In the most sensational attack, two plastic bombs exploded simultaneously in the crowded main room of Saigon's central post office just after 8 a.m. The blasts killed a South Viet-

Tax Extension Bill To Floor

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Senate Finance Committee today endorsed and sent to the floor a bill extending the time for 300,000 tardy homeowners to file for a property tax refund. (See earlier story, page 34.)

The committee action means a final vote on the measure will probably come Monday in the upper house after which the bill, if approved, will be dispatched to Gov. Ronald Reagan for his signature.

Sen. John G. Schmitz, R-Tustin, was the sole dissenter on committee. He said property taxpayers were given enough time to file for their rebate.

First Major Break In Logjam Of Bills

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SACRAMENTO — The first major break in the logjam of bills to save San Francisco Bay came last night in a strong vote by an Assembly committee for one favored by conservation groups.

Cheered by more than 500 citizens from the Bay Area who made the long trek to the night hearing in the Capitol, the Assembly Local Government Committee voted 8-1 to send a bill by its chairman, John T. Knox, D-Richmond, to the ways and means committee with a "do pass" recommendation.

A rival bill by Assemblyman Don Mulford, R-Oakland, which would have extended the life of the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission but said nothing about the BCDC's proposed master plan for the bay, was shelved in a voice vote.

Knox's bill, a counterpart of one introduced in the Senate by Sen. Nicholas C. Petris, D-Oakland, extends the life of the BCDC until a regional government is formed, adopts the BCDC plan and extends the jurisdiction of the BCDC to salt ponds and a band of shoreline around the bay up to 1,000 feet inland.

The BCDC will go out of existence late this year under current law unless the Legislature acts to extend its life.

The committee's vote came at the end of almost four hours of hearings before the highly partisan crowd, which freely hissed at testimony by bay fill interests and applauded conservationists.

The crowd overflowed the Legislature's largest hearing room, which seats 350, and after all standing room was filled, too, more than 100 had to be content to listen in an adjacent room to which the hearing was piped. About 50 persons came from Marin.

Veteran Sacramento observers could recall similar crowds in past years only for such issues as capital punishment and abortion — but never before for a conservation issue.

The fight to save BCDC and the bay, of course, still faces its biggest hurdle, the Senate, where all bills have been bottled up in governmental efficiency committee. The chairman of the Senate committee, Sen. Richard

Nixon, Aide Confer On Cong Plan

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (UPI) —President Richard M. Nixon conferred with his top security adviser today on the National Liberation Front's peace plan, including the proposal for a provisional coalition government to be set up in Vietnam after free elections.

At the Florida White House, press secretary Ronald Ziegler said Nixon discussed the NLF proposals with Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, his National Security Affairs adviser. He planned to meet again with Kissinger this afternoon.

Ziegler declined, however, to comment on the President's reaction to the 10-point plan while it is being studied.

The press spokesman also had no comment on reports from diplomatic sources that the U. S. and South Vietnam have begun private discussions on a limited withdrawal of U. S. troops from the war zone.

The President flew to his Florida haven following an appearance at the Republican $1,000-a-plate fund-raising dinner in Washington Wednesday night. He plunged into foreign policy talks this morning and also worked on domestic matters.

In a series of announcements, Nixon named Southeast Asian career diplomat George McMurtrie Godley to be ambassador to the Kingdom of Laos. Godley, 51, presently deputy

Ear ailment cured

Shepard Back To His Job As Astronaut

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Alan B. Shepard Jr., the first American rocketed into space, has returned to the ranks of the active astronauts six years after an ear ailment clipped his wings and landed him behind a desk.

Shepard, 45, was declared healthy and ready to fly yesterday by flight surgeons at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Manned Spacecraft Center.

His return to flight status came eight years and two days after the lean Navy captain led America into the manned space flight era with a 15-minute trip aloft on May 5, 1961.

In the Mercury capsule "Freedom 7" he soared to more than 100 miles in a suborbital flight. Shepard later referred to it as America's "first baby step" in manned space flight.

He was named to fly the Mercury Atlas 10 flight in 1963, but the mission was scrubbed when NASA officials decided to start the two-man Gemini program instead.

He took over a desk job as chief of the astronaut office, guiding the astronaut training program.

No. 7 For Lana Turner

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Lana Turner, a movie glamour queen of the 1940s, early today married night club hypnotist Dr. Ronald Dante.

Lana

The marriage was the seventh for Miss Turner, 49, and Dante's second.

Miss Turner's previous husbands were bandleader Artie Shaw, restaurant owner Stephen Crane, sportsman Fred May and businessman Robert Eaton.

Hollywood's original sweater girl had been dating Dante, 49, for about three months, a spokesman said.

Dante — who is the proverbial tall, dark and handsome — has worked for 22 years in night clubs as a hypnotist after receiving his Ph D in psychology from the University of Singapore. A spokesman said Dante also is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — The Canadian Embassy in Stockholm confirmed today Canada will meet Peking representatives here to negotiate on diplomatic recognition "in the middle of May."

General Charged

MOSCOW (AP) — A former Soviet army general who openly challenged the secret police for arresting anti-government protesters has been charged with anti-Soviet slander, sources report.

Friends of former Maj. Gen. Pyotr Grigoryenko said the 63-year-old dissident intellectual was arrested in Tashkent where he had gone to protest the trial of a group of Crimean Tatars trying to regain rights they lost in World War II.

The outspoken champion of free speech was stripped of his rank and expelled from the army by Nikita Khrushchev for criticizing government policies.

Red General Dies

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Defense Ministry reported the death of another general today, the ninth in 16 days. Although the cause of death has not been announced for any of them, in accordance with Soviet custom, there has been nothing in any of the obituaries to suggest any connection.

The Defense Ministry newspaper Red Star today announced the death of Lt. Gen. Yevgeni I. Smirnov, 51, after a brief illness. He was deputy chief of the ministry's engineering and technical department.

San Francisco had only 1,000 inhabitants in 1848.

Sweetener Hit

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — A University of Pittsburgh scientist has bad news for weight watchers.

Dr. Jack Schubert reported Wednesday there is widespread evidence that cyclamates, a sweetener frequently used in sugar substitutes, makes people fat rather than thin.

And, he said, it may cause birth defects or cancer.

"If we had as much information 20 years ago as we have now," Schubert said, "cyclamate never would have been allowed on the market."

Schubert said experiments indicate that cyclamates stimulates a person's appetite. He said about 150 million Americans consume 17 million pounds of the sweetner a year.

In Birch Column

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Radioman Lze R. Hayes, a member of the Pueblo crew, has decided to quit the Navy to work with an organization endorsed by the John Birch Society.

Hayes said yesterday he had accepted a post with the American Opinion Speakers Bureau of Belmont, Mass., a conservative group dedicated to fighting Communism.

He said he would be discharged from the Navy Aug. 14 at San Diego, and would begin a speaking tour. He will work for a committee seeking to stop U.S. trade with Communist nations.

RFK's Debts Are Being Cleared Up

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Debts from the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's California campaign for the presidency are being settled at 33 cents on the dollar, a spokesman said yesterday.

Stanley R. Caidin, an attorney and trustee of Kennedy's campaign committee, said about 250 creditors are owed a total of about $500,000. He said debts smaller than $100 are being paid in full.

The debts belong to the campaign committee and not the Kennedy family, Caidin said.

Kennedy's mother Rose and brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., made trips to California to help in fund-raising efforts.

The New York senator was assassinated last June in Los Angeles after winning California's Democratic presidential primary.

At that time, Caidin said, two choices faced the campaign committee, a corporation with limited liability.

"We could just forget the debts, but people felt we had a moral commitment to do the best we can," he said.

LONDON (AP) — The government has discolsed that secret telephone exchanges were built in the 1950s in Manchester, London, Birmingham and Glasgow. The exchanges, kept secret for defense purposes, are located underground and have living accommodations for staff members, with emergency food supplies.

Israeli Premier Says Villages Along Lebanon To Be 'Protected'

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Premier Golda Meir says Israeli villages along the "danger border" with Lebanon will be strengthened in case Arab guerrillas win their struggle to use Lebanon as a staging area for attacks on Israel.

"I do not know what will happen in Lebanon, whose hand will be on top—the terrorists or the army," she told labor leaders in Tel Aviv yesterday. "But the Lebanese border is the new danger border for us.

"We have villages there and we must look after them and see they are properly defended."

The political and military crisis in Lebonon deteriorated further yesterday when about 2,000 Arab guerrillas besieged the Lebanese village of Hasbaya near the Israeli frontier. The Beirut government charged that the assasult was directed by Al Saika— Thunderbolt—an Arab commando organization affiliated with Syria's ruling Baath party. Al Saika denied the charge and called the Lebanese army to join it in an investigation.

The largest of the Palestinian guerrilla organizations, Al Fatah, added to the tension in Lebanon with a charge that Lebanese troops shot five Al Fatah commandos who were en route to Israel on a sabotage mission. Lebanese military officials denied the charge.

Thousands of Palestinians living in refugee camps in Lebanon pay allegiance to Al Fatah, and there was speculation that the guerrilla organization would order them into the streets. Demonstrations by refugees in support of the guerrillas two weeks ago touched off clashes with Lebanese troops which resulted in the death of 18 persons and the resignation of Premier Rashid Karami.

The guerrillas want to use Lebanon as a staging area because it is nearer the Israeli industrial complex at the port of Haifa, but the government has resisted them because it fears Israeli reprisals.

The Montreal Gazette reported that Israel has built five 20-kiloton atomic bombs at its atomic reactor plant near Dimona, in the Negev Desert, and a sixth is near completion. The newspaper's correspondent in Germany said this was discovered by a team from the West German newsmagazine Der Spiegel, and Spiegel would publish the team's report later this week.

Sit-In Protest At Santa Clara

SANTA CLARA (UPI) — A group of 60 University of Santa Clara students held a sit-in at the dean's office yesterday to protest the dismissal of two dormitory supervisors who had a coed in their room after the midnight deadline.

The demonstrators left the office late last night when the university's board of appeal voted to reinstate the supervisors, but to censure them.

The supervisors, who receive free room and board, were David Bajada, 21, San Mateo, and Peter Dileo, 21, Denver. They said they were counseling the coed, who had just informed her parents she was leaving school.

Nixon Sees Progress Now On Major Issues

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon, presiding over $2.7 million worth of Republican rejoicing, has declared his administration is at "the end of the beginning" in dealing with war, crime and inflation.

"I think the American people will begin to see the results of that progress," he told a $1,000-a-plate GOP fund raising dinner last night.

Nixon said "naturally and understandably" some people have been critical of the pace of his administration during its first 100 days.

The President said he deliberately sought "not to make the kind of record that looks very good in the headlines tomorrow" but is found wanting in the history books.

"We want a record of solid achievement," he said.

He said it would have been easy to promise withdrawal of American forces from Vietnam or an end to inflation but that kind of pledge could not immediately have been fulfilled.

"We're never going to promise something we can't produce," he said.

Paraphrasing Winston Churchill, Nixon said that even after three months in office he cannot say the new administration is at the beginning of the end in dealing with national problems.

"But I can say that we have reached the point that it's the end of the beginning," he said.

He said he spent the first 100 days developing plans and programs to reach that point. And he told the Republicans who paid $1,000 to dine on filet mignon that a year from now "this administration will have made the progress that you wanted."

The dinner was billed as a salute to the President, and Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, the House Republican leader, said it was the biggest and most successful in history.

"Believe me, if you don't think there's inflation, think of that price," Nixon said of the dinner bill.

Republican officials said the dinner in a hotel ballroom was expected to produce between $2.5 and $2.6 million after expenses. The proceeds will be divided evenly among the Republican House campaign committee, Senate campaign committee and national committee after unpaid expenses of the Nixon transition period are covered.

Bail Denied For Huey Newton

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Black Panther founder Huey Newton's request to be freed on bail while appealing his conviction for killing a policeman was rejected yesterday by a federal judge.

Newton's attorney immediately announced he would appeal the decision by U.S. Dist. Judge Alfonso J. Zirpoli, who turned down a petition which claimed the Black Panther was denied bond on arbitrary and racially discriminatory grounds.

Newton, sentenced to 2 to 15 years in prison for voluntary manslaughter in the slaying of Oakland Policeman John Frey, began serving his sentence at Los Padres State Prison last fall.

Judge Zirpoli said, in a six-page opinion, he found nothing of substance in the record of Newton's trial before Alameda County Judge Monroe Friedman to support the contention Newton was denied due process.

Taft Forecasts Action On Fortas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Robert Taft, R-Ohio, has forecast an impeachment move in the House against Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas unless Fortas explains a $20,000 fee offered him by the Louis E. Wolfson family foundation.

"It all depends on what happens in the next few days," Taft said, adding that he doesn't now plan to file such proceedings himself but might later depending on developments.

Taft said he and other House members think Fortas should be given an opportunity to make further explanation of the fee.

Pole Escape Idea For Jumbo Jets

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — How can 500 people get out of a burning airplane on the runway in 90 seconds?

By sliding down poles like firemen, perhaps.

The pole escape technique for those who ride the jumbo jets now under construction was demonstrated by Federal Aviation Administration officials yesterday for the annual meeting of the Aerospace Medical Association.

Over closed circuit television from a gymnasium across town, scientists and doctors saw a telescoping steel pipe swing out from a simulated airplane hatch and extend to the ground.

Ten soldiers wrapped their arms around the pole and slid down in the manner of firemen.

Dr. Stanley R. Mohler of FAA's office of aviation medicine said the experimental device, called "telescape," is far faster than the inflatable chutes carried on today's airliners for quick evacuation of planes on the ground.

Plans call for one of the telescoping poles at each of the 10 doors on tomorrow's giant airliners, or one for every 50 passengers.

Other safety devices demonstrated included:

Survival gear for infants in case of an emergency ditching at sea. The rig consists of a waterproof body stocking suspended from a hooded circular life buoy in which the infant is placed prior to ditching. The stocking is black—a color FAA experts said repels sharks—and is insulated against the cold of northern waters.

A transparent plastic bag for passengers to slip over their heads if smoke gets into the cabin area. A small cannister of oxygen inside the bag will last several minutes, hopefully until the smoke can be vented through the air conditioning system.

Cotati Trustees Revise Policies

The Cotati School board has adopted 15 revised district policies including policies on educational philosophy, teacher evaluation, and bus dropoffs. The board will continue to update other policies from time to time, board secretary Miriam Horne reported.

Trustees on Tuesday also approved an application asking the state's department of Local Assistance to approve a seven classroom addition to Waldo Rohnert School in Rohnert Park.

They hired Carole Otani as second grade teacher at Cotati School at $560 a month to replace Michele Farley who is on maternity leave.

Pilot Plans To Aid Youth In Jet Case

MIAMI (AP) — Pilot Harry Davis says he'll go wherever necessary to "help make a good citizen" out of a youth who held a knife to his back and ordered his jetliner to Cuba seven months ago.

"I think he'll be all right now and I think he can be channeled toward becoming a good citizen," said the 47-year-old National Airlines captain.

The youth, Michael A. Peparo, 21, of Cold Spring, N.Y. and his 18-year-old girl friend, Tasmine Fitzgerald of Poughkeepsie, N.Y., were found guilty of interfering with the crew of an airliner in flight and were sentenced yesterday to indeterminate confinement in federal prison. Court officials said they could serve from three months to six years in prison.

Charges of air piracy against the two were dropped.

"I will go to this boy wherever he is confined and continue to try to help him," Davis told U.S. Dist. Court Judge C. Clyde Atkins.

Davis, father of four children, told a newsman he decided he'd help the then long-haired Peparo minutes after the youth barged into his cockpit Sept. 4 with a paring knife in one hand and an insect spray can in the other.

Conservation-Backed Bay Plan Advances

C. Dolwig, R-San Mateo, is expected to hear his own bill on Tuesday when the committee meets at 9:30 a.m. in the Capitol. His bill, as introduced, was tailored to meet plans by the Leslie Salt Co., owner of 50,000 acres of salt ponds, according to major conservation groups.

Last night's vote was a bipartisan rejection of the Mulford bill, which was strongly backed by the Reagan administration as a necessary compromise with bay fill interests. Terming his bill "an insurance policy if all else fails," Mulford unsuccessfully urged the committee to approve both bills.

The committee agreed with Mulford, however, that differences between the final BCDC bills by each house will have to be resolved in a closed conference committee.

Knox, arguing for his bill's provision that the Legislature adopt the BCDC master plan for the bay, said the attorney general and legislative counsel had advised him that this provision "would be of substantial assistance in defending against a legal attack on the regulatory power of the agency."

He did not mention, however, that the opinion concluded that "in the case of San Francisco Bay there can be little doubt of the reasonable basis for control over filling and dredging" without legislative adoption of the plan.

Last night's hearing flushed out spokesmen for the three major owners of bay lands. Previously their opposition to all but the weakest bay bills had been kept backstage. Each praised the need for keeping the BCDC alive, but pleaded that its jurisdiction hsould not affect their own plans for extensive development on bay fill.

Harry A. Jackson Jr., secretary and counsel of Leslie Salt Co., said that the BCDC plan's inclusion of the salt ponds was "a newly contrived definition of the bay system." Disputing the BCDC's finding that the water surface in the salt ponds helps inhibit air pollution and moderate the weather, Jackson insisted they "have no measurable effect on weather."

He also attacked the plan as "an absurdly frivolous application of conservation" that failed to set aside enough bay land for industrial and residential development. The plan was "a 'no vacancy' sign to the rest of the nation," Archer declared, adding "we doubt that such narcissism could succeed."

Richard J. Archer, one of the six lobbyists for Westbay Community Associates, owner of 10,000 acres along the bay in San Mateo County, claimed the plan would cost at least $623 million in initial capital costs plus $42 million a year in operating costs to buy land designated for public use.

"We must look for a balance, not a blind subservience to nature," Archer said, adding that the Knox bill "would permanently foreclose our development."

When Knox asked him if he had read the bill, Archer said "I think I have — but I've read so many that I am not sure." Instead of the plan, Archer said, the BCDC should be guided by a policy of allowing private development "in an economic way consistent with economic factors."

"In other words," said Knox, "you want a bill in which the Legislature makes it clear that Westbay can go ahead with its plan."

To the laughter of the audience, Archer responded that "it is my understanding that BCDC would not approve our plan, but we could get it through the county government."

The last of the big three was the Santa Fe Railway Co., represented by its general attorney, John Balluff. Santa Fe owns 2,500 acres on the bay between Oakland and Richmond.

He attacked the plan as an "unforgiveable expropriation of private land completely foreign to our legal system and our culture that would be new in the annals of this state." Extension of BCDC's jurisdiction to the shoreline band, he argued, "would create conflict between the cities and the commission."

The plan "does not provide for the flexibility of permissible uses which is required to ensure appropriate shoreline development," Balluff said.

But BCDC chairman Melvin B. Lane, said that without control over shoreline development the commission "would make a much poorer use of the bay."

The only other opponent of the Knox bill was Walter Abernathy, assistant executive director of the Port of Oakland, which has plans for extensive bay fill to expand its facilities. The plan would set up "a gigantic administrative monstrosity," he said.

Former Marin supervisor Peter H. Behr, speaking for the Citizens Alliance to Save San Francisco Bay, figured that Leslie Salt's plan to house 60,000 people on 4,200 acres at Redwood City would work out to 644,000 people if the same plan was extended to all of its property on the bay. The plan was "not only reasonable, but a balanced compromise not to the liking of many conservationists," Behr said.

Dwight Steele, chairman of the Sierra Club's save the bay campaign, also criticized the plan. It should not have provided for shops and hotels on bay fill, or for electric transmission lines, bridges and a supertanker facility, he said. Also, it did not bar drilling for oil and gas, Steele said.

William Evers, a member of the BCDC, but speaking for the Planning and Conservation League, warned that the Senate may "play with" the bill by changing the makeup of the BCDC to ensure domination by fill interests, but Knox said "we're not getting into that."

Ronald Clement, vice president of the National Audubon Society, declared that the importance of the Knox bill showed that "conservation is no longer for the birds."

Spokesmen for 11 other groups also spoke in favor of the Knox bill.

assistant Secretary of State for East Asian and Pacific affairs, will replace Ambassador William H. Sullivan who has resigned.

The President also tapped St. Louis banker Carl O. Kamp, Jr., to be a member of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board for the remainder of the term expiring June 30, 1970. Kamp, 44, president and director of the Conservative Federal Savings and Loan Association of St. Louis, succeeds John E. Horne who resigned.

White House aides said there was a possibility Nixon would send to Congress Friday another in his series of messages outlining his domestic policies.

It was expected to deal with unemployment and increased benefits for low-income workers under the unemployment insurance program.

It was in the past two weeks that Nixon has asked Congress for legislation on income tax reform, crime prevention, obscenity, and food for the hungry. And he is expected to round out his domestic program with several other messages within the next few weeks. Nixon arrived at his vacation compound just south of Miami Beach at 1:30 a. m. after attending a GOP fund-raising gala in his honor in Washington Wednesday night.

late for him. Part of this, friends say, is because of the medications he takes for the arthritis in his right hip, for the intestinal ailments that sometimes plague him, for the dizziness he often suffers.

He used to say his brisk morning walks kept him fit and he hoped it would prevent arthritis from crippling him as it did his sister. But a few years ago, because of the dizzy spells, he had to abandon the walks.

He was never a big eater, and the lack of exercise shrunk his appetite further. His weight, friends say, is about 125 pounds —50 pounds under his presidential weight.

During the winter he began walking again—first around the block, then several blocks—with his long-time bodyguard Mike Westwood. A close friend said he has not seen Truman look better in years than he does right now—after three weeks in the Florida sun. The walks are almost routine again, but not as far, as brisk or as early.

Three mornings a week he dictates letters to Rose Conway, his secretary from White House days. Except for the recent visit by President Richard M. Nixon — when Truman was given his old White House piano — the former president has not gone to the Truman Library in two and one-half years. The library, with a wing added recently, had been Truman's biggest source of pride as well as his office and receiving place for important visitors, since it was built in 1957.

Nowadays, after getting an okay from Mrs. Truman, VIP's come to the Truman home. They rarely stay more than a half hour. Mrs. Truman sees to that.

Mrs. Truman, only nine months younger than the former president, has a noon-to-seven maid during the week but cooks Truman's breakfast and lunch and does all the marketing.

Long car rides tire the former president now, so he has abandoned the Sunday trips over the roads he laid out in the 1920s as county judge. But he goes to market—with Mrs. Truman at the wheel—and waits in the car while she shops.

They celebrate their 50th anniversary on June 28.

Even at 85, Truman continues to be concerned with the peace of the world. He gets briefings from the White House liaison office set up originally by President Lyndon B. Johnson and continued by Nixon.

He also takes a lively interest in the Harry S Truman Center for the Advancement of Peace at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem. The center, which will have Chief Justice Earl Warren as chairman and former U.N. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg as chairman of the board of trustees, will be dedicated in July.

And history, Truman's first love, continues to absorb his interest.

Truman's fourth book—a study of presidents from George Washington through Franklin Delano Roosevelt—is nearing completion. In it, friends say, he makes a personal assessment of each man. Truman's first book was a personal account of his own presidency, the second and third were memoirs.

The former president once said he "can't see any difference between the 80s and the 60s —a man is as young as he feels and a woman is as young as she looks."

He was asked how long he wanted to live.

"As long," he said, "as my think-tank works and my legs stand up. When they're finished, then I'll depart."

San Rafael High Begins Vote Pitches

Campaigns for election to student offices at San Rafael High School opened today with competition for almost every office.

Elections for the student posts for next fall will be held from May 19 to 22, with victors to be announced May 22, according to Don Waxman, student director of elections.

Seeking the post of student body president are Mitch Grandi, Rick Haenggi, Lee Harris and Tony Salin, Waxman reported.

Vice presidential candidates are Bebe Anderson, Rick Scatena, Derek Taylor, Tony Vidal and Lowell Widmer.

Hub Resident Hurt In Wreck

A San Anselmo girl was reported in good condition today at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Francisco with injuries suffered yesterday when a motorcycle skidded into a guard rail on the Highway 101-Sir Francis Drake Boulevard connector in Greenbrae, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Kathleen Burch, 18, of 72 Mariposa Avenue, was admitted with a broken right thumb and right wrist and cuts on the right knee and hip.

She was a passenger on a motorcycle driven by William G. Relihan, 22, of 126 Suffield Avenue, San Anselmo, when it hit the rail at 2:35 p.m., the patrol said. Relihan was treated at Marin General Hospital for cuts on the right arm and leg.

UNREST

against five Negro students. In turn, protest over that action led to the occupation of Willard Straight Hall April 19-20 by Negro students who emerged carrying guns.

At Howard University in Washington, D.C., the faculty has voted to close the school indefinitely as several dozen students continued to occupy six campus buildings demanding more control over faculty hiring.

There was a brief occupation of the registrar's office at the University of California at San Diego: counterdemonstrators threw eggs and tomatoes at Duke University students protesting ROTC; and the 400-member faculty of Pratt Institute in New York struck over the school's antiprotest policies.

At Dartmouth, where 55 students were arrested by police to end a sit-in early yesterday, a pajama-clad dean convinced a group of chanting demonstrators to leave his door last night.

About 200 students demonstrated first outside the home of President John Sloan Dickey with signs calling for abolition of ROTC and amnesty for those arrested.

At New Orleans, about 280 National Guards were stationed today near the small branch campus of Southern University where students planned a rally in support of a suspended political science professor.

At East Orange, N.J., a group of white students left the Upsala College business office this morning, 18 hours after they seized it in a demand for more student involvement in college affairs.

About 50 Negro students who police said were armed with clubs took over Raubinger Hall on the Paterson State College campus in Wayne, Ind. today. The occupation followed a two-day sit-in at the president's office to back demands for more black studies and increased black enrollment.

In Connecticut, about 100 students at the University of Bridgeport seized a university office builidng late last night to protest construction of a new dormitory on campus. They said it would mean an end to the present system of off-campus living.

At the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Cambridge, classes were to be suspended again today to allow students and faculty to discuss issues involving the campus and society.

Student questioning of MIT's link with Defense Department research programs led to faculty approval for suspension of classes Wednesday and today.

Cotati Denies Use Permit For Auto Yard

The Cotati Planning Commission last night denied a use permit for an auto dismantling yard after protests were heard from many citizens and organizations.

The commission voted unanimously to deny the request of Gary Sterner and Edgar Lancaster to operate the yard on east Cotati Avenue at the edge of the city.

Protests were received from groups with a major complaint filed by Sonoma State College charging the auto wrecking yard would detract from the appearance of the entrance to the school. Citizens, recalling an unsightly auto yard at the site previously, voiced strong protests.

The Cotati Planning Commission also:

CAR LOT — Approved the use permit application of Robert L. Elliott to operate a used car lot at 7981 Redwood Highway.

SWORE IN — Gave oath of office to Donald Leivas, a new council appointee to the commission. Leivas's term will run until 1971.

'LONG LIVE THE STRIKE'

Record Value On Utilities Properties

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The state Board of Equalization yesterday placed a record $13.17 billion market value on the operating properties of California's 10 major privately owned public utilities.

The board also dropped by 2 per cent to 33 per cent its assessed ratio on state-regulated utilities for 1969-70 assessment rolls as it moved toward meeting a state requirement that all property be assessed at 25 per cent of market value by 1971.

The record valuation for the 10 utilities was up $650 million from a year ago. But due to the lower assessment ratio the aggregate assessed value for the companies will be $37 million lower than a year ago.

The companies and their valuations, with last year's valuations in parentheses, are:

Pacific Gas & Electric Co., $3.52 billion ($3.46 billion); Pacific Lighting Corp., $795 million ($771 million); San Diego Gas & Electric Co., $403 million ($371 million); Southern California Edison, $2.75 billion ($2.309 billion); General Telephone Co. of California, $1.125 billion ($1 billion);

Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., $4,135 billion, ($3.923 billion); Atchison Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Co., $150 million, ($143 million); Southern Pacific Co., $457 million, ($434 million); Union Pacific Railroad Co., $56 million, ($53 million); and Western Pacific Railroad Co., $55 million, ($54 million).

Bolinas Ridge Cases Moved To San Rafael

The cases of four men arrested May 1 in connection with demonstrations at the Bolinas Ridge logging site were transferred to courts in San Rafael yesterday by Judge David R. Baty of the Northwest Marin Justice Court at Point Reyes Station.

In making the transfer, Judge Baty warned Bennett D. King, 18, of 28 Glen Court, Sausalito, and David L. Horowitz, 18, of 200 Ethel Avenue, Mill Valley, not to attend a picnic planned by demonstrators at the Righetti ranch, site of the logging, on Sunday.

King and Horowitz were given permission yesterday to transfer their case to Marin County Juvenile Court.

Also transferred, though the men didn't appear, were the cases of Leslie A. Ferris, 18, of Overlook Road and Elm Drive, Bolinas, to Juvenile Court and Keith R. Lampe, 37, of Berkeley, to Marin Municipal Court.

All four were booked May 1 in Marin County Jail on investigation of refusing to disperse and all, except Ferris, were also booked for investigation of blocking a roadway.

Lampe is to appear at 9:15 a.m., May 19, to enter plea in Municipal Court, clerk Stella Phillipscheck reported. No dates have been set for the others to appear in Juvenile Court.

Death For Victim Of Drug Fight

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A 17-year-old high school dropout shot in what witnesses described as a fight over narcotics died yesterday.

Robert Hartzer, 17, was wounded in the head Monday in a park across from Lincoln High School.

Police announced McKinley Hall, 19, would be charged with murder in the shooting. Eight high school students identified him as the gunman who shot Hartzer in a quarrel over "reds"—Nembutal capsules.

Speakers Stolen

Airlines Ask East-Pacific Route Links

WASHINGTON KUPI)—United Airlines and Amercan Airlines filed bids today with the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) for routes to link the East Coast and the Midwest with the South Pacific.

American asked the board to approve routes to connect Boston, Buffalo, Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit, New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Washington with Hawaii, American Samoa, Fiji, and Australia.

American's brief was submitted in response to President Nixon's request in the transpacific case that the CAB "recommend a carrier to serve the East Coast, the Midwest and the South Pacific" using a route that would bypass California.

In its filing, United asked approval for routes to link Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Washington, Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Buffalo, Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, and Kansas City with Hawaii, the Society Island, American Samoa, Fiji, New Zealand, and Points in Australia.

At the same time, United urged the board to hold more hearings on the transpacific route case.

United said the hearings were needed to resolve conflicts between the mainland-Hawaii awards made by the CAB in the domestic phase of the transpacific case, and the across-the-Pacific awards made by Nixon.

United said changes made by Nixon in the original across-the-Pacific awards approved by former President Lyndon B. Johnson now conflict with the CAB's mainland-Hawaii route awards.

Woman Reports Highway Threats

A woman hitchhiker who accepted a ride from San Francisco to Marin from a man Tuesday told sheriff's officers that he threatened her if she resisted his advances, made while driving on Highway 101, officers said today.

He also hit her with his fist, she said, when she resisted him, but when she attempted to attract attention near the Tiburon turnoff, he let her out of the car.

Deputies said they are looking for the owner of the car. The woman was able to note the license number.

Two Key Public Works Aides To Private Business

Two key men in the Marin County Department of Public Works will resign to enter private employment within a month.

Michael F. King, deputy director of public works under Donald R. Frost, will quit his job May 16. He has been with the department for four and a half years.

King will join the Bigge Crane and Rigging Co. of San Leandro, and his first job will take him to a project in Hawaii beginning May 25. King, his wife and their four children will move to Hawaii.

"It just looked like a good opportunity," said King. "I just wanted to take a look at some other line of work."

William L. Hess of Novato, assistant director of public works, who has been with the county for two years, will quit June 13 to become a partner of civil engineer Philip B. Lygren, who has his office in Northgate Industrial Park.

"It was an opportunity to become a principal in our own firm," said Hess.

Their resignations came at nearly the same time by coincidence, the two men explained. Hess and King said they were happy with county work but wanted to get into private engineering work.

Frost has asked the county personnel department to begin recruiting candidates to replace the two men.

Group Maps Attacks On Pollution Evils

Ernest Maris is a 26-year-old Kentfiled resident who believes man is slowly destroying his environment. Ever sine he was a boy, Maris said, thoughts of the loss of wildlife and landscape "emotionally bothered me."

Finally, Maris decided to act. He has formed a group of about 10 persons which seeks not only to educate the public about the quality of their environment but to correct some of the damage that has been done to nature.

This Saturday and Sunday, at 8:30 a.m., Maris and his group will lead other volunteers to Strawberry Point on Richardson Bay for a beach cleanup. Maris hopes it will be the first of a series of cleanups that will take the group all the way around San Francisco Bay.

"We hope to have work going on every weekend until the bay's clean," said Maris, bearded and sandy-haired. "If it doesn't get off the first time, I hope we'll really be rolling by the second or third time."

Maris calls his group Terra Nova, or New Earth. He said it is a nonprofit association dedicated to "experiments in social, ecological and technical change" and to "developing an awareness of the responsibility of people for the quality of their environment."

Because of short-sighted planning, Maris complained, California has lost one-fifth of its agricultural land since 1946. "Concrete has been poured into the soil and it's been rendered unfit by chemicals," he said.

"There is work for people on every beach, marsh, mudflat and shelf that comprise the 267 miles of shoreline in San Francisco Bay," he said. "There is work for people in every park in every city in the Bay Area. There is work for people in every national park and forest in California cleaning up campsites and roadsides. Our land is what we make it."

Maris asked volunteers to assemble at the College Avenue parking lot at the College of Marin at 8:30 a.m. Saturday and Sunday, when a car pool will leave for Strawberry Point. Volunteers should bring work gloves, shovels, rakes and sacks or cartons.

Beyond the bay cleanup, Maris would like to produce a floating street fair and theater aboard a rented craft to focus on environmental problems and to drive a bus around the Bay Area to dispense information on the evils of such threats as water and air pollution.

Health Officers' Report On Diseases

Seventy-four cases of streptococcus, 32 of them in Novato, were reported to the Marin County Public Health Department last week, Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, health officer, has reported.

There were also 17 cases of gonorrhea; two of infectious hepatitis; and one each of mumps, tuberculosis, serum hepatitis and German measles.

Shoreline School Board Hires One-Day Consultant

The Shoreline Unified School District board last night approved the one-day employment of Robert Reeder, superintendent of the Hughson, Stanislaus County, high school district, as a consultant on individualized instruction.

Shoreline Supt. Charles E. McCully said Reeder to receive $100 on May 22 will discuss with Shoreline trustees and staff the innovative individualized instruction program currently underway in the Hughson School District.

The Hughson program will be studied to see if any of the methods developed there can be applied to Shoreline schools, officials indicated.

The Shoreline Unified School Board Also:

CALENDAR—Adopted a 1969-70 school calendar of 170 days running from Sept. 2 to June 2.

INSURANCE—Discussed specifications for a district-wide insurance program for employees and instructed school officals to get price quotations based on the specifications.

SALARIES—Adopted the existing Tomales High School classified salary schedule for the entire Shoreline district, thereby putting all elementary school employees on the schedule. McCully said the net increase in salary expenditures as a result of the action, including increment increases, would total $2,500.

ATTENDANCE — Granted inter-district attendance request for Jennifer Telford to attend San Rafael High School next year.

EMPLOYMENT — Approved the hiring for the 1969-70 school year Dorothea Smith, kindergarten, at a salary of $9,487; Mrs. Dixie Henry, educationally handicapped classes, $8,218; Davis Danielson, Tomales High School, $7,818.

EXTRA DUTY—Approved salaries for extra duty positions which would provide coaches extra pay based on 2 per cent of their base pay and the number of hours per day and days per year worked at extra assignments. Approved a rate of $6 per hour for drivers training instructors.

Rancher Says Dogs Hurt Sheep

An Inverness rancher filed a complaint in Northwest Marin Justice Court at Point Reyes Station yesterday stating that Mrs. Rochell Harringer of Inverness permitted her two dogs to kill three and injure 26 of his sheep, clerk Stella Phillipscheck reported today.

Ernest Ward, who leases the Heims Ranch, located four miles southwest of Inverness, from Point Reyes National Seashore, told the court that Mrs. Harringer's two afghan dogs had killed the sheep, injured two which had to be subsequently destroyed, and injured 24 others about last Thursday.

Mrs. Harringer is to appear in court at 9:30 a.m., May 14.

Senior Citizens Fete In Marin City

Raceway, Film Firm Talking Of Merger

Sears Point International Raceway, the motor sports complex opened last March in southern Sonoma County, may be merged into a prominent television and motion picture firm, if negotiations now under way are completed.

Robert D. Marshall Jr., president of Sears Point International which has its offices in San Rafael, said an agreement in principle has been reached between the directors of his company and Filmways, Inc. for the acquisition of the race track by Filmways.

He said discussions are still under way and when exact terms have been agreed upon the merger will be submitted to Sears Point stockholders for approval. Marshall declined to state the amount of money under consideration, but said an exchange of stock will probably be involved, with Sears Point becoming a wholly owned subsidiary of Filmways.

Filmways, a Delaware corporation with its principal offices in New York and Los Angeles, is known for the production of such television series as Beverly Hillbillies, Petticoat Junction, Green Acres and the Steve Allen Show. It is also the owner of three recently acquired television stations and at one time became interested in the Ontario Motor Speedway in Southern California but withdrew before construction started. Its stock is listed on the American Stock Exchange.

The Sears Point complex takes in 640 acres near the junction of Highways 121 and 37. It has acquired national championship racing dates from the National Hot Rod Association, Sports Car Club of America, the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing and the American Motorcycle Association.

Part of the property is planned to be devoted to public skeet and trap shooting, a large restaurant and banquet facility, motels and other services. Its stock is traded over the counter.

Pair Caught With Bag Of Silverware

Two rather lackadaisical San Rafael men were booked into Marin County Jail yesterday after they were found in San Anselmo with a pillowcase full of apparently stolen silverware and jewelry, police said today.

Paul Danny Cassidy, 22, of 1135 Fourth Street, and George Edward Myers, 22, of 35 Martins Boulevard, were jailed on suspicion of possession of stolen goods and for outstanding traffic warrants. They remained in jail today in lieu of $6,250 bail each.

They acted as if they wanted to be arrested, said police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani.

Officer David Oliva asked the men for identification at 5:45 p.m. after seeing them at 34 Greenfield Avenue with a bulging white pillowcase on the ground between them.

Questioned, Myers produced two credit cards in the name of Robert C. Caughell of 10 Marina Court, San Rafael, police said.

Officers checked with the San Rafael Police Department and learned that Caughell's home had been broken into.

Included in the loot found on Myers and in the pillowcase were items that had the name, Caughell, taped to them.

The items included two gold rings, cuff links, a gold pocket watch, 31 forks, 31 spoons, 17 knives and several pieces of large silverware, police said. Value of the items was not immedicately determined.

Myers told officers he got the jewelry and silver "from a person named Joe."

House Ransacked

James Tan of 106 Highland Lane, Mill Valley, reported to sheriff's deputies Tuesday his house had been ransacked and a camera and diamond ring taken, officers said today.

Arts Center At Bayside School Wins

A use variance was granted the Sausalito Arts Association last night by the Sausalito Planning Commission to allow use of old Bayside School as an arts center.

The arts association plans to hold its Fall Arts Festival there, and to have studios, seminars, art classes and exhibits in the former school, which it has leased from the Sausalito School District.

On Loyal Davis's request, the commission postponed to June 4 his application for a conditional use permit for construction of a 19-unit apartment in Marina Vista subdivision.

The Sausalito Planning Commission also:

PROFESSIONAL CENTER — Granted a variance allowing 85 per cent lot coverage for the Caledonia Professional Center building to be built at Johnson and Caledonia streets.

DESIGNER—Approved establishment by Mrs. William McDermott of an apparel design office at 42 Caledonia Street.

STUDIO—Granted a variance to allow building a studio room at a residence at 292 Glen Drive.

LOT SPLIT—Approved an application by John Barron to split a 29,850 square foot lot at Cazneau Avenue and Glen Drive into three parcels.

PARKING--Recommended the City Council amend the parking ordinance to allow the commission to set higher off-street parking requirements if a particular use requires it.

Ethnics Check Started In Sonoma State Voting

Sonoma State College students yesterday elected student body officers, but members of the student directors and elections committee huddled to determine the validity of voting in the runoff and ethics of campaign techniques.

In unofficial vote results, Jon Owen of San Rafael was elected as student body president with 475 votes, defeating Robert Fortune of Petaluma, 393 votes.

In the runoff for chairman of the board, Jon Callaway with 484 votes defeated Stefan Bosworth with 363. For academic vice president, Richard E. Saarinen defeated Frances Hus 488 to 370. For treasurer, Tom Rollins won by 532 to 318 over Fred Vajda.

In the runoff for senate representatives from the English Department, the winners were Pat Cunningham witth 33 votes and Sandy Zimmerman with 28. Candidates Joe Jeromy received 25 and Patrick McCuster, 23.

The student board of directors Tuesday fired elections commissioner James S. Dierke after he refused to enforce new, relaxed voting regulations. The directors revised the rules so that students could vote without presenting official identification cards.

Dierke had charged the relaxed voting regulations were engineered by candidates Fortune and Vajda, both members of the board.

The directors today said they would review the voting procedure and also investigate charges against Owen concerning illegalites in his campaign literature.

Negligence Is Worst Cause Of Blazes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—The primary cause of house fires in Ohio can be attributed to negligence, Roger A. Miller, agricultural engineer at Ohio State University said in a recent report.

A survey of more than 8,000 reports of residence fires shows 26 per cent were caused by "human failure," Miller said.

"People living in the house did not eliminate existing fire hazards," he explained.

Curfew Assists Traffic Control

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI)—The teen-age curfew established during riots in April, 1968, is still in use in this capital city—to ease traffic congestion.

The curfew prohibits anyone under 18 from being on the streets after 10 p.m. Sunday through Thursday and after 11 p.m. Friday through Saturday.

Police say they are "strictly" enforcing it to ease traffic tieups caused by young motorists cruising downtown streets.

High-Level Teachers No. 1 Survey Item

Preliminary results of a survey taken by the Reed School District Parents Club, have been presented to the school district board.

Margaret Jones, representing the parents club, said final tabulations would be available next week.

Of 2,000 questionaires distributed to parents, some 855 or 44 per cent, have been tabulated, Mrs. Jones said Monday night. Parents received one questionnaire for each child in the district, resulting in some families having a greater weight in the survey, she said.

However, she noted, parents often had differing attitudes about programs for their kindergarten students than for an eighth grade student, for example.

Teacher aides and school bus transportation are the most expendable programs in the district, according to responding parents.

Items which the survey indicated should be retained, in order of preference, were well-trained teachers paid on a competitive basis, small class sizes of at least a 25-1 ratio, large variety of educational materials, a library with a paid professional staff and trained personnel to deal with special problems.

Parents supported individualized instruction and generally indicated support of all specialized programs except Spanish where they were evenly divided among supporters, detractors and those who had no opinion.

As for the controversy over parent conferences replacing report cards, most parents asked for some sort of parent conference program, either combined with a written report, a conference only or an evening conference in which fathers could participate.

Few parents are concerned about long hair or dress styles but they are worried about noise in the classroom, distractions to studying students, courtesy to other children and to adults.

Only 257 parents said they opposed running in the halls while 334 said such a practice was all right.

Most parents said homework, handwriting, neatness in written work, learning how to write paragraphs and written work in general are very important for their children to be exposed to in school while less important were a high ratio of men teachers, the emphasis on children helping other children in the classroom, parent volunteers, field trips and team teachers.

More than 600 parents said parents should pay fees for special foreign language, art and music classes which are offered outside of school hours.

The Reed School District board also:

ENROLLMENT — Heard that the district had a net increase of four students during April.

SALARIES — Heard a request from the Marin County Substitute Teachers Association that the daily substitute teacher salary be increased next year from $24 to $33.

WORKSHOP — Agreed to cosponsor a community workshop on drug abuse at 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. June 7 at a place to be announced.

AUDITOR — Hired Leader, Jarvis and Kegwin, San Rafael accounting firm, to do the district's 1968-69 audit.

PURCHASE — Declined to purchase 1.27 acres adjacent to Granada School for $1,200 but said the board would be willing to accept the property as a gift.

AGREEMENT — Approved the annual agreement with the Marin County Superintendent of Schools Office for the district's educationally handicapped program.

PRINCIPAL — Directed superintendent-elect Robert B. Gaw to screen applicants for a principal position.

REEDLAND WOODS SCHOOL — Awarded a contract for construction of Reedland Woods School to Wayne Pedergraft of San Jose with a low bid of $8[illegible]3,964.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignations of Sandi Bogardus, kindergarten teacher at Granada; Sylvia Essig, Spanish teacher at Del Mar; Bernadette Sherwood, third-fourth grade teacher, Reed; Richard Bradshaw, district library coordinator; Sylvia Stevens, Del Mar art teacher, and Gillespie Baker, Del Mar Spanish teacher.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE — Granted a leave of absence to Harold Bickel, Del Mar counselor, to accept a doctoral fellowship, and extensions of maternity leaves to Joan Peterson and Corinne Greenfield.

AWARDING OF TENURE — Granted tenure to James Allen, Jane Birenbaum, Chris Bogios, Susan Fraser, Charlotte Lamb, Jean Lyons, Martin Magid, Marshal Martin, Barbara Patten, Carol Reyes, Dolores Rudow, Cheryl Schindel and Rosalind Wong.

PROBATIONARY EMPLOYMENT — Reemployed on a probationary basis Julie Askeland, Diane Bright, Patricia Buck, Jean Carroll, Jan Coe, Jane Cope, Kay Doyle, Karen Erickson, Devora Feldman, Rita Goodman, Elaine Grinnel, John Huber, Doris Hunker, Richard Hurley, Kathleen Jensen, James Justeson, Susan Kline, Linda Knowles, John Lisanti, Carol Lodewyks, George Logvy, Phoebe McConnell, Barry McWaters, Sherlene Minton, John Mitchell, Bryce Moore, Katrina Nata, Mary Jo Newell, Susan O'Connor, Annalies Pesl, Ira Potovsky Katherine Polston, Catherine Schlegel, Peter Serences, Barbara Walters and Melvin Wright.

When Rail Tycoons Drove Golden Spike

(Henry G. Hayes of Kentfield, a semi-retired attorney, is attending the Golden Spike Centennial celebration at Promontory, Utah, with more nostalgia than most. Both of his grandfathers were present, as newspaper reporters, for the "wedding of the rails" there 100 years ago.)

By HENRY G. HAYES

May 10, 1969, Promontory Summit, Utah, marks the time and place of the Golden Spike ceremony celebrating the centennial of completion of the first railroad across the continent. It is also an important dateline in the personal history of my family.

Both my grandfathers were present as newspaper reporters at the ceremony 100 years ago, brought there from diverse backgrounds by the dramatic significance of the event. One of my grandfathers, the one for whom I am named, had come to New York from Ireland as a young boy after the disastrous Irish potato famines of 1846-47, had gone into newspaper work, and for much of his life was with the Associated Press. The other grandfather was from a family that had settled in Massachusetts in 1631. A graduate of Yale, he had at various times been lawyer, Civil War colonel, reporter, editor, writer, educator, and European traveller.

Both grandfathers were sophisticated city men, as out of place in the stark deserts of northern Utah as a Paiute Indian of that time would have been in Manhattan. They had been drawn to so unlikely a place as Promontory Summit by the overwhelming importance of the ceremony they witnessed there, which opened a new era of rail travel and trade of seemingly limitless horizons and potentials.

Ground was broken in Sacramento for the Central Pacific on Jan. 8, 1863, when the Civil War was at its height in the East, and within the first 125 miles the railroad was confronted with its greatest challenge in the crossing of the 7,000-foot Sierras. After that obstacle was surmounted by masterful engineering and laborious and painfully slow construction work, the road came down from Donner Summit along the Truckee River.

Crossing Nevada was then comparatively easy, following the Humboldt River and skirting the ends of the desert ranges. From all contemporary accounts the line reached Promontory Summit, 690 miles east of Sacramento, without last-minute catastrophes or major problems.

By contrast the Union Pacific, starting west from Omaha on Dec. 2, 1863, almost a year after the Central Pacific broke ground in Sacramento, had its most serious troubles as it approached the end of its 1,086-mile line.

From an engineering standpoint, going up the wide but gradual rise of the Great Plains, and across the Rockies through the gentle gap of South Pass, posed no special problem, but getting through the Wasatch Mountains in a time of heavy rains and spring floods was something else again. Bridges were swept away, embankments were washed out, temporary trestles were put up that soon crumbled.

A reporter writing from Ogden was highly critical of the makeshift roadbed, and noted that "after I passed over the road on Tuesday two other bridges gave way, making four in all — in 23 miles."

To climax this series of difficulties, vice president T. C. Durant of the Union Pacific, coming west to represent his company at the Golden Spike ceremony, was kidnaped by an angry crowd of construction workers and held for two days until he paid over to them $243,000 in back wages. It is not clear from the news reports how Durant managed to produce this sum on short notice at a remote siding in the Wasatch, but arrangements were apparently satisfactory as he was released to appear later in stovepipe hat and frock coat at the ceremony. The papers briefly noted that although the rails actually met on May 4, the formal ceremony was postponed "because of bad weather conditions in the mountains."

The scene witnessed by my grandfathers at Promontory Summit on May 10, 1869 is preserved in an old wet-glass photograph called "The Wedding of the Rails". This shows locomotive No. 119 from the east and the locomotive "Jupiter" from the west cautiously touching cow-catchers, while crew members lean across to exchange bottles of champagne.

The agenda for the ceremonies included: (1) prayer asking the favor of Heaven on the enterprise, (2) symbolic laying of two rails in opposite directions, (3) presentation of spikes — gold by California, silver by Nevada, copper by Arizona, (4) response by Gov. Leland Stanford for the Central Pacific, (5) response by Gen. Granville Dodge for the Union Pacific (was he pinch-hitting for Durant?), (6) driving of the last spikes by the two companies, "telegraph to be attached to the spike of the Central Pacific Co. and the last blow to announce to the world by telegraph the completion of the Pacific Railroad," (7) telegram to the President of the United States, and (8) telegram to the Associated Press (did my grandfather draft it?).

Tradition has it that Gov. Leland Stanford of California overcome by the excitement of the occasion, missed his final swing at the spike, but that an alert telegraph operator pressed the key anyway to start bells ringing, whistles blowing, cannon booming, and oratory and champagne flowing all over the country.

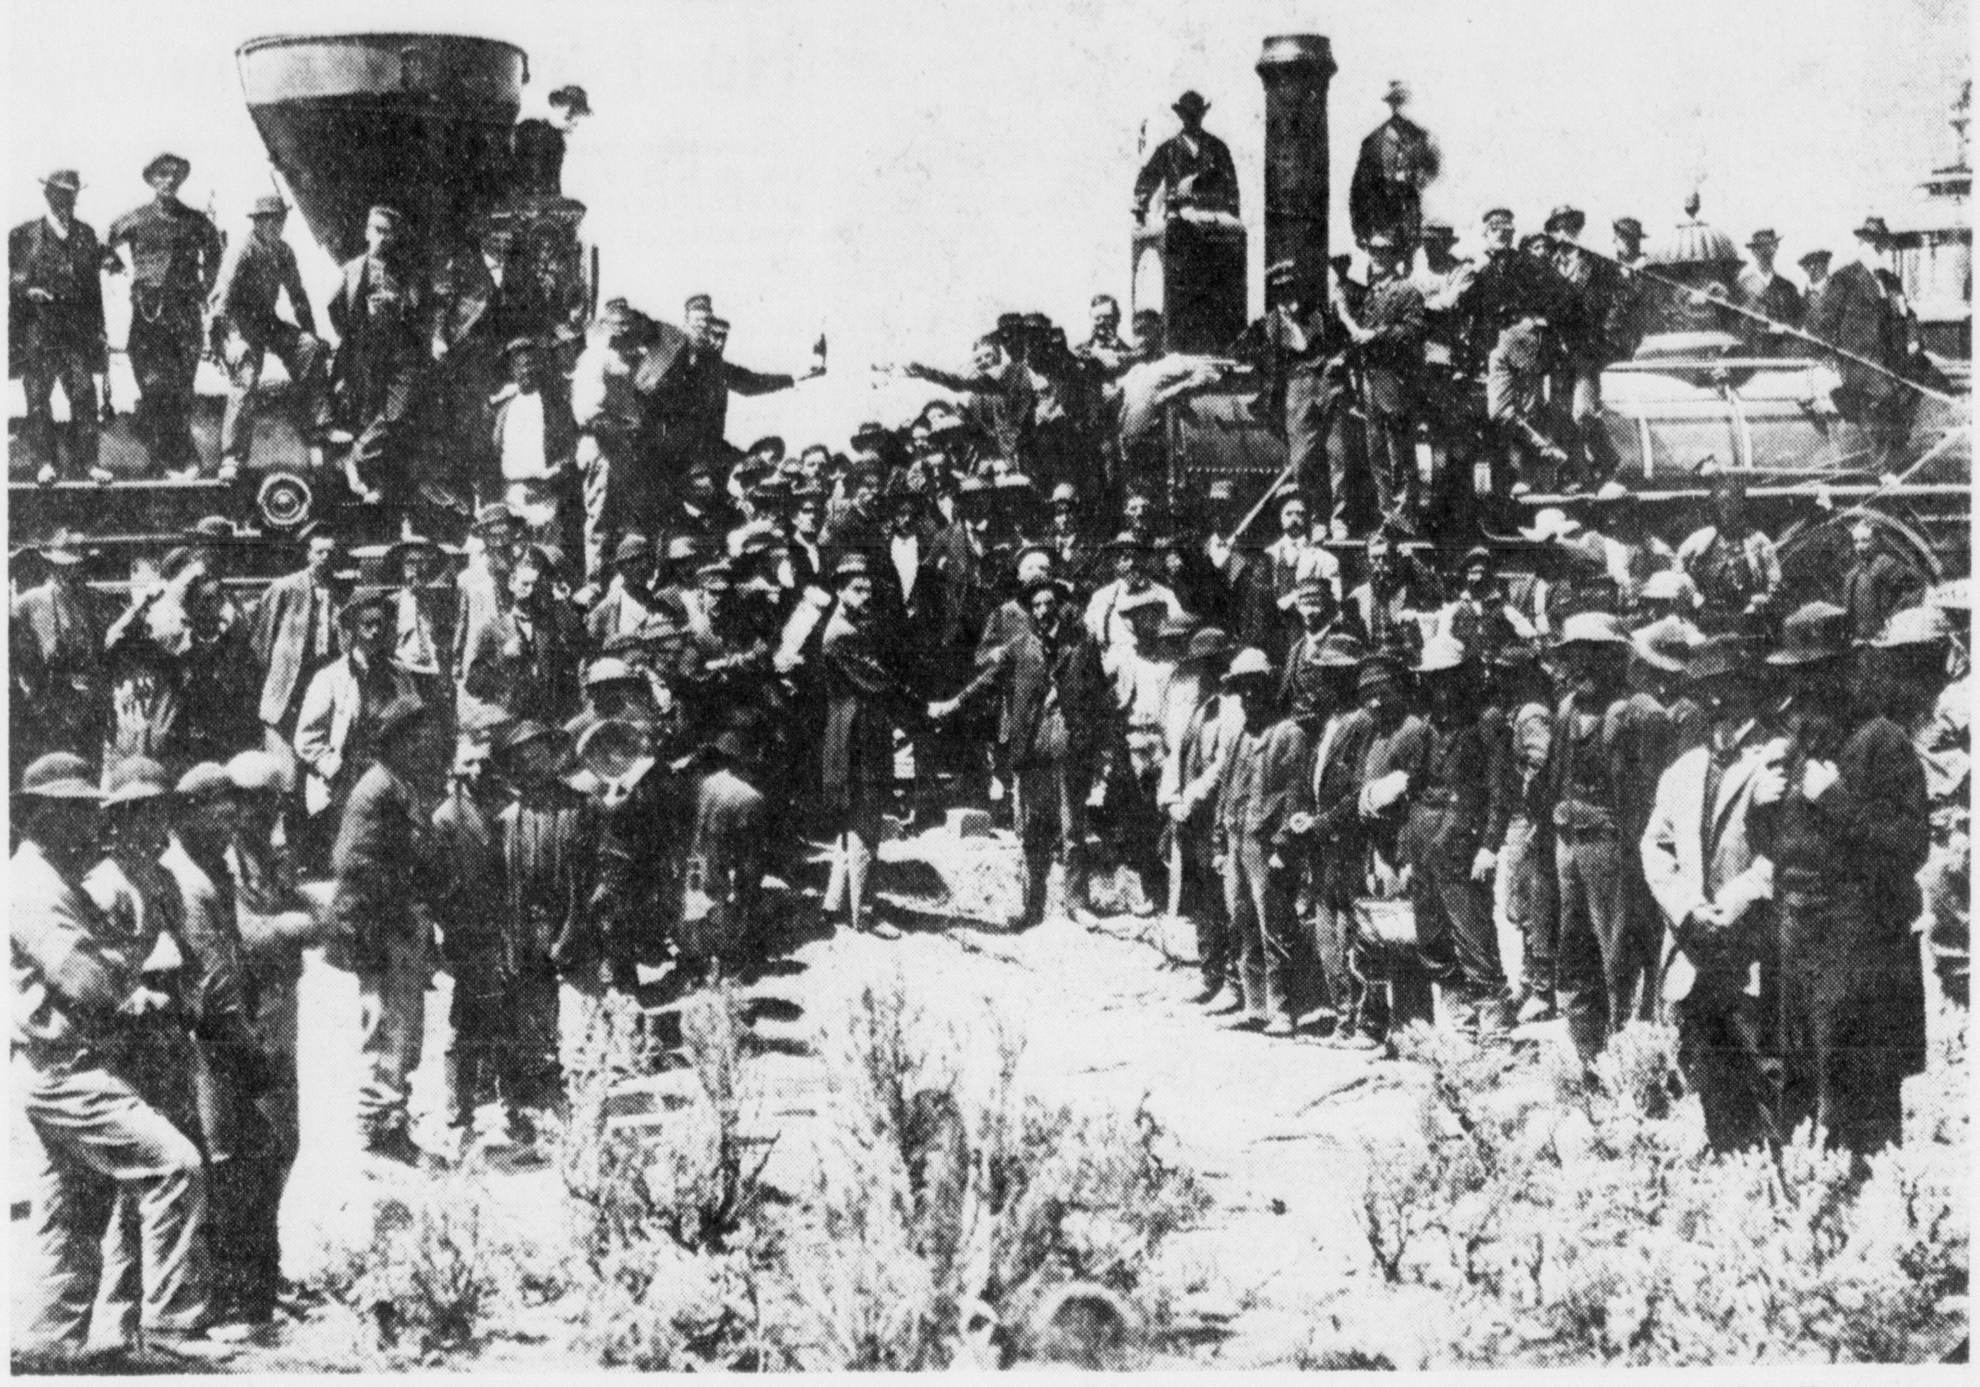
There was a "magnificent" service of thanksgiving in Trinity Church in New York, and special celebrations in Omaha, Chicago, Philadelphia, Washington, Buffalo, and Scranton. Sacramento let loose the whistles of 30 massed locomotives. San Francisco rang every bell in the city, and fired cannon from Fort Point. Also, as reported in the San Francisco Evening Bulletin: "One of the great features of the recent railroad celebration in this city was the magnificent illumination in the evening. Bonfires blazed on the various hilltops and at various points along the most frequented streets. Rockets coursed the heavens until a late hour, and bombs, crackers and torpedoes kept up an incessant rattle. Many private houses were brilliantly illuminated, and in some instances the occupants of dilapitated old shanties testified their appreciation of the great event by placing a single candle in the weather-beaten casement, thus adding their mite to the universal rejoicing".

The New York Times editorialized, with starry-eyed enthusiasm: "The pesent week witnesses the completion of the greatest enterprise ever yet undertaken, whether considered in reference to its extent, its cost, or the beneficent results that are to flow from it — a line of railroad across the continent and uniting ocean with ocean".

And Charles Crocker of the Central Pacific, addressing his fellow citizens in Sacramento on the great day, promised: "And now I wish to say to you and to all our friends that we will put the rates down so as to fill this country full of people. Just as fast as we can get the cars built we will bring them here and fill your valleys and mountains full of people."

Whether or not the rates went down, the Pacific Railroad contributed substantially to the population explosion of the times. Yet despite Crocker's blandishments, neither of my grandfathers returned west after their meeting at Promontory Summit. Both shortly moved with their families from New York to Washington, one to be the congressional reporter for the Associated Press, the other to help establish and guide the Bureau of Education. However, my mother and father, after their marriage in Washington, lived for many years in Hawaii, where my father was a doctor on the Big Island. They traveled every year or so between Hawaii and Washington.

My parents always took the route of the Pacific Railroad between San Francisco and Chicago, and as a child the name "Overland Limited" had an Arabian Nights magic for me.



THE WEDDING OF THE RAILS—This famous photo shows the scene on May 10, 1869, as the Central Pacific's Jupiter (left) and the Union Pacific's No. 119 nosed together where the rails met to complete spanning of the continent by the "iron horse." The men shaking hands in center are chief engineers Grenville Dodge of the UP and Sam Montague of the CP. For many years it was assumed this photo was taken by Charles R. Savage, but the original glass-plate negative was discovered recently among the "lost collection" of photos by Andrew J. Russell, official photographer for the UP.

My grandfathers' and my father's generations are now gone, my own generation is passing, and with these generations have passed the color and the glory and the greatness of the transcontinental rail service inaugurated at Promontory Summit.

I last crossed the continent by train in 1955, and that was primarily to give my own children the fun and experience of a long train trip while one was still readily available. Apart from saving time, I would even now prefer to travel by train, but the railroads are little concerned with holding my interest. Faced with the competitive pressure of the airlines, the railroads have apparently decided as a matter of economics to surrender rather than to fight back. The infinite vistas opened to rail travel in 1869 are now sadly limited, and the airplane is destroying the passenger train as surely as the passenger train destroyed the stage-coach.

Promontory itself is no longer on a railroad (the rails were torn up for scrap in 1942), or even on a main highway. Under all these circumstances, what can the Golden Spike Centennial Celebration on May 10, 1969, at Promontory, Utah, have to offer?

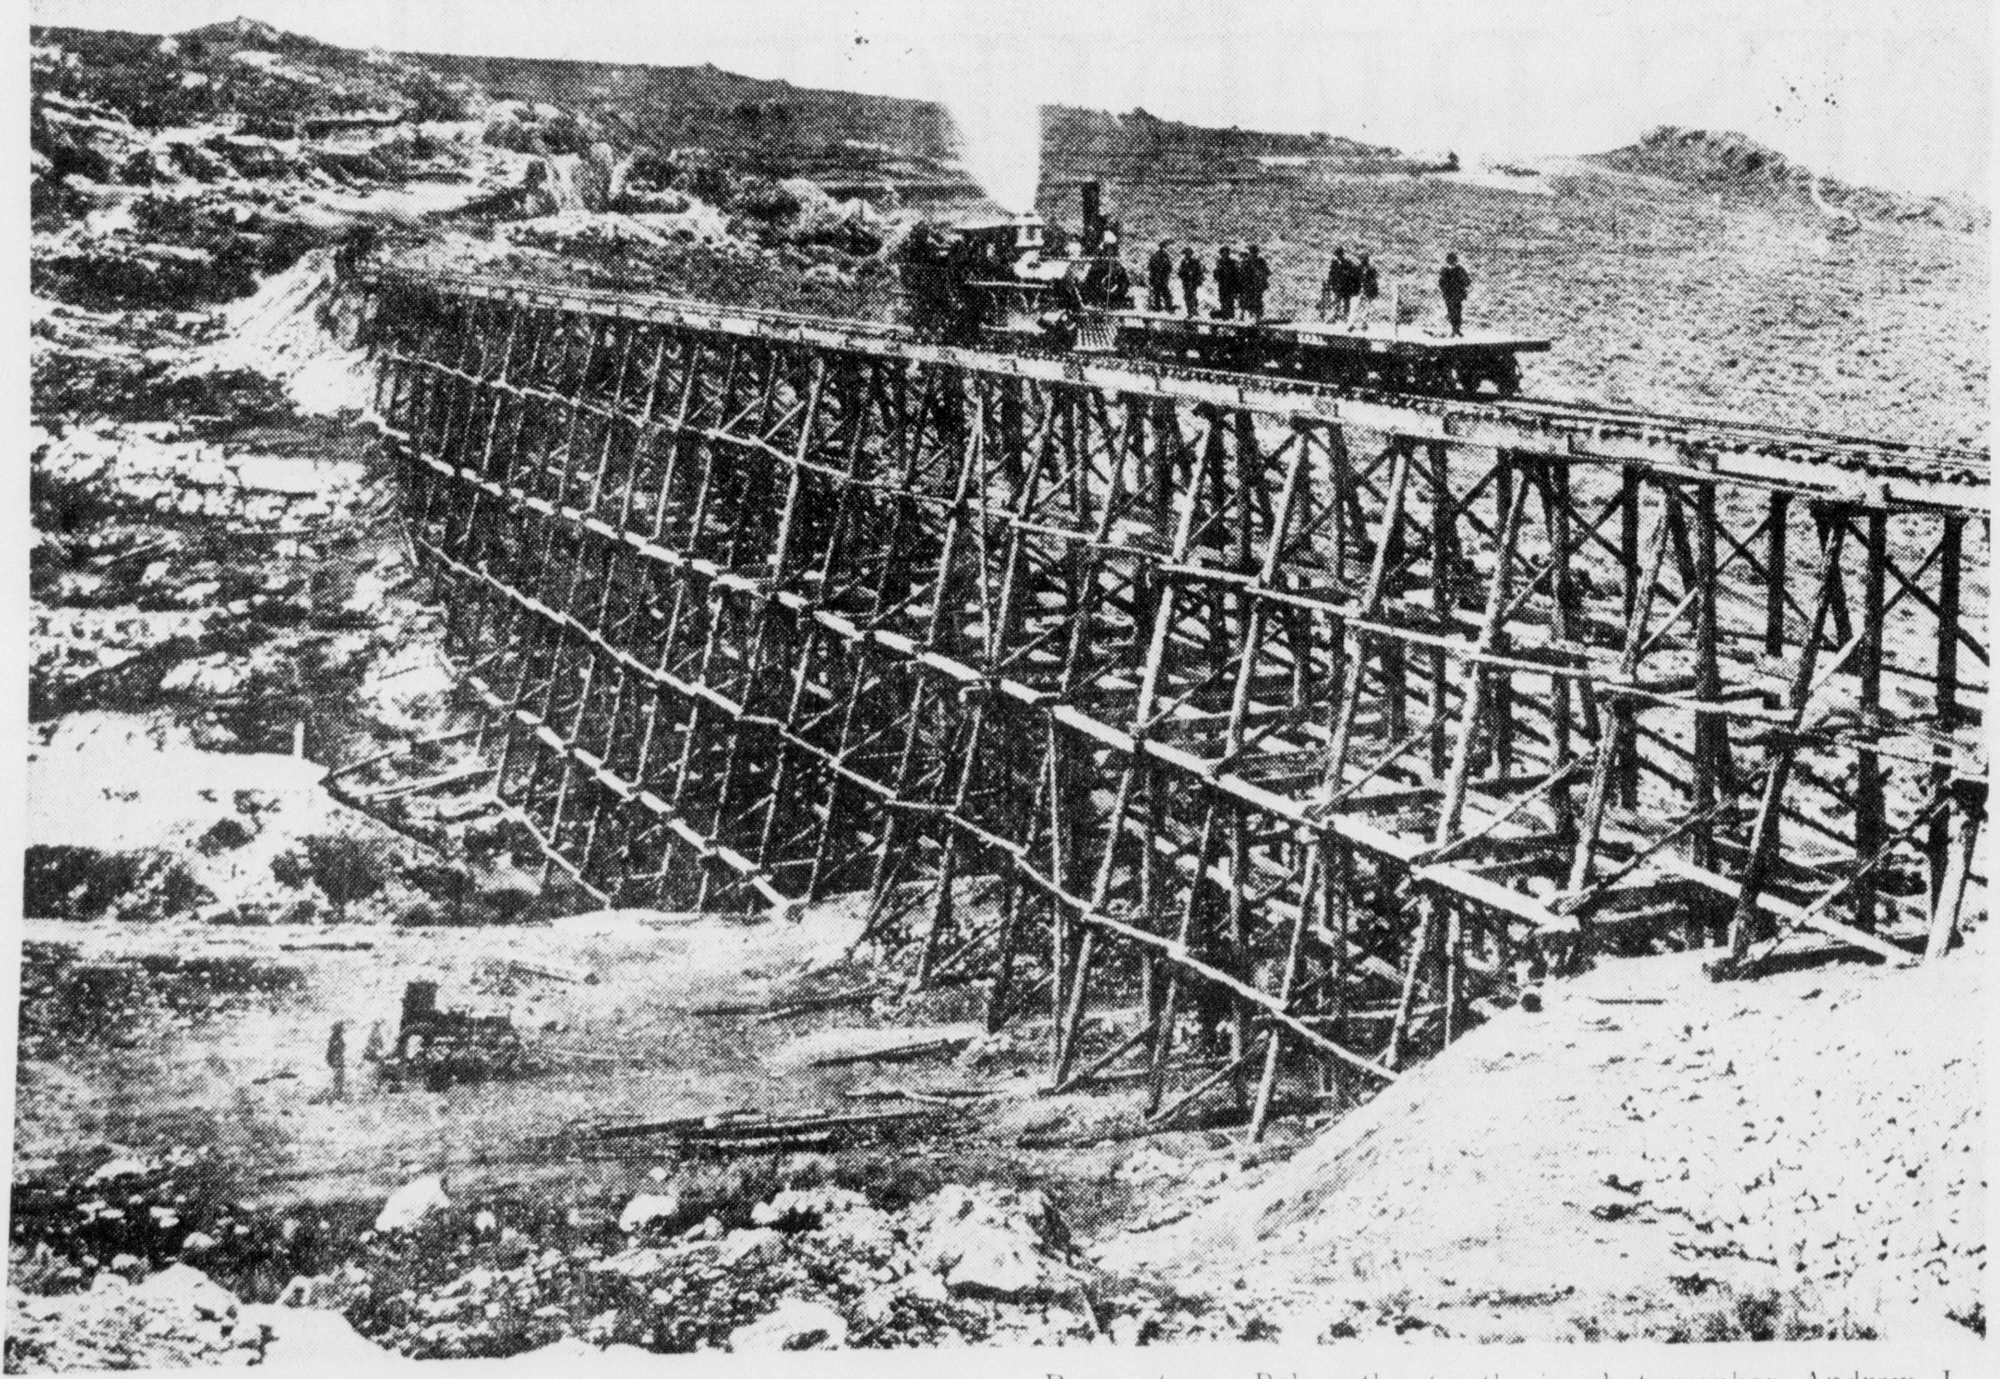
Americans, and particularly western Americans, love parades and bands and county fairs and picnics and people. Americans, and particularly western Americans, love to be reminded of their sturdy pioneer past, of the rigors of frontier life, of the drive of Manifest Destiny, of the American Heritage, or even of just "the good old days". And Chambers of Commerce and service clubs gladly promote occasions when Americans, and particularly western Americans, can enjoy these things that they love.

I am glad that I am here at Promontory, Utah, as a third generation Hayes, to stand where my grandfathers stood a 100 years ago. The setting of sagebrush desert against a backdrop of bare or sparsely wooded mountains is probably relatively unchanged. The place of the Wedding of the Rails is now the Golden Spike National Historic Site, with a visitors' center where national park rangers "provide interpretive services for tourists making pilgrimages to Promontory."

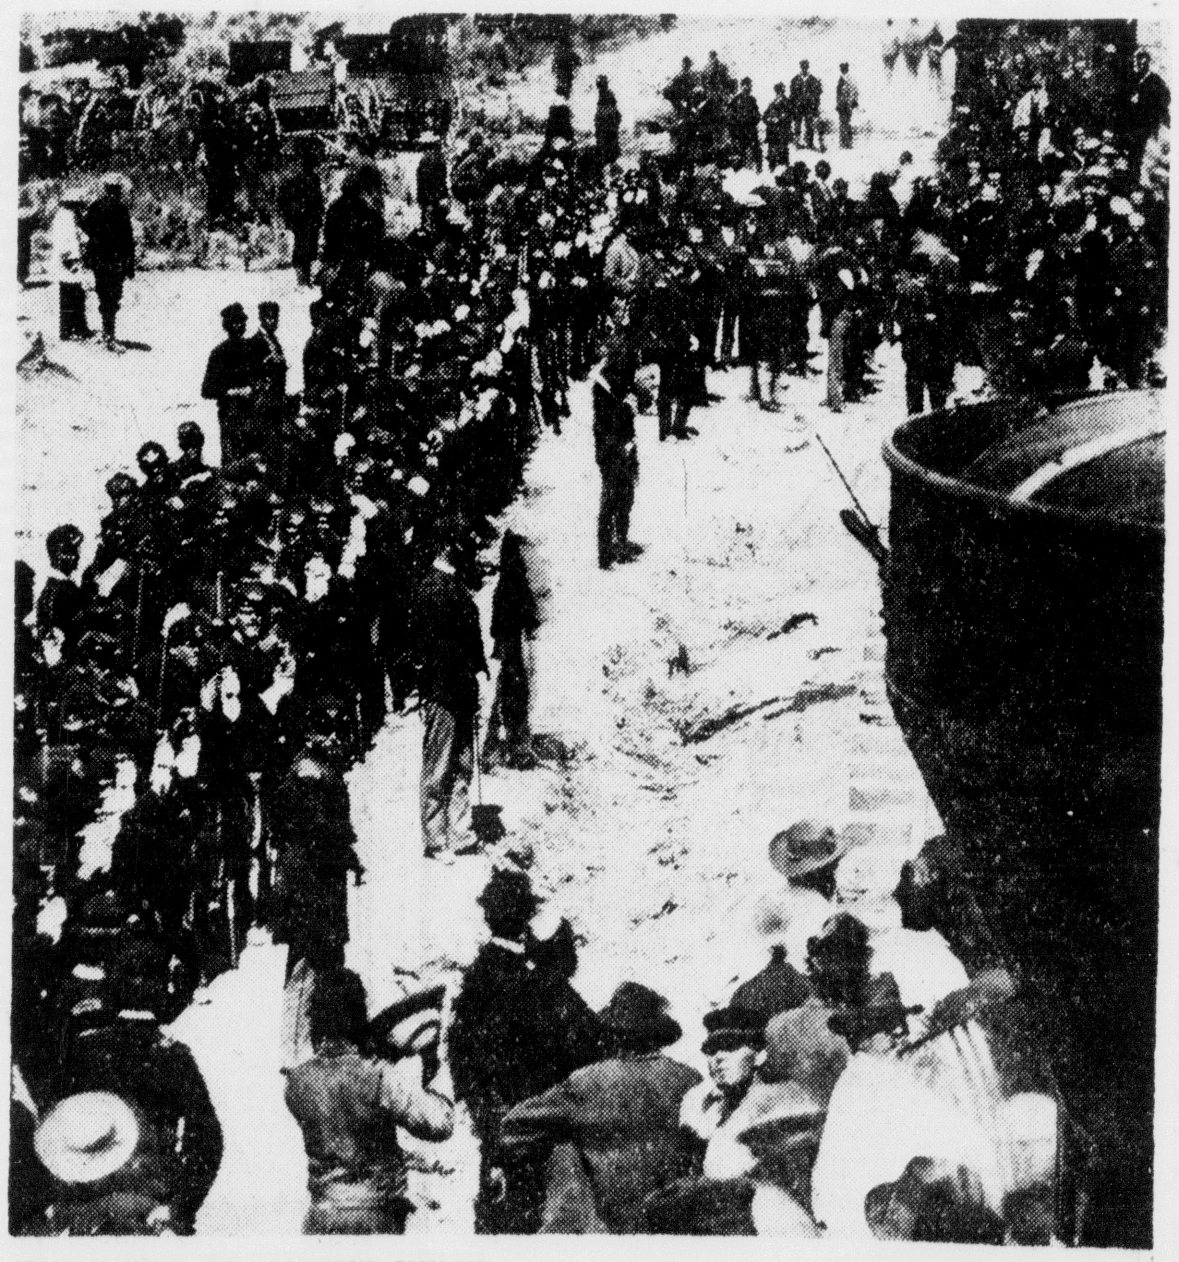
I don't know what is happening on the centennial in San Francisco, but I am sure that in the evening of the 100th anniversary there will be no bonfires in the hills, no candles in casement windows.

And I hope that the ghosts of the Pacific Railroad come out of the darkness to haunt the railroad men who have failed to keep bright the promise of the Golden Spike. Of course times change, and planes are everywhere; but within the past two years I have ridden the clean, efficient trains of Switzerland, on which even an aged invalid can open a car window without difficulty, I have ridden the Bullet Train in Japan, rocketing at 130 miles per hour over an incredibly smooth roadbed. I have ridden the crowded Blue Train from Cape Town to Johannesburg through South African desert country much like our West. I have read of recent trail runs of turbotrains between Boston and Washington. To paraphrase an old song: Whatever they can do, you can do better.—Or can you?

THE BOSS MAN—The man in the middle is Jack Casement, wearing Cossack fur cap, fur-trimmed coat, and carrying the bullwhip that was his ever-present symbol of authority. Casement, a Union general in the Civil War, and his brother were major contractors for building the Union Pacific Railroad, and it was big Jack who drove a motley crew made up of hard-drinking former Civil War soldiers and immigrant Irishmen augmented by "Word of Wisdom" Mormons in the great track-laying race. The UP laid 1,028 miles of track to the Central Pacific's 691 miles—and every mile laid meant more largesse from the federal government.



THE LAST TRESTLE—UP engine 119 pushes flatcars across the "Big Trestle" spanning a 405-foot ravine a few miles east of Promontory. Below the trestle is photographer Andrew J. Russell's "dark room wagon."



THE VIEW FROM THE WEST — The big "coal scuttle" smoke-stack of the Central Pacific's Jupiter dominates the foreground in this photo as it nears the Union Pacific's No. 119 for the historic meeting. The camera-mugging soldiers lined up beside the track are from three companies of the 21st Infantry that participated in the ceremony, with the regimental band providing music. Transit Board Awaits Commute Bus Report

The Marin Transit District's final report on a commuter bus proposal wasn't ready last night as hoped, and Gen. Mgr. Seymour Kashin could give no clear indication when it would be completed.

"As you know, there are always unforseen circumstances," Kashin told an impatient district board last night, "but I think I can have the conclusions wrapped up during this month."

Kashin, who began studying a bus plan last fall, submitted a preliminary report at the last board meeting. He said the final one wasn't available last night because Greyhound had given its employees new wage pacts.

Such figures, Kashin said, "form the heart of forecasts of what our expenses will be."

Kashin was pressed mildly by district directors William A. Gnoss and Dean N. Meyer to have his concluding report ready for the next regular board meeting, June 4.

Kashin said he would try, but added, "It's been a long road. I can't see rushing hastily into something we may regret."

Kashin's first report contained detailed bus routings, but did not offer schedules or the cost of the system. He said in his monthly report last night the line would have up to 140 buses and could carry up to 8,000 passengers daily.

His report indicated there would be no drop in fares if a public system were to supplant Greyhound.

"The commuter objects to the service now, not the fares," Kashin said after the meeting. "The commuter doesn't feel he's getting his money's worth."

Kashin's report also said the district staff is looking at several sites in the Greenbrae area to construct a bus storage terminal and small administration building. Kashin estimated the cost at $1.3 million.

The Marin Transit District Board Also:

SAN FRANCISCO — Said that it should invite members of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors and Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District representatives to discuss Kashin's bus plan, when it is completed. The board earlier heard from Kashin that the San Francisco supervisors had passed a resolution against congestion of city streets by commuter buses. Kashin said transit district buses would not knot San Francisco traffic.

MARIN CITY — Learned that representatives of Marin County Transit Stystems were not prepared with details on fares and a financial statement, sought by the board at the April 2 meeting. The group, run by blacks and based in Marin City, would operate a shuttle bus system in Marin.

ABANDONMENT — Voted, 4-0, to oppose abandonment of the Sausalito branch of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad. An Interstate Commerce Commission examiner has upheld a bid by the line to abandon service, pending an appeal by the California Public Utilities Commission to the full Interstate Commerce Commission.

Three Autos Are Burglarized

Three automobiles were broken into Tuesday night in the Bon Air apartment area and $696 worth of items taken, Larkspur police reported today.

Bonnie Dillard told officers that someone forced a window in her car in her 100 Lower Via Casita car port and took an auto stereo, 10 stereo tapes and a tacometer, worth $255.

Fred W. Meyer of Apt. 38, 500 South Eliseo Drive reported that someone pried open the top of his Porsche and stole a stereo tape unit and 12 tapes, a chair and a pillow valued at $241. Damage to his car top was $220, he told police.

Joyce Hammond of Apt. 36, at the same address, reported someone breaking into the car of her friend and stealing a $200 radio and camera equipment.

Session Canceled

A meeting of the Marin Junior College District trustees scheduled for tonight to award a contract for portable office facilities has been canceled because it was necessary to extend bid time for one week. The board will consider the bids at its next regular meeting May 15.

Burglary Ring Suspects' Trial

A jury trial in Marin Superior Court for three young men accused of being part of a burglary ring responsible for as many as 98 burglaries has been set for July 28.

Two cases will be tried at that time.

The first involves Gordon K. Jennings, 21, of Novato; Andrew M. Gillespie III, 19, of San Rafael, and Edward Guillory, 20, of San Francisco, who are charged with a Feb. 21 burglary in San Rafael.

The other case is against Jennings and Gillespie.

Lack Of Workers For Petaluma Fete

Petaluma's Old Adobe Days celebration may not be held this year, according to Chamber of Commerce reports, unless a committee of interested citizens comes forth soon.

The annual celebration and barbecue at General Vallejo's headquarters scheduled for Aug. 16 and 17 may be canceled because no committee has been set up to begin preparations. Members of the 1968 committee have been unable to continue in their posts, president Rollan Rea said.

James Brainerd Heads Firemen

James Brainerd last night was elected president of the Alto-Richardson Bay Volunteer Firemen's Association, replacing Gerald St. Jovite, Fire Chief Carl O. Heynen Jr. reported.

Other officers elected include Golen Menzies IIIP secretary; Harold Roberts, treasurer; Stephen Bolster, property clerk, and Harvey M. Chapman and Heynen, directors.

The new officers will be installed at a dinner to be held sometime in June, Heynen said.

Sewage Trunk Line Federal Funds Asked

The Ross Valley Sanitary District board last night agreed to apply for a $325,000 grant from the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development towards installation of a sewage trunk line to handle winter storm flood waters.

The line would be built five feet from the proposed concrete channel to be installed in Corte Madera Creek by the Army Corps of Engineers in its phase three of the flood control project. It would be on the engineers' right-of-way.

A contract has already been let, district manager Ralph C. Noah said, for a similar trunk line between Stadium Way and College Avenue.

The proposed new line will be a continuation of that line.

The manager said, that the new line is not a replacement but an added facility since present line capacity is not large enough.

The board, Noah said, did not discuss opposition voiced Tuesday night at a meeting of some Ross residents to plans for concreting the creek through Ross.

Directors adjourned to 8 p.m., May 21, to discuss the preliminary 1969-70 budget.

Human Rights Aide To Join Another Agency

Wallace K. Shepherd, field representative for the Marin Human Rights Commission, is resigning to take a higher paying job as assistant director of the Marin County Housing Authority.

Shepherd's letter of resignation will go to the rights commission at tonight's regular meeting, set for 8 o'clock in the planning commission chambers at Civic Center.

Shepherd joined the human rights staff nine months ago and attended a course at the urban training center in Chicago under a Ford Foundation Fellowship in February and March.

Austin J. Thompson, executive director of the rights commission, said he hates to lose Shepherd, "But we won't lose him completely, because he is joining another county agency."

Commissioners will also elect new officers at the meeting.

Theodore Berry, representing the Marin City Economics Inc., will discuss the corporation's proposal for an intra-county bus system.

Plan Open House

Ragle Is Confirmed To Education Board

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Senate voted 27-0 today to confirm Gov. Ronald Reagan's appointment of Eugene N. Ragle of Auburn to the state Board of Education, although some Democrats abstained in opposition.

But Sen. Albert S. Rodda, D-Sacramento, the man who asked earlier that the confirmation be delayed, cast the final, deciding vote.

"This will serve as an object lesson," Rodda said. He added that he doesn't like the requirement that many governor's appointees be confirmed by a two-thirds vote in the Senate, and will introduce a constitutional amendment next year to provide for confirmation by a simple majority.

Ragle, a Republican, is general manager of a Roseville radio station.

"I had received some communication from the community in which this man lives on the grounds he is a political conservative and that he'd been a disruptive factor in the community," Rodda said. But he added that he had checked and would not oppose the appointment.

Of Senate confirmations, Rodda said, "when we elect a governor, he should appoint those he feels qualified . . . We have a right to advise the public perhaps of political philosophy," he added.

"If we elect a liberal governor, we expect he would make liberal appointments," Rodda said. "If we elect a conservative governor, we expect he would make conservative appointments."

Rodda first said he would abstain, but then cast the final vote giving the two-thirds majority in the 40-member house. "I don't think we should hold him up," Rodda told newsmen.

But at least six Democrats who were present refused to vote.

Senate President pro tem Hugh M. Burns, D-Fresno, asked for confirmation of Ragle today because the appointee is attending the State Board of Education monthly meeting in Los Angeles.

Seattle Pair Injured Near Rohnert Park

Two Seattle residents were injured yesterday at 3 p.m. in an accident on Highway 101, south of the Wilfred Avenue exit at Rohnert Park.

Eleanor McAteer, 56, the driver of a van truck, and her passenger, John Sasso, 68, were treated at the Community Hospital of Sonoma County for cuts and bruises. The California Highway Patrol said Mrs. McAteer apparently dozed while driving and the truck went off the roadway into a ditch.

Burglary Linked To Escapees

Burglary of a Marinwood home Monday has been linked to two escapees from Marin Juvenile Hall who were arrested in Marinwood Monday with a stolen car, sheriff's deputies said today.

Items taken from the home of Dolores M. Gabrielson at 15 Valleystone Drive were found in the stolen car, according to officers.

Missing from the house, where a window had been kicked in, were two transistor radios, gold cufflinks and tie clip, a small bank containing $10, a humidor and a bottle of wine.

Officers said since James Ghilotti 14, and James Kisling, 16, were already confined to the hall, no further action would be taken.

Hawaii was discovered by Capt. James Cook, of the British Navy, in 1778.

MUSIC REVIEW

A Melodic Evening By Symphony, Guest

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

SAN FRANCISCO — Accent was on melody in last night's concert at the Opera House performed by the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra under the direction of guest conductor Antonio De Almeida. But the melodic styles differed widely in the three works performed.

In the Handel Music for the Royal Fireworks it was famboyant and martial. In the Vaughan Williams Suite for Viola and Small Orchestra it was often simple and tender or dancing in the small vignettes. And in the Franck Symphony in D Minor it was of soaring grandeur.

Of special interest to me was the Williams Suite, since I had not heard it, and Rolf Persinger, the orchestra's principal violist, who lives in Tiburon, was the soloist. One can always be sure of a significant musical experience in hearing Persinger for he is one of the conutry's most gifted violists.

The suite was not a bravura showpiece, though it had virtuoso aspects in the moto perpetuo and galop, but it did give the opportunity to hear Persinger's gorgeous tone, polished phrasing and infinitely expressive interpretation.

Very beautiful in the Carol vignette was a canon for viola and flute, thought the flute was a little too soft, and the passages in the third set of suites within the suite in combination with harp and celeste were entrancing.

Paris-born Almeida, substituting for Joseph Krips a second time, fulfilled the promise he showed as one of the more talented young conductors in his debut with the symphony last month.

He seemed fully in his element in the major work of the evening, the Franck work, which he conducted without score, bringing out with clarity and balanced proportion the cyclic structure of this only symphony by Franck. The composer's orchestration, which owed so much to his eminence as an organist, was admirably realized in the surging organ-like tones and resonance of the strings.

Strong, clear brasses, especially in some brilliant trumpet playing, as well as powerful percussive dynamics including snare drums made the Handel works a real piece of pyrotechnics. The woodwinds section, too, was outstanding.

State Approves Purchase Of Muir Beach Acreage

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The final hurdle to state purchase of 15.8 acres at Muir Beach for a park was cleared yesterday with unanimous approval by the state Public Works Board of the $247,000 purchase.

The property, held by 10 owners, shoud be in state hands within 15 days, the Independent-Journal was told by Joseph L. Mickelson, a land agent with the Department of General Services.

The state's share of the cost will be $122,000. The remaining $125,000 will come from an anonymous woman donor whose offer of the gift in 1967 led to a condemnation suit. The value was set last month by a Marin Superior Court jury.

The suit came after the state offered the owners $200,000, including the gift money. The owners came within $3,000 of their demand for $250,000.

The state's share of the cost will come from the state's 1966 park bond measure.

No improvements to the new park land can be expected for at least a year, said James E. Warren, chief of the planning and development division of the Department of Parks and Recreation. Facilities will be limited to day use, and will be similar to those at Stinson Beach State Park, "but more intimate," Warren said.

The new park property will be part of Mount Tamalpais State Park. State plans envision a continuous strip of park land stretching from the Golden Gate Bridge to Stinson Beach, but at present the new property will not connect to any other park property.

The first subway in America opened in Boston in 1897.

Ford Foundation Grant To Berkeley

BERKELEY (UPI) — The University of California at Berkeley announced yesterday it has received a $250,000 Ford Foundation grant for research into urban problems.

The grant will be used to finance faculty research for a one-year period beginning July 1. The projects to be supported by the grant include studies of interpersonal and social relations, economic opportunities, health and medical care, education, government and physical environment.

To Handle Case

The case of Thomas John Pattalochi, 20, of San Rafael, will be tried in juvenile court, it was reported yesterday in Marin Municipal Court. He is accused of possessing marijuana April 12 in Northgate.

East Petaluma Group Endorses Candidate Slate

Directors of the East Petaluma Civic Association have endorsed a slate of candidates in the June 10 municipal election and voted to support all five bond issues that will appear on the ballot.

Endorsed for mayor was Councilman Robert S. Lipman, who is challenging the incumbent, Helen Putnam. Chosen for the three city council seats were Lawrence R. Bernauer, Rodney L. Cameron and Fred Mattei.

For three seats on the board of education, the group picked incumbents Sol Fishman, Dr. William Kortum and challenger Alfred N. Brengle.

Directors said the endorsement were in keeping with the association's goals for community interest and participation in city government. Of the endorsed candidates, only Bernauer is an association director.

There's A Reason For Slow Arrivals

CAIRO (UPI)—Travelers now know why a passenger arriving at Cairo Airport needs lots of patience.

The influential newspaper Al Ahram has revealed that one reason it takes so long to go through airport red tape is that the names of many arrivals are checked against a list of "unwelcome" visitors. The list contains 70,000 names.

Miskimen Faces Big Battle On Anexation

San Rafael City Councilman John A. Miskimen faces an uphill fight in his request to have one lot in Bayside Acres annexed to the City of San Rafael.

The Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission will try to resolve the question at tonight's meeting at 8 o'clock in the supervisors' chambers at the Civic Center.

Miskimen wants to buy a home at 185 Oak Drive, which is outside the city limits. Since the city charter requires a councilman to live within the city he is trying to have his new home annexed.

Bayside Acres Property Owners Association are opposed to the annexation because it would pluck one lot from Oak Drive and put it under San Rafael jurisdiction while leaving the rest of Oak Drive in county territory.

Other annexation requests on the agenda are:

Corte Madera Sanitary District wants to annex 15 acres along Lucky Road, containing about 14 homes, on the west side of Highway 101, south of Greenbrae Bridge.

Richardson Bay Sanitary District seeks annexation of 58 acres of tidelands on the west side of Highway 101, where Sabella's restaurant and Shelter Bay apartments are located. About 112 residential units would be affected. The City of Mill Valley, which is not providing sanitary service to the area, wants it detached from the city and annexed to Richardson Bay Sanitary District, which is providing the service.

Richardson Bay Sanitary District also seeks annexation of a 2.8-acre lot owned by A. F. Willat at the corner of Sky Road and Bay Vista Drive, Bel Aire.

The City of Novato wants to annex a two-acre lot which is located off Stasia Court in Pleasant Valley Subdivision Unit 2.

Employees Endorse Mill Valley Tax Hike

The Mill Valley School District Classified Employees Association has endorsed the proposed 75-cent increase in the district's maximum tax limit which will go to a vote on June 3, President Manuel Silva has announced.

If approved, the increase would raise the district's general purpose tax from $2.25 to $3 per $100 assessed valuation. The district's current tax rate, including overide taxes, is $3.13.

AT THE PEACOCK GAP Swim and Tennis Club the 12 participants in the James Bond number rehearse under the direction of Mrs. L. 'SO GLAD I MADE IT'

German Teen-Ager To Swim In The James Bond Number

By JOAN LISETOR

A little international flavor has been added to this year's Marin Ballet Aquacade. Susanne Lau, a 16-year-old exchange student, will participate in the annual water show and ballet June 7 and 8 at the Peacock Gap Swim and Tennis Club.

Rehearsals began last month, and the German teen-ager is enthusiastic about her participation.

"My friend Prudence Brown told me about the Ballet Aquacade. I tried out for it, and I am so glad I made it because it is a way of helping children who need it," she said referring to the funds raised, which benefit the Marindale School for handicapped children.

Susanne participates in a James Bond number coached by Mrs. L. Jay Simon and written by Mrs. Peter Limm. She is one of 12 girls in the sequence, six from Marin Catholic High School and six from Redwood High School, where she is a student.

The pretty, dark haired girl is from Preetz, which is in the northern part of Germany. Her brother, Knud, attended Redwood High School three years ago as an exchange student. He returned home with Marin teen-ager, Greg Leininger, the son of Dr. and Mrs. C. Ray Leininger of Greenbrae.

Greg lived with the Lau family as an exchange student and attended school in Preetz.

"Greg and Knud told me so much about Marin and Redwood that when there were two openings in my school for exchange students to go to Redwood I applied.

"There were only two of us who applied so I was chosen," she explained in her modest way.

Susanne is staying with the Leininger family, who are not strangers to her, since they made a trip to Germany when Greg was there.

In Germany the exchange student did very little swimming instead participating in gymnastic events. She competed in three meets at Redwood High School prior to the end of the season.

"I enjoy it more here," she explained. "In Germany men teach gymnastics, and they concentrate on building muscles instead of grace and rhythm. It's more fun here."

A natural athlete, Susanne has developed a skill for skiing since arriving here.

"I skiied once in Germany, and since I've been with the Leiningers I have skiied in almost every Tahoe area and in Alta, Utah, during Easter vacation week," Susanne said.

"At first it was hard for me, but I love it; it's the best sport; I came to the right family in Marin," she added.

Dating and school are the only real differences seen between Marin and Preetz by the exchange student, who speaks English with no trace of an accent.

"In Germany my school has 450 students, so it is quite different going to a school with 2500 students. We go to school from 8 to 1 and take 15 subjects. At the end of the year we take exams, and if we fail two subjects we have to repeat the entire year," she said.

"Art is my favorite subject, and it's better here because there is more money for supplies. I don't like Latin, but I have to take it here because it is required in Germany," she added.

Susanne has dated a little here but says she has no special boyfriend. When asked how dating differed she explained that in Germany both the boy and girl pay.

"Also it doesn't have to end with a kiss (in Germany). Here it's like a payment for a date. A boy expects a kiss," she said.

The exchange student says she enjoys the people here because they are very warm. There is little doubt that Marin County will have its own ambassador of good will when Susanne returns to Germany next August.

Jelly, Peanut Butter Worse Than Pop

By IRA RIFKIN

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A University of California dental expert says the next time Junior asks for a soft drink, don't try to substitute something more solid but just as sweet in an effort to cut down on cavities.

Let him have the soft drink if you really want to make a dent in those dentist bills, says Dr. Merle Morris, chairman of children's dentistry at the U.C. Medical Center.

Soda pop has been made a "whipping boy," but it's actually a lot less harmful than a peanut butter and jelly sandwich, for example, he said.

Morris, who has seven children, said it is not the amount of sugar, but "how long it stays in the mouth and in what form" that needs considering.

Soft drinks are consumed rapidly by youngsters "who have other things to do and don't sit and nurse a drink," he said.

Saliva also mixes with soda pop to further decrease the amount of sugar in a child's mouth while he drinks. And because the sugar is in a liquid state, it washes away easily.

But solid items, such as cookies, jams, ice cream and hard candies, although they may contain less sugar, "adhere to the teeth and remain for longer periods of time."

"If you sip soda constantly and keep it swishing around in your mouth, sure it would ruin your teeth," says Morris. "But sugar when it is in a sticky or gummy form just sits on teeth and stays there to do its dirty work."

Dietetic soft drinks, says the 48-year-old native of Kanab, Utah, "could have even more disasterous results" than regular soda pop.

"Dietetic drinks don't provide a kid with the calories he needs, compared to a soft drink. So they aren't very effective and the kid still will want to eat something to obtain the energy, and that could be disasterous," he said.

Morris based his theories on studies in the past few years at the University of California, as well as in Europe and elsewhere.

Morris suggested that parents regulate snacks and try to substitute corn chips, potato chips, fruits, vegetables and even crackers for sweets.

Up-Front Shoes

Donald Brooks now is designing shoes for Palizzio. The line, includes 12 models, most emphasizing what he calls the "up front" effect of decoration, usually muted in contrast or in self material, placed on the instep. The shoes all have the raffine shaping so characteristic of this designer, the arch elongated and the toe shaped to a top-rounded "zeppelin" point.

Dancers And Guild Members To Have Party In Sausalito

By MOLLY MARIN

A gala party marking the birth of the Xoregos Guild and the 88th birthday of Sausalito psychologist Cavendish Moxon will be given from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday at the Sausalito home of Altheya Youngman.

The chairman of the new guild, Mrs. William D. Pedraza of Stinson Beach, says the guild is being formed to assist the dancers and other artists of the Xoregos Company, headed by dancer Shela Xoregos, which provides a creative focus for all the arts. Heading the list of artist sponsors is Duke Ellington.

Miss Xoregos came to prominence as director of the Dance Spectrum with Ruth St. Dennis, held on Mt. Tamalpais in 1965.

Dancers of the company have been invited to attend the party during a break in the rugged rehearsal schedule preceding the opening of the company's season on May 15 at the Presentation Theater in San Francisco. Members of the company living in Marin are Ellen Estrin and Peggy Hill of Sausalito.

Among Marin members of the new guild are C. Russell Compton, president of the Mill Valley Center of the Performing Arts, Mrs. Youngman and Mmes. Constant M. Van Vlierden, Arnold Seymour of Sausalito, Dunya Chernenko of Tiburon and Richard Swendeman of Mill Valley.

Among guests invited to the party are Dr. and Mrs. S. I. Hayakawa of Mill Valley, Charles Von Boecup of Sleepy Hollow, Mr. and Mrs. Wynn Westover, and J. Mingo Turner and Lawrence Miles of Sausalito.

Following luncheon guests will go next door for swimming in the pool at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Cohn.

A PARTY will be given Saturday at her home in Ross by Mrs. Russell G. Smith to honor San Francisco Ball debutante Beth Mulkern. A senior at the Katherine Delmar Burke School in San Francisco, Beth is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Mulkern of San Francisco.

THE JACK R. LEHMKUHLS returned Monday to Sausalito from a trip to Japan they began on March 17. Called a Bali Hi cruise, the entire tour, which included Guam and Bali, was made on the S.S. President Cleveland.

Ports they visited were Singapore, Hong Kong, Nagasaki, Kobe and Yokohama. Highlight of the trip for the Lehmkuhls was going to the island of Bali in small boats.

The return trip was via Honolulu. Mr. and Mrs. Lou Aquilino of Fairfax were also members of the tour.

MMES. Thomas E. Welsh and Jack Murdock hosted a baby shower and luncheon at the Welsh home in Kentfield Tuesday. Mrs. Thomas Toldrinian of Corte Madera was the honoree. Tewnty-five were present for the poolside patio party.

A DANCING party at the Lagunitas Club in Ross will be given tomorrow evening by Merry Lee Ness for her eighth grade graduating class at Ross School. She is the daughter of Mrs. Jefferson J. Graves Jr. of Ross and Gordon L. Ness of Atherton.

Outdoor, Youth Activities Keep Neil Cummins P-TA Leader Busy

She is a graduate of St. Mary's College of Nursing in San Francisco. She and her husband, an engineer, have lived in Marin 12 years and are the parents of four children, Joseph, 15; Jerry, 13; Jennifer, 9 and Julie, 5.

'Demure' Wants To Know Reason She Can't 'Walk Up To A Guy'

DEAR HELEN:

It's dumb!

A girl is always the "maid in waiting." I wish it was like in the movies when you can walk up to a guy and say something terribly clever so he'll notice you and then he suddenly discovers you're the only girl.

But no. In real life, you have to wait and hope, and usually the guy you know you'd be absolutely right for walks right past you to some other girl.

"Why can't it ever be ladies choice? Why can't we come right out and say, "Hey, we ought to know each other," like boys do to girls? I'm tired of seeing all the good ones get away just because I have to be "demure." — ABOUT TO CHANGE

DEAR ABOUT:

So go ahead and change. I think the boys might welcome the straightforward approach. Sometimes a boy passes up the girl he might like best because she is being so "demure" he figures he doesn't have a chance. — H.

P.S. Let's hear it from the boys: How would you react to a girl who walks up and says, "Hey, don't you think we ought to know each other?" (Providing, of course, she's a girl you'd like to know.)

And while you're writing, tell us too:

1. What attracts you most about a girl?
2. What turns you off fastest, once you get to know her?
3. What is the surest way for a girl to make a boy notice her?
4. And what keeps him coming back?

Thanks in advance for your letters. I'll publish the best of them in a couple of summer columns.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I'm in a predicament. I've been getting mushy letters signed by a guy I like but don't know. But I'm sure they aren't from him, as he doesn't seem the type.

Now I hear that he is receiving silly letters supposedly signed by me.

Please say something in your column about stupid people's lives.—S.S.L.

DEAR S:

Practical jokers are the lowest form of humans. They should all crawl back in their holes.

Maybe you can turn this into an advantage. Those silly notes might start a conversation — and who knows where things will go from there? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

What do you think about a father who:

Hotfoots it to the phone and then tells any boy who calls that I'm in bed—when it's only 8 p.m.; if another boy calls, he shouts, "I want you to quit bothering Doris, as she isn't talking to anyone," and slams down the receiver?; says he will allow me to talk 15 minutes a night on the phone, but doesn't keep his promise?; says if any boy comes around he'll meet him with a shotgun?; and thinks a 15-year-old girl should not even speak to a boy at school? — WONDERING

DEAR WON:

I think your father needs your mother to guide him. Either he has forgotten how it is to be young — or remembers what a stinker he was and judges all boys by himself. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Women's League Names Mrs. Kaulum To Post

"Sharing the variety of talents, interests and points of view brought to the League of Women Voters by individual members is an outstanding advantage of being a league member."

This statement reflects the thinking of Mrs. Keith Kaulum of Mill Valley, new president of the League of Women Voters of Southern Marin.

"Informed citizen participation in government is relevant to the changing times in which we live," she says. "Participation in the league is fine preparation for individual work in government, such as serving on boards, advisory committees and private political action groups."

Marlene Kaulum has lived in Marin 11 years and has been a member of the League of Women Voters for eight years. She has served as second vice president in charge of program, legislative chairman and resource study committee chairman.

The membership of the Southern Marin unit of the league has adopted two local study items for the coming year, study and evaluation of juvenile justice in Marin with emphasis on the Probation Department in its function as an agent in the rehabilitation of juveniles; and study of goals and quality of elementary and secondary education in Southern Marin.

The new president, who attended Creighton Universiy in Omaha, Neb., and her husband, a research engineer, have three daughters, Lorin, 13; Leslie, 11; and Kristin, 9.

Marlene says her favorite leisure time interests are garden ing and reading. She is active in the Parent-Teacher Association and the Marin Mental Health Association.

Elected to serve with her are Mmes. Roy D. Knapp, first vice president; Russell Wallace, second vice president; Herbet Edger, secretary; and G. D. Ricketts, treasurer.

Drug Scare Tactic Said Ineffective

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI)— The "scare 'em to death" approach in drug abuse education just isn't working with students, reports an article in the Pennsylvania School Journal of the Pennsylvania State Education Association.

Rozanne Weisman, author of the article "Drugs and Schools: Monkey on the Backs of Education," warns educators and the public that an about-face will have to be taken if schools are to be successful in combatting the use of drugs.

She quoted Martin Levy, director of a drug abuse education project, who said that "students growing up in today's atmosphere take risk for granted and say the astronauts wouldn't take off if they were afraid of taking a chance."

"Neither will the 'it's illegal' or the 'give 'em the facts' approach do the trick," Levy said. "All these methods have been used in health education classes without lessening VD, smoking, or alcoholism. New methods will have to be found."

"Instead of being critical about student drug abuse, educators will have to demonstrate that there are better ways to experience the richness of living and make life more exciting—ways more meaningful and less dangerous than mind expansion by ingesting chemicals," he warned.

Schools must recognize that after all is said and done, the decision on drug use rests with the student alone and the teacher is not a detective, psychiatrist, nurse or policeman, he said.

She's An Angel

If all the cakes a mother makes in a lifetime — or in a year — were counted it would be a goodly number. Cakes made for the birthdays; parties and picnics; special or just everyday; a wedding, perhaps, or for showers; surprises at camp or in sleepy-away school. And who makes the cakes for those fund-raising affairs: church suppers, the scouts, the P-TA? Mother, no doubt. Of such numbers, sizes, and kinds, there ought to be one perfect cake to make for mothers. And one is. Structured with sugar and sweet as love, it's known as angel food.

Elizabeth Sandlin Directs Marin County 4-H Club Work

Marin County's Home Advisor, Miss Elizabeth Sandlin, comes to San Rafael from a New York birthplace but refers to Maryland as her home state. Seeking a job in Southern California and finding nothing to her liking, she accepted the position with the Marin County Extension office, with headquarters at the Marin Civic Center.

Miss Sandlin has no brothers or sisters and her parents are deceased, so with friends on the west coast, she decided on a change. She expresses a preference for urban areas and finds the Marin surroundings to her liking.

"It's a good area here for 4-H Club work," she says, emphasizing the creative atmosphere of the county. "And people are community-minded, a necessity in carrying out 4-H program," she added.

Being a 4-H Club member as a child provided Elizabeth with a background for her current activities as administrator of the 4-H program here. It is her duty to instruct 4-H leaders and to coordinate activities of the 900 members plus 320 leaders in Marin 4-H Club work.

With B.A. and master's degrees from the University of Maryland at College Park, the new Californian carried out 4-H Club work in Baltimore while a college student. She later held a job in retailing in a Washington, D.C., department store.

"The 4-H Club work program is growing in Marin County," said the advisor who reported to her new desk on Nov. 1. Ticking off activities planned for the summer Miss Sandlin named the Regional Field Day on Saturday when 32 project demonstrators from Marin will be competing and two more will be in the "Share the Fun" talent contest at activities in Davis.

The annual 4-H Camp is scheduled for July 27 through Aug. 9 and, as is the custom, will be held at facilities near Napa. Club members stay from one to two weeks, sleeping out-of-doors. Hi Club members make up the largest portion of staff personnel.

Fairs that will require attention by the home advisor include the Nicasio Fair on May 24; West Marin Fair June 20 through 22; the Fourth District Fair at Petaluma June 25 through 29; Sonoma County Fair July 14 through 26; and the California State Fair in Sacramento from Aug. 22 through 26. Marin will have representation at all functions, with Miss Sandlin assisting project leaders and members.

Aside from her work with young people and volunteer leaders, the enthusiastic Miss Sandlin also takes sailing lessons.

"We haven't had much luck yet — but they say the winds are better on the bay in May," she remarked. She professes to liking art courses and plans to continue her education, scheduling her work to permit time for studies.

With an urban area in which to live, interesting people with which to work and a dedication to organizational activities, Elizabeth has become caught up in the way of living in Marin County.

Larkspur Will Seek Annexation Of Land Around San Quentin

Larkspur City Council last night voted to seek annexation of about 85 acres on San Quentin peninsula, up to the western boundary of state property surrounding San Quentin Prison.

Annexation would be the city's second step eastward along the southern portion of the peninsula, following annexation of 69.5 acres of Hutchinson Quarry property earlier this year.

City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst explained that the proposed annexation land would be boardered on the north by the San Rafael city line and on the south by Corte Madera Creek and would include Wood Island.

It would extend from the Hutchinson Quarry area to the state property line. Since there are fewer than 12 registered voters in the area, no election would be required, Bathurst noted.

Councilmen authorized Bathurst to apply to the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission for annexation.

They also authorized hiring Dan Coleman and Associates of Greenbrae to develop a prezoning plan for the area at a cost not to exceed $2,000.

Bathurst noted that the San Quentin Prison property, which has a housing area containing more than 12 residents, was excluded from the application.

The Larkspur City Council also:

LIBRARY BOARD—Appointed Mrs. Arthur M. Sestak to the library board to suceed Mrs. Howard W. Bray who resigned, reappointed Mrs. Wilbur Lewis for another term, and commended Mrs. Bray for her service on the board.

RESIGNATION—Accepted the resignation of Robert V. Golden from the city parks and recreation commission.

EASTMAN HALL — Granted the fire department permission to burn dilapidated Eastman Hall at 200 Williams Avenue, abandoned for recreational use, as part of its training program, Monday May 17.

FIRE TRAINING — Granted certificates of achievement to Fire Chief William C Schurtz, Asst. Fire Chief William Lellis and Fire Capt. Richard Benz for completing 30 units of fire science training at the College of Marin, after attending one night a week for five years on their own time.

SETTLEMENT — Authorized payment of $54,600 to A. C. Copeland for land along the front of Hillview Gardens needed for the Magnolia Avenue widening project.

STORM DAMAGE—Received a complaint from Gerald Hendricks that a slide along Hawthorne Avenue between Sycamore Avenue and King Street during winter storms damaged his property, and called for a report on the city's liability May 21. Public Works Director Warren Mistron estimated it would cost $8,000 to restore the slope.

STREET LIGHTING—Received a letter from the Greenbrae Property Owners Association requesting a survey of the adequacy of street lighting in the Greenbrae area of the city and noting that more lighting would help to halt an "inordinate number of burglaries"

LEASED HOUSING—Authorized 10 units of leased housing in the city for low-income tenants under the program operated by the Marin County Housing Authority, formal action following a vote taken April 2 to approve the program.

UNDERGROUNDING—Adopted an ordinance requiring underground utilities in new subdivisions.

PARK RULES — Adopted an ordinance closing Dolliver Park, where there has been a vandalism problem, 8 p.m. from May 1 to Sept. 1 and limiting the use of play equipment to persons aged 12 years and under.

POLICE SUPPORT—Postponed until May 21 hearing a presentation from R. C. Kessner, chairman of the Larkspur Support Your Local Police Committee.

ENCROACHMENT—Continued until May 21 an application by Robert LeVesque for an encroachment permit to permit garage construction in city road right-of-way at 16 Ardmore Avenue.

CABLE TELEVISION — Approved extension of cable television service by Televue Systems of San Rafael to the Greenbrae sector of the city with the firm to pay 2 per cent of its gross income. Councilman William G. Fleckles, who felt the city should get 5 per cent, abstained.

"PAPER ROADS"—Abandoned Rockridge Road and declared its intention to abandon Beta Street, both streets on paper only.

CHIPPER — Authorized the purchase of a tree and limb chipper for the public works department at a cost of $4,000 to be paid over a three-year period.

STORM DAMAGE—Passed a resolution seeking state and federal funds for storm damage last winter, estimated at $30,000.

ZONING APPEAL—Set June 4 at 8 p.m. for a hearing on an appeal by Charles McLeran of planning commission denial of his request for a zone change from residential to commerical to permit an antique shop and attorney's office in a century-old residence at Estelle Avenue and Murray Lane.

LEGISLATION — Opposed a bill which would require a 40-hour week for firemen, a bill which would lift the tax limit on school districts without a vote of the people, and a bill which would raise from $100 to $500 the limit under which contractor's could work without a license.

LIBRARY FUNDS—Agreed to request the state to restore the cuts made in the funds available for library construction grants, funds needed for Larkspur's proposal library.

WATER ACCESS — Supported Marin County's efforts to preserve public access to shoreline areas.

NEXT MEETING—Adjourned until May 21 at 8 p.m. at city hall.

A Healthful Way To Tidy Roads

NEW YORK (UPI)—A new prescription for hardening the muscles and reducing the waistline is offered by Keep America Beautiful, Inc.

Allen H. Seed Jr., executive vice president of the national antilitter organization, proposes that those in favor of a more beautiful America get their execise by taking walks to pick up litter.

"Medical authorities agree that walking is one of the best exercises there is, and every calisthenics routine includes some form of bending down from the waist," Seed said. America's highways and byways would be a lot cleaner if "litter walking" became half the fad that jogging is today, he said.

Serious Scientists

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—These air pollution research scientists practice what they teach. Albert Hulstrunk of the State University of Albany's Atmospheric Sciences Center says only one of the 45 researchers smokes cigarettes.

Sub-Par College Students Helped

COLUMBUS, O. (UPI)—Sixty students who couldn't meet college entrance requirements are going to class at Ohio State University in a new program aimed at helping them make up academic deficiencies.

Called "New Careers," the program is conducted in cooperation with Ohio State's School of Social Work and the Columbus Metropolitan Area Community Action Organization to prepare students for responsible jobs in fields of mental health, welfare and corrections.

Larkspur Council Against Financial Disclosure Bill

Larkspur City Council was taken aback last night when it learned that a bill requiring full financial disclosure by public officials extended to them.

Councilman Alfred Malvino said if the bill passed "you wouldn't have to worry about me running for reelection."

City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst felt the bill "would have considerable effect on the quality of future councils."

It would require councilmen to file notice of full extent of their investments, ownership of stock or financial interest in any business entity, he said.

The bill covering state officials, also extends to county and city officials and public career officers, Bathurst said.

The council voted unanimously to oppose its passage.

Texas is the home of 48 oil refineries.

New Police Chief Is Selected For Rohnert Park

Robert Dennett, a sergeant with the South Lake Tahoe, Nev. Police department has been named director of public safety for Rohnert Park.

Involved in law enforcement since 1960, Dennett will take the post, heading combined police and fire departments, on June 1 at a salary of $925 per month.

Dennett, 37, served as a sergeant on the Richmond police force before moving to South Lake Tahoe. He is married and the father of three sons and a daughter.

City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan said that more than 50 applications were received for the vacancy created by the resignation of Bradley M. Koch, who is now working with the State Police Officers Standards and training Commission in Sacramento.

To Install Officers

The Marin County Cat Fanciers Association will have its installation dinner at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at Gregory's restaurant in Corte Madera.

Firemen Plan Event For Corte Maderans

Fire apparatus will be demonstrated and children given rides on a fire truck at the Corte Madera Volunteer Fire Department fire service day program to be held from 2 to 4 p.m., Saturday, at the Public Safety Building, Tamalpais Drive and Pixley Avenue.

The public will be given tours of the building and soft drinks and cookies will be served, Frank L. Nelson, police and fire chief, reported.

Tough Driveway Encroachment Policy Is Taken By Larkspur

Larkspur City Council last night took a hard line approach on driveway encroachments, ordering them removed unless there is a clear demonstration of hardship.

By votes of 4-1 with Councilman William G. Fleckles dissenting the council denied three appeals against removal of encroachments and denied another appeal by a unanimous vote.

Councilman Benton A. Sifford Jr. said collectively driveway encroachments are a problem, and a hodgepodge would develop if they aren't stopped.

There are about 600 encroachments in the city, reported Councilman Earl J. O'Grady.

The appeals came from residents of the Greenbrae sector of the city with Bruce A. Koppe of 54 Paseo Way, strongly presenting their case.

The city didn't present "one bit of evidence" to justify removal of the encroachments, Koppe said.

Mayor Neil R. Brixon reminded Koppe that the encroachments put in by residents were illegal. In some cases, encroachments will be granted, but it will be up to the applicant to prove hardship, he noted.

Koppe insisted upon knowing what standards would be applied to determine hardship, and councilmen indicated it would depend upon conditions in individual cases.

Councilman Alfred Malvino said the hardship would consist of inability to get in and out of a garage without the encroachment.

D. K. MacDonald of 57 Paseo Way contended that drainage in the area was inadequate, and Koppe said the encroachments weren't diverting any large amount of water into the roadway.

City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst noted that one appeal, that of Alexander M. Cornell of 56 Bayview Avenue, was granted with modifications meeting the approval of city staff.

Councilmen also voted against reconsidering two previous denials and will consider two other appeals at later sessions.

Princess Anne's First Royal Tour

VIENNA (London Express) — Princess Anne arrived in Vienna yesterday on her first royal tour — and just four and-a-half hours later found time to have a riding lesson.

After only an hour mounted on a famous, pure white Lipizzaner dancing horse at the Spanish Riding School in Vienna, the school's director, Johann Handler, called out to her: "This is very good, indeed. You are really a good horsewoman."

Princess Anne, rosy cheeked and smiling after a bout of flu, has just joined the Queen and Prince Philip for the last three days of a five-day state visit.

FOR CORTE MADERA

Tax Hike Of Nine Cents Is Forecast

The Town of Corte Madera's tax rate will go from 95 cents per $100 assessed valuation to $1.14 next year, Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher estimates.

The new rate includes 20 cents, currently levied by the county, which will be levied by the town under a joint powers agreement in order to finance a county branch library in Corte Madera.

Subtracting the library tax, the town expects to levy a 94 cent tax which compares with the current 95 cents. The estimated 1969-70 budget is $976,165, the current budget is $765,532.

The town will also levy for the first time this year a 60-cent sanitary district tax. A separate government tax, the town is responsible for levying this because on April 1 the town took over the Corte Madera Sanitary District.

The sanitary board budget is estimated at $160,790 for next year, a reduction of about $18,000 which Usher said can be made through economies resulting from the takeover.

Usher credits the town's sales tax revenues with keeping the property tax rate fairly stable over the years.

Revenues are second highest in the county, he said, San Rafael being the highest. Usher explained that the council budgeted for $270,000 in the current year in sales tax income, but the town is taking in $345,000. So, for next year the town is budgeting for $345,000.

The council will discuss proposed salaries at a 7:30 p.m. meeting next Thursday, take up general items in the budget at its regular meeting May 19 and talk about police and fire budgets May 20 and public works on May 26.

Salaries for 1969-70 are estimated at $439,638 and compare with $331,096 currently. Costs of the four added sanitary district employees is $36,272.

There will also be more spent in salaries for police and firemen, although figures are not yet available since the Town Council has still to indicate how many new people will be hired.

Under the "team approach" proposed by Usher and turned down by the council last Thursday, police salaries would have gone from $117,631 to $153,986 and firemen's salaries from $27,019 to $55,776.

Other comparable figures in the current budget and new budget (in parentheses) are: materials, supplies and services, $191,738 ($327,091); capital outlay, $174,015 ($241,554); debt services, $17,883 ($17,483); reserves, $50,000 ($201,811). A new category, which Usher calls reimbursements or pro-rated charges, is estimated at $251,412.

The major item proposed for capital improvements is the Tamalpais Avenue widening project from the freeway to Pixley Avenue, estimated at $125,000.

Other capital improvements include street work on lower Edison Avenue at $17,390; turfing, path work, cleaning up lagoons, building a shelter and converting the old Sanitary District office into a teen center — all in Town Park — at $19,000, and drainage system improvements, $6,560.

The 1969-70 tax rate breaks down as follows: general, 19 cents; special park, 15; retirement, 20; bond redemption, 8; land acquisition and development, 32, and library, 20.

Kidder also said the city's new snorkel truck will be on display at various shopping centers during the day. The schedule: 10:45-11:45, a.m., Novak Square; noon to 1 p.m., Mayfair shopping center; 1:15-2:15 p.m., Novato Fair shopping center; 2:30-3:30 p.m., Nave shopping center; 3:45-4:45 p.m., Pacheco Plaza shopping center.

Rings Taken From Sausalito Shop

Two weekend thefts in Sausalito were reported by police yesterday.

A thief took six gold rings valued at $406 between noon and 3 p.m. Saturday from McLean and Co. Goldsmiths at 687 Bridgeway, police said, and two calculating machines and an electric trypewriter, valued at $700, were stolen Sunday from the Handi Kup Co. at 480 Gate 5 Road.

Burglar Sentenced

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court Tuesday placed convicted burglar Allan Ludviksen, 23, of San Francisco on one year probation and ordered him to spend four months in the county jail.

Ludviksen was found guilty of the 1967 burglary of a Belvedere residence by a jury on March 20.

May 19 Hearing For Cotati Teen

Howard Earl Rhodd, 19, of 381 Bonnie Avenue, Cotati, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of possessing marijuana on March 19. A preliminary hearing was set for May 19.

Officers said that Rhodd had four marijuana cigarettes in his wallet at the time of his arrest on suspicion of having marijuana for sale. This charge was later dropped by the district attorney's office pending further investigation.

RESCUE AT McCLURE BEACH

A rescue team inches its way up a 300-foot cliff at McClure Beach carrying Richard Cassese who fell about 100 feet down the cliff to the rocky shore yesterday. The rescuers, the Marin County Fire Department's team at Point Reyes Station, worked about an hour to raise Cassese to the top. Cassese, 21, of 123 Willow Avenue, Corte Madera, was reported in "fair to poor" condition today at Marin General Hospital with lower back and chest pains. (Photo by Michael McLean)

Defense To Arrest By Bruce Aide

The man who was arrested April 5 on suspicion of contributing to the delinquency of a minor and gave his name as Burnist Earl Beauchamp of Marin City was not Beauchamp, Deputy Dist. Atty. Gart T. Ragghianti reported today.

The arrested man, who gave Beauchamp's name, bailed out of jail after the arrest, Ragghianti explained, and when he failed to appear in court, a bench warrant was issued for his arrest. The warrant was served on Beauchamp, who said that he had never been arrested on such a charge.

His claim proved to be true because the pictures of the man arrested did not match Beauchamp.

However, since the arrested man not only gave Beauchamp's name but was driving a car registered to Beauchamp, Ragghianti said he felt officers were justified in thinking that was whom they had arrested.

No charges were placed against Beauchamp, who declined to say who was driving his car on April 7.

The driver was accused by deputies of refusing to release a 12-year-old girl from the car while it was parked on a fire road at the end of Donahue Street in Marin City.

Peacock Gap Owners Ask Dog Controls

The Peacock Gap Homeowners Association last night voted to ask the San Rafael City Council to adopt an ordinance to control roaming dogs.

Charles W. Dechent, association treasurer, said the association membership, meeting in the Peacock Gap Country Club, wanted an ordinance similar to Novato's, which imposes stiff fines to violating dog owners.

In other business, homeowners heard talks by Lt. Raymond Bleasdale on traffic control in the community and by Inspector Richard Douglas on preventing burglaries.

Dechent said the association has dropped consideration of hiring special officers to reduce burglaries. High costs and difficulty in obtaining community-wide financial support were reasons for scuttling the idea, Dechent said.

Dechent reported the association board of directors would meet in the future at the country club, not at members' homes. The next meeting is at 8 p.m. Monday.

Carport Burglary

Joseph M. Kennison of 55 Bahia Way, San Rafael, reported to police yesterday the theft of a portable radio and tape recorder, valued at a total of $90, from his car parked in the carport at his residence.

Creek Concrete Foes Enter Innocent Pleas

Innocent pleas were entered by a battery of attorneys yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for all 38 of the Kent Woodlands residents, College of Marin students and other hangers-on who were arrested last week at Tamalpais Creek.

Judge Peter Allen Smith set two jury trials for the defendants, all of whom face misdemeanor charges of trespassing and failing to disperse when ordered.

Two of the group, Richard W. Beban, editor of the college newspaper, and Lawrence Halprin, landscape architect who lives in Kent Woodlands, also are charged with resisting arrest. Another youth, Gary Stark, is accused of battery and resisting arrest.

A trial for the 22 defendants represented by attorney Charles W. Pierce was set by Judge Smith for June 5, and one for the other 16 persons, who have various lawyers, will be held June 19.

Attorney Carl B. Shapiro cheerfully predicted in court yesterday that the trials could last a long time and require several hundred prospective jurors since there will be so many defendants.

Thirty of the adults and students were arrested early in the morning of April 28 when they halted flood control work on Tamalpais Creek.

The leader of the group, Marty Kent Jones of Kent Woodlands, and Halprin clung to an excavating machine until peeled off it. Later in the day a smaller wave of students climbed into the creek to block work, and eight more were arrested.

Deputy District Attorney Gary B. Ragghianti said in court yesterday that no additional complaint will be pressed against Beban, who was arrested for a second time Monday after sleeping in the creek area with a group of students, when he allegedly got too close to a chain saw.

Expansion Plans To Design Board

The Corte Madera Board of Design will hold an adjourned meeting at 3:30 p.m. tomorrow in the offices of William B. Gilbert, board chairman, at 1620 Montgomery Street, San Francisco, to discuss an application by H. Koch and Sons for expansion.

The three-man board, which held a special meeting last night on the subject, adjourned to Gilbert's offices in order to forward a decision to the planning commission by its Monday meeting.

The board generally favored the luggage company's plans but wanted more details on lighting and landscaping for the 72,000 square feet addition at 15 Koch Road.

Closed Session

The Mill Valley City Council and Mill valley Chamber of Commerce, represented by Leonar . S. Peck, will meet in closed session at 7 p.m. today in City Hall to interview two applicants for city manager.

EDWARD ELLIOTT TO CREEK PANEL

Architect Edward Elliott of Ross, a director of the Ross Property Owners Association, was named to a three-man committee to seek an alternative to a concrete flood control channel in Ross, not attorney Robert W. Elliott as reported to the Independent-Journal yesterday by Mrs. Lester Bricca.

Robert W. Elliott, who is attorney for the Town of Ross, is not a member of the property owners group. nor did he attend the meeting held Tuesday night to discuss alternative plans to a concrete ditch, as reported by Mrs. Bricca, an organizer of the meeting.

Marinites To Capital On Seashore

Two, and possibly three, county representatives will head for Washington, D.C., this weekend to press for more federal money to complete the acquisition of Point Reyes National Seashore land.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney left this afternoon to confer with representatives with Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, and Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District. The two congressmen have introduced a bill to appropriate an additional $38,150,000 so that the entire 53,000 acres designated for the park in 1962 can be purchased. About 29,000 of the 53,000 acres still remain in private ownership.

Supervisor Louis H. Baar said this morning he will join Maloney in Washington this weekend. Supervisor chairman John F. McInnis is vacationing in Hawaii and was reported unlikely to make the Washington trip. The seashore is within Baar's supervisorial district.

Baar said he hopes Point Reyes rancher Boyd Stewart will also go to Washington. "He'll be representing the county for the people of West Marin," said Baar.

A hearing on the appropriation bill will be held next Tuesday before the National Parks Subcommittee of the House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee.

Maloney will coordinate Marin's testimony during the Tuesday hearing.

Tiburon Theft

Burglars who kicked in a door at the home of Louis M. Dave of 4575 Paradise Drive, Tiburon, Tuesday stole a tape deck and tape deck recorder, sheriff's deputies said today.

Strawberry Rec Budget Up $5,530

A preliminary budget of $56,980 for 1969-70, an increase of $5,530 over the current fiscal year, was approved last night by the Strawberry Recreation District board.

The proposed budget will require $48,230 to be raised by property taxes with the remaining funds coming from garbage franchise and swimming pool lease fees and interest on a $80,000 time certificate deposit according to clerk Jeanne Heick.

The budget will require no increase in the present tax rate of 45.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation, Mrs. Heick said.

It allocates $10,820 for salaries; $8,375, operations and maintenance; $21,150 capital expenditures; and $16,635, reserves.

Included in the capital expenditure allocation is $17,000 for architectural fees for the new community center, $2,600 for the Richardson Bay Assessment District (Saucelito Canal), and $1,550 for small improvement projects.

A public hearing and final adoption of the budget is scheduled for 8 p.m. July 2 at Strawberry Point School.

The board also named chairman Arthur R. Senter and director James L. Andrews as a construction committee to work with district architect J. Martin Rosse on construction details for the new community center.

A special meeting was set for 8 p.m. Wednesday at Strawberry Point School to discuss the tennis program and continue discussion on the new cummunity center building.

Development Of Land Eyed

A proposed planned community development on the hills behind Loch Lomond and Villa Real was discussed by the homeowners associations of the two communities in a joint meeting last night.

Andrew James Ring III, president of the Loch Lomond group, reported the area is currently zoned for single family residences and developers have proposed changing to planned community, a higher density zoning.

Ring said the homeowner associations had very little information on the poans and officers agreed to investigate further before the next meeting.

After hearing all the information, the groups will probably take a stand on the development, Ring said.

Petite Burglars Get Clothes, Jewels

Owners of the Way Out House, a clothing shop at 943 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. Kentfield, told sheriff's officers Monday the shop had been broken into and men's and women's clothing, shoes and jewelry taken.

The burglars selected clothing in small sizes, deputies said.

Girl Claims Mysterious Ride To Dam

A 16-year-old Novato High School girl student reported to sheriff's officers Tuesday that while she was walking to school she was picked up by five teen-age girls and driven against her will to Nicasio Dam.

Sharon L. Toler of 1274 Parkwood Court said she was allowed to get out of the car there but was struck by one of the girls on her face, fell and hit her head and became unconscious.

When she regained consciousness, she said she walked home, arriving there about 7 p.m.

Deputies said today that Miss Toler told them she was picked up on Cambridge Street in Novato by the girls who were driving a late model white compact Buick convertible

The girls, whom she did not know, told her she had "Better come with them" and "keep her mouth shut." She did not know what they meant, she said, and loud radio music drowned out her captors' conversation on the way to the dam.

Deputies said the girl had a two-inch scratch on her face and a sore spot on her head.

Tossed Wire Cuts San Anselmo Power

Twenty-five San Anselmo homes were left without electric power for an hour and 45 minutes yesterday after a 16-year-old boy tossed a coiled clothesline wire onto power lines from the deck of his home at 448 Scenic Avenue.

The boy, son of Mario E. Watkins of 448 Scenic Avenue, later knocked the wire off the 12,000-volt line with a stick, Leonard O. Robertson, Pacific Gas and Electric Co. electric superintendent reported. Power went off at about 4:48 p.m. when the clothesline coil blew a fuse.

Judge Refuses To Halt Statue Work

A Marin Superior Court judge yesterday refused to issue an injunction ordering work stopped on the 65-foot thing, described as both a statue and a building, which is rising above a sunken barge at Gate 5.

Judge E. Warren McGuire said that the case should be decided on its merits and that the county will not suffer irreparable damage while awaiting trial since stability problems of the structure can be cured.

Artist Jean Varda yesterday likened the so-called statue to the Eiffel Tower, the Golden Gate Bridge and Watts Tower in Los Angeles, which he said serve as memorials to their cities.

The representation of mother and children will also serve as a memorial to whichever city it is located in, its builders Christopher Roberts and Andrew Loveman maintained.

Roberts said that eventually the structure may be moved to Tiburon, China Camp, Stinson Beach or stay at Sausalito.

Judge McGuire said that if the structure were floating, it certainly would be unstable, but since five feet of water in the barge keep it firmly mired in the mud it is not likely to go over.

The county is incensed at Roberts and Loveman for building the thing without a permit and contends that the statue may topple in high wind.

Asst. County Counsel Joseph A. Forest said today that the county intends to pursue both civil and criminal actions against Roberts and Lovemen. The criminal case is scheduled to be tried June 12 in Marin Municipal Court.

Youth Arrested In Suspicion Of Forgery Attempt

A San Rafael youth was arrested yesterday on suspicion of forging a money order believed one of the 3,000 to 5,000 pieces of mail said to have been stolen over a period of time by a former San Rafael postman.

The youth, Eugene Richard Rudnick, 19, of 103 Greenfield Avenue, San Rafael, cashed the $85 money order on April 17 at the Montecito Branch of the Bank of America, according to San Rafael Police Inspector Gerald R. Souza.

Souza said the money order apparently came from Warren Sielsky, 32, of 9 Taylor Street, who has been charged with stealing large quantities of mail while working at the Mill Valley Post Office. Sielsky is awaiting trial.

Rudnick, booked into Marin County Jail after surrendering at San Rafael police headquarters, was released on his own recognizance to appear for arraignment in Municipal Court Tuesday.

Brothers Booked In Disturbance

Two Larkspur brothers, one 17 and one 16, were booked into Marin Juvenile Hall Tuesday night on suspicion of disturbing the peace, resisting arrest and being drunk in a public place after they caused a disturbance at Cala Foods at 1711 Redwood Highway, police said today.

Police responded at about 9 p.m. after being advised that three youths were "acting in a strange manner" in the store and one was jumping up and down on a kiddie horse.

Asked to leave, the three refused, then ran from the store. The brothers were arrested. A 19-year-old Ross resident, for whom a warrant is being asked, escaped.

Youths Name Chairmen

Marin's Youth Commission Formation Committee named two more committee chairmen last night to help summer coordinator Christopher Harris of Tamalpais High School.

Karen Ault, a junior at San Rafael High School was named publicity chairman; and Al Kerr, a junior at Terra Linda High took over as chairman of the transportation, employment and education committee.

About 35 youths met at the Civic Center to continue discussions on various problems such as juvenile delinquency, recreation, employment and education. Coordinator Harris, Martin Lawler of Terra Linda, and Marc Litchfield of San Rafael led the discussion.

Litchfield said all forms of communications in the Bay Area must be used to disseminate information about the formation committee and the permanent youth commission that will be picked in September. He said he would contact television and radio media, while Miss Ault would contact newspapers.

Miss Ault said she hopes to complete by June Marin's report on youth problems to be presented at the governor's Youth Conference in Sacramento next November.

Next meeting of the Youth Commission Formation Committee will be at 7 p.m. next Wednesday in the supervisors' chambers at the Civic Center.

Two Bikes Stolen At Novato School

Two bicycles were stolen from outside Sinaloa Junior High School yesterday, Novato police reported today.

The bikes were owned by Walter David Myers of 865 Eucalyptus Avenue and Gary Marshall Orman of 2033 Shady Lane.

"Don't worry Mommy. When P.J. and I go to school we'll get a sitter to stay with you."

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, May 8, the 128th day of 1969 with 237 to follow.

The moon is in its last quarter. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Mecury and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1541 Spanish explorer Hernando de Soto discovered the Mississippi River.

In 1879 papers were filed for the first American automobile patent. George Sleden of Rochester, N.Y., was granted the patent in 1895.

In 1945 it was V-E Day. President Harry S Truman announced the end of World War II in Europe.

In 1958 Vice President Richard Nixon was stoned and spat upon as he toured Lima, Peru.

A thought for the day: President Truman, shortly after the A-bomb was dropped on Japan, said, "The force from which the sun draws its power has been loosed against those who brought war to the Far East."

Toastmasters Elect Slate At Hamilton

T/Sgt. Herman W. Scholz of the headquarters of Western Communications Region at Hamilton Air Force Base, has been elected president of the Hamilton Defenders, the base's chapter of Toastmasters International.

Also elected to the public speaking group were M/Sgt. Floyd Martin, administrative vice president; Sgt. John Laube, educational vice president; Lt. Robert Smolinski, secretary-treasurer, and Airman 1/C David Peters, sergeant at arms.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Sometimes Player Is Insulted When He Makes Bad Card Guess

When a man tries to guess which opponent has a missing queen he knows that he may guess wrong, and he doesn't gripe too much about it. But the man who works out the location of the missing queen by superior mentality takes it as a personal insult if the queen shows up in the "wrong" hand.

Opening lead — ♠ J

TOP CARDS

South won the first trick with the queen of spades and cashed the top cards in clubs and diamonds in the effort to make a 12th trick painlessly. When neither suit broke favorably South cashed the ace and king of spades to count each defender's hand.

By this time South knew that West had started with five spades, four clubs and two diamonds. This meant that West could have only two hearts and that East had started with five hearts. Since South was a mathematician he knew that the odds were 5 to 2 that East had the queen of hearts.

TAKES FINESSE

It was much better to rely on odds of 5 to 2 than to indulge in a mere guess, South told himself. He led a heart to the ace and returned a heart to try a finesse with the jack. West thereupon took the queen of hearts, a spade and a club to collect a penalty of 200 points.

South is still complaining about his bad luck. He worked out the odds, and they betrayed him. Mathematics has a grudge against him.

NO RIGHT

Actually, South had no right to complain because he could have enjoyed absolute certainty instead of mere favorable odds. After cashing the top spades South knew that East's remaining cards were the jack of diamonds and three hearts. Declarer should get to his hand with the king of hearts to lead a diamond.

East would win the diamond but would then have to lead a heart up to dummy's ace-ten. Dummy would win that finesse no matter which defender had the queen.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1 no-trump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠—J 10 9 6 2
♥—Q 3
♦—10 6
♣—J 9 8 6

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass. You have useful cards in each suit and have no reason to think that you will be better off at two spades than partner will be at 1-NT.

BACK TO GRASS WHISTLES — Shannon McCalla, 13, of San Anselmo holds a sheaf of her poetry at Red Hill Intermediate School where she is an eighth grader. She writes of "grass whistles." She even writes on backs of tests. (Independent-Journal photo)

WRITES FOR FRIENDS

Young Poet Sees Beauty In Nature

By BRUCE COLEMAN

"To love God is to love all humanity, for we are God and God is the ultimate human soul." — Shannon McCalla.

Shannon, 13, is an eighth grader at Red Hill Intermediate School in San Anselmo and works on the school paper, the Red Hill Rag.

"I'm the poetry editor but we don't ever print any because there's not enough space."

"But the poets still survive," the quiet-spoken, bespectacled girl went on to say. "It's sort of a better way — if you give poems to your friends. They will understand what you mean."

Shannon, daughter of Mrs. Betty McCalla of 22 Foss Avenue, started writing stories when she first entered school and became interested in poetry last year. "I mainly write poetry now," she said.

Her English class, headed by teacher Stephanie Biesi, is now studying poetry.

However, Shannon is a perennial poet in that, if she finishes a test and has nothing to do she turns it over and writes a poem on the back.

Some days she writes many poems; other days — none.

She wrote one called "On Hearing a Fight in the Next Room" which was just what it says — about a fight at home in the next room. Shannon has a twin sister, Kathy, who also writes poetry, and a brother, Brian, a ninth grader, who doesn't. Mrs. McCalla is a musician.

Here is the first line from Shannon's poem, "Going Back:"

"Let's go back to our freckled Utopia, back to shining hair under sun-dappled leaves, back to soft whiffs of cloud in faultless azure sky, back to grass whistles and shouting children sprawled on the lawn."

And one from "Blue Light Time:"

"When soft sun rays recede behind pale clouds, shivering with cold, the winds slowly build up pushing the sun to China."

And a passage from "Acceptance:"

"There is no reason to hate somebody just beause they're different. Narcissistic identification is a bad way to make friends. You should look for the beauty in people, because it's always there."

The "mostly Irish" Shannon was asked the role of the poet and said sometimes the poets write for themselves and you can understand them better. Sometimes they say it for a generation or an age, she said.

This kind of communication (the poet's) is important because you can understand people different from yourself, she asserted.

Speaking on nature, Shannon declared "there's beauty in everything."

Speaking on peace, she said she's not a pacifist all the time because "you can't say you don't believe in war if you fight with your friends and family."

She said, "Others write better than I do. I wish people wouldn't be so competitive. I wish everybody would stop trying to beat everybody. If somebody's better than you in something, that doesn't mean they are a better person. You shouldn't really worry about it."

Aide Loses Job In Poverty War

Reginald D. Tolbert, Economic Opportunity Council area director hired in January by the Marin City Target Area Board, has been released from the post.

The target area board voted Monday not to renew Tolbert's short-term contract, and set his termination date at April 30. Board Chairman Elihu H. Johnson would not elaborate on reasons for Tolbert's release.

The board will seek a new director. Tolbert succeeded James Coleman, who left last October.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Antismut Bills Gain New Life

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Two antipornography bills endorsed by both Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan and Democratic Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch had new life today in a previously hostile committee.

Suddenly, chances of passage appeared excellent for the two bills by Sen. Robert J. Lagomarsino, R-Ojai. This year is his third try with the measures.

In a three-hour session held yesterday after they saw a movie featuring nudes, shown by Assemblyman E. Richard Barnes, the committee made some major modifications in the Senate-passed bills.

"I think we've got it in shape," Assemblyman Frank Murphy Jr., R-Santa Cruz, said of a measure to prohibit showing "harmful matter" to youngsters under 18 after the nearly line-by-line review by the committee.

Murphy is chairman of the Criminal Procedure Committee, which has been the graveyard for the two bills during the past two sessions of the Legislature.

Lagomarsino predicted Assembly approval and said he expected the Senate to agree to the lower house changes.

Murphy, who suggested all of the changes himself, agreed. "Knowing whatever we do is going to be subject to a court test, this action will put it in the best possible shape to withstand any test," he said after the committee adjourned.

As a result of the major surgery, the committee postponed until May 14 any vote on the two measures.

The committee in most cases inserted actual language from recent court decisions on pornography in an attempt to assure constitutionality of the statutes.

For example, the committee rewrote one section to contain a definition that the matter was smut unless it had redeeming social importance for minors. In another section, the word "recklessly" was changed to "knowingly."

A statement submitted to the committee for Lynch said the sexually-oriented material trade had grown from two years ago when he said it was a $19 million industry.

And, he said, the smut peddlers have grown braver.

"I think it is now clear to all concerned that the sex-oriented industry is determined to solicit every household in the state," he said. "These solicitations are being made without any regard for privacy or propriety."

One of the bills attempts to control mail order solicitation of racy literature and movies by allowing a court to consider the purpose of advertising.

TAX REFUND

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill extending the time about 300,000 homeowners have to get a $70 check from the state today went before the Senate Finance Committee.

The Assembly-passed bill, by Assemblyman George W. Milias, R-Gilroy, won quick approval yesterday from the Senate Revenue and Taxation Committee.

The measure extends to May 23 the deadline for a homeowner to apply for a $70 property tax rebate and file for a continuing $750 reduction in the assessed value of his residence.

The bill is backed by Gov. Ronald Reagan and is not expected to have any difficulties clearing the upper house.

Milias estimated between 250,000 and 300,000 persons had failed to file for the rebate by the April 15 deadline.

PHONE PROBE

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly has asked the state attorney general and Public Utilities Commission to investigate a recorded telephone campaign in Southern California advocating genocide of Negroes and Jews.

By a virtually unanimous voice vote, the lower house adopted yesterday the resolution by black Democratic Assemblyman Leon Ralph of Los Angeles.

He said the commission has suspended the recording but he still wants the legislature to have a report on the campaign advocating mass killing.

Ralph called it "an organized campaign being directed from Arlington, Va., to the state of California" and said the attorney general's office told him members of the American Nazi party, with El Monte, and Arlington headquarters, sponsored the message.

MAGAZINES

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Ronald Reagan's proposed sales tax on magazines would jeopardize freedom of the press, Assemblyman John P. Quimby charged Wednesday.

The Rialto Democrat said that under the governor's proposed tax reform program, which includes the tax on magazines, Sunday newspaper supplements could be considered separate magazines.

Quimby said the magazine is an integral part of the newspaper and is included in its sale price, "therefore, the price of the paper could be taxed at the proposed 5 per cent rate."

DOCTORS

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Assembly yesterday unanimously voted to crack down on doctors who present false claims for payment under the state's medical care program.

It approved and sent to the Senate a bill by Assemblyman Gordon W. Duffy, R-Hanford, which makes it a crime punishable by up to five years in prison and a maximum fine of $5,000 to falsify Medi-Cal claims.

The measure is supported by the Reagan administration and the California Medical Association.

Pueblo's Executive Officer May Resign Over 'Slap'

BOSTON (AP) — "I'll probably have to resign from the service because of this," Lt. Edward R. Murphy Jr., executive officer of the USS Pueblo, was quoted today as saying.

"I was imprisoned for 11 months by the North Koreans. There were eight long weeks of the court of inquiry. And now this."

Murphy, whose comments were in a copyrighted interview in the Christian Science Monitor, was referring to the recommendations of the Naval board of inquiry with respect to the Pueblo incident.

The recommendations, released earlier this week by Navy Secretary John H. Chafee, included general courts-martial for Cmdr. Lloyd Bucher, the Pueblo's skipper, and Lt. Stephen B. Harris, the spy ship's intelligence officer.

Also recommended was a "letter of admonition" for Murphy for alleged dereliction in the performance of his duties.

The recommendations will not be followed, however. Chafee said the men of the Pueblo had "suffered enough."

But for Murphy, second in command and navigator of the vessel,. this apparently was not enough.

"The stigma of this reprimand, although it is comparatively only a slap on the wrist," the Monitor quoted Murphy as saying, "could follow me throughout my Navy career.

He said Chafee's decision not to proceed with disciplinary action against the crew "may take the Navy off the hook. But it leaves me and others very much on it."

Six Youths Held In School Fight

RICHMOND (AP) — Juvenile authorities held six high school students today after a series of brawls between hundreds of Negroes and whites.

Officials said trouble started yesterday at Richmond High School's south campus after a band of Negroes refused to attend classes in protest to the suspension of one of their group.

Fights moved to the school's north campus and finally to Downer Junior High School in San Pablo.

Before it was ended, 40 Richmond policemen, 10 Contra Costa County sheriff's deputies and seven San Pablo patrolmen were involved.

A preliminary hearing was set for June 5.

Airmen Receive Chamber Awards

Two airmen at Hamilton Air Force Base collected $50 each this week from the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce.

Awards went to S/Sgt. John F. Ash Jr. of 1141 Ransome Drive, Novato, and A/1c Terry C. Hansen of 21 Merrydale Road, San Rafael, as noncommissioned officer and airman of the quarter for January-March of this year.

George T. Lawrence, chairman of the military affairs committee, presented the awards on behalf of the chamber, which is given them in appreciation of the role of Hamilton Air Force Base in San Rafael's economy.

Sergeant Ash is a watch supervisor-senior controller in the Hamilton control tower, and Airman Hansen is an air traffic controller in radar approach control. Both are members of the 1902nd Communications Squadron.

Draft Conviction For Nazi's Son

SAN FRANCISCO UPI)— The peace-dedicated son of a former Nazi storm trooper has been convicted by a federal jury of refusing to be drafted.

Hans Keller, 22, was ordered to appear for sentencing May 28 by U.S. Dist. Judge Alfonso J. Zirpoli after the jury found him guilty yesterday. He could get up to five years in prison.

Keller, who came to the U.S. at 17, failed to file for conscientious objector status because of his misunderstanding of the law. He admitted in a brief trial that he had refused twice to take the symbolic step forward at an induction center.

Ancient Indian's Bones Unearthed

LA JOLLA (UPI) — A restaurant owner digging beneath his patio unearthed the skeleton of a male Indian that scientists believe is 6,000 years old.

John Katzenstein, co-owner of the Top O' the Cove, said the Indian was buried on his left side with his head toward the east and his face toward the south.

"That would make this fellow about 6,000 years old," said James Moriarity, professor of anthropology at the University of San Diego.

Gray squirrels do not reach full size until two years old.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Menopause Simply Creeps Up Quietly On Many; Later Now

VAN DELLEN

The menopause begins so insidiously that few women could say when it actually started. The manifestations also vary, and the end is unpredictable.

In addition, many women reach the menopause at an average of 49 to 50 years. A few decades ago it was 45.

The periods may stop suddenly or gradually become scantier and farther and farther apart. Now and then the menes cease for several months, only to return.

THREE OUT OF FOUR women have some discomfort from time to time, but it is not disabling. Fifteen per cent never are bothered.

Menopausal symptoms are physical and emotional, and it may be difficult to distinguish between the two. The trouble is timing, because the process occurs at a time of life when signs of aging take place, the blood pressure may go up, the children are married, and hubby has, or has not, made his mark.

THE COMPLAINTS of women at this transition period have been tabulated, and almost 50 per cent have been ascribed to the menopause.

Hot flashes are the most common. These produce a sensation of heat on the face and upper body. They go unnoticed except when accompanied by profuse sweating. Flushes induce temporary redening of the skin.

Depression or anxiety is par for the course. Insomnia, headache, fatigue, and dryness in the pelvic area may coexist. On the plus side, the woman now can have sex without fear of pregnancy.

FURTHERMORE, hormones relieve symptoms and are advisable whenever distress is disturbing. At best these drugs make the transition smoother and also prevent certain changes from taking place. Estrogens also lessen pelvic dryness. Many physicians believe that certain women should take small amounts of hormones indefinitely, provided regular cancer screening tests are done.

In women of menopausal age, heavier flow and more frequent menstruation or bleeding between periods is not normal and should be investigated.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

LEG FLUID IN PREGNANCY

A reader writes: What is done when a pregnant woman's milk settles in her legs?

REPLY

These are tissue juices, not milk, as your grandmother thought. This woman should be under the watchful eye of a physician. If both legs are involved, a low-salt diet and rest may be helpful. Swelling of one leg usually is caused by inflammation of the vein or of a lymphatic passageway.

ICE CUBES AND STOMACH

A. A. writes: My father has the absurd notion that ice cubes freeze the lining of the stomach. We think he is wrong and would like your opinion.

REPLY

He is wrong, although it is possible to freeze the lining via other methods. Some people consume large amounts of ice without the slighest discomfort.

CHEESE AND PRESSURE

A. G. writes: I heard that eating cheese raises the blood pressure. Please comment.

REPLY

This is not true unless certain antihypertensive agents such as pargyline have been prescribed. Cheese, in these circumstances, alters the chemical composition of the product, forming a substance that increases the blood pressure.

UTERUS IN DUPLICATE

Mrs. S. D. writes: Did you ever hear of a double uterus?

REPLY

Duplicate uteri have been recorded but a more common anomaly is a single uterus divided by a partition.

WHY FIBROID TUMORS?

A reader writes: What is the cause of a fibroid tumor in the uterus?

REPLY

Fibroids develop from muscle cells of the uterine wall. No one knows why these tumors occur. There appears to be a connection between fibroids and sex hormones but there is no proof that ovarian secretions initiate the growths.

HOW MUCH PENICILLIN

A reader writes: If a person needs penicillin and is not sensitive to it, is there any limit to the amount he can take?

REPLY

No. Tremendous doses have been given over long periods of time without adverse effects. Less than 10 per cent of our population has a sensitivity to this antibiotic.

CHICKEN POX IN ADULT

M. B. writes: Can an adult develop chicken pox?

REPLY

Yes, but it is not common and usually occurs in a person who has been reared in a rural area. Nevertheless, chicken pox has been reported in all age groups, from birth to 72 years.

Ernest Bloch Society Has Marin Office

The Ernest Bloch Society, formed in honor of the late composer, has established its national headquarters in Mill Valley, where he wrote his symphony "America" while director of the San Francisco Conservatory of Music.

Headquarters, formerly in Portland, Ore., are now at 117 Marguerite Avanue, Mill Valley, the society announced in its spring bulletin.

Sita Milcev of Mill Valley, assistant secretary of the society, reported that a Marguerite and Ernest Bloch Memorial Grove will be dedicated at 10 a.m. June 28 in Prairie Creek Redwoods State Park, six miles north of Orick, Humboldt County.

The memorial grove was purchased through the Save-the-Redwoods League in San Francisco, by the children, grandchildren and friends of Ernest Bloch.

Gottlieb Deeds His Morningstar Ranch To God

SANTA ROSA (UPI) — Lou Gottlieb, onetime folksinger with the Limelighters and part time hippie benefactor, deeded his 30-acre ranch to God yesterday — but said he would continue to pay the property taxes.

"It's preposterous to pay taxes for God," the bearded doctor of music said, "but for God's sake, I'll pay them."

Gottlieb advised "religious people all over the world to follow this example because the exclusive ownership of land is the original sin from which all bad stuff flows."

Sonoma County recorder Herbert Snyder, who at first refused to record the deed, relented after Gottlieb had it notarized.

"I didn't argue," said Snyder. "If he wanted to waste his money ($2.80), let him."

Psychiatrist: Sit-Down Soldier Wanted Praise

FORT ORD (UPI) — Another psychiatrist testified yesterday about the mental condition of another of the 14 Army soldiers being tried on mutiny charges for participating in a sit-down strike at the Presidio stockade.

Dr. Maurice Spottswood of San Francisco was the seventh witness from the field of psychology-psychiatry to be called by defense attorney Terence Hallinan, who intends to call seven more.

Spottswood told the court-martial board Pvt. Patrick A. Wright, 20, Santa Rosa, expected to be praised for joining 26 other stockade prisoners in the demonstration last Oct. 14.

Wright "thought that if the command knew how bad the situation was in the stockade, they would do something to remedy it," the psychiatrist said. He added, "This borders on delusion."

Battle Of Bands

A junior high school dance and battle of the bands, sponsored by the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Department, will be held from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Mill Valley Community Recreation Center, 315 Sycamore Avenue. The dance is open to all students at Edna Maguire Middle School.

Trustee's Son Faces Pot Count

STANFORD (UPI) — Harrison M. Brown, 23, the son of a Stanford University trustee who criticized his father's law firm for prosecuting student demonstrators, has been arrested on drug charges.

Brown, a graduate student in physics, was arrested Saturday and released on $200 bail in Palo Alto for allegedly possessing marijuana, it was learned yesterday.

Police said Brown attended a concert by O. C. Smith on campus and handed the singer a marijuana cigarette. Police said Smith returned it, saying, "That's the funniest cigarette I've ever seen. That's got seeds in it."

Smith's remarks, according to police, were picked up by a nearby microphone and heard by officers at the Frost Amphitheatre concert.

Airman's Hearing Set In Marijuana Case

A preliminary hearing for an airman from Hamilton Air Force Base and a recently discharged airman who are accused of marijuana possession has been set for May 20.

A/1c John Oral Allen, 21, and former A/1c Donald Gilliam, 24, were arrested April 13 when Novato police stopped their car because it did not have a rear license plate.

Hayakawa Admits Job Exhausting

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Dr. S. I. Hayakawa says he finds being acting president of San Francisco State College exhausting and he does not want to hold the post too long.

"It's tiring, man, tiring," Hayakawa told reporters yesterday after coming to the Capitol to tell a legislative committee of the budget needs for his strife-torn school in the coming year.

The Mill Valley semanticist who became nationally known through his handling of student and faculty strikers and demonstrations, said he's months away from deciding whether to run for public office—as some have suggested.

"It seems such a remote idea at this moment," Hayakawa said. But he added he would not eliminate the possibility.

A reporter asked what post he might seek if he did decide to run and Hayakawa joked, "Emperor of California."

Hayakawa, a Democrat, has been mentioned as a possible candidate for the U.S. Senate or the office of state school superintendent in 1970.

Outcry To Dumping Of Warfare Bombs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army plans to haul 27,000 tons of obsolete chemical warfare gas bombs overland by train and then sink them in the Atlantic Ocean are being attacked in Congress as possibly unsafe.

Within minutes of the Pentagon announcement of the plans yesterday evening, Rep. Cornelius E. Gallagher, D-N.J., called a meeting for today of his House Foreign Affairs subcommittee to investigate.

Gallagher said the plans "pose a serious problem for population centers through which the gondola cars will pass, as well as to fishing banks off the United States."

The Army insisted the shipment and disposal procedures can be executed safely. Maj. Gen. Wendell Coates, the Army's information chief, conceded judgment is involved in possible pollution factors in the seawater.

Unless tentative plans change, outmoded nerve gas bombs, mustard gas and tear gas in steel cylinders are to be loaded between May and August into a dozen trains of 50 to 70 cars each.

The troop-guarded trains with safety crews aboard would move slowly to the Naval Ammunition Depot at Earle, N.J., near Asbury Park about 60 miles south of New York City.

Special wrapping will guard against leakage in case of train collision.

At the Earle depot, the cylinders would be loaded aboard four derelict Liberty ships, towed to sea and sunk in 7,200 feet of water off the Continental shelf, the Army said.

Governors Of ABM-Slated Sites Oppose Missile Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Governors of both states chosen by the Nixon administration as initial sites for antiballistic missiles have declared themselves opposed to the controversial Safeguard program.

The two Democrats, first-term Gov. Forrest H. Anderson of Montana and fourth-term Gov. William L. Guy of North Dakota, contend the short-term economic benefits of Safeguard sites in their states wouldn't be worth the long-term problems they could cause.

And they say they don't want their states to become nuclear junkyards.

As the controversy rages in Washington, a possible referendum on the antiballistic missile —ABM—issue is building up through a special congressional election in the normally Republican Second District of eastern Montana where one proposed site is located.

That site is Malmstrom Air Force Base in Great Falls, Mont. The other proposed site is Grand Forks, N.D., Air Force Base. Both have Minuteman missiles which ABM supporters say would be protected by the Safeguard system.

Burglars' Big Haul At Terra Linda

John W. Connaway, of 781 Del Ganado Road, Terra Linda, has reported to the sheriff's office that when he returned from a trip Sunday he discovered his house had been broken into, and missing were tools, a television set, radio, binoculars, camera and a small rug.

Sheriff's deputies said yesterday that the burglars pried open a living room window and also ransacked the refrigerator for drinks and food.

Look In The Mirror; Now, 1...2...3...Gurn!

WELSCHMAN'S RARE BIT — See that handsome gent above? Hm? Oh, no, that half-column cut is me. I'm talking about the two-column picture.

It has earned many captions, including, "Sleep tight tonight; your CIA is ever on the alert," and, "Cigarette smoking may be hazardous to your health."

Actually, it's a picture of Mr. Dai Llewellyn whose claim to fame is making funny faces. Just one glance and you can see that he is successful. Mr. Llewellyn is the Welsh champion gurner and runnerup in the world championship. Hoo-hee, would I like to see the champ if he's the runnerup.

You may have read about gurning in this corner recently. It is an old Welsh sport in which individuals compete to make faces and the person who makes the best, or worst face, depending on your point of view, is the winner. A college in Montana picked up the sport and it could sweep the country. In fact, I have several candidates in mind. Just look in the mirror.

Solves Mystery For Kentfield Man

The piece in my column solved a mystery for R. J. Scoutten of Kentfield. He had seen the internationally-syndicated photo of Mr. Llewellyn and wrote to the Welshman, asking what it was all about.

Llewellyn wrote a lengthy reply, but his handwriting made the word "gurning" look like "gumming," which the picture would indicate, puzzling Scoutten.

Llewellyn's letter, in part, told Scoutten:

"I've been gurning for approximately 56 years and have won over 500 first prizes at various carnivals and fetes for charity and cancer and spastics. And I have enjoyed every minute of it. So you can see I've had a bit of good fun out of life. And at 73 years of age I still compete.

"I lost the world gurning championship through the slip of the tongue by the president of the show. He told a television announcer the night before the show that I would walk away with the title. Whether the judges thought he was trying to frame it, I don't know. Well, that's how it goes.

As A Loser He's A Winner

"And most of the competitors use the gimmick that they've been invited out to different parts of the world to compete, so I would like you to do me a favour. If you answer this letter, pretend to offer me contracts out in California. It will be good fun. As the old adage goes, 'If you can't beat 'em, join 'em'."

See, even in the sport of gurning the losers cry, "I wuz framed." Mr. Llewellyn's photo has been framed and hanged in places of honor throughout the world. Even as a loser he's a winner.

Sudden thought: Since Petaluma has the world's wristwrestling championship, why can't someone in Marin promote the world's gurning championship?

LIVE CLOSED CIRCUIT TELECAST of the Indianapolis 500 mile auto classic Memorial Day again will be shown at the Tamalpais Theater in San Anselmo. Tickets, priced at $7.50 and $6.50, are now on sale at all Marin County theater box offices.

Denise Cannot Play For Warriors

UNION, Iowa (AP) — "I was shocked and surprised when they told me about it," but "I still think it's kind of cute," said Denise Long after becoming the first woman in history to be drafted by the National Basketball Association.

The San Francisco Warriors picked her in the 13th round of the NBA draft yesterday, but league President Walter Kennedy said, "Not allowed."

5-FOOT-11

Denise is a 5-foot-11 high school star from Union-Whitten High School and finished out her prep career this year with a total of 6.249 points in four seasons. She once scored 111 points in one game.

"We were serious," said Frank Mieuli, owner and president of the Warriors.

"We weren't trying to belittle the draft or the caliber of players available in the late rounds. We didn't intend to use her in NBA games. We wanted to use her in a league we have for preliminary games," he said.

"I think I could have played with them. I always practice by boys' rules. But, they're bigger than I am, and stronger, I guess," Denise said.

TROUBLE

"I'd probably have trouble keeping my eyes off the boys. And maybe they would have trouble keeping their eyes off me," she said after admitting she "might have accepted the offer."

Denise would not have been the first girl to invade the professional basketball ranks.

Female jockey Penny Ann Early was signed by the Kentucky Colonels in the rival American Basketball Association and got into an ABA game briefly last season before returning to the race track.

OTHER PICKS

In the first two draft rounds last month, the Warriors got forwards Bob Portman of Crieghton and Ed Siudut of Holy Cross. They showed more interest in a hotshot forward when they went for Tom Hagan of Vanderbilt in the third round; Lee Lafayette, Michigan State; Willie Wise, Drake; Dan Obranic, Dayton, and then a host of forwards from the state of California—Pat Foley of UOP, Steve Rippe of Santa Barbara; Craig Reed, Sacramento State; Girard Chatman, San Francisco State; Rick Holmberg, St. Mary's, and Joe Callaghan, San Francisco State.

OAKS WIN

Hannum Challenges Celtics

OAKLAND (AP) — "It's the most satisfying victory in my whole life," says Alex Hannum, the only basketball coach to win titles in both the National and American basketball associations.

Hannum's Oakland Oaks defeated the Indiana Pacers 135-131 in overtime last night to take the ABA playoffs, four games to one.

After the game, the Oaks sent a telegram to the Boston Celtics, NBA champs, asking, "How about a game between the world champions?"

'BIGGEST'

"To take a bunch of guys who were down last year and to come back and win the title has to be the biggest thing that ever happened to me," said Hannum, who won NBA titles with strong teams at Philadelphia in 1967 and St. Louis in 1958.

Oakland finished last in the ABA Western Division last season, losing 64 games for a pro basketball record. This season, former NBA scoring champ Rick Barry helped the Oaks to a fast start, but suffered a knee injury and missed nearly half of the games. Barry didn't play at all in the playoffs.

TIES GAME

Indiana, trailing by as much as 12 points in the third period, pulled even at 122-122 with four seconds left as Ron Perry sank two free throws.

Pacers' Coach Bon Leonard said he told his players to try for a three-point basket from 25 feet out to win the game rather than go for a tie. But the play didn't work.

Three Pacers—Roger Brown, Fred Lewis and Tom Thacker—fouled out in overtime.

"It's always a concern when you get men in foul trouble," Leonard said. "But I had to go with my best players because there is no tomorrow."

Doug Moe and Warren Armstrong led the Oaks in overtime with four points apiece. Armstrong scored 39 for the game and Moe 22.

OVERTIME

Lewis led Indiana with 33 and Brown scored 31.

"We haven't lost any overtimes this year," said Armstrong. "We were a better team and we were in better shape. They had players in foul trouble and we took advantage of it."

"When we entered the overtime," Hannum said, "I told my players to throw caution to the wind."

Drake Girls Win Track-Field Title

Drake High School's undefeated girls track and field team clinched the undisputed Marin County Athletic League championship yesterday with a 55-33 victory over Tamalpais High at Drake. It was the champs' sixth victory of the season.

Outstanding performances for Drake yesterday were Laurie Glenn's 8 second clocking in the 50-yard hurdles, Kim Bage's 67.3 in the 44-yard run and Karen Malone's 4 foot, 6 inch high jump.

Giants Hobble Into Chicago After Victory In St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—With the heart of the lineup hobbled by injuries, the San Francisco Giants welcomed a breather today en route to Chicago.

Using a makeshift lineup, the Giants broke a five-game losing streak last night by beating the St. Louis Cardinals 5-3 behind the eight-hit pitching of Gaylord Perry. He fanned six to improve his record to 5-3.

Third baseman Jim Davenport drove in two runs with a single in a two-run third and a sacrifice fly in the seventh. The win gave the Giants a split in the two-game series with the Cards.

2½ OUTFIELDERS

However, the Giants find themselves today with only about 2 1-2 healthy outfieldes.

Bobby Bonds went in for Hart but Bonds found he was unable to grip a bat because of a persisting swollen left forearm as a result of being hit last week by a pitched ball. So Willie Mays, despite an ailing back, had to play the outfield in the final inning.

POWER GONE

Willie McCovey is nursing a painful right hip and sat this one out. With McCovey, Mays and Bonds out of the lineup, the Giants' power potential is reduced by about 90 per cent.

With an open date today, the Giants will take things easy before opening a three-game weekend series with the Chicago Cubs tomorrow afternoon. Juan Marichal (4-2) of the Giants is scheduled to hurl against righthander Bill Hands (3-2).

Campy Helps A's Trim Senators

OAKLAND (AP) — Apparently a day of rest was all that Oakland shortstop Bert Campaneris needed.

Manager Hank Bauer of the A's gave Campy a night off Tuesday but put him back in the lineup last night against the Washington Senators. Campaneris gets another rest today as Oakland waits for the Yankees to arrive.

Campaneris, who went into last night's game with a .163 batting average, singled to score the tying run in the eighth inning as the A's rallied to whip the Senators, 5-4.

He also doubled and scored the first run of the game in the first inning.

Campy's single off relief pitcher Dennis Higgins started all kinds of trouble for Washington. By the time the Senators stopped throwing the ball around, Oakland had two runs and Campaneris was on third base.

Center fielder Del Unser's throw to third trying to get Ted Kubiak went into the dugout to allow Kubiak to score the winning run.

"They were playing like the old Senators again," Oakland third baseman Sal Bando said.

Bando had troubles of his own in the ninth inning when he made two errors, allowing

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Tiant, Bahnsen Having It Rough

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The year 1968 was the Year of the Blank for major league pitchers but for Luis Tiant and Stan Bahnsen 1969 has started out in blankety-blank fashion.

The winless right-handers, among the top hurlers in the American League a year ago, were shelled again last night, leaving each with an 0-6 record and wondering where his next win is coming from.

Tiant, who won 21 games last season and led the league with a 1.60 earned run average, yielded six hits and as many runs—including two homers by Harmon Killebrew — as the Cleveland Indians were bombed by Minnesota 10-3.

TOP ROOKIE

Bahnsen, Rookie of the Year for New York and a 17-game winner, surrendered 10 hits and four runs in five innings as the Yankees lost to California 4-2.

In other games, the Chicago White Sox held off Baltimore 6-4, Boston edged Seattle 5-4, Oakland nipped Washington by the same score and Detroit whipped Kansas City 6-2.

Killebrew's two homers, his sixth and seventh of the season, paced an 11-hit Minnesota attack that saddled the Indians with their 19th loss in 23 games. Winning pitcher Jim Kaat, Tony Oliva and Ted Uhlaender each drove in two runs while Killebrew's blasts accounted for three.

8.29 ERA

Tiant has now pitched 33 2-3 innings and allowed 46 hits and 31 earned runs for a 8.29 ERA.

Jay Johnstone was Bahnsen's nemesis, driving in three runs with a double a single and scoring the fourth on Aurelio Rodriguez' single. Lou Johnson and Jim Fregosi started two-run uprisings in the third and fifth with singles, setting the stage for Johnstone.

Tom Murphy checked the Yankees on three hits until Bobby Murcer cracked a two-run homer in the eighth. Hoyt Wilhelm finished up as the Yankees suffered their eighth loss in nine games.

Washington to put the tying run on second base.

Relief pitcher Paul Lindblad got big Frank Howard on a fly ball to short left field and then struck out pinch-hitter Dick Billings to end the game.

It was a good night for Bando at the plate. He hit his eighth homer of the season, only one less than he had all last year.

Tommy Reynolds of Oakland extended his hitting streak to 11 straight games with a first inning single. Reynolds has been a pleasant surprise to Bauer.

Reynolds was picked up from Jacksonville, Fla. in the International League last year when he was not protected by the New York Mets in the draft.

Bucks May Have Two Bruins Next Season

NEW YORK (AP) — The Milwaukee Bucks of the National Basketball Association may have two-fifths of UCLA's NCAA championship team in their line-up next year.

The Bucks grabbed the Bruins' Ken Heitz, a 6-3½ forward-guard in the fifth round yesterday as the NBA completed its college player draft.

UCLA teammate Lew Alcindor, the No. 1 pick, was signed for $1.4 million after the NBA skimmed off the cream of the crop in the first two rounds of the 14-round grab bag on April 8.

BRUINS

Two other UCLA players also were chosen—Bill Sweek, a 6-2½ guard, by Phoenix, and Lynn Shackleford, a 6-5 forward, by San Diego, both in the seventh round. Another UCLA star, Lucius Allen, went to Seattle in the original draft.

Heitz, who majored in economics and completed his undergraduate studies with just below an A average, said last night he'd prefer to enroll at Harvard Law School where he has a scholarship.

TWINS TO SUNS

The Phoenix Suns said they got what they wanted in Floyd and Lloyd Kerr, a pair of flashy 6-3, 207-pound twins from Colorado State. The Suns, an expansion team leading off the third round, plucked Floyd, a forward-guard drafted by the Los Angeles Stars of the American Basketball Association and the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League. He was a member oft he All-Star team in the Mid-western NCAA finals. Lloyd, drafted by the Oakland Oaks of the ABA, was picked later in the same round through a deal with Atlanta.

Girls Badminton

Redwood defeated Tamalpais 5-0 and Novato tripped San Marin 4-1 in a pair of girls badminton matches yesterday.

Nolan Orders Special Camp

REDWOOD CITY (UPI)—Head coach Dick Nolan of the San Francisco 49ers has ordered his quarterbacks and a few linebackers to attend a special camp starting Tuesday.

John Brodie, George Mira and Steve Spurrier will spend 7 to 10 days at the team's training camp in Redwood City to go over offensive plans for the 1969 season.

Linebackers scheduled to be in camp include Ed Beard, Frank Nunley and Skip Vanderbundt.

FINALS ON SATURDAY

Trackmen Complete Trials

Marin County Athletic League track and field teams wound up qualifying heats for the league finals yesterday at Tamalpais High School in Mill Valley, and the little guys in frosh competition stole the show.

Four youngsters cracked records in the three-year-old frosh division, with no records going in either varsity or Class B.

Finals for all three classes are scheduled to start noon Saturday, also on Tam High School's new track facility.

THREE RECORDS

San Rafael High School's Scott Duncan led the frosh record-breakers with a long jump of 20 feet, 4¾ inches, his third record in as many events over the two-day trials. The day before, he ran 10.8 in the 100-yard dash and 24.9 in the 220.

Mark Farrar of San Rafael set a new standard in the high jump, 5-6; Jay Lehman of Redwood broke the shot put mark, 40-9¼, and Chad Fairfax of Terra Linda set a new discus record, 124-2½.

Pro Grid Realignment Issue Still Clouded

NEW YORK (UPI)—The future of pro football in the United States remained clouded today as the owners resumed their meetings in an attempt to find a suitable realignment for 1970.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle huddled with the National Football League owners yesterday before today's joint meeting with the American Football League owners opened.

Rozelle apparently had little success in trying to persuade three NFL owners to move their teams over to the AFL to create two 13-team divisions.

PLAYOFFS

The owners have agreed on two 13-team leagues with three divisions in each league. The three division champions and the best runnerup in each league will participate in the playoffs with the survivors advancing to the Super Bowl.

But unless three NFL teams agree to shift to the AFL the owners may have to start all over and completely mix up the two leagues to create the 13-team setups.

If that's the case, the meetings could drag on indefinitely. The meetings opened in Palm Springs in March.

Under the 1966 merger agreement between the two leagues, no definite plan was spelled out for realigning the leagues.

Brandon Tires Win In Softball

Orvill LeNoue pitched and batted Brandon Tires to a 6-3 victory over the Marinwood Merchants last night in the San Rafael Softball League's B Division at Albert Park.

LeNoue gave up six hits and aided his own cause with three hits and three runs-batted-in. Shortstop Bob Phillips contributed two hits, including a home run, and scored twice. In the evening's other game, a C-I Division tilt, San Quentin Bulls downed Pepsi-Cola, 6-1, behind John Davis' four-hitter and infielder Bill Rohrer's home run and single and two runs batted in.

Thinclads Eye All-Time Records In League Meet

By GARY TISCHLER

Whenever the Marin County Athletic League Track and Field meet rolls around, there's always a good amount of chatter about records.

Well, it will roll around Saturday at Tamalpais High School in Mill Valley and this year's crop of road-runners, jumpers, leapers, throwers and hurdlers will have a chance to get into the league record book. But there's a more comprehensive, in some ways more prestigous set of records to shoot at.

Doug Basham of Redwood High School spent a good deal of time in compiling a list of five best times or distances in Marin County stretching back to before the league's existance. And some of the records do stretch back.

Would you believe that Dr. Arnold Nutting, now team football doctor at Redwood High School, among other things, still ranks fifth on the 220-yard dash for a straight race list. Dr. Nutting ran a 21.7 back in 1933, for Tamalpais High School, tying him with Bob Olsen of San Rafael, who did it in 1963.

The oldest existing top mark is in the long jump where Bill Russell, then at San Rafael High School, had a 23-2⅛ leap in 1935.

Some of this year's crop of athletes have already made it into the top five.

Brian Hicks of Redwood jumped into second place in the pole vault with a 13-3 leap. Mike Wurtz of Redwood and Mark Jones of Terra Linda moved up to fifth in that department at 13-0.

Bob Peterson moved up to second in the 220 yard dash on a curve with a 22.0 time. Behind him in third is Luther Brown of Tamalpais at 22.5.

Three MCAL runners have moved into the 440 top five. They're Dave Bariski of San Rafael at 50.2, good for second, and Todd Norris and Tom Poppin of Redwood at 51.2.

Likely prospects for moving up in this year's meet could be Norris in the 880, Kevin Pusser of Redwood and Pat Bowen of Tamalpais in the mile, Mike Arago of Tamalpais and Ron Elijah of Novato in the two-mile, Mike Stempel of Marin Catholic and Brown in the 120 High Hurdles, the trio of Hicks, Wurtz and Jones in the pole vault, and Judd Pillar of Redwood in the discus.

The top five times:

100 — Dean Lazzarini (D) 9.6 1966; Alan Lee (T) 9.7 1967; Ellis Williams, (T) 9.8 1964; Walt Langford (D) 9.8 1952, Fred Leanasio (SR) 9.8 1934.

220 (Curve) — Alan Lee (T) 21.7 1968, Bob Peterson (SR) 22.0 1968, Luther Brown (T) 22.5 1969, Bob Piro (R) 22.5 1964, Bill Hinman (T) 22.5 1967.

220 (Straight) — Ellis Williams (T) 21.4 1963, Dean Lazzarini (D) 21.5 1966, Alan Lee (T) 21.6 1966, Bob Olsen (SR) 21.7 1963, Arnold Nutting (T) 21.7 1933.

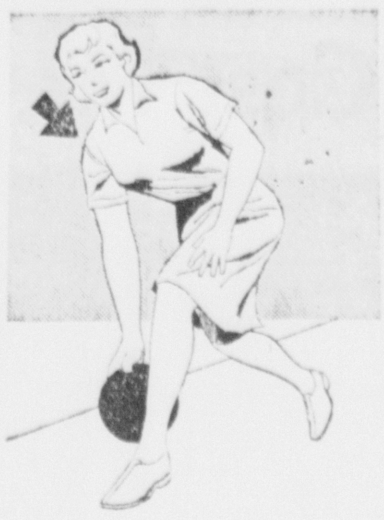
BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG



Many women bowlers are guilty of allowing the right shoulder to move too low at the release (illustrated). Such an error will usually cause the ball to miss to the left. Make it a point to keep your shoulders as level as possible at all times during the delivery and release.

Rookie southpaw Jerry Koosman of the New York Mets worked 264 innings last season and compiled a 19-12 record. The 24-year-old athlete completed 17 games.

TRACK RECORDS MAY FALL

Top Stars At West Coast Relays

FRESNO (AP) — A pair of relay quartets from San Jose State and a solid contingent of pole vaulters appear to be the best bets to challenge world records at the West Coast Relays tomorrow and Saturday at Radcliffe Stadium.

San Jose State's 440-yard relay team of Sam Davis, Ronnie Smith, Kirk Clayton and John Carlos will lead this year's assult on the record book on the track where 36 world records have been broken or tied once the meet convened 43 years ago.

39.6 BEST

The Spartan foursome has a best of 39.6, one second off the world mark. They will be pushed by quartets from UCLA (40.1), California (40.2) and the University of Texas at El Paso (40.3).

San Jose State has also indicated it will send its 880-yard relay team which has a best this year of 1:22.5. UTEP will have a crew with a year's best of 1:25.5 and California will challenge with a 1:26.1 clocking posted earlier.

Five pole vaulters who have been over 17-feet this year are entered, topped by Bob Seagren of Southern California. Seagren is co-holder of the world record of 17-feet-8½ and has a 17-9 mark pending.

BATTLE SEAGREN

Dick Railsback, who has the year's best mark of 17-5½, and Fresno State's Erkii Mustakari from Finland, with a best this year of 17-4, will battle Seagren.

The two-mile run should be one of the most interesting races to watch, with 6-foot-6 Jack Bacheler of the Florida Track Club taking on 5-foot-6 Gerry Lindgren of Washington State. Bacheler, known as "The Stork," has an 8:35.6 this season, the best in the nation. Although Lindgren has only been down to an 8:38.6 this year, he has a lifetime best of 8:31.6.

Long jumper Bob Beaman has 26-0½ best this year. He will be challenged by five others who leaped over 25-feet.

There are more than 2,200 entrants, including 600 in the junior college division and 900 high schoolers.

Spitballs Draw Talk, Very Little Action

ST. LOUIS — Everybody in baseball talks about the spitter but, like the weather, nobody is doing anything about it. During the winter the umpires suggested a special clause be written into the anti-spitball rule.

If the umpires' recommendation had been adopted by Baseball's Rules Committee, umpires would have been empowered to call an illegal pitch when the flight of the ball made them suspect the rule had been violated.

HOWEVER, THE Rules Committee rejected the recommendation, declaring umpires already had this authority under the present rule if they wished to use it. By inference the rule does give this authority to an umpire but it doesn't specifically spell it out.

And that's the reason there hasn't been one rhubarb this year involving an umpire and the spitball. Sure, there have been statements by angry managers such as Harry Walker who accused Jim Maloney of throwing a grease ball in his no-hitter against Walker's Astros.

BUT UMPIRES have washed their hands of the messy situation. Al Barlick, senior National League umpire, made a conscientious effort last year to enforce the prohibition against spitballs. He had the cooperation of all of his associates, particularly Chris Pelekoudas and Eddie Vargo, in searching suspect pitchers for foreign substances secreted in their hair, gloves or on the inside of wrists.

On several occasions Barlick and Vargo gave Don Drysdale and Gaylord Perry searching examinations, even running fingers through their hair for greasy stuff. Pelekoudas became involved in an unpleasant situation with Phil Reagan, a bullpen veteran.

Pelekoudas accused Reagan of using grease during a relief appearance for the Cubs in Wrigley Field. Reagan told Warren Giles, National League president, he never used grease in his life. Pelekoudas said he should have said "foreign substance" instead of "grease."

IN ANY EVENT, Giles said he knew Reagan to be an honest upright man. That ended the affair insofar as any disciplinary action was concerned. And it also ended any further attempts by umpires to enforce the anti-spitball rule without a specific, no nonsense, clause being written into the rule.

When the Rules Committee refused to adopt the winter recommendation of the umpires that negative action became a green light for any pitcher in the major leagues to moisten the ball. And they are doing it.

NOBODY, LEAST of all the pitchers who throw the wet one, admit more pitchers throw the spitter today than half a century ago when it was legal.

"It's ridiculous how many pitchers are using it," said Walker. "I'd guess about a third of the pitchers in our league use it with varying degrees of frequency.

"IT'S A THREAT to the hitters because it breaks so differently and so drastically that there is no way to adapt to it or prepare for it.

"I plan to find out which of my pitchers can throw it and I'm going to tell them to use it."

Auto-Boat Show In Santa Rosa

SANTA ROSA — Nearly 100 entries have been submitted for the ninth annual Santa Rosa Auto and Boat Show May 16-17-18 at the Sonoma County Fairgrounds.

Promoter Harry Costa announced that Willard Wayne's imaginative "Elegant Farmer," a hardware store wheelbarrow now equipped with a 1960 Lancia V-4 Hemi with dual cams and other features that raised its value to $5,000 will be one of the top attractions.

Wayne's exotic wheelbarrow draws 48 hp at 5200 RPM and — if someone dares try — can reportedly go 100 m.p.h.

Show hours will be 6 until 11 p.m. on Friday and from noon until 11 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

There'll be free movies during the shows. Parking is also free anywhere on the Fairgrounds.

Top Candidate For Eagle Job

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Jerry Williams was a leading candidate for the head coaching job with the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League today after his resignation as coach of the Calgary Stampeders of the Canadian Football League.

Williams, an Eagle assistant coach for six years and a player for two, gave up a four-year contract with the Canadian team yesterday in order to discuss the Eagle job with newly appointed Philadelphia General Manager Pete Retzlaff.

The two men were expected to settle the matter quickly.

Retzlaff said he wanted to talk to Williams "as soon as possible" and that "Jerry is a top candidate for the job. I'd like to get it cleared up as soon as possible."

Punt And Illegal Procedure Penalties Cost Mr. Mauch

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

When Gene Mauch punted, it looked as if he was trying out for the National Football League team the city of Montreal hopes to have in the near future.

But the umpires didn't see it that way and penalized the Montreal Expo manager for illegal procedure.

Mauch's quick kick came during the fifth inning of the Expos' 5-3 loss to Atlanta last night.

Incensed over a balk call against his pitcher, Mike Wegener, Mauch kicked the pitcher's resin bag twice, called for a new pitcher, then picked up the ball and punted it 40 feet into the air.

PENALTY

That's when the umpire threw down the flag and raised the thumb, ejecting the manager from the game and forcing him to walk further than 15 yards to the clubhouse.

Elsewhere in the National League, Houston whipped Philadelphia 6-1, Pittsburgh topped San Diego 2-0, Cincinnati blanked New York 3-0, Los Angeles stopped Chicago 4-2 in 12 innings and San Francisco nipped St. Louis 5-3.

The Expos were leading 3-0 when rookie Wegener ran into trouble in the fifth. After the Braves rallied for two runs, Hank Aaron grounded into a double play, sending Felipe Alou to third. That's when Wegener balked, forcing in the tying run, and that's when Mauch put on his kicking shoe.

FUMING

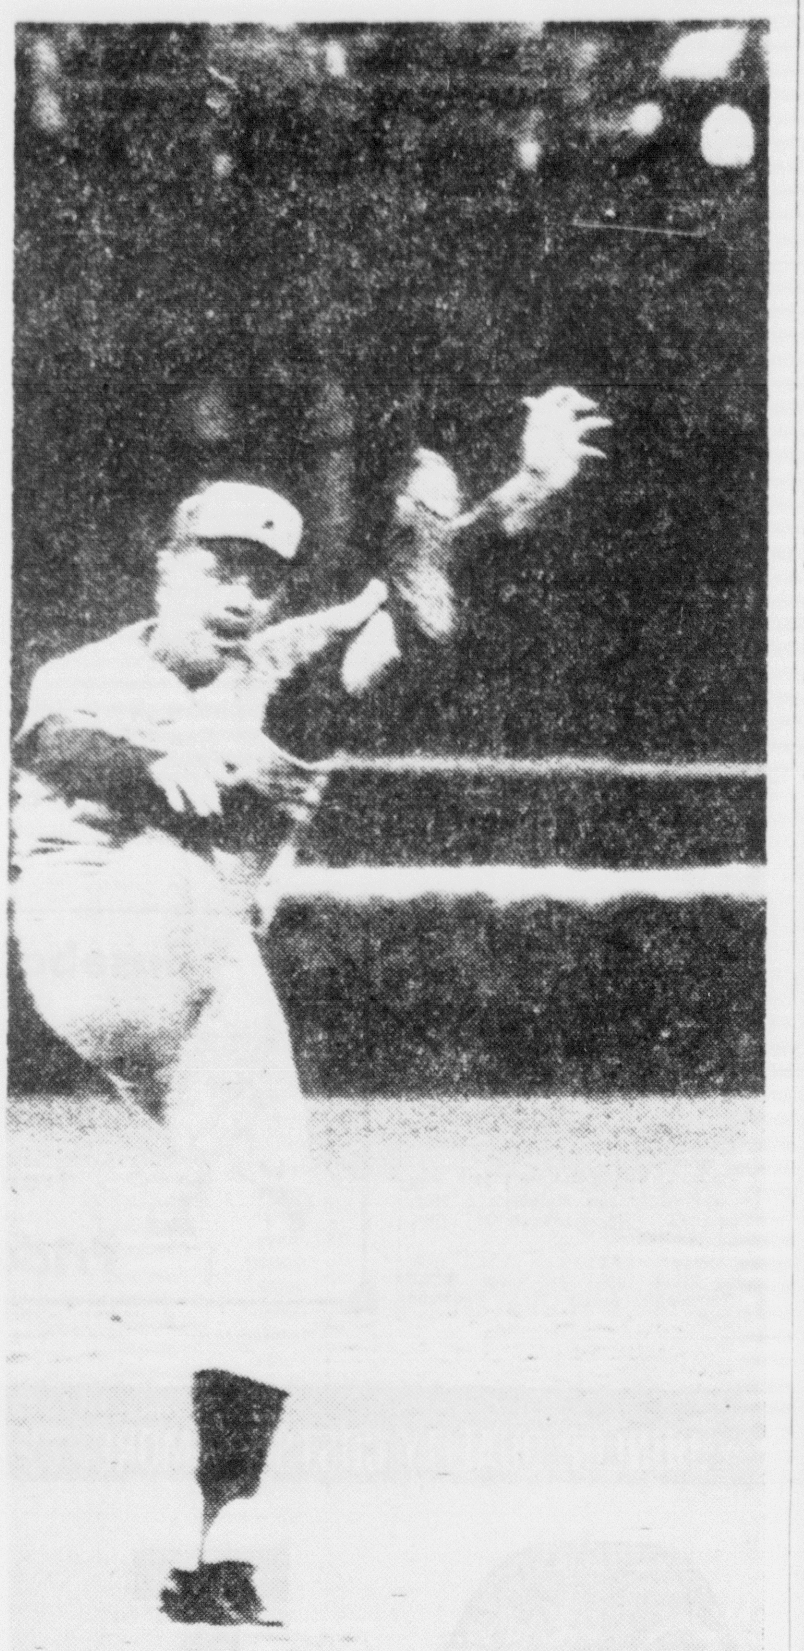
"We've had two balks called this year, and he called them both," Mauch said afterward, refering to umpire Stan Landes. "He's always anxious to show how much he knows about the rules. You could call half a dozen balks a day if all you wanted to do was stand around and look for balks."

The Expos didn't have a chance without their kicker, giving up runs to the Braves in the sixth on Alou's single and in the seventh on Bob Aspromonte's double.

Larry Dierker struck out 14, high in the majors this season, as Houston halted Philadelphia's victory string at five.

Bob Veale struck out 13 Padres but needed ninth-inning relief help from Chuck Hartenstein. Veale drove in the Pirates' first run in the second, and Willie Stargell homered in the third.

Los Angeles downed the Cubs with a three-run rally in the 12th, the last two runs coming on Willie Davis' second homer of the game. The Cubs rallied for a run in the last of the 12th, but Nate Oliver was picked off first for the last out of the game.



A KICK—Montreal manager Gene Mauch puts the boot to a baeseball with the form of a good punter. The act came during last night's game with the Braves. (UPI Telephoto)

Third Yacht In Tokyo

TOKYO (AP) — A lone German yachtsman arrived at Tokyo Bay in his sloop last night to finish third in a Transpacific yacht race which began in San Francisco in March.

The Art-Life Association of Japan, Japanese sponsors of the 6,000-mile race which began March 15, said Klaus Hehner, 46, passed a lighthouse on Jogashima Island, at the entrance of Tokyo Bay, at 9:18 p.m. to finish third behind two Frenchmen. The lighthouse represents the finishing point.

From the southern coastal rain forest, through the sprawling saw-toothed mountains of the interior, to the frozen barrens of the arctic slope, the film portrays the splendor and excitement of the wild domain. Dan and Charlie travel by foot, canvas canoe and dogsled. Armed only with a bow and arrow, the men live the life of the Alaska wild, facing the many challenges of high adventure in the northland.

Angelica: Special Service Corporation

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I never read of Angelica Corp. in your column. I would appreciate your comments on this company.—A.B.

A. That we are a country of specialists is clearly evidenced in the growth of service companies. Angelica, which claims to "service the service industry," must be the epitome of specialization.

In actuality, its business consists of making, selling and renting uniforms for hospital and nursing home personnel, restaurant and other commercial workers. Upon completion of the acquisition of Environmentals, Inc., which rents and maintains all textiles used in hospitals 40 per cent of Angelica's sales will go to the health-care market. A recent acquisition agreement if consummated would put Angelica into disposable vocational apparel. The company operates a mail-order uniform business, retail outlets in 14 cities and a similar business in Canada.

Sales since 1960 have jumped 260 per cent to $45.8 million while net gained 294 per cent to 94 cents a share. Shares, which split three times since late 1965, are 54 per cent family-owned. A 15 per cent annual rate of growth this year would put earnings at $1.10. Angelica shares now trading at 22x this estimate are in line with companies providing similar services.

My 85-year-old mother and I are joint tenants of a $170,000 6.5 per cent bank account. It seemed to me a trust might be wise in view of inheritance and income taxes. Thus I sought advice from trust officers of two large banks. The two men gave me opposite advice. What is your comment?—E. L.

A. Expert planning by a tax attorney or other equally qualified professional is long overdue in your case. It should have been sought out prior to setting up the joint tenancy account. It is inconceivable to me that people who are capable of amassing a modest fortune have so little respect for their money that they deprive their dependents of substantial sums simply by lack of thoughtful planning. By all means spend money now on legal advice; you will be better off in the long run.

Pilot Program

CHICAGO (UPI) — Kroheler Manufacturing Co. has announced plans to enter the mattress business this fall with a pilot program in the midwest.

Full Operation

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (UPI) — Subsquehanna Corp. has said it plans to move into full operation at its uranium extracting mill at Edgemont, S.D., by August.

Market On Plus Side At Closing

NEW YORK (UPI)—Advances topped declines on the New York Stock Exchange today but the margin narrowed considerably in the final hour. Trading was heavy.

Reports of a new Viet Cong peace plan was a bright spot for investors. But this was partially offset by monetary uncertainties in Europe and hints that bank prime rates may face further upward adjustment.

Electronics were on the upside, with several issues adding 1 to 2 points. Burroughs and Motorola were among the most impressive in the group.

Chrysler was on the uptrack in its group. Ford also tended higher after sliding more than 1 Wednesday when it announced plans to close three plants next week.

United traded narrowly in the mixed airlines. It had record traffic in all categories last month.

Companies Combined

CONCORD (BW) — Three subsidiary companies of Systron-Donner Corp. have been combined into a new microwave division.

The new division, which will be headquartered in Van Nuys, consolidates the subsidiaries previously known as GLCA, de Mornay-Bonardi and Micro-Radionics.

Older Drivers Less Risk Than Others For Insurance

Motorists 65 years of age and older prove to be better than average drivers according to the Insurance Rating Board, a country-wide insurance rating organization.

Leonard S. Peck of the Insurance Agents Association of Marin has announced the board's intention to grant a discount for drivers 65 years of age and older.

In 1965 the board established separate classifications for senior motorists. These statistics yielded actual premiums and loss experience indicating older drivers are deserving of a rate lower than that of other adults, Peck said.

A reduction of five percent is proposed with the result that a senior motorist carrying liability, comprehensive and collision coverages would realize an annual savings of approximately $10.

Changes in rating are also proposed for certain classifications of cars according to how they are used. Drivers who use their cars for business will find their rates reduced approximately 5 per cent. Those who drive to work a distance of three to 10 miles will find their rates aproximately five percent higher.

Youthful drivers — male and female under 25 — and unmarried male operators 25 to 29 years old, who are owners or principal operators, will have rates resulting in an overall average increase of 7 per cent.

Discounts allowed to operators 17 to 20 for driver training will be revised, for some upward and others downward. On the average, the discounts for young operators will be larger, going from 10 per cent to 12 per cent.

The rating board has proposed to its member companies who write approximately 25 per cent of the auto business in California that these changes will apply to policies effective Jan. 1, 1970.

Pipeline Expansion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Power Commission has granted Texas Eastern Transmission Corp. authorization to spend $177 million in a three-year pipeline expansion program. The expansion will increase the company's natural gas sales to 33 utility customers in 10 states.

Marin Retail Sales In 1968 Up Over '67 In All Quarters

Retail store taxable sales for 1968 in Marin County were ahead in all four quarters over the preceding year, with a total of $235,964,000 at the end of the 12 months and a 14.1 per cent gain over 1967.

By far the majority of business categories finished strong in the fourth quarter, with a volume of more than $72.6 million and the same 14.1 per cent gain. As is often the case, new motor vehicle dealers racked up the biggest dollar volume ($11.9 million) but not the biggest percentage increase. That honor fell to the used car dealers, well down the list in volume but showing a 195.7-per cent gain for the quarter.

Other volume leaders were department and dry goods stores ($10.2 million) with a modest 8.7 per cent increase; grocery stores with $7.9 million and a 8.2-per cent increase; and eating and drinking places with $7.1 million and a 7:6 per cent gain over the final quarter in 1967.

In the City of San Rafael, increases were less pronounced. Biggest percentage increase was shown by the comparative small category of office store and school supplies (143.7 per cent). Conspicuous was the fourth-quarter volume drop in most of those categories which should have done well during the Christmas shopping season: Department and dry goods stores, women's apparel, family apparel, variety stores, gifts and art goods, jewelry and speciality stores.

Comparative figures for 1967 and 1968 in other Marin communities are not available due to changed statistical procedures and the change in the tax base.

To Soon To Cheer County Vacation Rollback

The Marin County Board of Supervisors has accomplished a rollback from its too-generous vacation allowance for at least part of the county employees. But it may be a little early to shout hosannahs.

The board this week approved an agreement worked out by its negotiating council with the Marin County Employees Association and California Nurses Association which does away with the three-week vacation after one year's employment that was granted by last year's board. That three-week vacation allowance drew cries of outrage from the public and a blast from the Marin County Grand Jury.

HOWEVER, A LITTLE-KNOWN fact should be born in mind: the Marin County Employees Association and California Nurses Association did not ask for the first year three-week vacation in the first place.

The demand for that generous vacation grant came from Local 535 of the Social Workers and Probation Workers Union, with which new contract negotiations are still under way.

WHAT WENT ON behind the closed doors of the negotiating group last year was this, according to Robert D. Elliott, former county personnel director:

The Social Workers Union insisted on three weeks vacation after one year. Eventually, the county negotiators — Elliott and County Administrator Alan Bruce — agreed to the allowance for this group of workers on the basis that the union had won such vacations from various agencies including the Bay Area Social Planning Council, Family Service Agency, etc.

At that point, according to Elliott (who is no longer in county employ so may talk more freely than when he was part of the administration), County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney held that if three weeks were granted one group of employees, it must be granted to all.

"We were not eager to go for that three weeks," says Elliott.

When he and Bruce presented the proposal to the board of supervisors, however, their lack of eagerness was well disguised. Both argued so strongly for the three-week vacation after one year that the board allowed it, thereby bringing down the wrath of the grand jury and many citizens.

THIS YEAR, apparently, the county counsel has changed his interpretation, as the contracts for the various employee groups are being presented separately.

When the contract for the Social Workers Union comes before the board, the three-week vactation battle may have to be fought all over again.

HOW MANY WEEKS of vacation some county employees get may seem of little moment. However, it has considerable bearing on the efficiency of the county government's operation, as well as on the budget.

For instance, in a 100-person department this means the equivalent of six more employees year-around to cover vacations. But since all vacations are taken during four months of summer, it really means working shorthanded or hiring a minimum of 18 additional temporary employees — with consequent loss of efficiency combined with added cost. The result can be that some departments function at very low efficiency during the summer and take several months in the fall to catch up on the backlog.

It is to be hoped the board of supervisors will roll back the vacation allowance to two weeks after one year for all county employees, including the social and probation workers. It has the power to do so, if its members don't forget that they are in office to represent the whole electorate and not just certain employees.

The White Rat

The common tame white rat is descended from the tough, pugnacious Norway rat, which is really a native of Asia that has traveled throughout the world by ship and become the dominant species almost everywhere. In 1822 rat fights were a popular sport in France and England, and rats were specially bred for fighting. The occasional albino was saved and gradually the white rat of laboratory and household pet fame was developed.

The white rat is a man-made creation. It is gentle, fat, stupid and unafraid when compared with its tough, brown, wild cousin. If it escapes from man's care, it is unable to fend for itself.

Full Speed Ahead For Steam, Thanks To Federal Financing

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Now that the Assembly is assured of a grant of $450,000 from the federal government, procedures are under way to begin a massive investigation of feasibility of introducing steam power motor vehicles in California.

Probably "introducing" isn't the right word for it, as steam power is older than the teakettle, observation of which, according to legend, led to application of steam's potentialities to sea-borne and land-borne vehicles.

The oldest application recorded of the power of steam, in fact, dates back to Heron of Alexandria. Nobody knows in just what century this took place, but the best estimates are between 200 BC and 100 AD.

WITH A BACKGROUND of these many centuries, it is somewhat surprising that steam power has not been applied practically to modern day vehicles. Half a century ago first steam automobiles had a fling, but were scrapped in favor of the internal combustion car.

Of course, 50 years ago, there was no air pollution problem. This is the problem which led the Assembly, after many years of wondering how to solve it, to initiate plans for return of the steam car.

THE ASSEMBLY, under the urging of Assemblyman John Francis Foran, D-San Francisco, secured the $450,000 grant from the federal government and now has the go-ahead signal.

Foran lost no time in starting the wheels moving. He has a meeting of steam engine manufacturers scheduled in San Francisco next Monday, to discuss the conversion of four municipal buses to steam for a trial run.

Already, experiments are under way for steam-powered California Highway Patrol cars, and Foran says the patrol expects to have the cars in operation sometime this summer.

THE FEDERAL award, says Assemblyman Eugene Chappie, R-Cool, is one of the first major federal grants ever awarded to a state legislature.

"Should the project prove steam is a viable power source for modern vehicles, a giant step will have been taken in our efforts against air pollution," says Chappie.

Had steam power received as much impetus as the gas powered automobile did, it might be said the state would not have the smog problem it does now. But, as the saying goes, better late than never . . .

Why Drake Missed San Francisco Bay

The die-hard theorists, including Glen Dines of Fairfax, who continue to insist that it was Drake who first entered the Golden Gate, would do well to go out into the ocean during June, July or August, and put themselves in a position such as was Drake's when he made his landfall. They would have second thoughts on his possibility of finding San Francisco Bay. It was for this very reason that Cabrillo in 1542, and his pilot in 1543 after Cabrillo's death, both passed it by twice without sighting it.

Drake was an out-and-out pirate, plundering Spanish ships along the coast of South America. With his ship loaded with his booty, he feared returning to England by way of the southern tip of that continent, so sought a passageway to the north for his return. The prevailing winds off the coast are Northwest. This meant Drake, as did any other explorer, had to beat his way north — a difficult task for square-riggers, which are not very good at sailing into the wind. As a result he had to be far from the coast much of the time. Coming back from Washington, it was different, and he mostly had a favorable wind. Along Point Reyes and southward, during June, July and August, the wind is mostly northwest, and these are the foggiest months of the year.

Assuming Drake was sailing a southeast course — a logical one — and that he passed within a mile of Point Reyes, he would have been able to find Drake's Bay easily, especially since he was looking for a harbor to make repairs. But let's assume the fog and overcast prevented him from seeing the bay. Two hours later he would have been 10 miles south-southeast of Point Reyes, and nine miles north-northeast of the South Faralone. Point Bonita would have been 22½ miles almost due east. In overcast weather he could not possibly have seen it. Continuing on his same course, the next 20 miles would bring him no closer than 17 miles to the Gate. In the fog, never closer than 17 miles, he could not possibly have seen it, or even known it existed. . .

Would Outlaw Army Flood Work

We have noted with gratification the militant action of the citizens of Marin County to resist the stepped-up program of the Army Corps of Engineers to destroy small creeks in an up-side down flood control and water conservation method, which carrys (sic) with it the destruction of scenic beauty that we can no longer afford.

Water should be controlled where it falls as much as possible by seepage basins and reforestation of the bare and eroded landscapes all across the nation. The Army Engineer plan apparently has never considered the urgent need to replenish the ground water table!

But more is needed than just to resist this destructive program. Federal legislation should be pushed to completely separate this Corps of Engineers from any activity except military problems, thus saving millions in taxpayers' dollars and conserving natural beauty, which tourists will spend millions to enjoy if we will just save some of it long enough for them to get here to look at it.

Creek Fuss Equated With Great Issues

Your editorial in last night's I-J (April 30) was disconcerting. I was greatly distressed by your total preoccupation with "law and order" that you are unable to recognize that there may, in fact, be issues towards which our citizens may address themselves, and changes which they may seek. I presume you would rather those who disagree with our Almighty System should either hold their tongue and keep the peace, or get out of the country. I would wager you will allow as to how a few minor changes are necessary. But to your view, today's student unrest wrecking our country; the legitimate concern of our citizens for conservation, for trees, not concrete; the concern of leading citizens for more sanity and less ABMs and megatons, these and many others, have no more significance to you than the frivolous "panty raids" of years ago.

I pity your narrow, parochial and constricted view of what America is and must continue to be. Maybe if we all remember that America did not evolve out of peace and tranquility but out of wars of liberation, civil war, slavery, lynchings, etc., then we can become more involved in America rather than in a futile search for docile and meaningless tranquility in the name of "law and order." History teaches that America has never had both concurrently and while it is desirable to have both, it is likely we shall never enjoy both together until there are no longer any de facto slaves — white or black, rich or poor.

College Meetings Not Recruiting

Your statement in the April 30 editorial that residents of Kent Woodlands had recruited students to take part in the Tamalpais Creek protest is, to put it politely, untrue.

I observed that love of beauty and reverence for life, even for a tree, is not limited to the over-30 generation, and that courage to resist needless and brutal destruction is not limited to those under 30.

I talked to both residents and students as I watched the beautiful little tree shaded creek efficiently turned into an eyesore, between Goodhill Road and College Avenue. One housewife who has lived more than 20 years next to the creek said that Tamalpais Creek has never flooded. The problem has been an undersize culvert under College Avenue, that has just been rebuilt to solve the problem.

Your cynical and paranoid reaction to any kind of active protest just creates further confusion at a time when honesty, reason and truth are essential.

ONE OF THE BEST of the many prize fight cartoons of our time appeared some years back. It showed a manager working frantically over his sadly battered warrior in a corner of the ring, pleading the while, "Try to hang in there just one more round, Butch. What he's doing to you is beginning to sicken him!"

Repressive Response To Riots New Danger To Universities

WASHINGTON — "They asked for it and now let 'em have it." That is the verdict on the student rebels delivered at the country club and the corner bar. It is threatened affluence and furious envy of the privileged and permissive.

The storm this angry verdict portends can do untold harm to higher education, the independence of the academic community and the right of free inquiry.

UNIVERSITY authorities are the focal point for the widespread resentment of the young over the Vietnam war, the draft, the overwhelming defense establishment and the way it reaches into higher education.

What the besieged academicians need is understanding rather than abuse. The several congressional investigations already in the offing could perform a great service if they were to develop the broad picture, rather than zero in on spectacular incidents and the Nazi-like tactics of the tiny minority of extremists.

THE HEADLINES and the television cameras concentrating on the spectacular obscure the fact that perhaps 90 per cent of some 2,100 colleges and universities have been free of all but minor incidents readily resolved. The great majority of students, however deep their private frustration and resentment over the sins of the establishment, are still pursuing an education.

Obscured, too, is the way a number of institutions have moved to handle their own rebels in an unspectacular and often effective fashion. This is shown in a survey by the American Council on Education, which tries to keep conscientious check on the to-ing and fro-ing of the campus revolution.

AT STANFORD University a faculty-student judicial council took action against 29 students following a sit-in at a trustees' meeting. The students were put on probation. The Stanford Faculty-Student Council points the way to sharing of authority and to the kind of broadly based verdict acceptable to all but the disrupters.

At the University of Chicago 165 students were summoned to appear before disciplinary committees as the result of sit-ins in administration buildings and in the home of president Edward H. Levi. Of the total, 42 were expelled and 81 suspended for periods up to six quarters. Four students were given "indefinite suspension."

At the University of Colorado two students were expelled, with charges pending against four others, for disrupting a speech by S. I. Hayakawa, the embattled acting president of San Francisco State College. At Duke University 48 students were placed on probation for violating the "pickets and protests" rule.

This is growing evidence that the universities are learning how to cope with their troubles. If state and federal authorities now rush in to impose their will on campus, all this will be lost and the troubles compounded.

THERE CAN BE no mistaking, however, the way the wind is blowing. United Press International, in a recent roundup, showed what is happening in state legislatures. West Virginia is farthest out, with six bills passed this year that virtually wipe out all constitutional guarantees of the right of assembly and privacy. Police or mayors "shall be held guiltless" if anyone is killed or wounded in the attempt to put down an uprising even if the victim is a spectator.

In other states pending measures or those already passed go nearly as far. This is the foam on the angry wave rising across the nation. The end result may be to punish the vast majority of the well-behaved, along with the disrupters, and thereby deliver a body blow to higher education.

Nasser's Self Delusion Threatens Renewed War

By PHIL NEWSOM

During the past winter a western diplomat at the United Nations came up with the gloomy prediction that the worsening Mideast crisis swiftly was approaching a point where it was either-or — a quick solution or another war in the spring.

Neither has occurred as yet.

But recent weeks have seen a sharp escalation of the fighting, particularly across the Suez canal, and it then becomes a question as to how far escalation can go before it becomes a full-scale resumption of the war, which neither side wants and for which the Arabs certainly are not prepared.

UN Secretary General Thant has declared that a virtual state of war exists along the canal and that the cease-fire has been almost totally ineffective.

UN observers along the line frequently have found themselves under fire and there have been suggestions that unless the situation changed they might be pulled out.

IF SUCH were to be the case, conditions would revert to those of 1967 just prior to the Arab-Israeli war when Thant pulled his observers out of the Sinai.

The United States has warned both Egypt and Israel against such a possibility.

Greatest single contributing factor to increased tensions along the Suez canal has been the change in the stance of United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

In a series of speeches beginning in March, Nasser underscored a new aggressiveness by Egyptian troops along the canal.

Artillery duels became an almost daily occurrence, most of them started by the Egyptians.

Egyptian commandos began striking across the canal in night raids.

Egyptian soldiers, punished in the past if they fired across the canal without permission, now were told they would be punished if they did not.

Nasser threatened to hit Israeli civilian centers.

ALL THIS despite the fact that most military observers seem agreed that the balance of power between Israel and the Arabs had not changed since the 1967 war and that in any major conflict the Israelis again would be the victors.

The Israelis and foreign diplomats in Cairo believe one reason for Nasser's action is an attempt to convince the Big Four powers that an explosion is near.

Another is to help satisfy the appetites of his restless soldiers.

To Cairo's declaration that Egypt no longer regarded the Suez cease-fire line as valid and the threats to hit Israeli civilian centers, the Israelis replied that two could play the game and demonstrated it by a token raid deep inside Egyptian territory.

Nasser's mistaken judgment and the Arab ability at selfdelusion led to the 1967 war. The same thing could happen again.

WORTH SAYING AGAIN

Nothing is more opposed to our ethical, religious, and political principles than taking bodily control of a person and forcing him to submit totally to the will of others. This might be justifiable if it were necessary for the preservation of the nation, or to assure that each person did his duty for the survival of safety of others. No such necessity has existed since 1945.—W. Allen Wallis.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By BRUCE COLEMAN

Long Hair, No Job, No Car; So Hitchhike, But No Haircut

Hitchhikers are a lively part of my beat. They are always there — night and day.

Monday I picked up stranger Bob Simmons in Larkspur and took him over the crooked mountain road to Mill Valley. Why does he hitchhike?

Because, he said, he doesn't have money for a car. He posed the next question himself? Why not get a job?

In most cases, the only possible one is gardening because people are prejudiced about long hair. "I like long hair," said the 20-year-old youth.

"I feel that masculinity is an idea. It's not something that can be measured by personal appearance," the College of Marin student said. He suggested that other people of the world — such as Eskimos — have long hair.

He knocked the idea that some people associate long hair with homosexuality by saying he used to be the star of a team in Southern California, having lettered in varsity football, wrestling and track.

What really upsets me, he said, is being cast as a "hippy" or "hippy type." "It's hard to classify anybody by the way they look. I would rather call somebody by their name than a 'nigger' or a 'hippy.' That just shows your own prejudice."

Asked if he would type this reporter, he said, "Yeah, probably a straight business type."

ON TUESDAY I visited the College of Marin Times office and started talking to Rick Beban who has been twice arrested on the creeks but has hair of ordinary length.

He had a three-inch fish in a plastic jar which he said was found in a pool between College Avenue Bridge and the new dam. "We're going to take it back up the creek," he said.

While talking, a rather sexy TV woman came up to Beban, said she would be ready in a minute, and went to make a telephone call. Then a man who looked as if he were trying to be a youthful copy of Che came up and asked Beban: "Are you Beban?"

Beban said he was and, when I interrupted because I had encountered the student first, the Che guy asked angrily, "Who are you?" In moments, Beban left with the TV woman, presumably for an interview and I said, "I'll telephone."

BETTE REESE, Times adviser, and I were left behind to discuss the absurd world. She said she has studied word meanings and that, whereas to some people "give away" programs mean just that, to other students seeking financial aid, such is not the case at all.

And, she continued, if you favor conservation, some think you're pro-flood. "No one is. Not me. Not the Army Engineers . . . But nobody hears."

On another tangent, she said, "If the board members were not able to sell themselves on the extremely exciting and progressive programs going on here, I don't know how they can possibly relate that to a plebiscite and expect them (the people) to vote intelligently.

"This is one of the top junior colleges in the country. The students are marvelous. They are alert. They study. They care. They might well be our salvation — not our downfall."

ART BUCHWALD

Oh Well, Hemingway Probably Isn't Relevant To Today's Scene

Prof. Harvey Yoicks, Wimbledon professor of English studies at Bitter U., said he could only talk to me for a few moments about the new biography of Ernest Hemingway. When I came into his office he apologized.

"I'd love to talk to you about the Hemingway book, but unfortunately I have a confrontation with the Students for an Uptight University at 3 o'clock and then another confrontation with the Afro-Polish Society at 4. Then there is a faculty meeting at 6 for the Ad Hoc Committee to Liberate the Dean, which is followed by an antiwar rally I have to attend at 9 to defend the English department's use of Tolstoy's 'War and Peace' as a textbook."

"If you're too busy today," I said, "I'll see you tomorrow."

PROFESSOR YOICKS looked at his calendar. "I'm afraid tomorrow doesn't look any better. I have a confrontation at 8 o'clock in the Student Union with the Students Against Tomorrow. And there is a possibility that I will be called upon at noon as a mediator in a dispute over the faculty parking lot which the Radicals for Smaller Cars want abolished. Now, what did you want to ask me about Hemingway?"

"Well, professor, as one of the outstanding expoerts on. . ." The phone rang, and Yoicks picked it up. I tried not to overhear, but it was impossible not to listen. "Yes, sir. You want me to attend the confrontation on Thursday with the Students for Lower Grades? I have a class at 3. Well, you see, sir, I canceled Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday's classes. I thought I might turn up Thursday and lecture, just to keep my hand in. You consider this more important? All right, I'll cancel the class. Yes, sir."

HE HUNG UP, and then pushed a buzzer. "Miss Samuels, would you make a note that I have a confrontation on Thursday at 3 o'clock with the Students for Lower Grades."

Miss Samuels' voice came over the speaker. "But, professor, you have a previous confrontation with the Moderate Radicals for a Restructured Renaissance Studies Program."

"We'll have to postpone that confrontation. The president wants me at the SLG confrontation instead."

MISS SAMUELS said, "Professor Barley of the International School wants to know if you're keeping Friday open for the confrontation with the Graduate Instructors Grievance Committee."

"Damn, I forgot about that. What have I got on Friday?"

"You have a confrontation with the Inter-Fraternity Headbusters Organization, the Che Guevara Amnesty Committee and the Ho Chi Minh Revolutionary Movement."

"Tell Barley I'll try to make part of his confrontation, but I won't be able to stay if there is a sit-in."

YOICKS TURNED to me. "Sorry about the interruption. Let me see. You wanted to know about Hemingway. I found Hemingway a very interesting character. He probably left more of a mark. . ."

A brick crashed through the window with a note on it. Yoicks went over to pick it up. He read the note and said, "The New Left Antidefamation League wants me for a confrontation on Saturday. I was hoping to get some papers marked over the weekend."

"There's always Sunday," I said.

"No good. On Sunday I promised to meet with some students who want to abolish the Fourth of July."

"FOR AN ENGLISH professor, you seem to be quite busy."

"It's all part of the teaching game," he said wearily.

Miss Samuels came in excitedly. "Professor, there is a group of students outside who want an immediate confrontation with you."

"You know I'm all booked up for confrontations. Who are they?"

"They're your students from your English literature course and they demand to know when you're coming back to class."

Professor Yoicks said, "Inform them that I'll try to be in class a week from Wednesday. In the meantime, tell them to reread "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea."

Publisher To Fight Closed Session Ruling

RED BLUFF (UPI) — A newspaper publisher yesterday said he would appeal a preliminary court ruling rejecting his suit to forbid Tehama County supervisors from holding closed meetings.

Superior Court Judge Curtiss E. Wetter Tuesday rejected the suit by George Burkhardt, editor and publisher of the Corning Daily Observer.

Burkhardt said the supervisors held a secret meeting last March 1 to order preparation of a list of doctors eligible and willing to treat welfare recipients. He contended the subject did not justify closing the meeting under terms of the Brown Act, California's open meetings law.

He also said the supervisors violated the Brown Act by refusing to release the contents of a report by the county's Comprehensive Health Association Committee. The report has since been released.

The publisher asked for court orders banning future closed meetings and requiring release of county reports.

Wetter in a preliminary opinion refused. "This is not a case," he said, "in which the judicial branch of the government should undertake to impose its own views upon the legislative branch."

Burkhardt said he would take depositions from supervisors and others involved and would ask for another hearing.

Almost two-thirds of Vermont's population lives on farms or in small villages.

New Attack On Treasury Secretary

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Banking Chairman Wright Patman, who takes credit for forcing Andrew Mellon to quit as Treasury secretary in 1932, renewed his attack today against current Treasury chief David M. Kennedy.

Patman said he would spell out on the House floor new details of Kennedy's financial arrangements with Continental Illinois National Bank in Chicago.

Kennedy quit his $200,000-a-year job as bank chairman in January and says he sees no conflict of interest in serving as Treasury secretary.

Patman has insisted the opposite.

INVITATION

He was particularly irked that Treasury Counsel Paul Eggers did not accept his invitation to testify before his Banking Committee to elaborate on details of Kennedy's affairs. Eggers had written Patman that Kennedy had sold 30,855 shares of bank stock.

Kennedy testified before Patman in February that he put the shares in trust when taking the federal job. Kennedy had estimated the shares were worth $1.2 million.

An aide said Patman, a 75-year-old Texas Democrat, would toss the ball to the administration.

The aide said Patman was not calling for Kennedy's impeachment immediately as he did for Mellon's in 1932.

HARDING MAN

Patman was 38 and a three-year veteran in Congress when he took after Mellon who had been appointed 11 years earlier by President Warren G. Harding.

He gathered information for six months about the multi-millionaire's financial connections. Then in a Jan. 6, 1932, House speech Patman called for Mellon's impeachment.

Mellon held voting stock in 300 companies doing $3 billion worth of business, Patman charged. These included banks, shipping lines and some of the largest industries of the era.

Four Drunken Driving Fines

Four men have been sentenced in Marin Municipal Court by Judge Peter Allen Smith for drunken driving. All were placed on one year probation.

Gerald Lynn Berryhill, 45, of 32 of Millard Road, Larkspur, who was arrested Monday on Highway 101, was fined $120.

John Bernard Holbrook, 57, of 320 Vista Grande, Greenbrae, who was arrested March 27 on Highway 101, was fined $273.

David Luis Walker, 37, of 669 Orange Avenue, Novato, was fined $211. He was arrested April 27 in Novato.

Mark Edward Sanford, 37, of 315 Mountain View Avenue, San Rafael, who was arrested Oct. 27 on Highway 101, was fined $182.

Boilermakers End Month's Strike

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— More than 1,000 Northern California boilermakers ended a month-long strike yesterday and returned to their jobs under a new 26-month contract with the California Metal Trades Association.

The boilermakers, members of five locals in San Francisco, Oakland, Stockton and Sacramento, will get a 73-cent hourly wage hike plus an additional 13-cent increase in fringe benefits over the life of the contract. Journeymen will now average $4.19 an hour.

Scholars assert that discoveries in mathematics over the past 100 years are greater in quantity and quality than those in all previous history.

Mass Ordination: Instant Ministers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rev. Dr. Kirby J. Hensley ordained everybody in an audience of some 300 Wednesday into his Universal Life Church.

Hensley, who lives in Modesto, is charged in San Jose with violating the State Education Code by allegedly illegally issuing a mail order honorary doctor of divinity degree.

His ordinations yesterday were on the campus of San Francisco State College and he also offered for $20 a four-week course leading to a doctor of divinity degree. There appeared to be no taker in the audience.

Juvenile Court To Handle Drug Cases

Two of the young people arrested March 21 in San Rafael at a birthday party featuring a cake allegedly flavored with marijuana will be tried in Marin Juvenile Court.

Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court yesterday referred Robert Patrick Hallat, and Michael Milton Huffman, both 18 and of San Rafael, to juvenile court.

Soviets Make A Move On Non-Proliferation

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government took a major step today toward ratification ofthe nuclear non-proliferation treaty. today toward ratification of the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain last July 1 but does not become binding until ratified.

The official Soviet news agency Tass reported today that the Soviet Council of Ministers submitted the treaty to the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet—parliament—for ratification. It said that the Presidium passed the treaty on to the foreign affairs commissions of the two houses of Parliament.

The final decision, Tass reported, will be made by the Supreme Soviet, which is expected to hold its next session in June. Parliamentary approval of government recommendations is usually a matter of course here.

The U.S. Senate ratified the non proliferation treaty after President Nixon took office.

The Kremlin was believed to be delaying its ratification until after favorable U.S. action. It also was understood to be using the threat of further delay to press West Germany to accept the treaty.

The brief Tass report offered no explanation of the Kremlin's timing of the announcement.

The non proliferation treaty is intended to prevent Nations without nuclear weapons from acquiring them. The Soviet government has repeatedly expressed fear that West Germany is trying to become a nuclear power.

Warrant Issued

A bench warrant has been issued by Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Superior Court for Philip Charles Verhaydent, 22, of Corte Madera, who failed to appear Monday for arraignment on felony credit card offenses. Bail on the bench warrant was set at $5,000.

Oakland Hires School Chief

OAKLAND (UPI) — The appointment of Dr. James I. Mason as Oakland's new school superintendent was approved unanimously yesterday by the Board of Education.

Mason, 43, has been superintendent for the past year at Las Vegas, Nev., where he currently is embroiled in a dispute with a taxpayers' group which accused him of a conflict of interest in a $1 million book purchase.

Several local groups Tuesday asked the board, which selected Mason last week, to reconsider or delay its decision. However, Board President Lorenzo N. Hoopes said yesterday board members had thoroughly investigated "suggestions of conflict of interest and concluded they are without foundation in fact."

Help Sought In Finishing Boys' Club

The Marin County Labor Council is seeking to enlist volunteer tradesmen to help complete the Boys' Club of Southern Marin building in Marin City, Peter Patrakis, secretary-treasurer reported after last night's council session.

The building has a finished exterior but the interior lacks lighting, heating and plumbing, Patrikis said. The council is seeking carpenters, electrical workers and plumbers to aid in the work.

The council also:

Agreed to participate in the Memorial Day floral tribute at ceremonies at the Marin County courthouse in San Rafael at 11 a.m. May 30.

Opposed legislation which would raise from $2,500 to $5,000 the cost of a job before bidding by public agencies would be required.

Endorsed the stand of a Bay Area labor committee supporting retention of existing regional government organizations and supported a bill that directors of such groups be elected directly by the people, rather than by appointment, and backed the principle of having multi-purpose regional agencies.

Driver Bruised As Car Hits Deer

A Mill Valley man escaped with minor injuries Tuesday when his car hit a deer on Highway 101, then hit an oncoming car, the California Highway Patrol said today.

William A. Schallock, 23, of 217 Summit Avenue, was treated at Marin General Hospital for multiple bruises.

The patrol said Schallock's car hit the deer north of Novato at 12:20 a.m., then skidded through the center strip and hit a car driven by Daniel C. Wheeler, 20, of Occidental, Sonoma County.

Volunteers Sought

An open meeting for volunteers interested in assisting with a school for disturbed preschool children, sponsored by the Behavior Therapy Institute, will be held at 7:30 p.m. today at the institute, 300 Valley Street, Sausalito. A training program will also be held.

Evidence Links Three Suspects To Slaying

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Some of the evidence against three youths charged with killing a policeman was disclosed yesterday at their arraignment, while detectives hunted for still more.

Municipal Court Judge John O'Kane made public the evidence while reading the formal complaint to the defendants, Jose Rios, 20; Gary L. Lescallet, 19, and Jose Martinez, 17.

All are charged with murdering patrolman Joseph Brodnik last Thursday and attempting to murder Brodnik's partner, Paul McGoran, who was hospitalized after a beating.

Judge O'Kane said that McGoran had identified photographs of three as among those "who participated in the shootint," that a Social Security card belonging to Rios was found at the slaying scene in the Mission District, that shots fired in the fight came from a car registered to Martinez father, and that Lescallet's fingerprints were found in the car.

Brodnik, unarmed, and McGoran had stopped a group of youths for a burglary investigation on a Noe Valley street when McGoran was slugged and Brodnik shot with McGoran's service pistol.

Detectives said today's search for the gun centered at a Pacific Ocean beach in southern San Mateo County. The trio and three others had hidden there following the shooting and were captured Tuesday after they robbed a sunbather of his car. The capture was at Santa Cruz.

Other sites where a gun might have been thrown away also were being investigated.

The other three youths captured faced arraignment today on the same charges. They are Rodolfo Martines, 20; Nelson Rodriguez, 19, and Jose Melendez, 18.

Rodriguez was arraigned Wednesday on a charge of assaulting a policeman—throwing a rock during disturbances at San Francisco State College.

Judge O'Kane continued the case against the first three charged until May 23 when they are to enter pleas.

Outside the courtroom, Rios told reporters that two policemen had roughed up and struck the six youths who had been stopped on Alvarado Street.

"He was calling us punks and hitting us," Rios said of McGoran. "The dead pig was beating us too, and calling us punks and the pigs should not do that."

Rios also said all six were members of the Third World Liberation Front but spokesmen for the militant, non-white organization could not be reached for comment.

"We're not criminals," Rios said. "The newspapers said we were criminals and were wanted dead or alive."

Police inspector Walter Kracke said there was no information that the police had roughed the six.
